PITTSBURGH:

The Great Question Decided!

LINCOLN AND HAMLIN ELECTED!

The great political contest which has agitated the Union from its centre to its extremities, has at length been decided in favor of the party of Freedom! LINCOLN and HAMLIN have been chosen to the first and second offices in the gift of a free people by an overwhelming popular vote, and with his destinies committed to their keeping we may indulge in hopes of future peace and tranquility to the country. In its determined action on this occasion, the great North has for the first time in the political history of the country, vindicated its honor, and has shown that it despises the threats of traitors as heartily and thoroughly as it contemns their dangerous principles. We have taught the plotters of treason and their mercenary and cowardly allies and tools, through that potent engine of freemen, the ballot box, that there is a GREAT AND MIGHTY NORTH, and that hereafter her influence must be regarded and her sentiments respected in the administration of the affairs of the government.

The result of the contest on Tuesday so abounds in great teachings that we cannot on this occasion particularize them. Our heart is too full for doing anything more than pointing out the GREAT FACT as it now stands in all its moral sublimity before the people, and joining with them in their earthquake shouts of victory.

THE RESULT IN THE STATE.—The following are the reported majorities in Pennsylvania so far as received. It will be seen that Lincoln has swept the State by the largest majority ever cast for any candidate.

In the table below we give the vote for Lincoln over the Reading or Fusion ticket. It will be observed that the majority in Philadelphia is thus cut down at 17,971. His majority over the combined opposition in the same district is 878—which is a gain of nearly three thousand over Curtin's vote in October:

	LINCOLN.	FUSION.
Allegheny	10,500
Beaver	1,250
Bedford	150
Blair	900
Butler	1,250
Berks		2,000
Crawford	3,000
Cambria		200
Carbon	150
Centre	700
Chester	3,000
Clinton	100
Columbia		500
Dauphin	1,100
Erie	4,000
Franklin	1,100
Fulton		200
Huntington	1,500
Indiana	2,540
Lawrence	2,170
Lancaster	8,000
Lehigh	100
Lazerne	500
Lycoming	600
Mercer	1,200
Mifflin	600
Montgomery		100
Northumberland	100
Northumberland		1,000
Perry	450
Philadelphia	17,791
Schuylkill	1,500
Susquehanna	2,000
Westmoreland	300

In these counties Curtin's majority in October was 24,689. They give Lincoln about 58,064—a gain which indicates that his plurality in the State will be from 70,000 to 80,000. His majority over all will be more than double that given to Curtin.

GLORIOUS OLD PENNSYLVANIA!

The great vote which our noble old commonwealth cast for Lincoln and Hamlin on last Tuesday, was a proud vindication of her position as the Keystone of the arch of the confederacy.—Never since her government has had an organized existence, did she take a stand so patriotic and so truly conservative. Nobly has she atoned for the grievous wrong which she inflicted on the country by her agency in the election to the Presidency of her recreant and degenerate son. Once a "favorite," she now spurns him from her confidence. All hail glorious old Pennsylvania—the BANNER STATE IN THE CAUSE OF FREEDOM now, as she was once the stronghold of the party which in these times counsels treason and revolution.

THE BANNER COUNTY AND THE BANNER STATE!—Allegheny has nobly earned the title of Banner County, as Pennsylvania has earned that of the Banner State, of the whole Union. They both did well in October, but their achievements in the way of rolling astonishing majorities, in November, have caused their first efforts to be regarded as very moderate experiments. If another election could be held a month hence, there is no telling what they might do.

The majority given by our glorious old county is indeed beautiful to contemplate, and in magnitude would well become a good sized State.

The General Result.

The returns from the several States indicate the following result. The whole number of electoral votes is 303—necessary to a choice 152:

For Lincoln		For Breckinridge.
Maine	8	North Carolina	10
New Hampshire	5	South Carolina	8
New York	35	Delaware	3
Massachusetts	13	Alabama	9
Rhode Island	4	Georgia	10
Connecticut	6
Vermont	5	Total	40
Pennsylvania	27	For Bell.
Ohio	23	Maryland	8
Indiana	13	Virginia	15
Illinois	11	Kentucky	12
Michigan	6
Wisconsin	5	Total	35
Iowa	4
Minnesota	4
Total	169

Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Texas, Tennessee, Oregon, California, Missouri and New Jersey have not been definitely heard from. The first five of these, however, casting 29 electoral votes, will in all probability vote for Breckinridge. Missouri is claimed for Douglas, but the returns are not full enough to justify such a classification. New Jersey is in something of a fog, as will be seen by reference to our telegraphic columns.

