The Game of Intimidation.

No dynasty, oligarchy or party long in power ever yielded its hold upon the government with a good grace; and the longer the time it has retained that hold, the more desperate will be its assertions to hold on. The history of the world is full of instructive instances of this truth. Occasionally the people have compelled their unworthy rulers to yield promptly, by overpowering force; but in most cases the leeches have adhered so tenaciously that a change has been effected only by revolution.

The Democratic party of this country is now furnishing a new illustration of this truth. It has possessed the power of the Government, with rare intervals, almost from the time of its formation, and is rendered desperate at the prospect of losing it. Within that time it has thoroughly changed its creed, its purpose, and the constituents of its membership; and from being, originally, the party of the people, it has become the party of Slavery, the willing propagandist of human bondage, the very embodiment of aristocracy. Long possession of power has rendered it vain, insolent and corrupt; and now that its change of front and maladministration of the government have rendered it no longer endurable, stirring up the people to the necessity of overthrowing it utterly, it tries to cover up its weakness, its wickedness and its infidelity by getting up the claim of a divine right to govern, and by wailing incessantly over the danger of turning it out.

That this party should dislike to be put out into the cold is quite natural, and it is equally natural that it should try its best to prevent such a catastrophe to itself. But, while all this may be naturally looked for, it is not natural that sensible people should be scared by its blustering threats. Dynasties have been changed, thrones overturned, long lines of aristocracy wiped out and new governments formed, before now, without detriment to human happiness or human progress; and shall the mere change of administration in a constitutional government be looked upon as a fearful venture, fraught with dangerous results? It may be the only course left to the bloated minions of power to bluster and threaten; but a free people are not to be so intimidated, and no truly independent man will pay the least heed to the menaces of desperate men, reduced to the extremity of political despair at the sad prospect before them.

The threats of dissolution, the attempts to create a panic in the money market, the rally of the southern clans, the mounting of blue cockades, and the utterance of mournful jeremiads over the dangers of allowing the people to elect the man of their choice, are the desperate gestures of a desperate party which cannot reconcile itself to the fate of being driven from the high places of power. It is not the Union, but the Democratic party, which is in danger. Its hour has come; the glory is departing from it; and as a last desperate resort, it is trying to intimidate the people from the task of overthrowing it. All hold upon the affections of the people has been lost by it. No longer can it appeal to them with confidence. It knows that it has abused its trust; that it has corrupted the fountains of the government; that it has lost all claim to public favor or public forbearance, and conscious that it can no longer control the public votes, it uses its last moments of power in threatening to subvert the government if it be not allowed to rule on without further let or hindrance.

If the people are intimidated by such threats they are no longer free. The right of self government is lost when they dare not exercise it fearlessly. The party that threatens rebellion and revolution, if defeated at the polls, is not fit to rule. The very fact that they have been menaced—that a handful of slaveholders stands cracking the lash over their backs to keep them from doing as they please, should inspire our people with the determination to show those men that they cannot be intimidated. A Union in which the majority cannot rule, within constitutional limits, is a Union not worth preserving; and it is time the experiment were fully tried and the fact tested whether the Union as it now exists is able to stand the shock of a popular majority, expressed in a constitutional way and for purposes expressly named in the Constitution. If it cannot, let it go. If we are freemen, we must be allowed to exercise our rights; and if we are slaves it is time that we were fully made aware of the fact.

Let the falling dynasty, therefore, blow and bluster and threaten as it will. The menacing attitude it is trying to assume is an evidence of weakness. If it were not desperate it would not attempt to set the bully. The country is in no danger from that source. Its great danger consists in yielding to such menaces. All that is necessary is to walk up boldly, since the noisy blusterer by the throat and choke the life out of him, and that, we doubt not, will be most effectually done on Tuesday next.

Judge Woodward.—We regret to perceive that Judge Woodward is not satisfied with the action of Councils in planing the Chartiers Valley Railroad ordinance. We feel very sure that they wished to please him; and if they had only known the peculiar views of his Honor, in time, would doubtless have framed their action so as to meet his august approval. It must be a source of bitter anguish to them to know how deeply they have offended him and, in the month of suicides, there is danger that some of them may be driven to commit hari kara—the "happy dispatch" with which an offending Japanese official takes himself out of the way by ripping his bowels open.

