EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS,

PITTSBURGH:

TUESDAY, MORNING MARCH 13, 1860.

FOR GOVERNOR,

HON. ANDREW G. CURTIN,

OF CENTRE COUNTY.

☞To ADVERTISERS.—The Pittsburgh DAILY GAZETTE has a large circulation among the business men in this and the surrounding cities—among those who BUY and who SELL—and among manufacturers and producers. It may be found in nearly all the counting rooms, store houses, banking houses, hotels, factories and commission houses in the two cities, where it is read and carried home to the families for perusal. As a medium for advertising, therefore, it offers inducements which no other paper in Western Pennsylvania can offer, to all who desire to reach this large class of our citizens. The WEEKLY GAZETTE at this time has a much larger circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia among substantial farmers and merchants, than any other secular paper in this section of the State.

THE PRESIDENCY.—The New York Tribune, in nearly every issue, contains letters from correspondents in reference to the Presidency. These communications are as various in their conclusions and as contradictory in their statements as they possibly can be. They are anonymous, and are, after all, the mere individual opinions of the writers, whose names, in many cases, are not even given privately to the editor of the Tribune. Every correspondent "writes up" his favorite candidate and depreciates the claims of his most prominent opponent. One letter writer from Lancaster county, in this State, declares that Gen. CAMERON is the strongest of all candidates for the Presidency in Pennsylvania, and he is followed up by another political seer in Philadelphia, who says that Gen. Cameron is of all aspirants the weakest in the Keystone State. Just before the meeting of the Massachusetts State Convention, letters were published from that State that Banks was the first choice of his Republicans. Well, the Convention met—and it turned out that the friends of Mr. Seward had everything in their own hands in the Old Bay State. The editor of the Tribune, no doubt with a laudable desire to ascertain what the sentiment of the Republican party really was in regard to the Presidency, opened his columns to these correspondents. That the privilege has been abused by interested politicians, the character and temper of the correspondence clearly indicate.

Gen. Cameron has been declared the choice of the great opposition party in this State by a large majority of its representatives, in State Convention. This decision is on record, and cannot be successfully questioned. It is therefore fair to presume that the people of other States, if they permit themselves to be influenced in the matter at all, will be disposed rather to regard such an expression of feeling than the ebullitions of a few Philadelphia letter writers, whose productions bear the impress of personal hostility and political craft. For our part we have determined to assail no candidate whose name is now, or may be hereafter, presented to the Republican party in connection with the Presidency. That such candidate is endorsed by any number, however small, of our political friends, is sufficient to secure for him, as far as we are concerned, courteous and respectful treatment. We shall not attack him directly with open charges, nor indirectly under the guise of collecting from irresponsible sources information for our readers as to the probable action of a body which, as yet, has no organized existence.

We intend to support the REPUBLICAN NOMINEE—we care not who he is—for the Presidency, and will not, therefore, consent that our paper shall be made the medium through which our common political opponents can hereafter receive their ammunition to be used against our chosen standard bearer. It is a source of satisfaction to us, as Republicans, that no man will be placed in nomination, next May, by the Chicago Convention, in disparagement of whose character, public or private, a single line can be quoted from the Gazette. While we feel no hesitation in expressing our preference on all proper occasions, we have resolved not to permit our partiality for any individual aspirant, to cause us to forget for a moment the paramount duty we owe to the great principles of Republicanism, in comparison with which mere men sink into insignificance.

THE TEXAS FRONTIER TROUBLES.—There is an evident discrepancy in the accounts of the troubles in Texas, rendered by Gov. Houston and Gen. Twiggs. While the first named personage demands the presence of an army on the Rio Grande to resist a formidable invasion from Mexico, the danger of which he describes as imminent, the latter, in a letter dated some time after the commencement of these troubles, says: "There is not, nor ever has been, any danger of Mexicans crossing on our side of the river to plunder or disturb the inhabitants; and the outcry on that river for troops is solely to have an expenditure of the public money. At every post that has been abandoned in Texas, an outcry has been raised, and plenty of Indian signs seen. The citizens in the vicinity of these posts are very unwilling to lose the opportunity of handling a portion of the money necessarily expended by the government and troops."

