On his departure he will be accompanied by Mayor Wilson. The Washington Infantry, the Jackson Blues, and other military companies will turn out. Maj. Gen. Snodgrass and staff, Gen. Negley and staff and Col. Hait's Cavalry will all be out.

At the request of Gen. J. S. Negley, the Secretary of War telegraphed to Major Symington to furnish two brass pieces to fire a National salute. Major S. was kind enough to agree to furnish a gun squad with such pieces, and ammunition. One piece will be planted on Boyd's Hill—the other above Allegheny city.

All citizens are invited to join in the procession, which will form on Penn street, the right resting on Pitt, at 6 o'clock p. m.

Brigadier Gen. Negley will command the military and civic procession. The military will have the right of the procession, and will escort the Presidential carriage from the Depot to Federal street, Allegheny, to the Monongahela House, by the following route: down Federal street to bridge, across to St. Clair, up St. Clair to Market street, up Market to Fifth, up Fifth to Smithfield, and down Smithfield street to the Monongahela House, where the President will be received by the Hon. Mayor Wilson, on behalf of the city authorities.

After allowing the President a suitable time for repose, the citizens generally will be introduced by the Committee of Introduction, until 10 o'clock.

On Friday morning at 8 o'clock the military and civic procession will move from the Monongahela House by the following route: Up Smithfield to Fourth street, up Fourth to Grant, along Grant to Fifth, down Fifth to Liberty, down Liberty to Marbury, down Marbury to Penn up Penn to St. Clair, and across the Suspension Bridge to Federal street, Allegheny; up Federal street to South Common, along South Common to Sandusky, up Sandusky to Ohio street, along Ohio street to Federal, and thence down to the Depot on Federal street, from whence the party will depart for Cleveland at 10 o'clock a. m., by special train.

A cannon from Seminary Hill will announce the arrival of the special train, which will be due in Allegheny city at 8.30.

Carriages will be in readiness to convey the Presidential party and the various committees at the station. The military have been invited to take possession of the depot grounds, and will present a good order, and aid in carrying out the above arrangements.

We hope to see our citizens manifest a commendable public spirit. From the character of the gentlemen in charge of the arrangements, everything will undoubtedly be done in such a manner as shall honor our guest and reflect credit upon these cities.

More Stolen Go ds Recovered—Arrest of Receivers.

The Mayor's police yesterday made another large haul of stolen goods, at a litt'e shanty on Penn street, kept by Michael Heenan. A dray load of goods, consisting of a barrel of flour, boxes of tobacco, chests of tea, a sack of coffee, cheese, and other articles, was hauled to the Mayor's office for identification. Heenan and wife were arrested and locked up for a hearing. They allege that they purchased the goods, but the police claim to have proof of the fact that nine barrels of flour were sold to these parties for the low sum of twelve dollars. The teamster has been identified as the property of John F. McDevitt, Liberty street, and the other articles will no doubt be claimed.

At the house of John and Rachel McDonald, near the Point, over one hundred dollars worth of groceries were recovered, all of which is supposed to have been stolen. In this lot are barrels of flour, one barrel of cheese, six boxes of tea, boxes of tobacco, pepper, and other articles too numerous to detail. The barrel of molasses, valued at fourteen dollars, has been identified as the property of Jas. M. Snowden & Co., grocers, of Liberty street, and McDonald and wife were held to bail to answer a charge of receiving stolen goods. Mrs. McDonald became badly frightened, and has suddenly disappeared, leaving her bail in the lurch. Her husband was locked up and will be committed to answer.

A lad named McMullen, who is known to have been concerned with Cross, Stephens and others, in the robbery of Lauffman's store, was arrested and committed to answer for the larceny of the goods found in McDonald's possession, as he had sold them to Mrs. McDonald.

A wheelbarrow, belonging to Mr. Shepherd, baker, was found by officer Lowe, in a vacant lot on Water street, near the Point, and is said to have been used by McMullen and his companions in wheeling their plunder from place to place.

