PITTSBURGH:

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 23, 1861.

"The Combat Deepens."

The uprising of a mighty nation at the call of its Chief, as exhibited all through last week, was such as has no example in history. It is impossible to arrive at even a proximate estimate of the number who, "laying all business and excuses whatsoever," promptly enrolled themselves as soldiers in their country's defence. All ranks of society, all ages, sexes, parties, and conditions are animated by one spirit, and patriotism has become a furor rather than a sentiment. The result is, that we this day have an army of not less than two hundred and fifty thousand men, which may be doubled in less than a fortnight.

Two things have transpired since this mighty movement commenced which have fearfully intensified the feeling of the North against the South. One is the attack upon the troops in Baltimore, who were proceeding peaceably on their way to the defence of the National Capital. That the first blood should be shed in Baltimore, in Maryland, a State that professes to be a Union State, and that has made no movement towards secession, has kindled a feeling of indignation which the South will have cause sorely to rue. Three noble fellows from Massachusetts fell beneath the shots or blows of the Baltimore mob; but as sure as ever effect followed cause, ten thousand men will rush forward to avenge the death of each. If Maryland cannot manage her own traitors and rowdies, others will do it for her, and they will teach her that sympathy with traitors is treason.

The other piece of madness which has given intensity to the indignation of the people of the loyal States is the proclamation of the President of the Confederate States, announcing the issue of Letters of Marque, under which piracy is to be legalized so far as a bogus government can legalize any thing. By this barbarous edict that arch outlaw wishes to engage as many cutthroats as may venture to enter his service, to prey upon the commerce of the high seas, especially the Gulf of Mexico. This infamous movement on the part of the Southern rulers has, however, been thoroughly checkmated by the President, who has, by proclamation and by substantial force, blockaded every port in the seceded States. But, baffled and defeated as that nest of traitors, robbers and pirates have been, the mere attempt to do a thing so atrociously barbarous may bring down upon those doomed States a reprisal at which the heart sickens. See what the New York Times, a paper noted for the temperance and even the conservatism of its tone heretofore, says about it:

"We have already alluded to the bearing of this document upon the general principles on which the pending contest is to be waged. President Lincoln has already proclaimed to the South his purpose not in any way to interfere with the rights of property. Jefferson Davis responds by letting loose every pirate he can hire, to attack and plunder the private property of citizens of the United States. He may rely upon it he will not be permitted to play this one-sided game for any length of time. The great mass of the people of the Union are conservative on the subject of Slavery. They have not the slightest desire to meddle with it in any way—nor would they tolerate, under ordinary circumstances, any interference with it from any quarter. It would be perfectly easy to-day, hostile and intolerable as has been the conduct of the Southern States, to raise a force in the North to put down a slave insurrection in any one of the Southern States except South Carolina. But this temper will not endure the tests to which Mr. Davis and his fellow-conspirators are inclined to put it. The first seizure of an American vessel by one of his privateers will let loose upon the South one of his privateers will let loose upon the South more than he can hire pirates in a year. And if he doubts the effect of such an invasion upon the people of the Southern States, Gov. Wise can enlighten his mind upon that subject.

"Jefferson Davis might as well have thrown a lighted match into a powder magazine, as menace the commerce of the North with privateers. The effect of his proclamation upon our community has been only to deepen and make tenfold more intense the hatred and indignation of the public. Our people begin to realize the real character of the foe with whom they have to deal. All the illusions they have hitherto cherished about fraternity and kindly feeling towards their sister States have been rudely dispelled. Those whom they looked upon as brothers prove to be pirates. The men whom we have associated with ourselves, as sharing with us the glories and blessings of our common country, turn out to be the assassins of the Republic. They cannot even make war in the spirit of a civilized nation, but go back to the habits and practices of the barbarism of a hundred years ago.

"There is but one way of dealing with such people. We are to measure our strength with theirs,—and may God defend the right!"