This seems to be a plain statement of the whole affair, and as such exposes the entire purpose of the recent clamor. The correspondent of the New York Times remarks:

"It may be true that outrages have been committed on the Rio Grande, but they are traceable not to Mexicans or Indians, but to citizens of Texas, under the leadership of Cortinas, who is a Texan himself. Yet the Governor of that State informs the Secretary of War that Texas has been invaded, and demands the "interposition of the Federal arm" for her relief.

"Before Senator Houston left the Senate of the United States, he advocated a withdrawal of the United States troops from Texas, upon the ground that she was able to protect herself, and that the presence of the troops was injurious to the population. His opinion appears to have changed very suddenly, and his letter to the War Department is more remarkable for what it withholds, than for what it bungingly expressed."

SENATOR WADE'S SPEECH.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune speaks thus of Mr. Wade's recent speech.

Mr. Wade's speech in answer to Mr. Toomb's charges against the Republican party, and in defense of its practices and principles, was one of his most powerful and conclusive efforts. All his strong characteristics of manly and direct attack, able argument, defiant position, and eloquent vindication of rights, were conspicuous throughout, and compelled Mr. Toombs to abandon his violent denunciation, and assume a much more subdued tone. He hurled back every imputation upon the courage of the North with scorn, and rather questioned the chivalry of those who made dueling a test of honor with men who were known to be educated to regard it as a crime. There were other modes of proving moral and physical courage which the North had exhibited on every battle field, and which her representatives were prepared to illustrate whenever necessary.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.—Mr. Grow in his late speech in the House, at Washington, shows which party is the advocate of the Homestead Bill:

"Three times within seven years, a homestead bill has passed this house, and been defeated each time by the Democratic majority in the Senate. On the vote on the homestead bill in the House, last Congress, out of one hundred and thirty Democrats, but thirty-one voted for it; and in the Senate, on the test vote between taking up the homestead bill, after it had passed the House, and only required the vote of the Senate to make it a law, so far as Congress was concerned, or to take up the bill for the purchase of Cuba, but one Democrat voted for the homestead, and only six at any time; while every Republican in the Senate, and every one in the House, with a single exception, was for the homestead. Of all the Representatives of the slave States, but three in the House voted for it; and but two, at any time, in the Senate. So the Democratic party, as a party, arrayed itself in opposition to this beneficent policy. The Republican party, on the other hand, is committed to the measure by its votes in Congress, by its resolves in the State Conventions, and by its devotions to the great central idea of its existence—the rights and interests of free labor."

VANDERBILT STEAMSHIP LINE.—The "Vanderbilt European Steamship Line," running between New York, Southampton and Havre, will resume their fortnight trips, which were discontinued during the winter, on the 24th of this month, when the "Vanderbilt" will sail for Southampton and Havre, carrying the United States mails. She will return from Southampton on the 18th of April. Persons taking passage on this steamer can have an opportunity of passing a fortnight in England and on the Continent, seeing the various sporting events which principally occur in April, such as the different races, etc., and reach New York again after an absence of scarcely five weeks. To business men, or those pressed for time, this is a very great advantage.

[Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.]
HARRISBURG, Jan. 10, 1860.

The telegraphic dispatches from here are made up with much care, but sometimes seem sadly botched in the rendering, and as the blame is always visited on the reporter, here, who is not to blame, they become the source of much annoyance.

In the reports of Friday's proceedings, published on Saturday, Mr. McClure is represented as reporting the Monongahela Water Co. bill with a negative recommendation; and the Pro Rata bill as having been recommitted. As made up and sent from here the dispatches read as follows:

"The bill to regulate the charges of railroad companies, which was recommitted on motion of Mr. McClure, was reported back with a negative recommendation

The Monongahela Water Co. bill was reported as committed."

If the dispatches are not transcribed more accurately, I will have to cease sending them. It were better not to have the proceedings here reported, at all, than to have them published in the chaotic condition in which they occasionally appear in your city papers. R.

THE POISONING CASE AT SYRACUSE—The fate of Peter Tinker.—Our city was thrown into a great excitement yesterday and to-day, in consequence of a valuable horse belonging to Dr. Searles being killed by poison,—two little girls, children of Peter Tinker, dead, and Tinker himself a corpse.

