THE DIAMOND ROBBERY IN PARIS.—The affair of the robbery of 250,000f. worth of diamonds from Fontana, the jeweller of the Palais Royal, about which so much has been said, has at length been brought to an end. It is known that on the evening of the 30th of March last a man and two females went into Fontana's shop on the pretext of purchasing an opera glass. Whilst the man was examining the articles offered him, the women placed themselves near the windows, in which among other things, a quantity of diamonds were exposed.

Another man and two other females then came in, and asked to see some watches, the two women placing themselves in such a position as to prevent the movements of the first two from being seen. After awhile the three last comers went away without purchasing anything, and the first three, hastily paying for a lorgnette which the man had selected, also hurried off, and then Fontana discovered that his diamonds had disappeared. It is further known that the latter, having obtained a description of the six persons in question, suspected one of the females to be a certain Sophie Nathan, living in the Rue des Quatre Vents; and that she, having learned that they had inquired after her, went herself to the Prefecture, and was taken into custody.

It is likewise shown that a few days after a man was arrested at Lyons for having borrowed a pair of scales to weigh diamonds, and that he was recognized by Fontana as one of the two who had robbed him. Finally, a man named Pierce, and a female named Lawrence, were arrested at London for attempting a robbery similar to that of Fontana, and that persons residing in the house of the man that had been in his shop. It has not been possible to discover the other two females, and Pierce and Lawrence have been condemned at London.

The two in the hands of French justice—the alleged Michau and the man arrested at Lyons—were on Friday brought to trial before the Court of Assizes. The man represented himself to be a Swetchman, of the name of Allen, but, from the investigations which have been made, it appears that he is a native of New York, and that, in addition to the name of Allen, he has been known by those of Rhonds, Brands and Stuart. Both Fontana and his nephew, who was in the shop with him, positively recognise him as the man who had called for a watch.

The application at Lyons for the scales to weigh diamonds was likewise considered a most suspicious circumstance; and, besides, he had arrived in that city, with a man and a female, who, on his arrest, mysteriously disappeared from the hotel at which they had put up. The man, it is not doubted, was Pierce; and, probably, the purpose for which the scales were wanted, was to effect a division of the loot.

None of the diamonds stolen were found in Allen's possession, but he had some securities for French rents, a bank note, a watch, and some other things, which turned out to have been pawned in London; and moreover it was discovered that he had condemned more than once in that city for theft. As to the female, who is a native of Alsace, but who for many years resided in New York, and who has gone by the name of Fiteire, Leon, Madame Georges, and the widow Dullard; she was recognized by Fontana. Indeed, he expressed the opinion that it was she who took the diamonds.

When arrested she was found to possess, secreted in her petticoats, a 500f. bank note, 200f. in gold and some jewelry, and she could not give a satisfactory account as to where they came from nor why she had hid them. None of the diamonds, however, could be traced to her. The jury acquitted the woman, but convicted Allen, who was condemned to ten years hard labor.—London Star, July 30.

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says:

"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which are now in the public under such extravagant titles, as Balm of Columbia, Bear's Grease, Hair Restorative, Hair Dye, Hair Invigorator, Hair Renewer, Hair Preservative, Hair Cards, and hair vegetable beautifiers, as hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water, their real merits, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. BOGUS BALM, WHALE OIL HAIR OIL, WHALE OIL, WHALE OIL, scented and colored, made up, wholesale and retail, by any weak and stupid, gullible, vegetable chemist at cheap-cater of tonics; and when these compounds are applied with some irregularity to the human scalp at the verdant young and old of both sexes, such is not the character as Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. This preparation combines in the world without any high falutin' Philophicodrine, or any other astounding and startling catchpenny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—what it expresses it does—and as a fact it is an active it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and not, while your ship, are, your very brains, apply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

A.—For Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Old Intermittent Agues.

P.—For Piles, Blind or Bleeding, Internal or External.

C.—For Catarrh, of long standing or recent, either with obstruction or profuse discharge.

W. C.—For Whooping Cough, abating its violence and shortening its course.

In all acute diseases, such as Fevers, Inflammations, Hæmorrhages, Dysentery, Croup, Rheumatism, and such eruptive diseases as Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Erysipelas, the advantage of giving the proper remedies promptly is obvious, and in all such cases the specifics act like a charm. The entire disease is often arrested at once, and in all cases the violence of the attack is moderated, the disease shortened, and rendered less dangerous.

Coughs and Colds, which are of such frequent occurrence, and which so often lay the foundation of diseases of lungs, bronchitis and consumption, may all be at once cured by the Fever and Cough Pills.

In all chronic diseases, such as Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach, Constipation, Liver Complaints, Piles, Female Debility, and Irregularities, old Headaches, Sore and Weak Eyes, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, and other old eruptions, the case has specifics whose proper application will afford a cure in almost every instance. Often the cure of a single chronic difficulty, such as Dyspepsia, Piles or Catarrh, Headache or Female Weakness, has more than paid for the case ten times over.
