SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 17, 1860.

AN AMATEUR DIRT EATER.—Mr. Douglas, in his speech at New Orleans, congratulated his audience on the fact that the "Conservatives had a majority in both branches of Congress." When it is recollected that seven-eighths of these same "Conservatives" represent the partisans who preferred defeat from the Republicans to his election—who seceded from the National Convention simply because there was a probability of his receiving the nomination for the Presidency—this remark shows that the "little giant" has within himself all the qualities which constitute a first class dirt-eating doughface.

That he should rejoice because the fire-eaters under Yancey and others, who broke up two conventions in order to ensure his defeat, have the power to control the action of Congress for a brief period, argues little for his much vaunted manly spirit. These "conservatives" will have a majority in the United States Senate, and if Mr. Douglas was presented to them for a leading position on an important committee, they would turn from him with the same loathing and disgust that they did at Charleston and Baltimore. Mr. Douglas is aware of this, and yet he degrades himself and humiliates his friends by rejoicing in the prospect of his traducers gaining a temporary ascendancy in Congress. Since such is the effect of democratic association on a man who possesses the ability to make a name for himself, we do not wonder that the very title of "democrat" has become odious in the estimation of the people of the free North. It really seems as if the support of slavery aggression by a Northern man has the effect to so paralyze his sensibilities that he is incapable of receiving insult from his political masters. If the treatment which Mr. Douglas has received from the South, within the last six months, cannot drive him from its service, it would be difficult to conceive what amount of ill usage would have that effect. It is certain that whatever service he may render to the slavery propagandists hereafter must be a mere labor of love. They despise him too much to trust him with any responsible position, and if he follows them in the future it must be in the capacity of an unwelcome camp-follower and a suspected intruder.

POPULATION OF EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA.—The census returns of the city of Philadelphia and the counties comprising the Eastern district of Pennsylvania exhibit a population of 1,558,153, being an increase since 1850 of 338,100. The following is the return as rendered at the Marshal's office:

In the enumeration of "dwellings" no account is taken whatever of stores. Buildings in which there are no families residing are not included in the count, unless they are used for workshops, and even then not unless goods worth five hundred dollars are made in them yearly. Under the general head of "industrial establishments" are included manufactories, workshops, &c., with the condition noted above.

WHERE THE MONEY HAS GONE.—We learn from the New York papers that of the one hundred thousand dollars raised by the Calico Committee to carry the State, at least one-third of it was "fobbed" by those to whom its expenditures was entrusted; full one-third was lost in bets with Republicans and the remaining third was expended on local candidates and bad whiskey. These "corruption funds," fortunately for the country, are always rendered harmless by the dishonesty of the agents employed in their disbursement. It is said the large sums of money sent to Pennsylvania previous to the October election were coolly pocketed by a few sharp politicians in Philadelphia. As long as there are fools in our commercial cities who are willing to "bleed" for these purposes, there can be found rascals enough anxious to absorb the funds. The result of the late election shows that neither money nor threats have any power to turn the the current of an honest public sentiment.

WASHINGTON correspondents inform us that President Buchanan thinks that his Southern friends, for whom he has sacrificed his public and private reputation, are not treating him kindly in joining in the secession movement before the close of his term. He has no objection to the treason itself, but finds fault with the time selected for its development. Although all these troubles are the result of his own bad management of the affairs of the nation, the old Public Functionary, probably with an instinctive knowledge of his own incapacity, would prefer that their settlement should devolve on Mr. Lincoln. The poor old man finds himself in a most unpleasant dilemma, and it is difficult to tell how he will finally meet the question thus suddenly thrust upon him. His sympathies are evidently with the Southern traitors, but his cannot muster sufficient courage to embrace their cause. "The way of the transgressor is hard."

What Should We do Here.

Under the above heading the New Orleans True Delta has an article, to show that, if Louisiana secedes from the Union, as the vote of the country parishes would indicate her temper to do, the city of New Orleans should secede from Louisiana and set up an independent community for herself. The Delta announces itself as with those who believe the people of New Orleans can best preserve their rights and their liberties, their prosperity, tranquility and freedom, by setting up for themselves, and cutting loose from the entanglements inseparable from a combination of interests so diverse and principles so incompatible as are those excitements between populations strictly commercial on one side and exclusively agricultural on the other.

MR. FILLMORE, notwithstanding his declarations in favor of a separate and distinct "Union" electoral ticket, voted for the Dry goods affair called the Fusion ticket. The Albany Evening Journal says:

"For information on this point we are indebted to the Buffalo Republic, which says that the senior partner in the firm of 'Fillmore, Hall and Haven,' voted for seventeen Douglas, ten Bell and seven Breckinridge electors, for which, the Republic adds, he will never be ashamed of himself—and which, permit us to add, he will never repeat, because after this experiment no party will ever attempt to ride and run three Presidential candidates. 'Fusion' has made its first and last leap."

