RUINS OF ROMAN LONDON.—In digging the foundations of St. Martin's Church at Ludgate, in digging for Goldsmith's Hall, in digging for the new Royal Exchange, wherever the digging may be within Roman bounds, when it is deep enough discoveries are made. Under the Royal Exchange, there was found what proved to be a gravel pit which had been used as a common dust-hole by the Roman citizens. When the Excise office, pulled down six years ago, between Bishopsgate street and Broad street, a beautiful mosaic pavement was discovered; Europa, in the middle of it had been sitting under ground for at least sixteen centuries upon her bull. In the same neighborhood, a drain, sunk in a cellar disclosed part of another pavement that may have belonged to another room in the villa. In preparing the site for the Hall of Commerce in Threadneedle street more pavements were found of Roman planning, under mediæval fragments of the walls of the old hospital of St. Anthony. Between that part of Threadneedle street and Cornhill, wherever the ground is tapped, remains of handsome old Roman suburban villas seem to lie. From one hole made in this part of the town there was fished up a female's head, life size, of colored stones and glass.

The handsomest of the tesselated pavements that have yet been found lay buried nine feet under the flag stones before the India House in Leadenhall street. The central part of it, representing Bacchus on the Panther, is preserved in the library of the East India House. A sherb mosaic pavement was discovered under Paternoster row; there was another dug in Crosby square; another in Fenchurch street (of which a whole peacock was uncovered;) another in Bartholomew lane, near the Bank. These were the Turkey carpets of the wealthy Roman Londoner. Some of them lie buried under the earth and press of traffic on each side London bridge. Fragments of wall painting, important bronzes, statuette of Apollo, Harpocrates, and so forth, toy goats and socks, water spouts, vase handles and ornaments, lamps, hair-pins, bracelets, bath scrapers, spindle and distaff of Roman housewives, the pens, the weights, and, the steel yards of the man of business; interesting remains of pottery, on which the potters' marks have become, through the studies of antiquaries, in their own way as instructive as inscriptions upon coins, and coins which, as records, partake of the dignity of written history, the earth under the feet of modern Londoners already has yielded up.—[From Dickens's All the Year Round.

ALARMING INCREASE OF CELIBACY.—This is getting to be an alarming fact to the political economists, and, in an article on the subject, the Once a Week thus remarks:

The probabilities of marriage of a maiden at twenty are slightly superior to those of a bachelor, and incomparably greater than those of a widow of the same age; but with the lapse of years the ratios change; the probabilities of marriage at thirty-five being, for a bachelor, one to twenty-seven; for a spinster, one to thirty-five; and for a widow, one to five—the attractions of the widow standing to those of the spinster in the surprising relation of five to one—or perchance, that number mystically representing her comparative readiness to matrimony. Thus the chance of finding happiness and a home diminished with years. The growing disposition to celibacy among the young men of this class, though in some measures attributable to selfish and luxurious cynicism, is chiefly due to the irrational expenditure consequently on marriage, and the unactiveness of prospective association with women so unlikely, from their artificial habits, to yield domestic happiness. If this celibacy frequently defeats the economical consideration deciding to it, (as it should,) and ends in much immortality and unhappiness among men, how immeasurably evil must be its influence on the other sex; and what violation of natural law must that social organization be which so harshly represent the affections, and bereaves so large a class of the support and sympathy they are entitled to from men! Is the Rajapoot pride that stays a female infant, lest in after life it should dishonor its parentage by a plebian marriage, more cruel than the selfish social system that devotes it to a solitary and weary life of penury and regret?

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC Preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every consecutive case. Inmoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Rheumatism, Chronic Rheumatism, Leucorrhœa, Amenorrhœa, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease or of the accumulated diminution of nerve and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no desc ription but written attestation would render credible.—Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhood, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel to a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic wreckage to sir and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for each, the old cordiales, is its vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and, gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single dose of these Chalybeate Pills has often suffered for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Castiveness.

In unchecked Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate in Pulmonic Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculous, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities.

The attention of families cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been found specially well reported, both as allaying pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and fit progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills; price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders etc., should be addressed to

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says:

"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which are now before the public under such extravagant, hyperbolical and fantastic titles as we see paraded in show windows cards, and newspaper headings, as hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water; their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. HOOF'S LARD, WHALE OIL, LARD OIL, SWEET OIL, scented and colored, make up, when in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, the coniferous character of tonics; and when these costly, new baptized with some triphlastic term, and caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. This gentleman comes before the world without any "high falutin" Kilophilorikon, or any other astounding and startling catch-penny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—what it expresses precisely—and as a lasting one it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and as you value your scalp, eye, your very brains, apply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process,
Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color,
Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads,
Will restore the Natural Secretions,
Will remove at once all itching,
Will remove all Dandruff,
Will cure all eruptions—even Scald Head,
Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy,
Will make the old appear young again,
Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age,
Will always Fasten it and stop its Falling,
and is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.