The facts of the case, as we have been able to learn them, are briefly these. Yesterday (Wednesday) Peter Tinker was seen coming out of the stable a short time before the horse died, and it is supposed that he gave him strychnine because he was jealous of Dr. Searles, the owner of the animal. It seems that some time last Fall, Mr. Tinker, who is reported a man of good habits, employed Dr. Searles to prescribe for his wife, who was then ailing. The Dr. attended Mrs. Tinker, and the result is that she abandoned her two children, and is now living under the same roof with Dr. Searles and his wife.

Their children, it seems, since the separation of Mr. Tinker and his wife, have been living at different places, among friends.

The last place at which one of the children was stopping was Mr. Lilly's. On Tuesday afternoon the father called at Mr. Lilly's, and took the child away, saying that he was going to take the children among friends. The little girls' names are Lucinda (who went by the name of "Eva") and Flora. "Eva" was 8 and Flora 6 years old.

On taking leave of Mrs. Lilly, she was asked to sing a little song beginning, "I have a home," &c., or, "I have a mother." The little girl, in reply, said, "I can't sing those songs, because I have no home. I had a mother, but I have got none now."

Yesterday afternoon Tinker was found in the streets, apparently intoxicated. He was taken to the Park Hotel, and Dr. Fuller was sent for, who discovered that Tinker had taken a heavy dose of laudanum, and was suffering from the effects. A pistol heavily loaded was found in his pockets, and various surmises are circulated in relation to his intentions. Tinker said he procured the pistol because he contemplated going West; but he denounced Dr. Searles in severe terms, and it is suspected that he intended to shoot Dr. S. on account of jealousy. Tinker passed a terrible night, and this morning about 8 o'clock, he died in spasm. After his death some papers were found in his pocket-book, one of which revealed the fact that they had poisoned the two little children, and that they were in the room formerly occupied by him, in the old Medical College building. On going to the room the two little girls were found dead—laid out—their little hands folded across their breasts.

It seems that Tinker, on Tuesday, administered laudanum to his children in some oysters, in the room where they this morning were found; that he staid by them until they died—and after straightening them out left them, and took poison himself. It was a terrible sight to look at the children as they lay on an old straw bed—with froth at their mouths, from the effects of the poison. The mother of the children came to see her offspring—looked at them carelessly—and went away with little or no emotion. There is a history connected with this whole affair which we feel should now stop to publish—we may do so some other time.

The indignation of the populace was aroused this morning against Dr. Searls to such an extent that it was deemed best by the officers, for the personal safety of the Doctor, to put him in to the Penitentiary. We know not to what extent the Doctor can be or is implicated in the matter, but from what we can learn, he thinks his position is anything but a comfortable one.

The Coroner and his jury are holding inquests over the bodies of Tinker and his children.—Syracuse Journal, March 8.

THE SENATE'S PRISONER.—A citizen of New England is now under arrest by order of the Senate, for declining to appear and testify before a committee of its appointment, and though not yet incarcerated, in all probability will be on Monday next. Mr. Thaddeus Hyatt is the culprit, the committee is the one appointed to investigate the Harper's Ferry matter. Mr. Hyatt was summoned, but refused to testify, standing upon his rights as a citizen. The committee reported the fact to the Senate, and the Senate asserted its authority over Mr. Hyatt by sending its sergeant-at-arms, with a warrant, into Massachusetts to arrest and bring him before it—but in this there is nothing novel or unusual.

But when the witness was brought a prisoner before this tribunal, the case assumed a phase of grave importance. Deprived of his personal liberty by the fiat of the Senate, he desired to enter his protest against what he deemed usurpation of power, and to present an argument in favor of his release from custody. Many Senators were disposed to deny him this right, for right it surely was, and were willing to hear him only when he had admitted the justice of an act his belief in the injustice of which was the occasion of his being their prisoner. Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, a Democrat, insisted that the witness should acknowledge the jurisdiction of the Senate before he should be heard at all in self-defence; in other words that he should abase himself up from making any successful defence by admitting before hand that he was rightfully the Senate's prisoner. Well might Senator Sumner say that the requirement was so unjust that he hoped the Senate would not permit it to be made.

