ALL THE VIRTUES OF

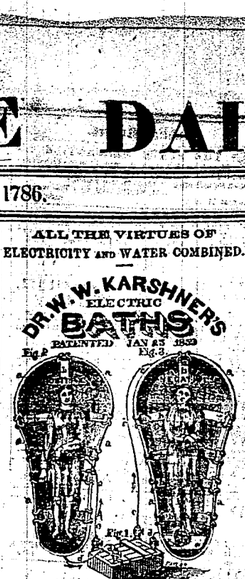
ELECTRICITY AND WATER COMBINED.

DR. W. W. KARSHNER'S

ELECTRIC

BATHS

PATENTED JAN'Y 31 1860



THE above cut is a representation of DR. KARSHNER'S POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELECTRO-THERAPEUTIC BATHS, for which he has obtained letters patent from the Patent Office of the United States. These Baths have been in successful operation for the last two years, in many of our principal towns and cities, during which time hundreds of patients have tested their astonishing powers with signal success. Dr. K. challenges the entire medical world to produce any one system or combined set of systems, that will cure as many diseases, and in so short a time, as his Electric Baths alone, when rightly administered. The scientific minds of all professions are cordially invited to call, examine and test for themselves.

The duration of each Bath, the temperature of the water, and the strength of the electric current, are varied according to the disease, the condition of the patient at the time, and the effects desired. The water is about blood heat, and the electricity so graduated as to produce nothing but pleasurable sensations.

There is no class of Diseases, either Acute or Chronic, to which they are not adapted—which do not yield at once to their all pervading and health-restoring influence. The aged and decrepid have been led, voluntarily, to testify that they felt many years younger, and slept better than they had done for years. Others have been cured of painful diseases in a few Baths.

Nor do their healthful effects seem to be confined solely to the physical man; they have an equally happy influence upon the mental faculties, making them a most efficient means in the treatment of insanity and all abnormal mental conditions

Among the diseases successfully treated by Dr. K.'s Baths are: Incipient Consumption, Scrofula, Paralysis, Epilepsy, (Fits,) Insanity, Delirium Tremens, St. Vitus' Dance, Curvature of the Spine, Rheumatism, Mercurial Rheumatism, Weakness in the Back and Joints, Nervousness, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Sore Eyes, Partial Deafness, Dyspepsia, Gravel and other Urinary and Genital Diseases, Falling of the Womb, Leucorrhea, and other female derangements, Fever, Fever and Ague, etc. etc.

Those Baths are in successful operation at

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.—"The Metzway Piano which I purchased of you in March, 1859, has now been so long in use that I feel no hesitation in saying that it has proved to be all you represented, and gives me the most unalloyed satisfaction. For volume, sweetness and brilliancy of tone, I cannot say that I have ever heard its superior, and I believe that it will maintain the most popular instrument of the day. A great number of persons have heard, and have uniformly expressed the greatest admiration of its merits. As it has been introduced into the West, recently, if this testimonial will add to the number of your patrons, which you are again for the sale of these instruments, you are at liberty to make use of it as your pleasure.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUG. 24.

DUMAS ON GARIBALDI.—Turin, July 30, 1860.—Alexander Dumas is in Sicily. He is a citizen of Palermo, and is the historiographer of the war. His letters are very interesting and read like chapters in the "Three Guardsmen." I give you, in conclusion, an extract from his last. Promising that the day after the battle of Melazzo, which he witnessed ashore, he went on board his yacht, which, for safety had remained outside the harbor, and sailed to the entrance, when

"Scarcely had I cast anchor when a boat, bearing a man with a red shirt, (so all Garibaldians are dressed,) directed itself towards the yacht. The General had sent me an order to take position behind the Tuchery (steamer). A quarter of an hour afterwards I occupied the position indicated, and repaired on board the Tuchery.

"The General received me calm and serene, as he always is. You will never see a face so placid as his. Truly as Dante says 'it is the lion that so repose.'

"Whilst we conversed, there arrived on our boat. The General exchanged several words with the men on board, and afterwards gave orders to his aids. One of them said to me in a low voice, 'news from Messina, we will have work now on both sides.'