The police have just ascertained of another depository of stolen goods, and other arrests will no doubt be made. A band of daring thieves has been broken up by the arrest of the young scamps already in, and it is hoped that these discoveries will prevent the petty depredations which have so frequently been perpetrated upon our merchants and more keepers generally.

Affray in Allegheny.

On Monday night, a disturbance occurred at James Campbell's tavern, in Allegheny, during which two men got badly used. The row is reported principally between James Rankin and James McTiernan, the former receiving a severe cut on the hand, and the other having his head badly bruised and beaten. Cross suits for assault and battery were brought before Mayor Drum, and a hearing was fixed for the morning at 10 o'clock. By that time, it appears, the parties came to a more amicable conclusion, and after due deliberation on both sides the matter was settled between them, they being bound over by his honor to keep the peace.

DROWNED.—A man named John Buckhardt, late proprietor of a second hand furniture establishment on Smithfield Street, was drowned in the Monongahela River, near the foot of Liberty street, yesterday afternoon. It appears that he went aboard of a flat boat for some purpose or other, as yet unknown, when, it is said, he stooped down to fasten one of his shoes, in doing which he lost his balance and fell into the river. The unfortunate occurrence was witnessed by several persons who were in the vicinity at the time, and the body was almost instantly recovered. Coroner Bostwick held an inquest on the body, and a verdict of "accidental drowning" was rendered. The deceased was was about 55 years of age and leaves, we believe, a family.

CONVICTION OF IRA SNOTWELL.—This individual, arrested with Charley Logue, on a charge of having murdered Jared Lewis, was tried last week, at Canton, and convicted of murder in the second degree. Inasmuch as that Logue, who is now under sentence of death, fired the fatal shot, Snotwell was also tried and convicted of burglary, for which offence Lewis was endeavoring to arrest them when he was murdered. The prisoner was sentenced to an aggregate imprisonment of sixteen years and five months, and was lodged in the penitentiary yesterday.

ANOTHER OIL WELL.—We see it stated that the Red Lion Oil Company, of this city, have succeeded in getting a good well at Walnut Bend, on the Allegheny river. Oil was first struck at 220 feet. At 231 a second vein was tapped, at 243 a third, and at 246 a fourth. The show is excellent, and the Company have every reason to believe that they have got a fair thirty barrel well. The company is made up of the following gentlemen: R. F. Gordon, C. McCloskey, J. B. Jones, and C. E. Beamer. The latter gentleman is now in the city, procuring the necessary pumping apparatus, etc.

LITERARY.—A meeting of the committee to draft a constitution for the Literary Union, met on Tuesday evening in the Sixth Ward school house. Present—Messrs. J. F. Diffenbaucher, Horace S. Snowden, T. P. Houston, J. M. Hazlett, and W. J. Phillips. Mr. J. M. Abbott being absent, Mr. E. Morrow was appointed in his place pro tem. W. J. Phillips, Ex-President of the Literary Society, submitted a preamble which was unanimously adopted, and after discussing and adopting several articles of the proposed constitution the Committee adjourned.

ALLEGED NUISANCE.—F. D. Keating, proprietor of a line of omnibuses running between the city and Braddocksfields, appeared before the Mayor yesterday, and preferred a charge of nuisance against Charles Nelson, who has been excavating on Second street, within the city limits, and has constructed a temporary bridge over the same, which is deemed unsafe, and a nuisance to those passing over it. A warrant was issued.

THE LUMBER BUSINESS.—We learn that notwithstanding the hard times and the prospective dullness in the lumber way in Spring, the lumbermen in the pine regions are busily engaged taking out timber. It is thought that the amount run on the early freshets of the year will not be less than the quantity sent to market any previous season.

FIRE AT ERIE.—Erie has been visited by a destructive fire, which burned the wooden block between the Reed House and the Union Hotel. The buildings were owned by Messrs. Murphy, Reed, M'Curley, and Jones & Constable. Mr. Murphy was the greatest loser; his tin shop was valued at $5,000; insured for $3,000.

