ALL THE VIRTUES OF ELECTRICITY AND WATER COMBINED.

DR. W. W. KARSHNER'S ELECTRIC BATHS PATENTED JAN 8TH 1859

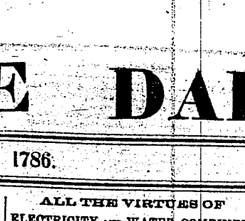

Fig. 2 Fig. 1

THE above cut is a representation of DR. KARSHNER'S POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELECTROTHERAPEUTIC BATHS, for which he has obtained letters patent from the Patent Office of the United States. These Baths have been in successful operation for the last two years, in many of our principal towns and cities, during which time hundreds of patients have tested their astonishing powers with signal success. Dr. K. challenges the entire medical world to produce any one system or combined set of systems, that will cure as many diseases, and in as short a time, as his Electric Baths alone, when rightly administered. The scientific minds of all professions are cordially invited to call, examine and test for themselves.

The duration of each Bath, the temperature of the water, and the strength of the electric current, are varied according to the disease, the condition of the patient at the time, and the effects desired. The water is about blood heat, and the electricity so graduated as to produce nothing but pleasurable sensations.

There is no class of Diseases, either Acute or Chronic, to which they are not adapted—which do not yield at once to their all pervading and health-restoring influence. The aged and decrepid have been led, voluntarily, to testify that they felt many years younger, and slept better than they had done for years. Others have been cured of painful diseases in a few Baths.

Nor do their truthful effects seem to be confined solely to the physical man; they have an equally happy influence upon the mental faculties, making them at most efficient means in the treatment of insanity and all abnormal mental conditions.

Among the diseases successfully treated by Dr K's Baths are: Incipient Consumption, Scrofula, Paralysis, Rheumatism, Insanity, Delirium Tremens, St. Vitus' Dance, Contractures of the Sinews, Neuralgia, Mercurial Diseases, Weakness in the Back and Joints, Nervousness, Nervous Headache, Asthma, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Weak Eyes, Partial Deafness, Dyspepsia, Gravel and other Urinary and Seminal Diseases, Falling of the Womb, Leucorrhea, and other Female Derangements, Fever, Ague, etc. etc.

These Baths are in successful operation at

No. 21 Fifth Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.,

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says:

"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations heralded to the public under such extravagant, hyperbolical and fantastical titles as we see displayed in show windows cards, and newspaper headlines, as hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water, their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. POLLY LANE, WILLIE OIL, LAIRD OIL, SWEET OIL, scented and colored, make up, in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, the costliest characters in the toilet, and when genuine, are bottled with some trifling art, and caught at by wishful young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, falsely Rhinelandered before the world without any high sounding catch-penny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—that proves to be such—and as a Restorative it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and bring out your scalp, ere, your very brains, apply tooth ing, slaves for it may be that you will see issuing worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Prof. Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process,

Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color,

And make Hair Grow on Bald Heads,

Will restore the Natural Secretions,

Will remove at once all itching,

Will remove all Dandruff,

Will cure all eruptions—even Scald Head,

Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy,

Will make the old appear young again,

Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age,

Will always Fasten it and stop its Falling;

And is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.

FIFTH STREET, ABOVE SMITHFIELD.

PITTSBURGH:

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 11.

The Sicilian Revolution—King Francis Wants to Fight.

The King of Naples, according to the correspondence of the Paris Debats, is in a much stronger position than was generally supposed, and has fully made up his mind to make a bold effort to retrieve his fortunes. The following proclamation to those of his soldiers who had followed him to Gaeta was issued on the 5th:

Soldiers:—It is time that you should hear in the your ranks the voice of your sovereign, who has grown up in the midst of you, and who, after devoting to you all his attention, has come to share your dangers and your misfortunes.—Those who deluded or seduced, have plunged the kingdom into calamities and mourning, are no longer amongst us. I now come to make an appeal to your honor, to your loyalty and to your reason even, that you may efface the shame of cowardice and the infamy of treason by a series of glorious combats and noble enterprises. Our numbers are still sufficient to meet an enemy who uses no other weapons than those of seduction and deceit. Hitherto I have been anxious to spare many towns, and especially the capital, the shedding of blood and the horrors of war; but having now retired to the banks of the Volturno and the Garigliano, shall we add further humiliations to our condition as soldiers? Will you suffer your sovereign to fall from his throne through your fault, and thus cover yourselves with eternal infamy? No, no, never! At this supreme moment we all press round our standard to defend our rights, our honor and the Neapolitan name, already too much disgraced; and if there are still seducers who would entice you to follow the example of the deserters who have gone over to the enemy, you will surely follow that of the brave and loyal soldiers, who, adhering to the fortunes of their King, Ferdinand IV. won universal applause with the benefits and gratitude of their monarch himself. Let this noble example of fidelity be for you an object of general emulation, and if the Lord of Hosts protects our cause, you may also hope to win what you will never obtain by acting otherwise.

FRANCIS.

JOHN BELL'S DISUNION RECORD.—A Southern paper says:

We know the gentleman well. We know his vacillating course in the Senate, how he at one time, when desiring place and position from Tennessee, could play the part of a blustering fire-eater, and hop at another time, when the rich bait of a Presidential nomination was held out to him by such men as Horace Greeley, Wilson & Co., he deemed it not dishonorable to consort and vote with the Abolitionists of the Senate against his own section of the country. But it is not our purpose now to point out his inconsistencies. We desire at this time merely to hear from him on the question of disunion. What does he say?

"Sir, no man who loves his country, no man who has any just pride in the reflection that he is an American citizen, but must desire that these dissensions should cease and for ever. For, sir, it is not a mere question whether we shall preserve the Union; for that may be and yet prove no great boon either to ourselves and posterity. The question is not whether the States shall continue united according to the letter of the covenant by which they are bound together. It is whether they shall continue to be practically and efficiently co-operative in carrying out the great ends of the association. The question is whether mutual trust and confidence in promoting and multiplying common benefits, or whether mutual hatred and distrust shall step in to check all progress, to distract and confound all joint endeavors for the common welfare; in fine, to entail upon the country all the evils of civil discord. That is the question. AND WHEN YOU PRESENT THAT ISSUE TO ME, I SAY GIVE ME SEPARATION; GIVE ME DISUNION; GIVE ME ANYTHING IN PREFERENCE TO A UNION SUSTAINED BY MY POWER, BY CONSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL TIES, WITHOUT RECIPROCAL TRUST AND CONFIDENCE. IF OUR FUTURE CAREER IS TO BE ONE OF ETERNAL DISCORD, OF ANGRY CRIMINATION AND RECRIMINATION, GIVE ME RATHER SEPARATION WITH ALL ITS CONSEQUENCES IF I am to be at peace, let it be peace in reality; and if I am to be at war, let me know it at once, that I may put my house in order and be ready for the consequences.—[App. to Cong. Globe, 1st Sess. 31st Cong., page 1101.

We often hear this said, but never further than Mr. Yancey and Mr. Keitt have gone. They are for the Union on the basis of the Constitution. Mr. Bell preferred disunion—"SEPARATION WITH ALL ITS CONSEQUENCES" to "angry criminations and recriminations," merely angry words were enough for him. But we are not yet done with Mr Bell. On the 18th day of March, 1858, he made a speech in the Senate from which we quote:

"When the North shall by any deliberate act, deprive the South of any fair, and just, and equal participation in the benefits of the Union—if, for example, the Territory (Kansas) now proposed to be admitted into the Union as a State, had not been subject to an interdict of slavery for thirty years—if it were a Territory such as that lying west of Arkansas, by climate adapted to slave labor, and by population already a slave Territory; and if on application of such a Territory for admission into the Union as a slave State, the powerful North, without any feelings and sentiments growing out of the repeal of the Missouri Compromise in regard to Kansas, should deliberately announce to the South, "you shall have no more slave States;" that would afford a pretext with which the South might, with some reason, with some assurance of the approval of the civilized world, and posterity, SEEK TO DISSOLVE THE UNION."—[App. 1st Sess. 35th Congress, page 132.

