THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says:
"The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Oils, and the numberless preparations which, bolstered and fantastic titles as we see paraded in show bills, are all humbugs of the first water; their real merit, when they possess any, is, that they do no harm. HOOF'S HAIR ORD, make up, when in beautiful wrappers and with gilt letters, the costliest character of toilet goods, and those costly, are besieged with some irregularity here, caught at by verdant young and old of both sexes. This gentlemen comes before the world without any "high falutin'," Xilophobiarium, or any other astounding and startling catchpenny terms; he simply advertises a Hair Restorative—what it supposes practically—and as a doctor, gives you value for your scalp, eye, your very brains, and nothing else; for it may be that you will get some worse substance than perfumed lard oil on your cranium. Remember, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process,
Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color,
Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads,
Will restore the Natural Secretions,
Will remove at once all itching,
Will remove all Dandruff,
Will cure all eruptions—even Scald Head,
Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy,
Will make the old appear young again,
Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age,
Will always Fasten it and stop its Falling,
And is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.

VALUABLE IMPROVEMENT
In Steam and Atmospheric Hammers.
LETTERS PATENT were granted on Sept. 4th, 1860, to Thomas Beach, for a very simple and efficient improvement in Steam and Atmospheric Hammers, whereby the full stroke of the hammer is obtained, no matter what the thickness of the mass of iron to be hammered—thereby effecting a great increase of power where large pieces of metal are to be operated upon, and a corresponding saving of expense.
The subscribers are owners of said patent, and are desirous of selling rights to use said improvement, as well as territory under said patent. A model of said improvement is left at the office of Messrs. Bakewell & Cushing, Attorneys at Law, corner of Grant and Diamond streets, where parties interested may call and see it, and learn also the terms of license sale, &c.

LATEST NEWS BY MAIL.

Citizens of South Carolina resident in Washington City, held a meeting on Saturday evening, when much diversity of opinion regarding precipitate action in that State was manifest. The meeting was very disorderly and closed inharmoniously.

The want of unanimity was remarkable, in view of the alleged unity of sentiment in South Carolina. A large property holder at the meeting threatened to return to his State, sell his real property, remove his slaves, and abandon forever the Palmetto nation.

As an evidence of the strong Union sentiment prevailing in Baltimore, the fact may be worthy of notice that the American, the leading newspaper of that city, which, from the start, has sustained Governor Hicks and fought the Secessionists, has more than doubled its circulation in the last eight weeks.

Not a day passes that Senator Bigler is not called upon by some of his constituents, who desire letters from him which will serve as "passports" during their proposed journeys through the Southern States.

The Columbia South Carolinian publishes the appended extract of a letter written by an English gentleman to his friend in Charleston, under date of New York, Jan. 22. He says:

"I was for more than an hour with Gov. Andrew, at Boston, and I gave him the full benefit of your letter to me. He at first disputed your point about Fort Sumter being capable of capture. He said he had Gen. Scott's decision that it would hold out three months, and was inaccessible; that you may fire two hundred shell on one spot, and do it no harm. As to secession, the Governor looks upon it as a mere cover to a reopening of the Slave-trade; and, as he said, 'straws show how the wind blows,' he noticed Spratt was the only delegate of your Convention that was cheered. He further said, he wanted to hear the batteries at Fort Sumter had opened. I further talked with Wendell men of means or position took a part in the movement; and was very full of anecdotes of forced loans, exactions, no freedom, &c. The tone in the Eastern States is not so strong as I expected to have found it. Some certainly want coercion; but many will let you go out, and stay out, if you please. One important point I notice, that, generally, the Democrats here would not tamely allow you to be attacked—they are against coercion."

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser gives the following copy of Gov. Seward, to the urgent requests that he would assent to measures of compromise:

"The pressure has been very strong on the Republicans to yield to something like Mr. Crittenden's measures, but it is of no use. When people press Gov. Seward to yield to this, in order to save the country, he replies: 'Gentlemen, you trust I will never consent to save the country by sacrificing myself. Suppose I were to save the country as you wish, I should have put an end to my power to good or evil forever. I shall have to go back to Auburn and amuse myself with writing history for the rest of my life. I am not so blind to experience as to suppose that I can both sacrifice myself and remain leader at the same time. Now, do you want me to retire from public life? The answer is of course, 'No,' then, returns he, 'you must let me save the Union in my own way.'"

Williamsburgh boasts, among other institutions, a Mormon church, the members of which, to the number of about 200, hold three meetings every Sunday, at Grenada Hall, corner of Grand and Eastern streets. Hitherto they have attracted but little attention, though they have been holding their meetings for the past two years. On Sunday last, Orson Pratt, of Utah, preached to his followers. The Odeon was engaged for the occasion, and was filled in its utmost capacity by the curious of the "faithful." "Mormonism" was the subject of Mr. Pratt's story. The country was bound to go to the devil anyhow, and Mormonism was the only practical troubles of the United States had been predicted in the Book of Mormon from the beginning to the end, and that the best thing the people could do in order to prevent present troubles was to join the Mormon church and emigrate to Utah.—N. Y. Trib.