SERIOUS OUTRAGE.—On the 9th instant, an inoffensive German gardner, in the employ of Colonel Taylor, of Newport, Ky., was set upon by four rowdies, who beat him unmercifully, and stabbed him in the face with a dirk, cutting a deep gash from one side of the face to the other, and completely severing the nose. The ruffians escaped arrest.

HORSES BURNED UP.—The large stables owned by Charles Lent, at the corner of Thirty-second street and Tenth avenue, New York, were destroyed by fire on Sunday night, and 80 out of 121 horses perished in the flames. Loss about $40,000. No insurance.

PORK PACKING.—One firm at Madison, Ind., has engaged 40,000 hogs. Packing will commence there about the 16th inst. A packer at Ft Wayne, Indiana, has made preparations for killing from 10,000 to 12,000 hogs.

[Special Dispatch to the N. Y. World]

CHARLESTON, NOV. 14.—There is much discussion as to the proper mode of selecting delegates to the convention which meets at Columbia on the 17th of December.

Several prominent gentlemen who have been named, declined. It is generally conceded that there will be but one ticket in each district, and that pledged for secession.

The Courier of this morning says: "The electoral body at Charleston must seek out, diligently, the wisest and worthiest citizens men of ripe judgment and approved fidelity. Such, and such only, must be called to this great office. Those most worthy will be most reluctant to accept; but in such an emergency the deliberately expressed choice of electors should overrule personal considerations. Let no rash pledges be given; let there be no encouragement to personal considerations, or factious combinations. In good time measures can be taken to secure a proper and responsible selection of names, worthy of the choice of the people."

The Mercury of this morning, on the same subject says:

"We desire to deprecate individual nominations to the convention at this momentous juncture. In public affairs, personal preferences should have no place in our counsels. Ambitious aspirations should receive no countenance from the people. The public good—that alone should constitute the aim of all. This is no time for the gratification of any desire for advancement. Place should seek the men, and not men place. None should be eager, none should refuse."

The Legislature meets again on the 26th inst. Some committees will not dissolve during recess. The banks are going on as usual this morning. The Charleston will probably decide, this afternoon as to their future course. The opinion gains ground to day that they will suspend before Saturday.

PREACHING VS. PRACTICE.—Private letters have been received in this City from the Secretary of War, announcing practically his acceptance, as a constitutional necessity, of the result of the late Presidential struggle; and stating that he would regard all attempts to dissolve the Union on account of Mr. Lincoln's election, as measures, both premature in their time of initiation and only tending to throw discredit on those who would impeach and convict, in advance, a candidate who has received the suffrages of States representing a majority in the Electoral College of the United States. Gov. Floyd's assurances are of the most decisive character,—being accompanied by his declaration of a purpose to do everything in his power to prevent the success of disunion schemes.

This is very gratifying. But unfortunately the telegraph at the same moment brings us news that the Federal arms at Charleston have been placed under the protection of the Charleston Light Infantry. We may expect to hear presently that Fort Moultrie is in the custody of the Charleston Artillery, and that the Custom-house has been intrusted to the care of the Treasurer of South Carolina. If these reports are well founded, they place Mr. Floyd in the unpleasant position of announcing his purpose to do one thing, in order that he may with the greater security do exactly the opposite. We shall await further advices, however, before deciding him guilty of so discreditable a proceeding.—N. Y. Times.

THE Charleston Courier of Monday has the following:

"Our city was excited on Sunday by various and contradictory rumors of a mournful occurrence in the town of Mount Pleasant. On diligent inquiry we find the substance of the fact to be as follows:

"On Saturday evening a party of lads or young men, assisted by a negro boy of Mr. T. Hamlin, were engaged in burning effigies of Lincoln and Hamlin. They were assisted by John M. Bree, who fired on them a double barrelled gun, wounding all of them more or less, and it is supposed destroying the eye of one of the lads. According to our information these lads were not trespassing. The Vigilance Committee of Mount Pleasant arrested Bree, and have him now in confinement, after applying forty lashes."

The Mercury has the following account of the affair:

"The boys of the town got up some transparencies and had a torchlight procession, and, in passing a house in the lower part of the town, a gun was discharged from it in their midst, which wounded six or seven; some of them rather seriously. The alarm was spread, and the citizens assembled and arrested the suspected man, who has confessed his guilt, declaring that he was drunk. His name is John M. Barre, who was examined before the Vigilance Committee, received forty lashes, and then committed to jail for trial. Fortunately none of the parties are seriously injured, except Mr. Watson, who will probably lose one of his eyes."

