ELECTROPATHY.
PROFESSOR A. S. GREGORY and J. GOUCHER, M. D. have associated themselves together in the practice of their profession, thus uniting Electropathy and Hydropathy with a
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.
They have their establishment supplied with a new set of ELECTRIC BATHS, which are superior to any now in use. The water used in all is a temperation, and the electric currents are so regulated, that the patients, in receiving the benefits of these remedial agents, experience no unpleasant sensation. This system of treatment is among the most effectual and least objectionable; it requires the circulation to be equalized, and restores a healthy balance to disordered functions. Medicine (when used) is also compounded and put up at their office, under the immediate care of Dr. GOUCHER, who has had twenty years experience in treating disease.
The following are some of the diseases that yield to their treatment:
Palsy or Paralysis, Incipient Consumption, Rheumatism, Sick Acute and Chronic; Neuralgia, Headache, Tetanus, Ulcer, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, Weakness and Curvature of the Spine, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Deafness by Paralysis, Ringing in the Ears, Amaurosis, Amblyopia, Cataracts, Weak Eyes, Erysipelas, Spasmodic Retention of the Urine, St. Vitus' Dance, Chalk Stones, Prolapsus Ani or Piles, Female Weakness and Irregularities, General Debility, Incompetency of the Nervous System, Stiff Joints, all Diseases of the Bowels, Fever and Ague; and Fistule, invariably Cured without the Knife.
In addition to their office business, they purpose attending to a GENERAL PRACTICE. All calls in the city and vicinity receive prompt attention. Letters containing stamp for postage will be attended to immediately, and if treatment is required, Dr. Goucher will visit the patient, for any part of the United States.
OFFICE HOURS, FROM 7 A. M. TO 9 P. M.
OFFICE—No. 85 GRANT STREET,

Quack Nostrums.

THE NEW YORK DAY-BOOK says:
"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which are now before the public under such extravagant, hyperbolical and fantastic titles as we are paraded in show windows cards, and newspaper headlines, as hair producing agents are all humbugs of the first water, their real merit, when they possess any, is that they do no harm. HOGG'S LAND, WHALE OIL, LARD OIL, SWEET OIL, accepted and collected, make up, when in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, the costliest character of tonics, and when thus costly, are baptized with some frightful name, and caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative. This gentleman comes before the world without any high falutin' Xingodidrom, or any other astonishing and startling catchpenny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative, and he fulfils it; more precisely and as a Restorative it acts. Buy Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and as you value your scalp, eye, your very brains, apply nothing else for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."
It Will, by Nature's own Process,
Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color,
Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads,
Will restore the Natural Secretions,
Will remove at once all itching,
Will remove all Dandruff,
Will cure all eruptions—even Scald Head,
Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy,
Will make the old appear young again,
Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age,
Will always Fasten it and stop its Falling,
And is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.
Manufactured by O. J. WOOD & CO., and sold Wholesale and Retail, at 444 Broadway, New York, and 114 Market st., St. Louis, Mo.
Sold in Pittsburgh by Dr. GEO. H. KEYSER, B. L. FAHNESTOCK & CO., and all Druggists. [apr4-1y]

PITTSBURGH:
WEDNESDAY MORNING, DEC. 5.

[From the Indianapolis Journal.]

At the conclusion of Hon. Oliver P. Morton's speech at the meeting held in Indianapolis on the 22d instant, a paper was handed to him, of which the following is a copy:

"This is understood to be a meeting to rejoice over the election of Abraham Lincoln.

Will the speaker please state to his audience—

1. Whether or not his party rejoice over the universal bankruptcy and ruin now about to fall upon our country, as a consequence of that election.

2. Whether they rejoice that the free labor, and the free laborers, about which they have told us so much, are on the eve of being turned out of employment and starved; as a consequence of that election.

3. Whether they rejoice at this prospect of fraternal strife and internecine war, which now presents itself, in the immediate future, as a consequence of that election.

4. Whether they rejoice in the humiliation of being compelled, by the exigencies of the times, to accept the very principle announced and maintained by Stephen A. Douglas, (whom they have denounced and villified for his dead fast advocacy of it,) as the only basis of Union and peace hereafter; or, on the other hand, whether they rejoice in the certainty that the honest adherence to their own principles and doctrines, will assure the speedy destruction of their country, and demonstrate the failure of Republican government to the world.

GORDON TANNER.

"November 22, 1860."

Mr. Morton read the paper, and then said: As I recognize the person whose name is signed to this paper a gentleman, I will with pleasure attempt to respond to his interrogatories.

I answer to the first question, that we rejoice over our victory because it is the triumph of truth and the success of correct and time honored principles. Should bankruptcy and ruin fall upon our country, we should deplore it most deeply. But we should not regard it as the consequence of the election of Abraham Lincoln, or of that any responsibility rested upon us, but in it recognize the legitimate results of the means employed by our adversaries to effect our defeat and destruction.

To the second question, I answer that should "free labor" lose its reward and "free laborers" their employment, and be brought to starvation we would mourn over their calamities, seek to alleviate their sufferings and redress their wrongs, and, as we know the authors of the crime, we intend to hold them to a just accountability in this world; and believe that the Almighty will in the next.