REPUBLICANS IN THE SOUTH.—The Republicans had a plurality of over 800 in St. Louis, and 200 in Wilmington, Delaware. They polled over a thousand votes in Baltimore, and 800 in Wheeling and Ohio county, Virginia. Who will say that light is not breaking on the South.

SCRIPTURAL PROPHECIES IN CONNEXION WITH THE SYRIAN TROUBLES.—Whatever, writes our Eastern correspondent, may be the hidden meaning of the seventeenth chapter of Isaiah, its first and last three verses seem to be peculiarly appropriate to the present condition of Damascus:

"1. The burden of Damascus. Behold Damascus is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.

The ruin of Damascus having been caused by the people of different nations—the Turks, Druses, Keords, Arabs, and Gipsies—the twelfth verse seems equally appropriate:

"12. Woe to the multitude of many people, which make a noise like the noise of the seas; and to the rushing of nations, that make a rushing like the rushing of mighty waters.

13. The nations shall rush like the rushing of many waters, but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee afar off; and shall be chased as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like a rolling thing before the whirlwind.

14. And behold at evening tide trouble; and before the morning he is not. This is the portion of them that spoil us and the lot of them that rob us."

Post-Robin has decreed that all the partially destroyed houses of the Christians shall be rebuilt, commencing with the houses of our venerable vice Consul, Dr. Meshaka, whose palatial mansion has so often been the resting place and admiration of American travellers. From this it would appear that Damascus is to be rebuilt, and to flourish destined to future renown, as it is considered to be reduced to an heap according to the prophecy of Isaiah, or it Easter finally lose the locks of Joan in the day of the resignation of Israel to the Promised Land.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Should you regard the following remarks on the subject above indicated worthy a place in your paper, the great battle of the nation against the enemies of human rights will be fought and gloriously achieved before they can reach your columns. The Heavens are now at this moment preparing in the falling snow a winding sheet for their funeral obsequies.

It seems to be agreed on all hands that Western Pennsylvania is entitled to the next United States Senator. It is equally conceded, I think, that no portion of the State can set up a claim in comparison with our own county of Allegheny, taking her population, her resources, her position and her vote into account. If her people are agreed and will unite in presenting a man of commanding ability, in all respects adequate to the demands of that eminent office it can be accomplished. Their they shall divide and fritter away their influence on men of inferior ability, they will deserve to lose it. If they have men who possess the merit and reputation to command success and persist in ignoring them, they deserve to lose it. The want of local pride or the proper self-respect has been more than once charged as the peculiarity of our town and Philadelphia. New York and Boston, Richmond and Charleston and New Orleans esteem and promote their ablest men when they have them. They are sure to let the world know it and they are sure to benefit by the exhibition. They would rejoice to heap honors on some of the men of whom we can boast. They have none superior to our own.

If you have a man who will safely challenge comparison with the best and bravest that all Eastern Pennsylvania can offer, it will be our fault if he is not presented and elected. If we have not, we may as well make up our minds to hand over all the honors and distinctions, and content ourselves with doing the voting only. How stands the case now? Have we any man here who is equal in all the accomplishments of the orator, the statesman and the Senator, to any other beyond the mountains; and who has, at the same time, the advantage of a reputation, earned by public services, as wide as the State and equal to any other man in any portion of it. The public judgment will declare at once that there is just such a man and only one, and a resident of the same neglected city of Pittsburgh. Is it necessary that I should name him? Does not every body here know that Thos. Williams is that man? If it is not known here, let any of our citizens go to Philadelphia or Harrisburg, or any other portion of the State, and inquire who it is in our community or Western Pennsylvania that fills up the description, she will find every finger pointing to him and no one else.

Why is it that Allegheny county should not present him with one voice, in the name of her great army of Republicans of which he was the acknowledged leader in 1856, and demand his nomination? Who can say nay? Can the east offer his equal? Is there any body in the State so ignorant of his power, or disputes his pre-eminence, or would not feel proud to see the interests of our great commonwealth and of the Republican party committed to such hands as his. If Allegheny county will nominate such a man as him, she can settle the question. There are gentlemen here who have been talked of for that high position who indicated that they would at once withdraw in the presence of such a competition, and who don't hesitate to say that THOMAS WILLIAMS is the man the whole State should unite upon for their exalted station.

The Warsaw Conference.