"The General only said two words. 'Let us go and see your yacht.' A paper was brought to him to sign; it was a credit of 500,000 francs opened for him. Signing it, he looked towards my little vessel and said, 'I should be rich to possess a yacht like yours.'

"Hear me, then, what I say—Sicilians, my compatriots; Italians, my brothers—this man that disposes of the money and blood of Sicily; that gives to-day two millions of men to Piedmont, and will probably give to-morrow the Kingdom of Naples to Victor Emanuel; this man is not rich enough to buy a vessel worth only $5,000.

"Yesterday I compared him with Cincinnatus. But in the contrast with this man, that has not whereon to lay his head the evening of a battle is not the latter in perfect order.....

"Cincinnatus, laying aside his sword, returned to his plough. Cincinnatus then had a plough and by consequence some land. Garibaldi has nothing but his rock of Caprera.

THE SUCCESS OF BUCHANAN DEMOCRACY.—It has succeeded in dividing the American people into sectional factions, wherever its rule and influence have extended to a political organization.

It has succeeded in bankrupting the Treasury, filled to overflowing when it came into power.

It has succeeded in driving from its support and respect, the able statesmen who were engaged in its elevation to power.

It has succeeded in changing a surplus of twenty million into a deficit of fifty millions of dollars.

It has succeeded in disgracing the country by encouraging piratical raids upon nations with whom we are at peace.

It has succeeded in opening the African slave trade, after it had been pronounced unconstitutional by every administration since the formation of the Constitution.

It has succeeded in defeating all legislation tending to the encouragement and protection of American industry.

It has succeeded in defeating the Homestead bill, providing free homes for free white men.

It has succeeded in silencing candidates for the most important offices in the gift of the people.

It has succeeded in demoralizing its own press, by subborning it with threats or bribes.

These constitute a very small portion of the "successes" of the present National Administration, which the people of Pennsylvania and the Union are expected to endorse by voting for Breckinridge and Lane. They are expected to endorse these "successes" too, by voting for Henry D. Foster, Breckinridge and Foster represent the spirit and tendencies of the administration in Pennsylvania—its former by his ingratitude in seeking to destroy a party that has created him, politically, and the other by his silence and duplicity, is hoping to delude the people into his support.—Pa. Tri.

A REMINISCENCE.—The Transcript says: The last time Mr. Seward spoke in Boston previous to last night, he addressed a Taylor and Fillmore meeting at the Tremont Temple. The other orators on the occasion were the Hon. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois, and the Hon. George Lunt of the Boston Courier. Two of these gentlemen addressed large audiences in Boston last night, but they were convened for widely different purposes Mr. Seward stood North and Mr. Lunt South of the old rallying point of 1848.

The meeting was held on the 22d of September, 1848. Mr. Lunt presided, and Col. Eres Lincoln, Jr., was Secretary. The Daily Advertiser of the next morning in speaking of the meeting, says that "Gov. Seward, after making an eloquent and convincing speech in favor of Whig principles, was followed by Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, who closely and eloquently maintained the doctrine that the Whigs are opposed to the extension of slavery, and believe that the election of General Taylor will do more to prevent such extension than will the choice of any other candidate it is possible to elect."

Now, twelve years from that time, Gov. Seward comes again to bear magnanimous and noble testimony, that, although not a candidate himself, the National Convention in making the selection of the Illinois Statesman, touched a chord which reaches the public heart, that vibrates throughout the land.

A STRUT NOBLEMAN'S DINNER PARTY.—The London correspondent of the New York Times writes:

The other day there was a Review or Inspection at Windsor, which the Queen graced with her presence. Among the gratified spectators was Lord Overstone, the millionaire. To the astonishment of a regiment of volunteers, his Lordship asked them all to dine with him at the Portland Barracks a few days afterwards. A large number of them went. They found a long table, and upon it plates containing small portions of cold beef and mutton alternately set, with a tumbler for every mess of four men, and a few lettuces by way of salad, placed down the centre of the table. Small beer and porter in wooden "stoups" completed the entertainment. The majority went away in disgust at this millionaire display; about fifty remained to lunch, and agreed, as a liberal recognition, to send Lord Overstone 12 penny postage stamps each. On the whole transaction his lordship is a gainer. This nobleman is well known for instances of generous promotion of this kind. His fortune is something fabulous, but he will not allow his servants meat for supper, and gives them bread and cheese.

