FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 9.

A Race with a Bull.

[From the Knickerbocker for November.]

Some forty years ago the members of a race course near Brownsville on the Monongahela, published a notice of a race, "one mile heats, on a particular day, for a purse of one hundred dollars, "free for any thing with four legs and hair on."

A man in the neighborhood named Hays, had a bull that he was in the habit of riding to mill with his bag of corn, and he determined to enter him for the race. He said nothing about it to any one, but he rode him around the track a number of times, on several moonlight nights until the bull had the hang of the ground pretty well and would keep the right course. He rode with spurs, which the bull considered particularly disagreeable, so much so that he always bellowed when they were applied to his sides.

On the morning of the race, Hays came upon the ground on horseback—on his bull. Instead of a saddle, he had dried an oxhide, the part of which, with the horns still on, he had placed on the bull's rump. He carried a short tin horn in his hand. He rode to the judge's stand, and offered to enter the bull for the race; but the owners of the horses objected. Hays appealed to the terms of the notice, insisted that his bull had "four legs and hair on," and that therefore he had a right to enter him. After a good deal of swearing, the judges declared themselves compelled to decide that the bull had a right to run, and he was entered accordingly.

When the time for starting arrived, the bull and the horses took their places. The horse races were out of humor at being bothered with the bull, and at the burlesque which they supposed was intended, but thought that it would be over as soon as the horses started.

When the signal was given, they did start, Hays gave a blast with his horn, and sunk his spurs into the side of the bull, who bounded off with a terrible howl at the jarring speed—his dried oxhide flapping up and down and rattling at every jump, making a combination of noises that had never been heard on a race-course before. The horses all flew the track, every one seeming to be seized with a sudden determination to take the shortest cut to get out of the Redstone country, and none of them could be brought back in time to save their distance. The purse was given to Hays.

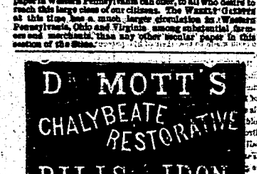
A general row ensued; but the fun of the crowd all on the side of the bull. The horsemen contended that they were swindled out of the purse; and, if it had not been for Hays' horn and oxhide, which he ought not to have been permitted to bring upon the ground, the thing would not have turned out as it did.

Upon this Hays told them that his bull could beat any of their horses anyhow, and if they would put up one hundred dollars against the purse he had won, he would take off the oxhide and leave the tin horn, and run a fair race with them. His offer was accepted and the money staked. They again took their places at the starting post, and the signal was given. Hays gave the bull another touch with his spur, and the bull gave a tremendous bellow. The horses, remembering the dreadful sound, thought all the rest was coming as before. Away they went again in spite of all the exertions of their riders, while Hays galloped his bull around the track again, and won the money.

ABOUT CORNED BEEF.—Corned beef properly salted, and cooked as it should be, is a dish fit for the sovereign people; but to eat salt junk, such as too often exercises the muscles of the jaws, is a penance even for a malefactor. Most of the beef put up for winter use, is spoiled by the use of too much salt, which destroys the flavor, and makes the meat stringy and tough. When beef is fresh, it contains considerable blood which is drawn out by brine. If the meat is left in this mixture, it will require a much larger quantity of salt to preserve it, particularly through warm weather. My plan is to make a brine by using for one hundred pounds of beef, five pounds of salt, one quarter ounce of saltpetre, and a pound of brown sugar. This is dissolved in just enough water to cover the meat, and poured upon it When it has been in this brine two weeks, I take out the meat, let it drain, pour a fresh brine over it, and then it will be good, the season through.

The cook who uses corned beef, should not be so ignorant or so indolent as to delay putting it over the fire until an hour before dinner. A good sized piece requires three or four hours steady boiling to do it justice. Insufficient boiling must be made up for extra chewing. Always have the water boiling when the meat is dropped in; otherwise the sweetness will be drawn out into the water. A boiling heat hardens the outer surface at once, and thus keeps in the juices which give richness, and which contain most of the nourishment. An excellent way of cooking corned beef is, to have a large boiler, with a wire or wooden rack on the bottom, for the meat to rest on, over the water. When the water boils, place the meat upon the rack, and put on the cover of the boiler, with a cloth over it to keep in its steam. The heat of the steam will rise above the boiling point, and penetrate the meat, and cook it more quickly and better, than could be done by boiling it in the water.

☞ DR. ANTON FRANK.—The Pittsburgh DAILY GAZETTE has a large circulation among the Germans in the and the surrounding cities—among those who are not well versed in the English language. For proof see advertisers. It may be found in nearly all the country store houses, trading houses, hotels, factories and commission houses in the two cities, where it is read and translated to the families for perusal. As an advertising medium, therefore, it offers inducements which no other paper in Western Pennsylvania can offer, and which will reach the large class of our citizens. The WEEKLY GAZETTE at the time has a most large circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia among substantial farmers and merchants, than any other secular paper in this section of the State.



AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC PILL, consisting of IRON purified of Oxygen and Hydrogen in connection with Hydrogen, the Sulphate of Iron and Antimonium, lent to Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions (to which the human fly is almost every summer is a prey). Inaction in all the muscles by which the system is acted, and nervous for which the physician has no antidote.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and are remedial healing, and gently expelled, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a genetic purgative, or irritating a fastidious stomach.

In this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In fevers, Intermittents, as we try its power, a single box of these (Chalybeate Pills has often suffered for the want Medicinal case, including the attendant Gastralgia.

In unchecked Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the Pills have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the usual pallid hue of flesh and strength, deficient cough, and remittent fevers, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and instructive instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculous, this medicine has, in a few for more than the good effect of the most beneficial professional medicine of infirm, without any of their well known inhibitions.

The attention of Scrofula cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy's restorative, in the most peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the sacro, however, more decidedly—it has been, invariably, well reported. Both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and edematous of the joints and muscles.

In International Dyspepsia it seems to have found a remedy and every practical proposition, and its progress in the cure mentioned cases of the Week, will probably be one of high interest and pertinence.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts so speedy, so powerful, and so decisive effects. Dead upon the complete dissolution, rapid circulation of the blood, with the renewal of healthful tone to the and stomach organs, immediately follow its use.

Put up to meet all such cases according to price name 50 cents per box. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, &c., must be addressed to

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and other habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by hereditary infection.

Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, pimply eruptions, boils, sores, this foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumptions which disconsolate the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination, and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

Once quarter of all our people are scrofulous; these persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthful food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this enemy, where preventing and first malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the extirpation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence its great virtues, and the employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but the many other scrofulous diseases which arise from it, such as Erysipelas and Skin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Blains and Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcerations, Syphilitic and Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Debility, and, indeed, all Complaints arising from Vitiated or Impure Blood. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid; without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,