The Warsaw conference is among the things of the past. It has been held, and has terminated. But what was its object? The world cannot be pursuaded that the czar, the kaiser, and the prince regent, with their respective ministers, traveled hundreds of miles to merely renew interrupted or failing friendships, hunt the wild aurus of the Polish forests, and enjoy the delights of convivial intercourse. Something of more importance must haveled to this meeting of the three sovereigns of the great northern powers, at so critical a juncture. It is hardly probable that three such champions of law and order as Alexander, Francis Joseph, and Frederick William—that three such veteran diplomatists as Gortschakoff, Rechberg, and Schleinitz, came together and separated without having a talk about European politics. True, the autocrat of all the Russias assured his French friend, in an autograph letter, that the conference had nothing in view adverse to France; but, in certain cases, even autocratic assurances are not entitled to implicit credit. Beside, though the czar could answer for his own views, he could not, when said epistle was written, answer for those of others. Could he say that the prince regent's principal object had nothing in its nature hostile to the Emperor Napoleon—no relation to soliciting aid against his designing neighbor, should he think proper to assail Prussia on the Rhine? Could his czarship affirm that the kaiser did not mean to importune him for succor should Austria be attacked in Venetia by France and Sardinia, or should Hungary rise again in rebellion?

We may well indeed believe that no attempt was made at Warsaw to form an offensive alliance against the French emperor; for that should be the best way to raise the tempest which the potentates in question are so anxious to avert; but that the hope of slinting a pledge of assistance from Alexander, in the coming event proposed, was the chief inducement that led Frederick William and Francis Joseph to become parties to the conference, is as certain as that they actually brought forward thereat the propositions indicated. What entertainment was given by his Russian majesty to these Royal and Imperial visitors, we have not sought to bind him by a most dangerous pledge, is a secret which only time and events will fully divulge, yet it is not very difficult to surmise its nature.

In despite of his pacific disposition, and that autograph letter to Napoleon, the czar would scarcely remain neutral and see Prussia stripped of her Rhenish province. Hence it may be be safely assumed that the regent's application has not been altogether in vain, and that he has received an assurance of aid should France attempt to extend her north eastern frontier.

But as compliance with the petition of the kaiser would be attended with more hazardous consequences, and as his defeat on the Mincio or the Danube need not alarm Alexander for the inviolability of the Vistula or the Niemen, it is probable that the Hapsburgh has not so much reason to congratulate himself on the result of his trip to Warsaw as his Prussian rival. However desirous of reconciliation with Austria, the Russian Emperor was far too prudent and sensible a man to consent to become a party to the desperate fortunes of Francis Joseph, and already we have unmistakable, though indirect, evidence of the kaiser's failure. While the tyrant entertained hopes of inveigling the autocrat in alliances with him, all thoughts of concocting free institutions to his subjects were laid aside, and the empire resounded with the clang of preparations for war; but now there suddenly appears in the weiner Zeitung, the official gazette, his long promised manifesto of reform, which restores independence to the provincial diets, and grants many valuable privileges to the people. This unexpected change of policy on the part of the Hapsburgh proclaims more loudly than could the most explicit admission that the decision of the despot had failed at last, and that he has no longer any resource from utter ruin, save in abject submission to the popular will.

But the Warsaw conference has done more than frustrate the expectations of Austria. It has also demonstrated that, however well intelled the northern powers are to form an alliance—a second coalition against liberty—they are totally unable to do so. The gentle Alexander is not the man to lead the forlorn hope of absolutism. He called his brother despots together, indeed, to take measures against revolution, but becoming dismayed at the startling prospect before him, he shrunk from carrying out what he had contemplated, and sued with breaking up the reunion after enacting a farce!and over the evil times they have fallen on! "Let the friends and votaries of freedom the world over sing Io triumphe.—N. Y. World.

Eruptions! Salt Rheum! Erysipelas!

It is now generally admitted that all eruptive diseases depend upon some internal or constitutional cause, and that to use washes or ointments for them is a sure way to injure the system, and only to drive in, not to cure the disease. But HUMPHREYS' SPECIFIC—HOMŒOPATHIC SALT RHEUM PILLS are a true specific for all such diseases. They cure Salt Rheum, Barber's Itch, Erysipelas, Pimples on the Face, Ringworm, and Nettle Rash, by curing the cause upon which they depend, and by restoring the skin to the state of health and purity. Thus, not only is the disease cured, but the softness and beauty of the complexion restored.

Price, 25 cents per box, with directions. Six boxes, $1.

N. B.—A full set of HUMPHREY'S HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIFICS with Book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; ditto, in plain case, $4; case of fifteen boxes, and Book, $2. Single boxes, 25 cents and 50 cents.

Three Remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address Dr. C. HUMPHREYS & CO.,

3d, The preservation of the oven pieces.

4th, Cleanliness, as there is not one-half the soot and dirt that is found in other stoves.

5th, The durability, and all stoves we ever sold, have a current of cold air passing between oven and fire-back, which preserves it and adds to the durability of our Stoves