A SPEEDY RECOMPENSE.—The principal aiders and abettors of the southern fire-eaters and panic makers have been the doughface merchants of New York, with a few of the same class in Philadelphia and Boston. They have done the best they could to make the Southerners believe that Lincoln's election would destroy the Union, although they knew that it was false. They did it in the hope of defeating Mr. Lincoln and of conciliate southern trade. They begin already to reap their reward, though not precisely as they anticipated. The following dispatch in the N. Y. Times from Washington, indicates how these men are likely to fare just now:

The action of South Carolina merchants, in refusing to pay their honest debts to the North, is severely condemned here. One agent for New York houses passed through here yesterday on his return home, with $700,000 worth of claims, without having collected a dollar. His employers had telegraphed him to return.

He will get home just in time to attend the funeral bodies to be called by "H. S. & T." to implore the Southerners not to believe that they are in any danger. All this season these peddlers of goods and principles have been libelling Mr. Lincoln and the Republican party, and now in order to save their dollars invested in the Southern trade, they are compelled to retract their slanders. It would serve them right should they lose their money.—Boston Atlas

ANOTHER SECESSION.—We do not vouch for the correctness of the following, but in these awful disunion times nobody can tell what will happen:

"A report is in circulation that a dreadful quarrel took place between the Siamese Twins, at the American Museum, on the 7th inst. It seems that Chang, who is a North Carolinian and a Secessionist, had insisted upon painting the ligament black which binds them together. To this Eng objected, preferring the natural color; whereupon Chang resolved to 'sever the union' with Eng, which he declared to be 'no longer worth preserving.' Eng who is of a calmer temperament, finally persuaded him to wait a little—until the 4th of March next. Dr. Lincoln, a pupil of the celebrated Jackson, was called in, who gave his opinion that the operation would be dangerous for both parties, and said the union must and shall be preserved. A system of non-intercourse will probably be adopted—each party reserving to himself the privilege of biting his own nose off."

BURIED TREASURE.—The people of Newport, R. I., are rather excited, at present, on the subject of money supposed to have been buried by Gibbs, the pirate. A rock has been discovered, with some sort of inscription upon it, which was removed, and a gold coin, worth about $10 found beneath. Further search failed to bring forth any more gold. The date and imprint on the coin cannot be deciphered.

A NUMBER of bricks of a bright red color, longer and wider than those in present use, and bearing evidences of having been carefully pressed and burnt, were discovered in an ancient brick kiln recently exhumed by some workmen near Memphis. These relics of an ancient race have been buried for untold years; the earth around showing no signs of ever having been disturbed.

LOST OVERBOARD.—Captain Jesse Wright of Newport, Pennsylvania, started from Baltimore, Md., last Sunday night, on the barge Elizabeth, in tow of a steamboat for Havre de Grace, and is supposed to have fallen overboard during the night. A man on the barge was arrested at Havre de Grace, on suspicion of foul play; but nothing being elicited to sustain the suspicion, he was discharged.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—Last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Collins, an old lady residing at Brooklyn, N. Y., while emptying a pail of water from a third story window, lost her balance and fell to the ground, receiving, it is supposed, fatal injuries. Her husband was killed about three years ago by a fall from the same window, while emptying a pail of water from it.

RAPID TRANSMISSION OF NEWS.—On Monday morning, the Commissioner of the General Land office at Washington, D. C., received a telegraphic dispatch from Portland, Oregon, via Sacramento, California, dated November 1st, thus reaching Washington within twelve days, this is an unprecedented achievement.

RAILROAD MEN IN CONGRESS.—The Hon. Erastus Corning, President of the New York Central Railroads, and Chauncey Vibbard, superintendent of the same road, are among the members elect to Congress from New York State.

Coughs and Colds! Coughs and Colds!

PERSONAL ADVICE.

Let no one neglect a cold or a slight cough. Thousands, doing so, have had one cold added to another, until the mucous membrane, lining the air passages, has become excessively irritated, and even permanently thickened, and soon chronic cough, chronic pneumonia, and consumption, successively gallop along. The best time to cure all this is when it begins. If you are so fortunate as to possess a case of HUMPHREYS' SPECIFIC HOMŒOPATHIC REMEDIES, and if you do not, you ought to at once take a Cold or Flu, and then two or three pills per day, with care as to renewed exposure, will bring you all right in a day or two.

If your cough has got further along, then more care and more patience is necessary for a cure, though it is in the same direction. Our advice is, to keep the feet warm, the head cool, and take Humphrey's Homeopathic Cough Pills.

Price, 25 cents per box, with directions. Six boxes, $1.

N. B.—A full set of HUMPHREY'S HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIFICS with Book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; ditto, in plain case, $4; case of fifteen boxes, and Book, $3. Single boxes, 25 cents and 50 cents.

These Remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address Dr. F. HUMPHREYS & CO.,
