vention of Wednesday.

The writer of this—Daniel L. Eaton—would assure those "True Republicans" that he is responsible for the non-appearance of that speech that he reported the proceedings of the Convention in which Mr. Rippey epoke; that Mr. Erreit was not at any time to the knowledge of said Eaton, in the room where Mr. Wilson was nominated, nor did he see the notes that Eaton made of the proceedings until he saw them in print. He would also state, for the satisfaction of the "True Republicans" aforesaid, that the speech was not "suppressed." Such notes of the speech were caught as was convenient, and such were published. A committee was appointed to embody in their address the facts set for thin Mr. Rippey's speech.

Striks.—A strike occurred among the employees at the workshops of the P., Ft. W. & C. R. R., who called a meeting on Thursday to take into consideration what they should do. Assurances were given by Mr. Du Puy, the Sequestrator, that his would do all he could for them. Du yesterday (Friday) morning, the employees met again and appointed a committee who waited on Mr. Du Puy, and they received such satisfactory assurances from him that they agreed to go to work again to-day, as we are informed. Mr. Du Puy, and they received such satisfactory assurances from him that they agreed to go to work again to-day, as we are informed. Mr. Du Puy sent the following communication to the men:

I's the approaching holidays we hope to see innugarated an entirely new system—the adoption of a new line of presents—something substantial, endearing and useful. Trinkets and gewgaws have had their day, and we hope to see them give way to a fashion which shall commend itself to the good sense and invitation of all whose means will afford so great a loxury as that of presenting with the kind regards of husband or friend a splendid Sewing Machine of the Grover & Eaker manufacture—beautiful to behold and serviceable as beautiful and ormamental.
