PITTSBURGH:

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 28, 1860.

FOR GOVERNOR,

HON. ANDREW G. CURTIN,

OF CENTRE COUNTY.

☞ To Advertisers. The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette has a large circulation among the business men in this and the surrounding cities—among those who BUY and who SELL—and among manufacturers and producers. It may be found in nearly all the counting rooms, store houses, banking houses, hotels, factories and commission houses in the two cities, where it is read and carried home to the families for perusal. As a medium for advertising, therefore, it offers inducements which no other paper in Western Pennsylvania can offer, to all who desire to reach this large class of our citizens. The Weekly Gazette at this time has a much larger circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia among substantial farmers and merchants, than any other secular paper in this section of the State.

Pa. Institution for the Instruction of the Blind.—We have been favored with a copy of the 27th Annual Report of this long established and eminently beneficent Institution, located in Philadelphia. The exhibit presented of its affairs and continued prosperity, is highly gratifying, and we propose stating somewhat in detail the results of its operations for the past year. The gentlemen composing its Board of Directors afford, from their high character and well-known benevolence, an undoubted guarantee of a wise and judicious management of the affairs of this noble charity, which commends itself to the warmest sympathies of every benevolent and philanthropic heart in the Commonwealth.

There have been 158 inmates during the year just closed. Of these, 132 were from our own State, 12 from New Jersey, 4 from Delaware and 5 from all other places. The Legislatures of these three States have liberally patronized the Institution by appropriations, but still further aid is imperiously demanded to enable the Board to supply additional facilities still greatly needed for the more thorough efficiency of the Institution in the great work it has taken in hand.—When wisely, judiciously and economically expended, liberal grants from the States interested cannot be bestowed upon a more deserving charity. The product of the labor of the inmates amounts to thirteen thousand dollars! The principle articles of manufacture were brushes and corn brooms—of the former 42,000, and of the latter 26,000, were manufactured during the year. Door mats, carpeting, bead-work and various kinds of knitting constitute the remaining branches of handicraft labor pursued in the Institution.

The report of the Principal presents a gratifying state of discipline, contentment, comfort and well-being, as pervading this large assemblage of one hundred and fifty-three pupils.

The report of the Principal also presents some grave questions for the solution of the friends and patrons of this noble charity. Chief among these are, "Should the Institution continue their aid to those who have acquired useful trades therein, and in what manner?" and "What trades are best adapted to the great mass of blind persons?"

The arguments in favor of continuing to afford aid to persons leaving the Institution are conclusive, and the most suitable trades are pointed out—those best calculated to secure the patronage of the public, and best adapted to those of the blind who leave the Institution and return to their homes. The duty is inculcated of teaching the blind workman that trade of which he can become an entire master; preparing him to begin his work from the raw material, and finish it without the assistance of seeing persons; that the material should be cheap, and conveniently at hand in ever section of the country; that the manufactured articles should be perishable, and in universal demand; that the trade should be especially calculated for small country towns and agricultural districts; and that these most important requirements are found more completely in the manufacture of corn brooms than in any other trade now taught to the blind.

When an institution has carried a pupil through a course of instruction, or given him a mechanic art, its first duty and interest should be to induce him to go forth, and rely upon his own industry.

This can be accomplished by providing him a simple practical trade that can be followed in the interior, as above stated; and, what is almost indispensible in most cases, allowing him an outfit to provide the simple machines and tools necessary to start his business, and for immediate expenses.

From fifty to one hundred dollars, according to circumstances, is sufficient in each case.—Every institution should be provided with a fund for this purpose, as a matter of economy to itself, as well as a most timely benefit to the recipient.

Happily, this Institution is well supplied with a Fund in the receipts of its Musical Exercises. After expending several thousand dollars in outfits to worthy, industrious graduates, of both sexes, there still remains applicable to the same beneficent object, the sum of $2,800.

The democrats have always professed to entertain a very kindly regard for the political and social well being of the foreigners who have made their homes in this country. About election times there is nothing so adverse in their eyes as a "Know Nothing," but when the favor that they have been seeking is once secured they are not quite so ardent in their attachment to the cause of the "adopted citizen." The vote on the Speakership, when Smith of North Carolina received the support of nearly all the Northern Know Nothing delegates, is one case in point. We have another in the action of the Democratic Senate on the House Homestead bill. This bill was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, which immediately substituted that of Senator Johnston, of Tennessee, which excludes from the benefits of the measure, single men over twenty-one years of age, widowers without children, and foreigners who have not declared their intentions previous to the passage of the bill. On the other hand, the House bill provides that its benefits shall extend to all citizens, whether native or foreign born, and to all who have declared their intention of becoming citizens at the time of making application for a certificate. The relative position of parties on this question should be closely watched by those most interested, as it will enable many a constituent to meet the glowing professions of his representative with a few stubborn facts, which will effectually extinguish him.