DISTRICT COURT.—Before Judge Hampton.—Thomas Collough & Co.; feigned issue to try the title to some property in Pennsylvania avenue, known as "Armstrong's Exchange." Verdict for the defendant.

The child is but four years old. Mr. Cunningham was a young man of fine promise, and at the time of his sudden decease was a student of law.

VALENTINE'S DAY.—This day, and the custom incident to it, are thus noticed by Webster: "A day sacred to St. Valentine, the 14th of February. It was a day of old notions, alluded to by Shakespeare in the purity of the writers in Regents. Hence, perhaps, arose the custom of sending on this day letters containing professions of love and affection."

OIL INVESTMENTS.—A Wheeling paper says: "A merchant from Baltimore was here the other day. He had invested more than half of his possessions in the oil business about Parkersburgh, and was on his way to Parkersburgh to invest the balance, so well satisfied was he of the results of the speculation."

Public Meeting in Beaver County!

[For the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BEAVER, Feb. 8, 1861.

Messrs. Editors: I notice in the Pittsburgh Post of Thursday, a communication signed "Cæsar," professing to give an account of a public meeting held in this place on the 4th of February.

The account published in the Post is so manifestly untrue, so glaringly false, that your correspondent deems it necessary to give a fair and correct statement of the proceedings. There had been, as you are aware, some week or two ago, a large meeting held here, when certain resolutions prepared by Judge Agnew, of this county, were passed unanimously, and the proceedings of the meeting were published in the Gazette. Two or three Democratic wire-workers, who live here, chagrined the firm determination of the people not to submit to any compromise with traitors and rebels, secretly got up a call, ambiguously and plausibly worded, for a public meeting of "all who were in favor of preserving the Union, not by the mere coercive powers of the General Government, not by drenching the land in fraternal blood, but by granting to all the States their full and just rights, under the Constitution.

The call was industriously circulated, and received the signatures of hundreds of Republicans who had no idea of the trick intended by the Douglasites and Compromisers. At the appointed time and place there was quite a large assemblage at the Court House, and now for the first time the cunning managers became apparent.

A prominent Democrat, as soon as the hour for the meeting arrived, jumped up and moved that the meeting be organized by the election of a list of officers, every one of whom were Democrats, except two. That motion was put and declared carried before any one had any suspicions of the intention. As soon as the officers had taken their seats, those posted in the programme called out for Mr. S. B. Wilson, who was on hand with a three hour speech, and a bundle of resolutions. Mr. W. spoke for a long time, indeed so long that it began to be feared that no one else would have an opportunity to be heard. At the moment Wilson concluded, several of those standing near, called out for the reading of the resolutions. This let the "cat out of the bag." No committee had been appointed on resolutions; and of course the only resolutions were those already prepared by those in the secret of the organization.

But just at this point they were most admirably foiled. The Republicans in the house, who were by far the most numerous, began so loudly to call for Mr. Roberts, that the conspirators, overawed by the people, were compelled to allow him to speak. After Mr. Roberts had had his say, Mr. Wilson took the floor, claiming that he only wished to reply to a few matters in the remarks of Mr. R. Having by this means got the floor, he most unfairly endeavored to have a set of resolutions which he read, passed, without debate or without yielding to any motion from those who were opposed to the resolutions, although he had promised not to press his resolutions till after opportunity had been given for debate on them. The majority knew they were a set of treasonable resolutions, and quite a pretty scence of disorder ensued, during which the conspirators finding themselves about to be overpowered by numbers, incontinently left. The President declared the meeting adjourned, and with several of the Vice Presidents, walked out. But Doctor D. Stanton, of New Brighton, one of the Vice Presidents, whom they had by some oversight slighted, remained the long list of names, at the commencement of the meeting, quietly took the chair, and declared that the meeting had not adjourned, and after filling the places of some of the absconding officers, the meeting quietly proceeded to finish the business for which it had been called.

The Republicans were overjoyed at the signal victory over the compromisers and disunionists. The Democracy, full of rage at the failure of their contemptible scheme, were quite chopfallen indeed, and during the whole of the next day would scarcely be seen outside their own doors.