THE Chicago Press & Tribune of August 10th, prints an extract from a private letter written by an Influential and Intelligent gentleman in Kentucky to a gentleman in Chicago. In it we find the following relative to Southern opinions of Lincoln's election and conduct when in power:

"It may seem strange to you, but it is nevertheless true, that the South looks for the election of Lincoln by the people, and would prefer him to Douglas. Our most ultra southern men seem to respect him and to have more confidence in his honesty, fairness and conservatism. They concede that he stands on a moderate platform, that his antecedents are excellent, and that he is not likely to invade the rights of any one; but they can't go for him because he holds opinions relative to the rights of slavery in the territories directly opposite to the southern view. Still he is an open and candid opponent, and therefore commands Southern respect.

"Can't be Trusted on the Plantation.—In his speech a few days since at Ypsilanti, Michigan, Governor Chase said:

They (Northern friends of Douglas) say, too, that Douglas has been crucified by the slaveholders. I know that he has been rejected by the slaveholders. He has done as much as any other man for the slave power. But the Southern men say to him that he has ventured to differ with them on one point, and they can't trust him any longer. And the Douglas men are indignant. I don't wonder they are indignant. After serving them so long, I should be indignant too, at being turned off at last with much miserable wages. But Mr. Douglas should remember that when the servant questions the authority of his master and claims wages, he cannot be trusted on the plantation.

THE Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy publishes the following lucid and liquid, but terribly startling statement:

"The American people are beset with pestilence and famine. The Black locusts of the North threaten to consume the last fructifying germ of that frigid clime. The clear and limpid foundations of Southern vitality have been poisoned by arsenic heads; and the channels which once marked a living pathway to the ocean of nationality, has been clogged with the debris of schism, and the banks are now covered by noxious weeds, containing miasm, and death.

REPUBLICANISM IN MARYLAND.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, who was present at the Wilmington Republican mass meeting, relates the following pleasing incident. The Major McPhail, alluded to a prominent citizen of Maryland, and was an active supporter of Fillmore in 1856.

While standing in a group of gentlemen, who had been surveying the Lincoln procession, I heard a German say in rather loud tones: "Well —dey would'nt show themselves in dat way in Baltimore, dese Bublicans!" "Why would'at they?"—demanded rather angrily, a still louder and more decided voice, "Where did you learn, that American citizens would not be permitted in Baltimore, to express their political opinions, freely and without molestation?" "I does dink so—das's all," replied the German, in a more subdued tone. "Let me tell you, Sir, I'm a Baltimoreon, and though a Republican Convention was broken up in that city, no such scene will ever occur there again. Lincoln men will have processions in that city, just like this one, and hold public meetings; and I will speak at them too, and woe unto the man who shall attempt to disturb me or them!" You may imagine a speech like this to a hundred or more eager listeners, created no little astonishment. The imprudent German was gone, when I edged my way into the crowd to see who the speaker was, and guess my astonishment at recognising my old friend, Major McPhail, whose political whereabouts was rather a poser to me, for being an old American myself and for Bell and Everett, I took it for granted, that the old war horse of Americanism was with us. I can tell you, Mr. Patriot, your cause in Maryland has lost a host, in losing such a supporter as Maj. McPhail. It seems as if the very devil was at work in driving off from us such men as Scripps, McPhail, Vanum, Sanderson, Flanegan, Ullman, Dick Thompson and Humphrey Marshall's Something's rotten in Denmark, that's certain.

I came on to Havre de Grace on Saturday morning, and while stopping for a few minutes at Elkton, I found the Major on the platform in the midst of a circle of friends. Some one asked him whether he was for Bell? "I'm no sucker politician," exclaimed he in quite an animated tone "I go for no party that can't stand by itself, but must hang on to the skirts of Douglas or Breckinridge to keep from falling. In other words, I'm for Lincoln, and he's going to be elected too." "Give us your hand Major" shouted several gentlemen, amongst whom I recognized one of the most prominent politicians of Elkton, who I had put down as certain for Bell. The train moved off, and we just had time to make good our retreat on board. In a hurry.