These are awful words to come from one of the leading and controlling journals of the country, and they are so because they are true. It may be that those people have been given over to sheer madness and to irremediable destruction. Still we trust, for the sake of our common humanity, that no encouragement will be given to servile insurrection, which, if once started, might become uncontrollable, and involve all ages, sexes and conditions in one common destruction. It has pleased the South, for a long series of years, to keep their servile population down as near to the level of the brute creation as they could; but the terrible truth still remains, that a MAN who is a mere animal in peace, is a savage, a demon, in war; and it may be that Providence is about to exact terrible vengeance for this great wrong. It has often happened, in the sad history of the world, that nations have suffered en masse for the crimes of their rulers; but let us not forget that the Judge of all has sternly appropriated to himself the exercise of vengeance: and although Jeff. Davis has done all he can to let loose the pirate upon our people, that does not justify on our part the letting loose the uncontrolled slave upon his people. To use the slaves of the South in this war as soldiers, under strict discipline, would be entirely just and able; but to put knives and fire-brands into their hands, and send them forth to commit whatever crimes their savage natures might suggest, is not for a moment to be thought of; and if, in this terrible conflict, it shall become necessary for our troops to invade regions where slaves are numerous, we trust that the women and children of those places will find as faithful guardians in them as in their own men. We have no quarrel with the innocent, the helpless, or the unarmed.

ARMSTRONG COUNTY.

The patriotic fires are burning as brightly in Armstrong county as they are in any locality of which we have any knowledge. On Tuesday evening last there was an enthusiastic meeting of all parties held at the Court House in Kittanning. On Saturday two companies, the Brady Alpines and Kittanning Yagers, left for Harrisburg, numbering about one hundred and fifty men, and both under the command of Capt. Wm. Sirwell, until they get to Harrisburg, when each will choose officers. The ladies of Kittanning presented each member of these companies with a handsome Bible, after a feeling address by the Rev. Mr. Hilton. That done, they presented Capt. Sirwell, through J. K. Calhoun, Esq., with a splendid silk flag. Judge Buffington responded on behalf of the captain and his company. The addresses of both gentlemen were admirable. Conspicuous and active in these interesting ceremonies was the venerable General Roszur Oas, who was an officer in the war of 1812, and who is as enthusiastic in the cause of his country and its flag as is our own venerable WILLIAM WILKINS. A large concourse of people accompanied the men to the Railroad depot, where a fervent prayer by the Rev. Dr. Donaldson, of Elder's Ridge, and a warm-hearted leave-taking, closed the scene.

The people of Kittanning promptly made up a fund of $2000 for the families of the men who so generously volunteered to fight for their country, and a large amount of clothing was presented to them.

The Leechburg Guards and Apollo Blues are both filled up and ready to march. A company is forming at Worthington; and how many others we have not learned. Alexander Reynolds, Esq., of Kittanning, has made a formal offer to the Governor-want of fifty tons of cannon balls, to be delivered in Pittsburgh. All he asks for them is that the War Department shall send the moulds.

DEATH TO THE PIRATES.

Orders have been received from the Navy Department at Washington, by the officers of the various United States vessels, that all persons found sailing under Jefferson Davis' letters of marque and reprisal be treated as pirates.

That the contumacious be immediately hung from the yard arm, and the crew and more penitent officers be placed in irons to await their trial as ocean brigands.

This summary method of dealing with the robbers will probably be seconded by the European powers, who have just as much cause to fear a fleet of freebooters infesting the seas and molesting peaceful commerce as have the Northern States.

We had the pleasure of a call from the Hon. John Covode yesterday, from whom we were sorry to learn that Baltimore on Friday evening witnessed the hurriedest ing spectacle of Secession ascendancy and terrorism, exhibited in the submission of Gov. Hicks. What a sight it was to see the Governor of Maryland, who has been so self important a man at home and abroad for months past, as a champion for the Union, addressing a crowd with a Secession Flag flying over him!

We have learned that Thomas A. Scott, Esq., the able and energetic Vice President of the Pennsylvania R. R., has been called by the Governor to take charge of the Telegraph lines of the State, and is now in Harrisburg engaged in this important and responsible department of the public service.

Important Notice from the U. S District Attorney and Marshal.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK,
OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT ATTORNEY, AND OF THE U. S. MARSHAL.

The undersigned solicit information as to any attempt to transmit, by sea or land, to any Southern port or place, arms or munitions of war; or any facts tending to implicate any person or persons in recruiting for, or in any manner aiding the rebellion against the United States Government; or in relation to the fitting out of privateers, or other unlawful enterprise. Communications will be treated, when desired, with the strictest confidence. Those who furnish reliable information will receive immunity and protection.