The whole affair was a small scale, a repetition of the tactics of the seceders at Washington. First they endeavored to obtain control of the meeting by misrepresenting the objects of the call; secondly, having got possession of the meeting in an unfair means, they attempted, by means of the organization, to crowd upon the people an endorsement of the Crittenden compromise, and when they failed in this they resorted to the attempt to get up a row to break up the meeting, which did notrallow itself to be broken up by the secessionists.

As to the result of the debate between Messrs. Wilson and Roberts, the statement of Floyd or his counsel has created much excitement amongst those who were present and are familiar with the contestants. Mr. W.'s address was a rehash of his stump speeches during the last campaign, raising the charges upon Abolitionism and the rights of the South, and dodging every vital point of the present issue. Mr. R.'s reply was a triumphant refutation of W.'s charges, a defence of the Democracy, as a party, of late date, the doctrines now so obnoxious to them, and of existing his position by Democratic doctrines and declarations of principles. Mr. Roberts has frequently been sent Mr. Wilson upon the stump and at the bar. The constantly smiling republicans say that Roberts eates the popular verdict in the one case, the records of our Courts will attest the result in the others.

Yours, &c., "BRUTUS."

PARSON BROWNLOW ON SOUTH CAROLINA.

The eccentric Parson Brownlow, of the Knoxville (Tenn.) Whig asks:

Did you ever see a man by the name of R. Barnwell Smith some twenty or thirty years ago, have his name changed to that of Rhett, by the Legislature, and if so what was the motive? Was he not prominent in the late Convention, in declaring South Carolina out of the Union? We ask for information, for the reason we have known more names changed in South Carolina by the act of the General Assembly than any State in the Union!

* * * * *

In the spring of 1780, Sir Henry Clinton and Vice Admirable Arbuthnot, appeared before Charleston, and demanded a surrender to his Majesty's forces. The gallant Gen. Lincoln, in command of the American forces, repulsed this arrogant demand with the scorn and contempt of a brave officer. They have hated the name of Lincoln ever since. The people of Charleston, and nearly all South Carolina, being tories, of the basest character, took the matter in their own hands, and threatened the gallant Lincoln with betraying him into the hands of the British forces, if he did not come to such terms as pleased them.

A TRIBUTE OF GRATITUDE—A BAD CASE OF SCROFULA CURED.—About seven years ago, I became afflicted with Scrofula—as my physicians called it. I had five physicians doctor me at once, attending one at different times, who all agreed in calling it Scrofula. I was in bed, unable to eat about, for the first three years of my sickness. I had diarrhœa nearly the whole of the three years, and was pronounced at one time, by two different times a day, more or less. My food did not digest, and I had wasted to a skeleton. My right ear gathered and broke, and all the humors run out of it. My left foot was ulcerated, and was operated on by one of my physicians, but it did me no good. I had as many as fifteen ulcers on one leg, and as many more over my back and body, discharging matter all the time. After my foot became sore, and the doctor cut it, the tendons became contracted and made my foot lean forward. In this state of my case, my father called on Dr. KEYSER, of 140 Wood street, who came out to see me, in Chartiers township, about five miles from Pittsburgh, on the Steubenville road; after he examined me, he told me if I did what he said, and took the medicines carefully, he could cure me. I commenced taking the medicines three years ago last 5th of July. As soon as I began taking the medicine I began to improve and continued to improve until I got entirely well. I took the medicine from Dr. Keyser for six months. I then considered myself well and have been in good health ever since. I walk about with a crutch, on account of my leg being crooked at the knee, which was contracted and crooked when I first commenced taking the medicine: at that time I could not put my foot within two inches of the ground. Now, although it is still crooked, I can put it to the ground. Dr. Keyser gave me medicine internally, for the purpose of trying to purify the blood. It is now nearly four years since I commenced taking his medicine, and my health is better than ever in my life before. I have had first-rate health for the last three and a half years, and feel it due to Dr. Keyser that I should make this public statement in order that other sufferers may be cured as I was. Numbers of my neighbors know how badly I was afflicted, and can verify my statement. JOHN GRIFFIN, JR., Chartiers tp.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 23, 1861.

