ELECTROPATHY.

PROFESSOR A. S. GREGORY, and J. GOUCHER, M. D., have associated themselves together in the practice of their profession, thus uniting Electropathy and Hydropathy with a MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. They have their establishment supplied with a new set of ELECTRIC BATHS, which are superior to any now in use. The water used is of moderate temperature, and the electric currents are so regulated, that the patients, in receiving the benefits of these remedial agents, experience no unpleasant sensations. This system of treatment is among the safest, most effectual and least objectionable; it equalizes the circulation, soothes nervous irritation, and removes a host of other baleful disorders. The medicines prescribed will be compounded and put up at their office, under the immediate care of Dr. GOUCHER, who has had twenty years experience in treating diseases.

The following are some of the diseases that yield to their treatment:

Palsy or Paralysis, Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, both Acute and Chronic; Neuralgia, Headache, Tic Doloreux, Colds, Sore Throat, Prolapsus Ani or Piles, Female Weakness and Irregularities, General Debility, Derangements of the Nervous System, Stiff Joints, all Diseases of the Bowels, Fever and Ague and Fistula, invariably Cured without the Knife.

In addition to their office treatment, they purpose attending to a GENERAL PRACTICE at all calls in the city and vicinity, and will promptly attend to all communications by mail for postage will be attended to immediately, and if treatment is required, FIVE DOLLARS must be enclosed, for which they will send medicine to any part of the United States.

Quack Nostrums.

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says: "The majority of Hair Wishes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which are now before the public under such extravagant appellations and fantastic titles as are paraded in show in door cards, and newspaper headings, or hair preparations, are all humbugs of the first water, their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. HOOF'S LARD, WHALE OIL, LARD OIL, SWEET OIL, scented and uncolored, make up, when in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, the costliest character of 'toning and when thus costly, are baptized with some trifyllable name, and caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. This gentleman comes before the world without any "high falutin". Xlophidoterm, or any other astounding and startling catchpenny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—what it expresses precisely—and as a Restorative it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and as you value your scalp, eye, your very brains, apply nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your crania. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair, is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process, Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color, Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads, Will restore the Natural Secretions, Will remove at once all Itching, Will remove all Dandruff, Will cure all suppurating sores Scald Head, Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy, Will restore the Hair in young again, Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age, Will always Please it and stay its Falling, And is one of the best Dressing Articles for the Hair now in use.

PITTSBURGH: MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 26.

The Feasts and the Banks.

The panic which has just been passing over this country came so suddenly and unexpectedly as a thunder-bolt out of a clear sky. It came upon us when our banks had plenty of specie in their vaults—twenty millions in round numbers; when they had not been injudiciously expanding their discounts; when the finest harvests with which a bounteous Providence ever blessed us had been gathered in, and when there was a large demand for our grain in foreign countries. What more could be desired to put us in a position of absolute security? Nothing but peace. It is true there was not quite so heavy a crop of cotton as the South as had been expected; but no person pretends that the aggregate yield was less than that of any previous year; only there had not been all the increase that was anticipated. The prices paid for this staple were liberal, and on the whole, it would not more than its usual amount. It is also true that there was in some of the Southern states a deficiency in the grain crops; but this occurring when there was such a superabundance in the North west, no person could expect serious financial embarrassment from this cause. Yet on a sudden we have seen almost every kind of business brought to a stand still, as hundreds of vehicles in Broadway, have been stopped by the overturning of a wagon. What was the matter?

We reply, simply political excitement. There was no other cause of difficulty; and even this would have had the slightest possible effect, had it not been for the clamors made by a class of Northern journals, bent upon raising a sensation and trouble enough to satisfy their own unpatriotic predilections. Their fire brand articles had been copied by the Southern press, without the replies made to them, and the Southern people had been thus led to misunderstand the real motives and intentions of the Republican party. A child will readily perceive what must be the effect of the philippics of the Herald among an uneducated population, who are never permitted to hear an argument put forth on the other side. By such a course saying as is succeeded as the alphabet, or the sing digits, could be no distorted and perverted as to rankle with the blackest treason. Add to this circumstance the fact that these incendiary attacks have been kept up week after week and month after month, and is it any wonder that a portion of the Southern people should be temporarily and painfully excited?

The slight deficiencies in the crops and the political feeling excited at the South were the first great causes of trouble. The next arose from certain insane recommendations made by the Charleston Mercury and one or two other secession journals. They proposed repudiation of debts due to the North. It is well known that before the cotton crop comes forward a large portion of its value has been anticipated by the planters in the shape of advances for necessaries and luxuries. A sudden tremor instantly ran through the mercantile body, causing a lack of confidence in the whole South, as if every individual in it was responsible for the ravings of a sheet whose daily circulation is known to be very limited! Confidence is the spinal chord of business of all kinds; the instant it is badly punctured paralysis if not death ensues. There was a stoppage of orders from the Southern states, and merchants were afraid to fill many of those which were received. The newspapers announced a crisis. The "best" interest rallied, and pronounced it a fearful crisis in point of excitability, it is questionable whether the pupils, at one of our public schools or the Merchants' Exchange would be more apt to give way and to a greater extent. Most assuredly, if the adage that "men are but children of a larger growth" requires verification, Wall street will furnish it any day of the week, but especially during a crisis.

These were the sources of all our troubles—"only these and nothing more." The effect when chanted every morning by the Dismal Swamp birds of the press, were as colorous as the notes of Poe's Raven: "Nevermore!" "Nevermore!" "Nevermore!"—N. Y. Com. Adv.

