FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 21.

Henry Clay on Disunion in 1850.

In 1850 there were many who looked for a disastrous issue of the events of that day. California is had been supposed, would furnish one slave State as well as one free State. The organization of New Mexico and Utah, and generally the practical decision whether the great socio-politics of the Mexican war should result in a gain to the interest desiring to extend the political power of slavery equal to the gain of free States and Territories, was the trial of the time, and it came as near to effecting a severance of the Gulf States and South Carolina from the Union as the power of those representing those States in Congress could bring it. In the course of that struggle, the compromise measures, elaborated with great care by the celebrated Committee of Thirteen in the Senate, were broken up by the detaching of California, and by the occurrence of the precise contingency which several Southern Legislatures had declared would require steps to effect a separation from the Union. On the first of August, 1850, Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, declared in the Senate that the contingency had arrived which compelled the calling of a convention in that State to provide for the extreme remedy of disunion. Henry Clay followed him, and after a few words deprecating the failure of the special adjustment, he said:

Now, Mr. President, I stand here in my place, meaning to be unawed by any threats, whether they come from individuals or from States. I should deplore, as much as any man living or dead, that arms should be raised against the authority of the Union, either by individuals or by States. But, after all that has occurred, if any one State, or a portion of the people of any State, choose to place themselves in military array against the government of the Union, I am for trying the strength of the government. [Applause in the galleries.] I am for ascertaining whether we have a government or not—practical, efficient, capable of maintaining its authority, and of upholding the powers and interests which belong to a government. Nor, sir, am I to be alarmed or dissuaded from any such course by intimations of the spilling of blood. If blood is to be spilt, by whose fault is it? Upon the supposition, I maintain it will be the fault of those who choose to raise the standard of disunion, and endeavor to prostrate this government; and, sir, when that is done, so long as it pleases God to give me a voice to express my sentiments, or an arm, weak and enfeebled as it may be by age, that voice and that arm will be on the side of my country, for the support of the general authority, and for the maintainance of the powers of this Union. [Applause in the galleries.]

* * * * * * *

I repeat the sentiment; if resistance is attempted to any authority of the country by any State, or any people of any State, I will raise my voice, my heart and arm, in support of this common authority of the general government. Now am I apprehensive of this idea that blood is to be shed. But if it is shed, who will be chargeable with the effusion of human blood? Those who attempt to prostrate the general authority, upon the supposition I have made, that a single State, if there shall be one, or the people of any State, choose to raise the standard of disunion and attempt to destroy the Union by force. God forbid! I desire no such thing; but, if it occurs, I will be among the last, who will give up the effort to maintain the Union in its entire, full, and vigorous authority.

Sir, these threats are not so alarming and so dangerous as gentlemen in their imaginations may suppose. We have had an event of this kind in our history. When Washington was President, now sixty years ago, the standard of insurrection was raised in the west part of Pennsylvania. The army of the United States moved forward for the purpose of subduing it. There was some little bloodshed at the house of Col. Neville, but the insurgents then—as disunionists and traitors always will—fled from the approach of the flag of the Union, supported by the authority of the Union, and countenanced by the Father of the Union."—[Cong. Globe, 1st sess., 31st Congress, p. 1,486.

Over a year since a Mr. Drinkwater of North Yarmouth, Me., was rendered speechless by be fog knocked down by an ox. His horse last week having taken fright and running away with him, in his effort to cry "whoa," his vocal powers returned, and his attempt to stop his horse loosened his voice, and he now articulates distinctly.

☞ To Advertisers.—The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette has a large circulation among the business men in this and the surrounding cities—among those who buy and who sell—and among manufacturers and producers. It may be found in nearly all the counting rooms, store houses, banking houses, hotels, factories and commercial houses in the two cities, where it is read and carried home to the families for perusal. As a medium for advertising, therefore, it offers inducements which no other paper in Western Pennsylvania can offer, to the dealer in such articles as find their large class of our citizens. The Weekly Gazette at the time has a much larger circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia among substantial farmers and merchants than any other secular paper in this section of the State.

☞ The Daily Gazette is the oldest Newspaper on the West, and having an extensive circulation amongst the business men, and reaching all classes, it offers inducements to advertisers as the best medium through which to reach the public.

☞ The Weekly Gazette is issued every Wednesday and Saturday, on a large blanket sheet, and contains in addition to the news of the week, a carefully prepared and valuable report of the Markets, commercial and monetary of the New York—making it the best Commercial Newspaper in the West.

DR MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC Preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of iron can be compared with it. Imperfection of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innumerable maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Rheumatismatism, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Sleeplessness, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful in an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just return-d from protracted travel in a distant land. Even very special instances of the kind were witnessed of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sleeplessness exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic swerdom to stir sad sorrows for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of Iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old order, it is vigorously tonic without being exciting and overheating and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inducing a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often relieved for the most habitual case, including the attendant distressing.

In wasting Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, consisting, and apparently malignant, the Pills have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the teen-pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and resistant hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of that well known inactivities.

The attention of families cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both in alleviating pain and reducing the swelling and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high success and confidence.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which causes such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills; price 50 cents per box: for sale by Druggists and Dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters on the subject should be addressed to

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. However its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. It is no cause for wonder that we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only Scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as Erupters and Skin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Blains and Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Rheumatism, Syphilitic and Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Debility, and, indeed, all Complaints arising from Vitiated or Impure Blood. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

AYER'S
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,

are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. The searching, curative powers they exert, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish, gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