The Councilmen, it seems, in their anxiety to comply with the commands of the Court, have done more than they were commanded! This is the burden of the Judge's complaint. They have put a clause into the ordinance which they were not commanded to do, and hence the indignation of the learned magister. How could Councilmen dare to do such an act? How could they presume to exercise their own judgment or volition in such a case? Is it not sufficient for them that a worthy judge should do the thinking for them, and cannot they be content with doing simply as they are told? They are, it seems, too willing by half, and now that they have been judicially, if not judiciously, snubbed, they will be less eager in future, and not let their zeal in obeying the mandates of the Court get the better of their discretion.

The Neapolitan Army Fought Well at the Battle of Volturno.—It is said that they were sang into valor by the sarcasms on their cowardice which have been flouting through Europe. One of these was attributed to King Ferdinand, who, when his son asked permission to change the uniform of the army from the British scarlet to the Austrian white, replied, "Very good! Dress them in red, or dress them in white—just as you like—they will run away just the same."

"A Gun or Ten Times.—The day after the receipt of the news of the Pennsylvania election here, forty-seven letters addressed to his "Excellency," Abe Lincoln, were, we are told, deposited in the post office here, for transmission to the rail-splitter. Wonder if the writers want the job.—N. Y. Tru Delk, 21st.

Important Speech from Count Cavour — Enemy in the Capital of Italy—A Menace to Austria—Annexation voted by Sardinia.—The discussion on the project of law on the annexations was continued in the Sardinian Chamber on the 12th inst.

Count Cavour acknowledged that the discussion of that law had brought the different parties into a closer union.

Count Cavour said:

There is a great difference between the past annexations and those now under consideration. Immediately after the conclusion of the treaty of Villafranca the annexations should not be precipitated. A Congress was also spoken of, at which we were to take part. As regards the annexation of Southern Italy, the same danger no longer exists. Your vote is demanded in order that you may give, to the inhabitants of those provinces a proof that the steps taken by the Government have met with your approval. As regards the disunion which has arisen between the Government and Garibaldi, the fault has not been ours. Public opinion leaves no doubt on this point. The Ministry, therefore, decided on proclaiming themselves before the Parliament, in order that it might judge their policy. This is the great homage that can be paid to any man. The Crown, after mature consideration, refused to accept the offer made by us to tender our resignation, being of opinion that Government would thereby be too much weakened, at home and abroad. It only remained to us, therefore, to address ourselves to you, not that you might judge Garibaldi, who is not subject to your examination, but ourselves, over whom you have power. Should you support us, we shall go to meet Garibaldi, and present to him the order of the day proposed by your committee, which you will approve, and which we accept with all our hearts! We shall offer him our hand, and invite him to union in the name of the Italian Parliament.

The cession of Italian territory as an indemnity has again been spoken of. To this report I give a formal denial, and add that, when the annexation shall have been accomplished, any cession of territory will become impossible.—Nobody will be able to ask such a cession from a country with a population of 24,000,000.

An attack against Rome and Venice has also been spoken of. We desire that the Eternal City should become the capital of Italy; but as regards the means to that end, we should be able to say in what condition we shall be six months hence.

The revolution in Rome will be accomplished by the conviction that liberty is favorable to religion.

Respecting Venitia Europe does not wish that we should make war upon Austria. We must take into consideration the opinion of the great Powers. We must bring about a change in this opinion. Let us show ourselves united, and that opinion will change. It is untrue that the Venetians are peaceably supporting their destiny.

Austria has flattered them in vain. Public opinion will change, not only in France and England, but in Germany also, which is becoming liberal, and will be in our favor.

Count Cavour concluded by making an appeal for concord.

A Sad Affair at Norfolk.—A Father Accidentally Shoots his Daughter Dead.—The most heart-rending accident occurred at Norfolk, Va., on Wednesday evening, affording another awful warning to those handling firearms. It appears that Mr. Jesse T. Newell, a worthy citizen and indulgent parent, went home from business about sunset, and finding his little son playing in the house and yard with a pistol, not supposed to be loaded, took it from him, and while examining it, it was accidentally discharged. The Day Book thus tells the rest of the truly sad story:

Laura, (Mr. Ewell's daughter,) a beautiful and interesting little girl of nine summers, was seated on the steps getting her lessons when the pistol went off, and instantly jumping up she exclaimed, "Oh! pa, you have killed me!" As she said this the blood burst from her nose and mouth! She fell forward and instantly expired. The pistol had been charged with two buck shot, both of which had entered her right breast and perforated her right lung. The great shock together with the internal hemorrhage, produced almost instant death. Drs. Galt and Bright were almost instantly called, and reached the scene of casualty in a very short time, but too late; the little girl had breathed her last, and a worthy family were overwhelmed with grief. The unhappy father almost bereft of reason by the distressing and heart-rending accident, sought in his frenzy, to take his own life. He seized a knife and made a desperate effort to cut his throat, but was prevented from stepping the family in still deeper grief by some of his friends, who happened to rush up in time. Soothing draughts were given him, and he finally became quieted, and retired with an almost broken heart. The unhappy mother of the little one was heard all through the live long night sobbing and bemoaning the untimely death of her child, while the agonizing wail that occasionally rose upon the night, told how deep was the distress of the stricken parents.

[From the Mark Lane Express of Oct. 15th.]

The Harvest in England.—The weather having continued fine throughout the week, a good deal of corn which was in jeopardy has been secured, some of it in tolerably fair order. There are many localities, however, where the harvest is still incomplete, and much of the second crop of grass has perished. The prospect of the nation in respect of cereals has now much improved, and our necessities have proportionately diminished. We cannot as yet, though congratulate the country upon having gathered an average crop of wheat, while the quality is much below that rate, some of the new samples sent to London and other markets being quite unfit for the mill.

The accounts from all parts of the United States, but much of it is sadly discolored, comes again has sprouted, and taken altogether, a large portion of the crop will be unfit for malting purposes. On some farms, where the circumstances have been more favorable, a pretty good crop has been secured.

In Ireland, the accounts received from all quarters tend to confirm the hope, that notwithstanding the unusually severe season, the harvest will be more than an average one. The Cork Reporter states that all reports received from the most important agricultural districts of the South of Ireland concur in informing us that we will certainly have a more plentiful harvest and better crops than had been generally anticipated. The supply of oats and the quality will be much above an average, and wheat and barley will not be below an average, yield.

A Buyer Extraordinary.—Who could believe that it should happen in these days that London merchants should come to New York to buy their silk dress goods? Yet so it has actually happened. An agent from one of the largest silk houses in the world, Messrs. Morrison, Dillon & Co., London, is at this time in New York for the express purpose of buying silk from our importers. The news having reached Europe that silk goods were selling at prices fabulously low, that gentleman was at once dispatched to buy up the bargains for the London market. He, however, arrived when the principal auctions had closed, and prices had taken an upward turn, which may probably defeat his enterprise. Which is the greater, the impudence of our importers, who have bought to such an excess as to hold out such an extraordinary inducement to English warehouse, or the enterprise that prompted the London firm to send an expert afloat as securing a bargain? Had the electric cable been now in operation, the firm in question might have easily cleared $100,000 by the purchase of goods in this market, which would not only have been so much clear gain to them, but would have probably improved the value of the entire stock of silks in this market to the extent of 10 per cent. The idea of the London merchants is an excellent one, and if put in operations during our adverse seasons might secure them many a bargain.

We are sorry to hear that the Douglas leaders in this State have been terrible sufferers by the stock panic which Mr. Cobb, Mr. Schell, and their fellow-plotters have got up in Wall street. Van Schaick, the broker, who exploded on Saturday, was the confidential stock-agent of the Douglas men. Their losses are understood to be enormous. It was too bad of Cobb & Co., to take such vengeance on their ancient foes. They ought, at least now that Fusion and Harmony are the order of the day, to have given them warning of their Final Dodge, before it was too late. It is surprising how merciless and unforgiving is the hate of the Disunion managers for the Douglas Softs. But punishing them in the stock market, after this style, is really too bad.—N. Y. Trib.

The Republicans of Lehigh County, Pa., had a great jubilee last week in honor of the tremendous sweep of that State by the Wide Awakes three weeks ago. It was a magnificent affair; yet we cannot find room for our correspondent's account of it. We trust our Lehigh friends will bear with us while we hint that if they had worked so hard before Election as they have rejoiced since, they might have reelected their excellent Member of Congress, and not thrown away a district at this critical time. They have their own man in nomination; Hooks gave him a majority, but Lehigh defeated him. We do not object to their rejoicings; but we do not feel like joining them.—N. Y. Trib.

The New Orleans Picayune states that the obligation of free colored people from Louisiana to Hayti, since the establishment of President Giffrard's government, has assumed such an importance that a steamer has been placed for the first time, in the line between New Orleans and Hayti.