I am the father of John Griffin, and do certify that the facts related in his case are true. JOHN GRIFFIN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.

A Committee of the Philadelphia Board of Trade are now in this city, remonstrating against any change in Tariff, as proposed by the Special Committee of the Senate, and resisting the view of the New York Chamber of Commerce.

A compromise will probably be made requesting the payment of duties in ninety days, and allowing merchandize for re-exportation twelve months' warehousing.

The condition of the National Treasury occasions serious concern; and Secretary Dix's letter shows that some decided measures for relief are necessary.

The committee of the Peace Conference cannot report before Saturday or Monday next. They had a first test vote, yesterday, which was not indicative of their ultimate action, although manifesting a conservative disposition.

Of those from Pennsylvania, Messrs. Pollock, White, Franklin, Loomis and McKennan favor a reasonable compromise. Messrs. Wilmot and Meredith have not indicated their course as yet.

The Montgomery government has assumed control over all the State Forts. No attack on Fort Sumter is now feared.

The Virginia Convention will be pressed hard for secession by precipitationists. A large majority will require guarantees.

XXXVIth Congress—Second Session.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 12.

HOUSE.—The proceedings were opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Stockton, the chaplain, in which he said, "God bless the outgoing administration; may it close its labors in peace without any stain of blood; and we pray for the incoming administration that they blessing may rest on the President elect in his journey—hither and—may thy good Providence be around and about him by day and by night, guarding and guiding him at every step, and we pray that he may be peacefully and happily inaugurated, and afterwards by pure, wise, and prudent counsels he may administer the government in such a manner as Thy name may be glorified, and the welfare of the people in all their relations shall be advanced, and that our example of civil and religious liberty be followed in all the world.

Mr. Sherman, of Ohio, sent up a letter addressed to him from the Secretary of the Treasury, again urging speedy measures in view of the pressing demands upon the Treasury.

Mr. Sherman accordingly reported a bill authorizing the President, in places of any part of the loan, to issue coupon bonds of a denomination not exceeding fifty dollars, and bearing not exceeding six per centum interest, and running twenty years, and to apply such bonds at par to depositors who may receive them, the entire amount not to exceed that authorized by the recent loan act. Mr. Sherman made an explanation showing the importance of the measure.

Mr. Garnett, of Va., opposed the reporting of the bill, saying that the President elect had recently made a declaration of war, and therefore he (Garnett) would throw every obstacle in the way of the tyrannical and military despotism about to be inaugurated. (Suppressed hisses.)

Mr. Sherman said that this government will pay its debts at the earliest moment. He moved a suspension of the rules.

The Speaker said that this was not now in order.

On motion of Mr. Washburne, of Ill., a message was ordered to be sent to the Senate informing that body that the House was now ready to proceed to count the votes for President and Vice President, and to appoint tellers, as usual, Senator Trumbull and Representatives Washburne, of Ill., and Phelps, took their seats at the Clerk's desk. When order was restored Vice President Breckenridge, rose and said: "We have assembled pursuant to the Constitution, in order that the electoral votes may be counted and the result declared for President and Vice President for the term commencing the 4th of March, 1861, and it is made my duty under the Constitution to open the certificates of an election for President and Vice President. I now proceed to the performance of that duty."

Vice President Breckinridge then opened the package containing the electoral vote of Maine and handed it to the tellers, when the certificate was read, and the Secretary of the Senate made a note thereof. The electoral votes of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, and New York were then successively disposed of.

Mr. Douglas suggested, and no objections was made, that the formal part of the certificates and the names of the electors be omitted from the reading.

The returns from the various States were proceeded with, the reading of the vote of South Carolina being productive of a good humored excitement. The reading of the electoral votes was completed by the tellers, who reported the result.

