MONDAY MORNING, APRIL

How the Public Money is Spent.—The developements before the Hamlin Investigating Committee shows how the public money was expended to control the politics of Pennsylvania and other States:

Mr. Jno. Larcombe, the money clerk and bookkeeper of Mr. Wendell, the late public printer, testifies as follows:

Q. I want to ask you whether you know of any part of the profits derived from the public printing being appropriated toward carrying any of the Congressional elections in the fall of 1858; and if so, in what districts?

A. I have made a memorandum of $11,198 50, spent chiefly during the fall elections of 1858.

Q. For political purposes?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. To whose election was this money appropriated?

A. That I could not tell.

Q. Was it appropriated for the election of the Democratic candidate or the People's candidate?

A. Always for the Democratic cause.

Q. How much was spent in Landy's District?

A. I think there were two drafts inside of $1,000; one portion for $500, the other for $800.

Q. In regard to the District represented by J. Glancy Jones in the last Congress—was any money sent into that District to secure his re-election?

A. I think some money went into his District.

Q. How much?

A. I cannot state how much. I merely made a memorandum of the amount of money that went into Pennsylvania during that time. I have the amounts that were paid toward sustaining the Philadelphia, Pennsylvanian and the Evening Argus.

Q. Can you approximate to it?

A. If my memory serves me, there was $500 sent there on one occasion. Instead of speaking of the $11,192 50 having been spent in the fall election of 1858 in Pennsylvania, I should have said that that amount was contributed to the support of the Pennsylvania newspaper. The amount spent in Pennsylvania in the fall election of 1858 was about $4000 only.

Q. Do you know of money having been spent in any other district than those you have mentioned?

A. There was money sent into Philadelphia, but cannot tell into whose district.

Q. By the Chairman. You kept Wendell's check-books?

A. I did.

Q. Did it appear on these check-books that the amounts you have already designed as having been sent into Pennsylvania in the fall of 1858, had been paid for political purposes?

A. It did.

Q. By the Chairman.—Were not the entries in the check-book of these sums headed "political," to distinguish them from others?

A. Many of them were.

Q. And do you not know, from your own knowledge, that the checks drawn, of which these entries are the memorandums, went to support newspapers, or to influence the elections in different districts?

A. There is no doubt in my mind as to that fact.

Mr. Wendell being recalled, and asked if the President had been in the habit of dispensing the Post-Office printing, replied that prior to 1856, it was done by contract, but that under Buchanan it was done by the President and Postmaster General. The President gave it to a Mr. Rice, for whom Mr. Wendell did the work, and received 43 cts on the dollar.

From a written statement submitted to the Committee by Mr. Wendell, it appears that the aggregate amount paid for printing, binding, &c., by Congress in the last six years, was $8,462,655 12, or a yearly average of nearly $700,000! In addition to this, the printing done for the Executive Departments of the Government, during the same six years, amounted to $374,772 28. The profit on this work ranges from 33 to 70 per cent, averaging 50 per cent at least; that is to say, the work done for those six years has cost the Government, just $1,918,718 70 more than it should have done.

Mr. James English, Mr. Wendell's foreman for six years past, states, under oath: With such an establishment as Mr. Wendell's I could take the printing and do it for fifty cents on the dollar, and make money; as an evidence of that fact, Mr. Larcombe and myself have offered to do it for Mr. Wendell, in case he got the whole of it, for forty cents on the dollar, and at that rate we would have been able to make a few dollars.

John Heart, the present Superintendent of Public Printing, testifies: I believe this work could be done by the public at its own expense for fifty cents on the dollar; I would be willing—and this will show my impression of the subject—as a printer, to give bond and security to execute the entire public printing and binding at a saving to the government of $100,000 a year on present prices, and I would then, if receiving all the profits over and above that amount, consider myself making a good bargain; I believe from $120,000 to $149,000 might be saved by the Government executing its own printing and binding.

Twenty thousand dollars of this fund were spent to support the Washington Constitution and the Philadelphia Pennsylvanian—two papers that could not live a day on what they receive from their subscribers. No wonder Mr. Buchanan dreads an exposure of his official acts.