Mr. H. V. Johnson on Free Labor.

"Look at the slaves in your own workshops! They are driven to the polls at the beck of their masters, under penalty of being discharged!"—Speech of H. V. Johnson, (Democratic Candidate for Vice President,) at Pittsburgh, Sept. 22.

The Very Lowest Dregs.—The Buffalo Republic has surely penetrated to the very lowest deep of party political mendacity, when it charges that the collections now being made for the relief of the Kansas sufferers, are designed to be expended for electioneering purposes. If there be any deep below that found by the person who spreads such a charge out on the page of a newspaper, it is something of which we can form no conception whatever.—Sandusky Com.

The correspondent of the London Times, writing from Chicago, says: "On the night the Prince arrived I attended a Wide Awake demonstration, and their quiet bearing and solemn, orderly demeanor would have been a sensation to the free and independent electors of our small towns on almost similar occasions."

"Vesuvious" Johnson has been vomiting forth fire and flame in Madison county, N. Y. He spoke there last week and denounced the "God forsaken Black Republicans" and the "Hell deserving Black Republicans." He must have been indulging in the "crater."—Chicago Jour.

Eruptions! Salt Rheum! Erysipelas!

It is now generally admitted that all eruptive diseases depend upon some internal or constitutional cause, and that to use washes or ointments for them is a sure way to injure the system, and only to drive in, not to cure the disease. Dr. Humphreys' Specific Homœopathic Salt Rheum Pills are a true specific for all such diseases. They cure Salt Rheum, Barber's Itch, Erysipelas, Pimples on the Face, Ringworm, and Scalds Rash, by curing the cause upon which they depend, and by restoring the skin to the state of health and purity. Thus, not only is the disease cured, but the softness and beauty of the complexion restored.

Price, 25 cents per box, with directions. Six boxes, $1.

N. B—A full set of Humphrey's Homœopathic Specifics with Book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; ditto, in plain case, $3; case of fifteen boxes, and Book, $2. Single boxes, 25 cents and 50 cents.

These Remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address. Dr. S. Humphreys & Co., No. 562 Broadway, New York.

VALUABLE IMPROVEMENT In Steam and Atmospheric Hammers.

LETTERS PATENT were granted on Sept. 4th, 1860, to Thomas Risch, for a new, simple and efficient improvement in Steam and Atmospheric Hammers, whereby the full stroke of the hammer is obtained, no matter what be the thickness of the iron to be made and hammered—thereby affording a great increase of power where large pieces of metal are to be operated upon, and a corresponding saving of expense.

The subscribers are owners of said patent, and are desirous of selling rights to use said improvement, in each or all territory under said patent. A model of said improvement is left at the office of Messrs. Bakewell & Ouseley, Attorneys at Law, corner of Grant and Diamond alleys, where parties interested may call and see it, and learn also the terms of license sale, &c. &c. D. MANNESS,
THOMAS BRAGE,
Freeport, Armstrong co., Pa.

BAKER & CO.'S MEDICINAL TRANSPARENT COD LIVER OIL.

THE TRUE AND GENUINE.

UNSURPASSED IN QUALITY AND EFFECTS. BEING THE SWEETEST AND BEST PREPARED.

In use, if fairly tried, will soon restore the tone of the digestive organs, invigorate the blood, give general rotund'y to the figure, and add energy to the whole nervous system. Its value has been remarkably evidenced by its wonderful restorative powers, when ordinary tonics had been vainly exhausted. It affords nourishment to the body when no other can be borne, and furnishes the frame with fat in a truly remarkable manner.

For CONSUMPTION and BRONCHITIS,
For SCROFULA in all its developments,
For WEAKNESS, WASTING and early form of DEBILITY, its curative properties are unrivaled.

It may be taken without disrelish by the most delicate patient, and retained without effort in the most sensitive stomach. Its superiority in this and other important characteristics of genuineness, has guaranteed for it the commendation of the most eminent Physicians throughout the States; the written testimony of the Faculty of the best medical schools: the Professors of the

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA,
JEFFERSON COLLEGE OF PHILADELPHIA,
PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF MEDICINE, and others.

Invalids should be careful to purchase oil of undoubted reputation; if they desire the most active and immediate advantages of the remedy. That which we prepare has decided evidences of superiority, over other brands.