General Conference of the M. E. Church.—In May the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the North will be held in Buffalo. It will be one of the most important conventions ever held, as we understand the slavery question is to be agitated. There will no doubt be a large amount of excitement, if the question is started in the phase it is intended to be, i. e., no member of the Methodist Episcopal denomination is justifiable in holding slaves, and although he may be a mere minnber, and own them, yet it incapacitates him from being an elder, class leader, or minister. Another important question that will be brought into the Convention, probably, will be that of Lay Representation both in the General and State Conferences. The membership of the denomination are beginning to claim their right to a share in the deliberations and decisions of these bodies whose action becomes nearly more important and extended.

Gen. Joe Lane, in a late speech in the Senate of the United States, said:

I do not believe the people of a Territory have a right to exclude, or abolish slavery. No such right is conferred on them by the Constitution.

New York, March 27.—The Chinaman suspected of murder and piracy on board the sloop Spray, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Hackensack railroad bridge. When taken he had near four hundred dollars in gold and an overcoat, said to have belonged to Capt. Lute.

Arrangements Mexico.—Gen. Bickley, the Commander-in-Chief of the order of the Knights of the Golden Circle, addressed a large meeting at Montgomery, Ala., a few days ago.

The K. G. C., or order of the Knights of the Golden Circle, he said, was organized as early as in the year 1854, and was originally intended to advance and subserve the interests of the Southern States. After alluding to the attitude of the North and South relative to the question of negro slavery, and avowing himself to be a Union man as long as the Federal compact was respected and sustained, he proceed to give a brief outline history of the organization at the head of which he stood from the time of its birth to the present. He briefly narrated his various conferences with the two contending powers in Mexico—incidently giving a sketch of the terrible state of government within its borders. He mentioned the fact that he had originally been induced to make a contract with the Miramon or Church faction; but the recognition of the Juarez or Liberal party by the United States government had compelled to espouse the cause of that party to avoid a collision with his own countrymen—an event which he had resolved should never occur.

The organization of K. G. C., he remarked, embraced a numerous membership within the limits of Mexico itself, consisting of many of the industrial and wealthy citizens whose only hope for a stable and permanent government lay in the intervention of foreign arms and intellects.

He claimed that this work of Americanizing Mexico, belonged of right and of necessity to the people of the South, whose interests would be most closely touched by it! It was a country remarkably adapted to the production of those articles wherein consisted the wealth and supremacy of the South, and when the doors were once thrown open he was unwilling to believe that Southern men would stand passively by and see the richest country the sun ever shone upon, overrun and peopled by their Northern rivals.

He stated that the object of his present visit to Alabama was a double one—embracing that of raising men and means to arm, equip and transport them to the scene of action. He remarked that Louisiana, Tennessee, Texas, Maryland and other Southern States had responded in the most substantial manner—in all of which States he had one or two regiments prepared for the field at 24 hours' notice. He expected Alabama to give her two regiments of her brave sons, and at least the amount of money required to place them upon the soil of Mexico.

Some Hoss.—Once on a time (says the Tennessee Herald) a Yankee, who was travelling through Kentucky, had a fine horse and no money. He had taught the animal to lie down or sit down or sit on his haunches, when the bridle was pulled pretty hard. Our traveller saw no way of replenishing his purse but by selling his horse, and this he resolved to do at the first opportunity. As he was going along slowly he saw a hunter at some distance from the road whom he rode up to and accosted. In the course of the conversation he told the latter that he had an invaluable horse to sell, a horse that would act precisely like a cow when he was in the vicinity of game. Casting his eyes around, at the same time and discovering some fresh rabbit tracks, he gave the bridle a jerk. The doodle quadruped immediately laid down. "There are some rabbits here," said the rider; I know by his ears." The Kentuckian, curious to test the reputed sagacity of the horse, searched around, and sure enough started three or five rabbits. He was greatly surprised, but the Yankee took the affair as a matter of course. To make a long story short, the wonderful horse changed hands on the spot, three hundred dollars being the consideration. Quite a new owner mounted him, and with characteristic hospitality the Yankee agreed to accompanying him home. They soon came to a stream, which they had to cross, and which was rather deep for horsemen. Judge of the Kentuckian's surprise when, on pulling the bridle in the middle of the river, his steed subsided into the middle of the running waters as if he were a hippopotamus. "How is this?" he roared out, nothing but his head visible. The Yankee, who was mounted on the hunter's other horse, was not disconcerted in the least, but replied coolly, "Oh, I forgot to tell you he is as good for fish as for rabbits!"