DETECTION AND PUNISHMENT OF A TURKISH PASHA.—The following instance of Turkish conspiracy and its detection and punishment, which has just occurred in Syria, reads like one of the old oriental legends. It is related by the Syrian correspondent of the Boston Traveller.

"An incident in the trial of Ahmet Pasha will serve to show the depth of his treachery and the blackness of his heart:

'Why did you allow this wholesale murder of the people of the Sultan's city?' said Fraud Pasha.

'To punish the christians,' coolly replied the late governor general.

'Punish the Christians! For what? I am not aware that you had any orders to punish the Christians—let me see them.'

'The Christians had conspired against the government of the Sultan, and I wished to punish them for their treachery.'

'Show me your evidence of this conspiracy,' said Fraud Pasha.

'Here it is; read it, and see that I have been faithful to my master,' and Ahmet Pasha drew forth a long document, signed by the seal of about fifty of the principal citizens of Damascus, containing a plot against the Turkish government.

'Send for the persons whose names are appended to this document, and confront them with these signatures.'

They were brought and examined and cross-questioned, but no light could be gained. They denied all knowledge of such a document, but acknowledged the resemblance of the signatures and seals of their own. Their astonishment seemed so natural that Fraud Pasha was for a moment puzzled to know whether the Pasha was deceiving him, or whether the Christians were really conspirators, or the victim of some hellish fraud. A few moments reflection suggested an expedient which solved the difficulty. The sealmakers of all Eastern cities are limited in number, and are licensed by the government; and as every man's signature is thus in their hands—for Orientals, instead of signing their names, use a small copper or brass seal—they are placed under bonds, to prevent them from committing forgery. An order was given for the arrest of the six sealmakers of Damascus, and they were brought into court. Being duly questioned as to the number of seals made by them during the year, they gave no indication of bad faith, when Fraud Pasha announced the discovery of the forgery of fifty Christian names, and told them, as they hoped for pardon, to confess fully their guilt. Greatly terrified, two seal makers came forward and threw themselves at his feet. They testified that they had been taken secretly to the house of a Turkish Effendi, and were forced, by threats of violence, to make duplicates of fifty Christian seals in their possession but that they were entirely ignorant of the use, made of them, as they were sent away by the Effendi with a reward, after having given a solemn promise never to make the matter public. Fraud Pasha arose from his seat, and after spitting in the face of Ahmet Pasha, ordered him to the lowest dungeon."

OIL ITEMS.—Since our last issue we have visited the following wells, which have just struck oil:

The well of Mr. Straits of Pittsburgh, has a good vein of oil, at the depth of 472 feet.—This is the deepest well in the vicinity and has the appearance of being a good one. It will soon be tested.

The well of Mr. Brackinridge has the appearance of being a No. 1 well. We trust that it will stand the test of the pump, and we have no fears but what it will.

The well of the Miner's Co., on the flat, proves to be a pretty good one. They were pumping a fair stream of oil on Monday, but had not got the water pumped off when we were there.

Mr. Stitt has struck another good well and was making preparations for pumping when we were there on Monday.

We learn from a reliable person, that Mr. Doty has struck a good vein on the Island, some time since, and is making preparations for pumping.

Mr. Mason, on Frenchcreek, has also a good show and is making preparations for pumping.

Mr. Bolce has a good well on Frenchcreek, on the Sutley farm. It is now pumped by hand, and has yielded 10 barrels per day.

There are a number more good wells along the creek, but we have not time to notice them this week, but will do so at some future day. —Franklin Cit.

The New York Tribune, which represents the most radical Northern views, openly advocates the right of peaceable secession, where the question is fairly and deliberately submitted to the citizens of a State and decided by them in the affirmative.

This paragraph is going the rounds of the Southern Disunion press, and seems to afford great satisfaction and encouragement to the Secessionists. The truth is, the more "radical" and extreme any man is, on either side of the Slavery question, the more favorable he is to a dissolution of the Union.—Cin. Gaz.

THE PRESIDENT AND SOUTH CAROLINA.—The President does not feel at all easy, in regard to the posture of affairs in South Carolina; and while he has made every effort, and members of his Cabinet have exerted every influence, to prevent any hostile demonstration before the 4th of March, no confidence is entertained in the ability of those who are disposed to such a course there, to control results. On the contrary there are indications well calculated to excite his apprehensions, that the rash leaders who have obtained command of the movement, will not wait for his exodus to precipitate a crisis, if they suppose anything is to be gained by earlier action. It may not be known to the public, but the fact is none the less true, that the United States Arsenal in Charleston was actually taken possession of by force a fortnight ago. Col. Gardiner, who commanded at Fort Moultrie, on Sullivan's Island, seven miles from the city, sent up a party of his soldiers when affairs began to take a serious turn, to remove some of the Government ammunition down to the Fort, and although they went in citizens' dress so as not to attract notice, and endeavored to disguise their mission, they were discovered and compelled by the people to carry back the ammunition. The Arsenal was then put in charge of the Washington Light Infantry, a volunteer military company, by the municipal authorities, in order to prevent its destruction by the populace.

Here was an overt against the authority of the Government, just as much as if Fort Moultrie had been taken by an armed force. The prudent concluded, however, to ignore it, for Presidential reasons, fearing it might provoke a collision and more fatal results