The Wheeling Intelligencer and the other day:

"Who are the people who are for disunion in this town? Are they the base, low, unknown men, the people on whom the town depends? No. Look at every leader, at every man of wealth, at every merchant, supervisor, lawyer, blood-sucker, and banker, etc. They are all for secession & what don't get their rights."

Being called upon for an explanation by some secessionists who claimed to be gentlemen, the Intelligencer undertook to define exactly what it meant by quoting and endorsing the following from the Richmond Whig:

"While we do not mean to say that every secessionist is a loafer, we do mean to say that nearly every loafer we meet is a secessionist, and bent upon resisting all revisions of his rights under the Constitution. He swells up to an amazing extent when any Black Republican is mentioned, and declares that he has sailed his flag to the masthead, and inscribed thereon, "Resistance." Glorious men, Ye have come down to us from a former time, but Ye have come down to us from a former time, but your names shall never be remembered after the present generation."

On February 3d, Fort Palmetto, on Coles' Island, in the harbor of South Carolina, was completed, and the soldiers there celebrated the event by raising the Palmetto flag and giving cheers for all concerned in the construction of the fortifications. Some fifty negroes who had assisted in digging ditches, etc., the Mercury says, then assembled on the ramparts around the flagstaff, and gave utterance to the following sentiments: "We are the first that come to die for!—we work on 'em till'e finish—Fort Sumter—Palmetto Fort!—tree chairs for Capen Pope, and tree more for Sous Carolina." The enthusiasm with which these cheers were given would have amazed the old Rat splitter himself.

Many of those impressed to their homes about the several Islands enjoyed Patriotic Days.

WE TAKE GEORGIA PAPER THINKS OF IT.—The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, speaking of the Secession Congress at Montgomery, says:

"A Congress is soon to meet in Montgomery, to organize a government for the seceding States—what form will the people of Georgia, and more especially the people of the States expected to secede, have in that organization? A President is to be elected in a manner unknown to the Constitution, the principles of which we are told are to govern in the new confederacy. What difference does it make to the issues, whether their chief magistrate is thus placed over them by delegates of delegates, not elected for that purpose, or is assigned them by birthright, and the dispensation of Providence?"

WINTER NOT EVERYWHERE.—Thos. Star King, writing from San Francisco on the 1st of January, says:

"I looked out of my window into the yard on the north side of my house, yesterday, December 31st, and saw buds opening on flower bushes where no ray of sunshine has fallen these two months. This shows what the climate here is—how much more genial and even, than on the same latitude upon the Atlantic coast."

They haven't heard the news in Cuba. South Carolina is not recognized there. Gov. Pickens must send Col. Hayne or somebody down with an "ultimatum." For it appears that the master of a brig arriving at Portland from Cuba, on the 30th ultimo, reports that, the day before he sailed from Cuba, an enterprising brigantine, passing Moro castle with the Palmetto flag flying, was brought to anchor by the officer in command of the castle, and kept under his guns until—hoisting of the old stars and stripes—she was permitted to proceed. The disgust of the Carolinian must be imagined. Lest he be indicted for treason the moment he reaches home, he had better now turn pirate and roam the seas.

TREASON REBUKED.—The Trenton Democrat says, one of the largest business establishments in that city recently accepted an order for a large number of gun carriages, supposing they were for the use of the U. S. Government, but afterwards learned they were for the rebels of Georgia, and refused to execute the contract. A prominent Democrat was quite indignant thereat, but soon became quiet, on being told he had come to the wrong place to preach treason.

WITH reference to the practicability of re-enforcing Fort Sumter, I will say that they who know most about it, here do not doubt it, though it would be at considerable risk, and perhaps some loss. It must be confessed, however, that the practicability is diminishing every day, in consequence of the perfection to which the harbor defenses are being brought. At the time the Star of the West attempted to come in, the feasibility of the undertaking, if made with a full knowledge of the situation of things, was undoubted. That was a bungling affair, at which the Revolutionists will never cease to laugh.—Tribune Cor.

THE health of Florence Nightingale does not improve. The London News, of January 17th, says:

We regret to learn from undoubted authority that the report recently circulated in several journals of the gradual improvement in Miss Nightingale's health, is entirely without foundation. Her malady, far from being alleviated, increases upon her, and her state, which confines her entirely to her apartment, is one of great exhaustion and severe suffering.

THE Washington correspondent of the Charleston Mercury, writing on the 30th ult., issues the Fort Sumter must be captured. He warns those whom he addresses that Major Anderson gains by delay as well as those who intend to attack him; that Gen. Scott is no trifler, and that when he makes another attempt to reinforce Sumter he will not be balked.

THE Richmond (Va.) Whig has heard that Secretary Floyd has been shaping it for strictures which it has seen fit to publish upon his course, and it threatens as an offset to "ventilate" all the various transactions which have covered him all over with disgrace and infamy, and caused his name to stink in the nostrils of every honest man in the land."

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE COMPASS.—Since screw steamers have come into general use, the compass by which the ship is guided is subject to great deviations, on account of the shaking caused by the screw. Frequent lurches are the consequence, and the helmsman finds the greatest difficulty in steering the ship, a circumstance which occasions delay, late arrivals, and waste of fuel. To remedy this evil, several contrivances have been attempted, but only one has succeeded, viz: the apparatus called the liquid compass, which consists of two hemispherical compass-boxes—an inner and an outer