The Peace of Europe.—The London correspondent of the New York Commercial, in a letter published in that paper lately, contends that the present state of affairs on the Continent is not so threatening to the peace of Europe as the majority of persons would be disposed to imagine. The work in Central Italy can be done without danger of a rupture. Russia is satisfactorily reminded the other Powers that as they looked calmly on, when the Emperor Napoleon invaded Italy, she intends now in the affair of Savoy to follow their example and abstain even from a protest. Russia is understood to have intimated that although she may have her own opinion of the step, it is too far removed from her interests to lend her to interfere.

Prussia has heard the declaration of Austria and would be afraid to act alone, however strong may be her convictions that the question of Savoy will be followed in a year or two by a question of the Rhenish provinces. England will expostulate, but will of course do nothing more. If Sardinia has made the bargain, and the Powers who are threatened by the precedent it will establish, are willing to allow its completion, it is no business of ours. The people of Central Italy will therefore have to submit.

There is not a single quarter where the sword is likely to be drawn. The matter will drag on probably for several months, but in the end it will embody a multitude of compromises. The Pope will make "concessions" on the one hand, and Sardinia on the other, a ruler will be established in Tuscany on French principles; and the Sardinian scheme of government will be moulded in the Romagna to harmonize with the views of the Vatican, and the inconsistency of a Free Parliament at Turin, with the Tuscan and Roman systems, will ultimately be acknowledged, until a reaction is gradually effected, like that which "dissipated the illusions" of 1848. Such, at least, is the practical and unromantic belief of those who, even in the midst of the exciting proclamations issued last year by the French Emperor and the Prince Napoleon at Milan and Florence, felt convinced that the epoch of illusions had not terminated.

A $15,000 Embezzlement.—Some time in January last, the People's Bank, at Richmond, Indiana, missed $15,000, James A. McCorkle, cashier, being charged with the crime, as his immediate disappearance was conclusive of its correctness. He was trailed to San Antonio, Texas, and captured, brought back and tried, but the jury failed to agree. Last week his second trial came on before Judges Elliott and Perkins. Tuesday night McCorkle, who was on bail, fled, but was re-arrested on Wednesday at 12 o'clock in Darke county, Ohio. The Judge proceeded with the trial in the prisoner's absence. On Thursday he returned to court, through the request of his counsel and on Friday the case was submitted to the jury. A verdict was rendered of a fine of five hundred dollars, disfranchisement for five years, and incarceration in the State Prison for four years.

The Indianapolis Journal says that up to the time he left Richmond his character was of a high standard. What he did with the money embezzled, which the books of the bank show to be some $16,000, is not known. Some suppose he has it where he expected to make it available when the difficulties with which he was surrounded should be removed. The money taken and the expenses incurred in his arrest will reach an aggregate of probably $50,000.

His Just His Reward.—How the South Treats its Northern Tools.—The Atlanta (Ga.) Southern Confederacy says "all must admit that James Buchanan has, in every instance, been a true friend to the South," and after duly rubbing down the old steed, like an experienced groom, turns him loose to die, as follows:

We have no doubt but that, in the main, the Charleston Convention will indorse the Administration of James Buchanan, but we have not the remotest idea that he will be the nominee of that Convention. If he were the nominee of a thousand Charleston Conventions, he could never again be elected President. His Kansas policy, while it has given general satisfaction to the South, has been utterly repudiated by the entire North, and condemned over and over again. He could not carry his own State, Pennsylvania, if his Kansas policy were made the test. But it is worse than useless to advocate the claims of James Buchanan to the Charleston Convention. He has stated, time and time again, that he would not again be a candidate for the Presidency, and therefore could not accept of the nomination if tendered him.

Delegate to Chicago Convention.—Mr. Joseph Gerhardi, one of our most influential and active Republican German citizens, has been elected a delegate to the Chicago Convention from this city, to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of a delegate previously elected. (Washington paper.

The several States of the Union are invited by the Republican National Committee to send a number of delegates to the Chicago Convention equal to twice their electoral vote. Under this rule, to how many delegates is the District of Columbia entitled? That is easily answered, and the election of delegates, either by the District or by any of the Territories, is childish folly. Any resident of the District who chooses to attend the Convention as an outsider, has of course a perfect right to do so.—Cin. Gaz.

Another Intelligent English Editor.—Reade's (Bath, England) Journal, of February 18th, contains this astonishing intelligence:

"The President of the United States is chosen at last. Mr. Pennington, a Republican, has been elected by a majority of one vote."

This is equal to the announcement of the French Journal when Banks was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives:

"Mr. Banks, a negro, has been elected Speaker of the House of Deputies in the Congress of the United States."

Horrible Affair.—The most horrible affair that has occurred in New Orleans within our recollection has just been brought to light.

A diabolical attempt has been made to poison Col. T. L. Lemley's family and a number of visitors whom he had with him at dinner on Tuesday.

Col. Lemley's cook, a colored woman, is suspected of having administered the deadly drug by putting it in Charlotte Russe. She has been arrested, with a colored man and a colored boy who were engaged in preparing the dinner, all slaves of Col. Lemley.

The dinner was given at Col. Lemley's house on Jackson street, near Annunciation, in honor of a young gentleman from Mississippi, Dr. Hunt, receiving his diploma.

At one o'clock yesterday morning, all who participated of the Charlotte Rose were taken ill, and all the symptoms showed that arsenic had been administered.

About the same time Mrs. and Miss McKey, friends of the family, who had not been to dinner, but who had been sent some of the confectionary, were also taken sick.

At two o'clock this morning a little boy about five years of age died, and we heard, just before going to press, that Mrs. McKey was dead.

The following are the names of those who were poisoned and their condition this forenoon.—The Youngs are from Jackson, Miss. Mr. J. H. Phelps is an ex-assistant alderman of this city.

Mr. T. L. Lemley—will probably recover.
Mrs. Lemley—in a dangerous condition.
Miss J. Lemley—dangerous condition.
Miss L. Lemley—no hope.
Mrs. Young—will recover.
Miss S. Young—will recover.
Miss E. Young—dangerous condition.
Miss S. Hall—will recover.
Master Willis Young, 5 years—dead.
Four servants, one woman and three children—will probably recover.
Mrs. Jas. H. Phelps—will recover.
Miss J. DeBoulnez, of Baton Rouge—will recover.
Mr. Henry Phelps—will recover.
Mrs. McKey, Miss McKey and Miss Emma Searle—will recover.

Prince Imperial Champagne.

FROM DE VENOGE & CO, EPERNAY, FRANCE.

Sold by all respectable Dealers throughout the Country.

This fine brand of CHAMPAGNE, which until the past year was confined exclusively to the best tables of the Continent of Europe, has now obtained the most unbounded success and popularity in this country. It is recommended by some of the first Physicians of the city of New York, over all other wines, on account of its extreme purity and delicacy, and those who once try it rarely use any other brand. Although one year has elapsed since its introduction into this country, the demand is enormous and constantly increasing. Our arrangements are such as to ensure the quality of the Wine being maintained at its present high standard. The Prince Imperial is imported solely by us, we being the sole agents of Messrs. De Venoge & Co. in this country.

Sold in this city by MILLER & RICKETSON.

Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia!! Dyspepsia!!!

What is it? How Cured?

Dyspepsia is our National Disease—weak stomach, feeble digestion, dizziness after eating, costive habit, bilious condition. How many suffer with it and its attendant symptoms of low spirits, bad taste, coated tongue, constipated head and attacks of headache! Yet how few know how to cure it! Generally, because the bowels are constipated, resort is had to cathartics, or laxatives. But such a condition was never cured by cathartics, whose only office is to weaken the digestion and impair the integrity of the entire assimilative system.

But HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC PILLS—a simple medicated sugar pill—have cured hundreds of the worst and most obstinate cases. This is done simply by improving the tone and restoring the integrity of the digestive organs, from which result good appetite, regular habits, a clear head and buoyant spirits. Such a medicine is a gain, and only requires to be known to be appreciated.

FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

N. B.—A full set of Humphrey's Homeopathic Specifics, with Book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; do, in plain case, $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and book, $3.

These remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address DR. J. HUMPHREY & CO.,

No. 562 Broadway, New York.

Sold in Pittsburgh by J. LANGE, JOHN PETTIT, Allegheny by O. P. FLEMING and J. J. BASE. mr29:lmswdwT