Whereupon the Vice President, rising, said: Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, having received a majority of the whole number of electoral votes, is duly elected President of the United States, for the four years commencing on the 4th of March, 1861. He made a similar announcement as to Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, for Vice President.

The Senators having left the hall, Mr. Winslow, of N. C. moved to adjourn.

Mr. Sickles, of New York, demanded the yeas and nays on this. He said if it is understood that the Pacific Railroad Bill is to come up to-morrow without prejudice, he had no objection to adjourn.

The question on the adjournment was again taken by yeas and nays, and decided in the negative by a majority of one.

Mr. Cattle of Iowa, moved that the special order for the Pacific Railroad Bill be continued on till to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, a member of the House was ordered to be appointed, in connection with such members as may be appointed by the Senate, to wait on the President elect and inform him of his election.

Mr. Hindman, of Ark., suggested that Gen. Scott be also informed that there is no further use for mercenaries around the capital, as the electoral vote had been counted.

The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—On returning to their chamber the Tariff bill was taken up.

Mr. Seward gave notice that he would move to strike out the portion abolishing the warehousing instead.

Mr. Simmons, of R. I., explained the amendment of the committee, and the bill was laid over.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, of Mass., the bill for the better organization of the militia in the district of Columbia was taken up.

Mr. Wilson said the bill was reported several years since, had received the approval of the Secretary of War, and had no opposition whatever with the existing state of affairs.

Mr. Mason, of Va., asked if the men to be enrolled are required to take any oath.

Mr. Wilson said they were not required to take the same oath as men going into actual service; simply an oath to support the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Mason said he never knew that men in the ranks were ever required to take an oath. He proposed to amend so that the oath be only taken by the officers.

Mr. Hale said he was opposed to striking out the provision of taking oaths. He wanted to know what objection there was to taking an oath. Why is there any unwillingness at this time against taking an oath.

On motion of Mr. Lane, of Oregon, the bill was recommended to the committee on Military affairs.

Adjourned.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 12.—The standing committees were announced. The President read a dispatch, which he had received from the Louisiana State Convention, approving of the elections of Davis and Stevens.

The design for the seal and flag of the Confederacy were referred. A resolution was offered that until otherwise provided, the several officers of the Customs shall be continued in office. Referred.

A resolution was offered and referred, requesting the committee on foreign affairs, to inquire into the propriety and necessity of sending commissioners to the Government of the United States as soon as the president is inaugurated.

The Convention then went into secret session, during which the following resolution was adopted. The injunction of secrecy was removed:

Resolved, That this Government takes under its charge the questions of the difficulties now existing between the sovereign States of this Confederacy and the Government of the United States, relating to the re-occupation of forts, arsenals, navy yards, and other public establishments, and the President of this Congress is directed to communicate this resolution to the Governors of the several States.

ALBANY, Feb. 13.—The ice in the river broke up this morning causing immense damage in the city. Steamers, barges and canal boats have been driven up on the docks and into the streets. The State street bridge is a complete wreck, and the bridges at Hamilton and Columbia streets are partially destroyed. Several stores along the docks have been demolished by canal boats. Large quantities of lumber, staves, etc., and the offices located along the river, have been carried off by the ice. A number of buildings and boats are jammed together in the basin, in an extraordinary manner. The loss will be very great, and as the water is still rising rapidly, indicating that the ice is jammed below, much additional damage is apprehended. The telegraph wires to Troy have been prostrated.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Three boxes of specie, consisting of percussion caps, ball cartridges, &c., were found on board the steamer Huntsville, and bound for Savannah, have been seized by the police.

BANGOR, Pa., Feb. 12.—There was a break in the Delaware River, last night, carrying off many of the cakes of ice which had formed in the river. The ice is now running in large cakes, and is piling up in the river above the bridge. The water is rising rapidly, and the ice is expected to go out to-day.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Secretary of the Treasury has sent another letter to Mr. Sherman, Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means. He says:

It is indispensable that I should give to-day, a notice of a loan of eight million dollars in order that the government may lay in funds to meet the indispensable payments on the first of May. The obstacles unexpectedly thrown in the way of
