do not believe they are so lost to their interests as to desire a separation of the Union, or at-tempt the destruction of our Southern institu-tions. If, however, the horrible sentiments promalgated by the fanatics of the North become the settled public opinion of that section, it would be dishonorable and dishonoring to continue our political connection with them, and we should be prepared to meet every issue that may, come. The slaveholding States should meet in convention and take united action: the shooter the better. But South Carolina ought not to think of taking the lead. Trice already has she attempted it, and noother State followed.

My opinion ever has been that the sole object of the North, in their crusade against slavery, is to unite the non-slaveholding States, and take the Federal Government out of the hands of the South, and enjoy its powers, spoils, and different the South, and enjoy its powers, spoils, and different the state followed. Beyond this they have no other purpose. Ever since they election of Mr. Jefferson, the South, and enjoy its powers, spoils, and different the state of the North. Houses of Congress, that the Federal Govern ment would be administered, in any material manner, otherwise than it has been for the last sixty years! The policy of such an Administration would be, in all human probability, that of extreme caution towards the South.

The Legislature has passed resolutions in the Heuse to send a commissioner to Virginia to express our sympathy, and advise with her. I think such a mission rather if bad taste and Quixott.

The Virginia Legislature is in session, and will defend her honor and interests without the advice of South Carolina. I said to the House, on the passage of the resolutions, that it was like a neighbor going to a gentleman and telling him his honor was wounded, and he must resent it and fight. Very likely this officious neighbor might find himself kicked out of the house.—The commission sout by Virginia to South Carolina, i our nullification contest, was to keep South Carolina from fighting and tell her that her wounded honor did not require such a fource."

He leaves his office with the conviction that political excitement is little more viction that political excitement is little more than "folly and blitterges," and on the occasion he writes a farewell letter to his constituents, in which he complains that the time of the legislature has been wasted upon foolish distribes against the Uninn, and Quixotic arrangements with other States with respect to the establishment of a Southern Confederacy. But we will quote his own language:

"He, all cander and frankness, I must say, however, that I do not believe anything serious will grow out of our present excitement, neither distantion, civil war, nor dauger to slavery; have confidence in the good sense of the American people, and had and infamous as has been the conduct of the non-slaveholding States, I do not believe they are as a lost to their interests as to desire a separation of the Convention:
