Quack Nostrums.

THE NEW YORK DAY BOOK says: "The majority of Hair Washes, Hair Dyes, Hair Tonics, Hair Oils, and the numerous Hair Preparations now before the public under such alluring names, hyperbolical and fascinating titles as we are paraded in show cases, show cards, and newspaper columns, as hair preservatives, are all humbugs of the first water, their real merit, when they possess any, is very small indeed. BOGUS LAND, WHALE OIL, LARD OIL, SWART OIL, and other articles, made up, when in beautiful wrappers and white flint glass bottles, labels, cases, &c., are of course, when thus costly, are baptised with some tributable term, which is supposed by the verdant young and old of both sexes. Such is not the character of Wood's Hair Restorative, for this gentleman comes before the world without any "high falutin" Hyphistorian, or any other astounding and startling catchpenny terms, simply advising a plain instruction—what it expresses practically—and as a Restorative it is such. The Proprietor of Wood's Hair Restorative, and its pre value your cents, says, your very brains, or head, is the only thing for it may be that you will get some worse substance than Restorative, and for your protection, Wood's Restorative for the Hair is the best article extant."

It Will, by Nature's own Process, Restore Gray Hair to the Original Color, Will make Hair Grow on Bald Heads, Will restore the Natural Secretions, Will remove at once all Itching, Will remove all Dandruff, Will cure all eruptions—even Bald Head, Will make the Hair Soft and Glossy, Will make the oil appear young and healthy, Will preserve the Color of Hair to old age, Will always Prevent the Hair from falling off, And is one of the best Toilet Articles for the Hair now in use.

Pittsburgh Gazette. PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY BY S. RIDDLE & CO., FIFTH STREET, ABOVE SMITHFIELD. PITTSBURGH: FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 1.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Feb. 26.

Mr. Lincoln, accompanied by his son Robert, and his private secretary, Nicolay, took a long walk today, shortly after sunrise, that there might be a physical stratum on which to rest the mental labors of the day.

John Bell was one of the earliest callers on Mr. Lincoln this morning, and after a brief and satisfactory interview, an appointment for to-morrow was made.

Gov. Hicks, of Maryland, called and congratulated Mr. Lincoln on the fact that he was here in safety, and that his coming had been productive of no more ill feeling. While Gov. Hicks was with Mr. Lincoln, F. P. Blair, Senior, called to see him relative to the appointment of his son, Montgomery. A second call was also made, when Mr. Lincoln listened with great respect to the advice and counsels of the old Jacksonian.

Gov. Bontwell, and a delegation of New England men, have been urging the appointment of Gov. Banks to the War Department.

Subsequently two interviews were granted to Committees from other sections of the country, who presented the claims of the same gentleman.

Thurlow Weed is said to be full of fight, and counsels anything but peaceful measures.

In company with Senator Trumbull, Mr. Lincoln went to the Capitol this afternoon. While there he interchanged courtesies with many Senators.

The Committee appointed by the joint session of the Senate and House to notify Mr. Lincoln of his election, waited upon him this evening, doubtless greatly to his edification. Mr. Lincoln received them with great courtesy, and laughingly remarked that such a rumor had reached him before.

Mr. Humphrey, of Kings county, has received a memorial, signed by all the publishers, booksellers and printers of New York, requesting Mr. Lincoln to appoint Schuyler Colfax Postmaster General. Mr. Humphrey had an interview with Mr. Lincoln, this evening, and presented it, as also did Senator Wilson, who had one of a similar import from Boston.

Robert T. Schenck, of Ohio, took Mrs. Lincoln to ride early this morning, after which she received calls from 11 until 1. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln are very well, and enjoy with great ease upon the arduous duties of their position.

Thurlow Weed arrived to-night, and dined with Mr. Seward and a number of prominent New Yorkers.—N. Y. Times.

John Bell's presence here has no other object or motive but in connection with the, condition of public affairs. He came at the urgent solicitation of Union men in Tennessee and other States, to aid in effecting some reasonable form of pacification. He is against Secession in all forms, and for giving the new Administration a fair trial.

During the struggle upon this matter, which ran high—growing into personalities and great confusion—Mr. Sickles conducted himself in a most disorderly manner, evincing a total disregard for the rules of the House, and disrespect to the Speaker. The latter ordered him, several times, to take his seat, which he refused to do, and a call for the Sergeant-at-Arms was made. Mr. Sickles then subsided. During this time Mr. Bickford told Mr. Sickles that he would not be silenced or put down by language coming from such a mouth as his.

Nearly all the Standing Committees of the Senate and House met on Thursday morning, to close the business before them for the present Congress.

Already the lists are being canvassed for appointments under the new Administration, below the grade of Cabinet Minister. Among the rest, the name of Hon. Thomas C. Hawkes, present member of the House, from Ohio, is being urged for the position of Commissioner of Patents. It is demanded that his recommendation is signed by upwards of sixty M. C.'s, who exactly hits so admirably qualified for the position. There certainly is no place under the Government which requires more sterling integrity, sound judgment, and personal attention to its duties.

From a conversation with members upon all sides of the House, it seems that the proposition to admit New Mexico as a State is the only one in the report of the Committee of Thirty-three very likely to pass. Very many of the Republicans who are willing to concede much, and are pleased at compromises, say they shall vote against all amendments of the Committee of Thirty-three, except the one in relation to the admission of New Mexico as a State.

The true friends of Overland mails triumphed to-day, by passing the Post route bill just as it came from the House. This defeats entirely all the schemes of Senator Gwin. There have been some severe pitchings in this connection, making rather a startling story, quite unsuspected by the public, which want of time to write up compels me to withhold for the present.

Gov. Hicks had a long and earnest interview with Mr. Lincoln to-day, in which he urged the necessity for a measure of conciliation to retain the Border States.—N. Y. Tribune.

Mr. Van Wyck being unable to call upon Mr. Lincoln, sent the following card:

To Hon. A. Lincoln: "C. H. Van Wyck greets you. Just now the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Mr. Lincoln returned his best wishes and regards to him. Mr. Van Wyck is quite low but out of danger.

It appears that the Florida rebels found in the Navy Yard which was surrendered to them 7,000 tons of coal, intended for the use of our vessels of war. This they are actually selling for about what has been paid for its importation, and are pocketing the proceeds as coolly as if they trafficked only in old garments.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Marshals of the Inauguration Parade met to-night and contemplated their arrangements. The affair will be very simple and unostentatious. —Times.

The Treason of Gen. Twiggs.

The War Department has additional intelligence relative to the treason of Gen. Twiggs. Some time since, he was ordered to be superseded in command by Col. Waite, of the First Infantry, and it is supposed that Twiggs hurried up his surrender to anticipate the orders taking his command from him.

The statement that he had resigned is erroneous.

On the 6th inst., Twiggs appointed a Commission, consisting of Quartermaster Vinton, Paymaster Heiskell and Capt. Whitney, of the Ordnance Department, to meet Commissioners on behalf of the Texas Secessionists, "to transact such business as relates to the disposition of the public property, upon the demands of the State of Texas." This step has been followed by orders from Twiggs to officers commanding all the military posts in the State, to surrender all the military property, amounting to millions of dollars in value. It is even stated as one of the pretensions, that the disarmed troops may be "permitted to be carried to the coast in Government wagons"—the latter to be subsequently secured for to the Revolutionists."

The whole force in Texas numbers two thousand nine hundred enlisted men, and two hundred and six commissioned officers, embracing all the Third and Eighth Infantry, all the Second Cavalry, five companies of the First Artillery, and five of the First Infantry. Of course it is not known here yet whether the subordinate officers have or have not resisted Twiggs' illegal order. They could not have objected it; are at widely scattered points, and probably had no concerted plan of resistance arranged.

It will be hard to mind that this surrender was not made to an overwhelming force, but it is the most gracious treachery. It is well understood that the purpose is to enable the Secessionists to force their disunion programme through, even though a majority of the people of Texas repudiate it, as they probably will do. It seems very likely that Gov. Houston will soon be compelled to call on the General Government to aid the majority in resisting the efforts of the minority to overpower and conquer them. The case is surrounded with extraordinary embarrassments, because the Governor cannot call for Federal aid while the Legislature is in session, and the Texas Legislature, which will be in session on the 2d of March, assembles expressly for the purpose of pushing on the secession programme, regardless of every form of decency, if need be.

The Twiggs movement has greatly damaged secession among the border slave states.

It is understood that the Administration proposes to institute proceedings at once in the case of Twiggs. Of course he cannot be hung without first getting hold of him; but his name can be stricken from the rolls, thus dishonoring him in a military capacity. It certainly ought to be done.—Mr. Holt, the Secretary of War, and Gen. Scott, are said to favor immediate action.

Since the news was received of the surrender of the Texas forces by Gen. Twiggs, many members say openly that they shall vote against all the present propositions of the Peace Congress, if submitted to Congress.—Times.

THE SECRET OF WEALTH.—The late John Jacob Astor had a brother not so well known as himself, but who possessed in an eminent degree the peculiar characteristic of the family—the art of making money. It is told of him by an old New Yorker, that intending to operate upon the feelings of an acquaintance of whom he was about to make some purchase, that he gave to the son of the latter, who was playing about the store entrance, a bright penny. The trade concluded, he said to the little fellow, "Johnny, you're played out: this penny long enough; give it back to me." This is said to be a positive fact.

Since the Assumption of Sovereignty by the seceded States, their State stocks are regarded with best little favor in the market, and in the States themselves, the report of sales are no longer published. The stocks of these States which borrow money for internal improvements stand lighter than those which entered into banking speculations. The State debt of Louisiana amounts to $12,000,000; Alabama, $6,000,000; South Carolina, $6,000,000; Georgia, $2,000,000; Mississippi, $7,400,000, and Florida, $3,450,000. The two latter have repudiated both principal and interest.

The Soul of Honor.

In the Louisiana Convention, an ordinance was introduced with the following preamble:

"Whereas, The State of Louisiana owes to her own citizens, and to those of other States, that, as one of the contracting parties, she would not prevent or interrupt the performance of the pending contracts for carrying and delivering the mails made by the United States while Louisiana was one of the said States."

That is to say, they would be so very honorable as to regard contracts made while Louisiana was one of the United States for carrying and delivering the mails in that State, notwithstanding it costs the United States $350,000 per annum more than is received from her post offices.

The New Orleans Picayune is very indignant at the proposition to cut off the postal service in that State. It says, "it is an indication of a purpose to hold no terms of courtesy with the South." At the same time that they are making such complaint of a want of courtesy, we have an official statement which was laid before the Louisiana Convention, that the State had realised $784,330, by seizure of public property at New Orleans.

The forts, arsenals, hospitals and custom houses are not included in the above estimate. They would increase the sum to millions. Strange ideas of courtesy they must have. They think it very hard, that while they are claiming to be independent of our government, while they are plundering our property, while they are refusing to our citizens the immunities to which we are entitled in every State, while they make it impossible for our government to protect the mails which they ask it to carry, and while their post offices furnish to the Treasury $350,000 a year less than the postal service in the State costs—in these circumstances, they think it hard that Congress intends to cut off the service, and tells about a lack of courtesy.

We confess that they are not such ideas as we have been accustomed to cherish and recognize as the perfection of honor and courtesy.

The Chinese in California.

The constant and numerous emigration of Chinese into California, and the fact that they work at very low wages and are constantly working their way into the mechanical branches to the great injury of white artizans, has induced an influential Central Committee of white workmen of that state to publish an address to their fellow-workmen, suggesting such measures as will effectually remedy the existing and growing evils. In regard to the Chinese they say:

"It is known that each year adds thousands to the barbarous and worthless people who come from the Chinese empire to conflict with, underwork and degrade white labor. Every ship from Asiatic ports lands with these swarming serviles, overrunning the mines, underworking the industrial of our own race and degrading the occupations of thousands of our citizens by interposing the competition of serfs and slaves. They are incapable of becoming equal citizens, averse to the customs and principles of civilization, distinct in color, custom and religion, and the offcast and worthless of their own nation; they can never become other than a pest to the State and a disgrace to whatever occupation they invade in competition with white men. They are, and must, in the nature of things, continue a separate people, inferior in custom, color and instinct, and without capacity to render service to society corresponding with the cost of their maintenance. They bring nothing to the country but barbarism and competition with white workmen, and, having, to the extent and capacity of their numbers, impoverished the State—remove everything, even to the remains of their dead. They are wholly destitute of the civilization and capacity which are the undercood conditions upon which immigrants from enlightened nations are welcome to the territory of the United States; and unless the State of California, be especially appreciationed as a refuge for the wild tribes of Asia, we can observe no reason why our own government should not interpose effectual restraint to an immigration which brings with it nothing but barbarism, and impoverishment of our own people.

Southern Navy.

A correspondent of the Baltimore American, writing from Montgomery, Ala., says, on the question of a Navy for Cottondom:

At all events, it is plainly apparent that a strong naval squadron is a pressing necessity. The Confederation stands in need of adequate protection of a long, very long, line of sea coast. In case of war with the General Government at Washington, our entire coast is exposed. Manufacturing parties, privateers guided by shippers acquainted with the coast (knowledge acquired in the coasting trade), could easily run into the many harbors, bays and inlets, and do an immense deal of mischief. Therefore, the formation of a navy, and the purchase and building of ships, will be the first, or one of the first measures to engage the attention of the new Government.

Within a day and a half's journey from this Capital we have at command all of Uncle Sam's old Navy Yard, where workmen will soon be engaged in constructing ships of war for the defence of the Confederation. I am told the workshops of Pensacola Navy Yard are very extensive. The mechanics are all living there yet, and will soon be employed on the work. At hand they have plenty of material to build a hundred vessels, or more if they could do so. Kind, provident Uncle Samuel has a fine, white oak plantation, several miles