To the third question, I answer that we do not rejoice "at the prospect of fraternal strife and internecine war." From such a prospect we would turn away with horror. But should they come we can rejoice in the conviction that they are not the just consequence of the election of a President according to the forms of the Constitution. But we know those who would rejoice. They are those who, for months and years past, have labored to alienate the hearts of this people from each other; who, for political purposes, by all the arts of defamation, have poisoned the public mind against the North, and sought to array them in deadly hostility against each other; who have broken compromises, and kept no faith; who incited civil war in Kansas and justified the attempted subjugation of a free people; who, for political purposes, have prophesied that these things would follow Lincoln's election, and are now laboring to fulfil the prophecy, and instead of seeking to allay the troubles in the land are exerting all the means in their power to aggravate the difficulty and widen the breach. They seem exceedingly anxious to be able to tell the people—"I told you so. See what you have done by voting your State ticket, and for the man of your choice."

R. J. Ryan—"I beg leave to ask a question. I agree and endorse nearly everything that has been said here to night, and I too trust that if South Carolina gets out of the Union it will be at the point of the bayonet. My father and mother are buried at Barnwell in that State, and should she secede from the Union I would go and with my own hands dig up their bones and bring them away. But the question I desire to ask is this: Whether those questions were reically prepared by a Democrat?"

Much confusion and excitement ensued for a moment, when Mr. Tauner arose in the back portion of the audience and said the questions were his and bore his signature.

Mr. Morton then proceeded:

I am not surprised that my friend Mr. Ryan, who is a very sensible gentleman, should regard it as incredible that any Democrat should ask these questions.

The fourth question, as you perceive, is quite lengthy, and has a very considerable stump speech injected into the body of it. My friend Gov. Lane understands partisanship law, and I appeal to him whether I may not call for a division of the question and consider it by sections.

(Governor Lane, who was sitting on the platform, announced that the suggestion was in order.)

To the first branch of the question, I answer by denying that we accept or expect to accept the very principle announced and maintained by Stephen A. Douglas." He has no principle. He started out in 1854 with something like popular sovereignty, and has ended by admitting the doctrine that slave property stands on the same footing with all other property. This doctrine will carry slavery into all States and Territories in defiance of the people and popular sovereignty.

To the second branch of the question, I answer that we have not "villified" Stephen A. Douglas for his "stand fast advocacy" of a principle or for any other cause. He has been upon all sides of the vexed question. Within the last twelve months he has undergone more changes than the moon. He has advocated nothing steadfastly but Stephen A. Douglas.

To the third and last branch of the question, I answer that we do not rejoice in the certainty that an honest adherence to our principles will "assure the speedy destruction of our country, and demonstrate the failure of Republican government to the world." On the contrary, we believe our principles to be those of the Constitution and the Fathers, and that peace can only be restored, and the safety of our institutions secured, by bringing back the government to that ancient, just and liberal policy upon which it was founded, and administered for so many years.

The Secession Leaders at New Orleans.

[From the New Orleans True Delta.]

We have been looking anxiously about since the secession movement commenced, for some indication whence it proceeds, who are the prime movers in it, whether it be Democratic, Bolitic, Know-Nothing, or some other old or new-fangled application—but we have looken in vain. When the meeting was called for Friday evening, at O.D.F. Hall, for the adoption of the "Southern Rights Association" and constitution, we were sure we should have the head and front of secessionism there congregated, but, lo and behold! B. W. Adams and W. C. C. Claiborne, two gentlemen representing no particular partizan opinions, Mr. Dubbuch of Texas, Col. Gladden, recently of South Carolina, and one or two others officially connected with the federal party here, were the only gentlemen who seemed to take an active part in the organization. This seemed to us, as it did to many other outsiders, rather extraordinary, perplexing and disappointing; for we, like others, had made up our minds that our gifted and eloquent senior senator, Slidell himself, would have assumed that prominence on the occasion befitting his high political station, albeit his retiring modesty and characteristic unwillingness to assume conspicuous prominence on dangerous occasions are well known. Had this light of the Federal Senate been present as he ought, instead of leaving the work to the obscure agents whom he wire-works from unseen places, the crowd of earnest and sincere young men who have Southern honor and independence so much at heart, would have learned from his mellifluous lips the objects he and other operators against the Union have in view—what cobrae, after they have committed us to secession and revolution, they have traced out for us for a follow how our separate existence is to be maintained—whether as proposed in Georgia, we are to form a part of a consolidated South, with State lines obliterated, or are to be held as a fief of South Carolina, or to be annexed as a fall to the dominions of King Jeff. of Mississippi, or his imperial highness, Prince Yulee, of Florida. We have no objection whatever to offer to the respectable citizens who officiated as sponsers at the Odd Fellows' Hall Secession organization, whether native here, adopted from other States, and professing double allegiance, or mere pragmatical strangers; they are well known, and as far as our acquaintance with them extends, are most estimable men; but they are clearly only volunteers, and it is
