TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 5.

SAYS Blackwood's Magazine, "Let a man have but money enough, and, unless he is an absolute idiot, he need not despair of working his way to the peerage, and sitting one day on the same bench with the representative of the oldest barony in England." Be his origin what it may, money will buy him a fair wife. Not in Circassia only is there a trade in such commodities; Money, in the ears of a dowerless girl, who has been hawked season after season, from one watering place to another without attracting an offer, means diamonds, a house in London, a handsome equipage, a box at the opera, independant pin money, and other things having a close connection with the pomps and vanities of this wicked world, which few damsels so sadly situated can resist. Why blame them, if, never having known what love is—never having surrendered their hearts with maidens fear and trembling to the keeping of others—never having been beloved or solicited, they yield to the parental solicitations, and stand bedecked with laces and orange flowers, before the alter, promising, in the face of God and, man, thenceforward to obey, serve, love, honor, and keep, in sickness and in health, some vulgar, millionaire, of advanced age, who, in manner and in learning, is decidedly inferior to the valet who serves and despises him? Is it necessary to say that, through money, a fool can get into Parliment far more easily than the wisest man of the age, if so be that the latter is deficient in purse?

THE MIDNIGHT MEETINGS.—The promoters of the midnight meeting movement in London held a thanksgiving meeting Tuesday evening. A report was read, which stated that seven meetings had been called, the gospel had been preached to 1,700 women, and 7,500 scriptural cards and books had been circulated amongst them. The offer of escape had been made to all; it had been accepted by 107; of these 100 are in the homes, through the agency of which, they would, it was hoped, be restored to society. In addition to these, five had been restored to their friends, one restored to her husband, two placed in situations, and one had been married. Beyond this there is amongst the fallen women of the metropolis a spirit of inquiry awakened, alike gratifying and encouraging to the promoters of the movement. One of the speakers said that a friend had given them two houses, but there were three more still required—two for females, and the third for children. It was intended to go on with the movement, and they must have money. It cost £6 if a woman remained in the house for a month, without any other expenses. The least they wanted was £1,000, and he felt sure if this were made known they would soon have it. —[London Times.

A PROSELYTE.—A dry old codger connected with the railroad interest, a man who listens always and speaks little, and was never known to argue a hobby with anybody, has lately been all mouth and ear to a very communicative spiritualist of the ultra school. He listened to and swallowed all sorts of things from the other world with so much placidity of assent, that the spiritualist at last believed him to be one of the faithful. A few days since, the spiritualist said to his pupil, "The spirit of B—appeared to me last night, and ordered me to borrow five dollars of you," for a certain purpose, which was named. "Yes, I know it did," replied the one, "and is'nt it strange! the same spirit called on me half an hour afterwards, and told me not to let you have the money, as it had made a mistake in giving you the order! The pretended spiritualist hasn't been to see the old codger since.

FERTILITY OF AUTHORS.—A facetious correspondent, who appears to have mistaken our letter-box for that of a witty contemporary, sends us a query—Which is the most industrious writer, Dickens, Bulwer Lytton, or Mr. Warren? to which he answers Dickens; for he writes All the Year Round, and Mr. Warren Now and Then. In justice to the latter gentleman, our friend should have remembered that when he was merely writing novels, Mr. Warren wrote Ten Thousand a Year.—[London Publishers' Circular.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC Preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and sallow skin and complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Tasteless in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued disturbance of nervous and mercurial sorrow from chronic complaints, one trial of this preparative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become fog-sicn in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just return d from protracted travels in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for unlike the old ovidess, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating and gently aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inducting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for PILES, upon which it is also appears to exert a elastic and specific action, by diminishing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its forms, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked Diarhœa, even when attended by Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remitted hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has alarmed the alarmists and physicians, to several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known inabilities.

The attention of families cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly adapting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, powerful, and radically restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills; price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says:

"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which are now before the public under such extravagant, hyperbolical and fantastic titles as we are paraded in show window cards, and newspaper headlines, as hair preparations are all humbugs of the first water, their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. HOG'S LARD, WHALE OIL, LARD OIL, SWEET OIL, scented and colored, make up, when in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, the costliest character of tonics; and when caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative this gentleman comes before the world without any "high sterilin catchpenny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—that it expresses precisely—and as a matter of fact it acts.—Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and see if you value your scalp, eye, your very brain, supply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process,
Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color,
Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads,
Will restore the Natural Secretions,
Will remove at once all itchings,
Will remove all Dandruff,
Will cure all eruptions—even Scald Head,
Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy,
Will make the old appear young again,
Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age,
Will always Fasten it and stop its Falling,
And is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.