The scene in the Senate Chamber on Friday, is worthy of being closely observed for more than one reason. The Democratic Senators showed themselves far more despotic in their views than the Republicans. They were for listening to nothing, for hearing nothing, neither reason nor argument, until the prisoner had acknowledge the right of the Senate to deprive him of his liberty for not complying with the wishes of the committee. It was only by the determined spirit of the Republicans that he at length obtained a hearing. They protested against gagging the prisoner in addition to arresting him, and against sentencing him without hearing what he had to say in defence or extenuation. We regret, however, that a Republican Senator should have assigned the reason which Senator Trumbull is reported to have given for referring Mr. Hyatt's argument to a committee, viz: That he did not wish to stay and hear that long argument read? One would have supposed that such a sentiment could not have found place in the mind of any Senator, much less found utterance from his lips. Surely after holding a citizen under arrest for as many days, Mr. Trumbull and all other Senators might have given him attention for a couple of hours while he pleaded for his discharge.

We make these remarks irrespective of any question as to the right of the Senate to compel citizens to testify before a committee of its appointment. That is a legal question, and possibly Mr. Hyatt's arrest may lead to its authoritative decision by the courts. But if the power rightfully and constitutionally exists, it is unquestionably one to be exercised with caution and prudence, and only in great emergencies. Never should it be used with harshness and cruelty to the citizen. Men entrusted with such power under a republican government, should exercise it not in the spirit of despotism and tyranny, but with kindness and forbearance. They should remember that the man brought before them under such circumstances is not convicted or even accused of crime, but as a citizen is their equal. They are to assume that he has strong motives for declining to testify, and it may be even conscientious scruples. He is to be treated, therefore, with respect and the consideration due to a citizen. A little more of such a disposition would have been creditable to the Senate on Friday.—N. Y. Commercial.

CERTAIN Pennsylvania blacksmiths have been lately engaged in a contest of superiority. One a Mr. Thomas Rambo, of Reading, made 225 horse-shoes in 9½ hours. This feat was beaten by a Mr. Lewis Hauer, and he again was surpassed by Mr. Joseph Maburg, of Schuylkill Haven, who, with one striker, made 250 complete horse-shoes, in 8¾ hours, viz: 5 successive hours in the morning, and 3¾ hours in the afternoon. Each shoe was made of new iron, with eight double punched nail holes.

Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia!! Dyspepsia!!!
What is it? How Cured?

DYSPEPSIA is our National Disease—weak stomach, feeble digestion, distress after eating, costive bowels, biliousness, &c. How many suffer with it and its attendant symptoms of low spirits, bad taste, coated tongue, constipated bowels and attacks of headache! Yet how few know how to cure it! Generally, because the bowels are constipated, resort is had to cathartics, or laxatives. But such a condition was never cured by cathartics, whose only office is to weaken the digestion and impair the integrity of the entire assimilative system.
But HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC PILLS—a simple medicated sugar pill—have cured hundreds of the worst and most obstinate cases. This is done simply by improving the tone and restoring the integrity of the digestive organs, from which result good appetite, regular habits, a clear head and buoyant spirits. Such a medicine is a gem, and only requires to be known to be appreciated.
FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.
N. B.—A full set of HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFICS, with Book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; do. in plain case $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and book $2.
These remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. DR. J. HUMPHREY & CO.,

Prince Imperial Champagne.
FROM EPERNAY,
DE VENOGE & CO., FRANCE.
Sold by all respectable Dealers throughout the Country.

THIS fine brand of CHAMPAGNE, which until the past year was confined exclusively to the best tables of the Continent of Europe, has now obtained the most unbounded success and popularity in this country. It is recommended by some of the first Physicians of the city of New York, over all other wines, on account of its extreme purity and delicacy, and those who once try it rarely use any other brand. Although one year has elapsed since its introduction into this country, the demand is enormous and constantly increasing. Our arrangements are such as to ensure the quality of the Wine being maintained at its present high standard. The Prince Imperial is imported solely by us, we being the sole agents of Messrs. De Venoge & Co. in this country.