SPEECH FROM GARIBALDI.—The following is reported as the speech of Garibaldi to the Parliament in the Corriere Mercantile, of Genoa: I thank you for your cheers, and I declare to you that I am happy, very happy, to find myself in the midst of you. I thank you for having had faith in me, and for not having trusted to those who wished to guide you along an erroneous path. You have done well not to call for an annexation, which I declare ill-timed; you have thus shown that you possess Italian wisdom. That annexation would have subjected us to diplomacy, and consequently chained us once more. A few days ago, at Naples, I was again solicited in behalf of annexation. But I tell you that beyond the Volturno there are still brethern of ours in irons: now I declare that as long as there are brethern to set free we will fight for them. People of Palermo, people of the barricades, I once more thank you for not believing those who represented me as a double dealer. I am the best friend of Italy and of Victor Emmanuel. Believe in victor Emmanuel, who is the only representative of the Italian cause.

DID YOU KILL THE WASHERWOMAN?—A man of unblemished character was candidate for a large constituency, and the following means were used to get rid of him. At a large public meeting an elector got up and said:

"I demand the exercise of my right to ask that candidate a question. Will he answer me by a direct yes or no, like an honest man?"

"Undoubtedly, I will."

A most incautious answer, as the reader will say.

"Well, then, said the elector, "I ask that gentleman who killed his washerwoman?"

What was the poor man to say? What yes or no could answer the question? He hesitated, he stammered—the meeting was against him; he was hustled out of the room; and to this day he labors under the grave imputation in many people's minds of having feloniously accelerated the death of some unfortunate, and perhaps ill-used washerwoman.

A DEMOCRATIC QUESTION AND ANSWER.—While addressing a crowded Douglas meeting at the North End on Thursday night, George Sennott, Esq., was rudely interrupted by a Brockenridge man as follows:

"Ain't you an Abolitionist? Didn't you go down to Virginia to defend John Brown?"

Mr. S. (promptly and with energy)—"Am I a thief because I defended you from a charge of larceny, and kept you from the House of Correction, where you belong?"

This keen and cutting retort immediately brought down the house in a roar of applause, and the speaker proceeded in his argument without any danger of farther interruptions from his inquisitive opponents.—Boston Transcript.

IMPORTANT LETTER FROM KOSSUTH.—The Epoca, of Turin, gives the substance of a letter said to have been written to Garibaldi, by Kossuth, recommending him to break his connection with Victor Emmanuel and his government, who alone can effect the liberation of Italy. He also invites the Dictator to give up all designs upon Rome, in order not to draw upon himself the hostility of France, the only defender of Italy and the only hope of oppressed nationalities; and lastly, not to attempt anything against Hungary, that not being as yet ripe for revolution.

The Situation in Italy.

The positions occupied by the contending parties in Italy is at this moment as striking in strategical as in political points of view. If a triangle be drawn on the map with its base extending along a line a few minutes westward of, but parallel to, the fourteenth meridian, it would have at its southermost point Gaeta, and at the northernmost, Ancona. The shorter sides would converge from those points at Rome. At Gaeta upon a spur of rock projecting into the Mediterranean, just as Ancona projects into the Adriatic, is the King of Naples, in all probability inclosed just now by the land and sea forces of Garibaldi. At Ancona Lamoriciere, with the relics, and doubtless the better portion of his troops, is shut up by a Sardinian fleet and army; while the intervening territory is either occupied by the liberating armies or in a state of sympathetic revolt. Rome, and its immediate vicinage, is in the hands of the French, in number sufficiently strong to resist any force likely to be brought against it; and there the Pope lingers, weighing the temptation to security in flight, against the duty of contending yet longer for the fragments of his temporal authority.

From this curious equation it is safe to anticipate the early stimulation of two quantities, the King of Naples at Gaeta, and Gen. Lamoriciere at Ancona. They are convenient points of defence, but yet more convenient for flight. But with this result, the difficulties of the situation begin. The liberated Sardinians and the liberated Neapolitans, will find them