E. DENAFIELD SMITH,
United States District Attorney.
ROBERT MURRAY,
United States Marshal.

New York, April 20, 1861.

A Significant Fact—Large Number of Steamers Under Charter.

A Commissioner of the Federal Government is now in New York, making arrangements for the transportation by water of all the New York troops needed at Washington and intermediate stations.

Fourteen coasting steamers have already been conditionally chartered to sail when required.

Departure of the Seventh.

John Hogg, of Adams' Express, last evening received a dispatch from Philadelphia that the Seventh Regiment left there at 4 P. M., precisely, for Annapolis, per steamer Boston. This is the latest.

A private despatch from Baltimore states, in reference to the position of the Union men, "Our confidence is that the Government will occupy the city with an overpowering force."

The Secessionists in Maryland followed up their outrage in Baltimore by destroying or rendering useless all the railroad bridges between Havre de Grace and Baltimore, so that no more Northern troops could be sent through that city to Washington. The Seventh Regiment of New York, and Fourth Regiment of Massachusetts were consequently detained in Philadelphia, until Saturday afternoon, when they left by rail for Havre de Grace, at which point they took a steamer for Annapolis. As that city is only about one day's march from Washington, they will have no difficulty in reaching the latter point, even should the railroad be obstructed

The Baltimore Road in Possession of the Government.

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, April 20.

The government has taken possession of the Baltimore road. No trains are leaving here for Wilmington.

Dispatch from Philadelphia.

The excitement and enthusiasm here is intense. A telegraph has been received stating that Secretary Cameron threatens to bombard Baltimore, unless the bridges in Maryland are restored.

It is rumored that Washington is to be attacked to-morrow.

Philadelphia is full of regiments, but they have been furnished neither clothes nor arms. Red tape rules.

The wires between Philadelphia and Baltimore are down, as well as the bridges, and all communication is cut off. Maryland has learnt the first letter in the alphabet of secession, and by the assistance of Jefferson Davis and the devil, will soon be able to spell out "Destruction."

C. H. W.

Position of Affairs in Delaware.

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, April 20.—The Union men in Delaware are in a bad fix. Though the population is largely for the Union, all State arms are in the possession of the Secessionists, transferred by the Governor, who has not responded to the requisition of the President, and will not. The Union men hope that the General Government will take possession of the upper part of the State, in order to secure the powder mills at Brandywine, at which the secessionists evidently aim.

No More Arms for the South.

The Hartford Courier publishes the following paragraph:

"We announced the other morning that the Sharp's Rifle Company had refused to sell their weapons to go, either directly or indirectly, to the South. We have now the pleasure of stating that Col. Colt has notified the proper authorities that his revolving arms are for sale, first, to the State of Connecticut; next, in preference, the Government of the United States, and none at all to the South. Further than this, Col. Hazard announces that he makes no more powder to go to the South, until hostilities have ceased. Good for them all!"

THE BEGINNING OF HORRORS.—The telegraph this morning announces that the negroes of Kent county, Maryland, have already commenced the work of insurrection in the State "by burning the houses of the whites;" while the local journals, both in North and South Carolina, and elsewhere, have lately given accounts of innumerable instances of dangerous insubordination, manifested both in this and other even more ominous ways. To expect that the heat of the conflagration that now enwraps the South would not pierce even through the thick skull of the blacks, is of a peace with the inconceivable delusions that possess those madmen. It may be that these are but the fiery initials of a chapter of horrors from whose contemplation the mind shrinks aghast.

Jeff. Davis's Privateers.

The proclamation of the rebel chief, which we published yesterday morning offering to commission privateers to be let loose against our commerce, naturally arouses the indignation of all classes of our population. There may be men base enough to accept his letters of marque, and probably a portion of the little shipping owned in southern ports has already been making preparations in anticipation of a call for this nefarious service. But such privateers are simply pirates, and they will stand an excellent chance of getting their deserts in the pirate's doom. They cannot take any prize they may capture into any ports except those of the Confederate States. It must be adjudicated upon by the admiralty courts of the so-called Confederate States. It happens that we have a navy sufficient to blockade their ports and prevent both ingress and egress. If a United States merchant vessel is seized and attempted to be carried into Charleston or New Orleans, two or three men of war at the mouth of the Mississippi, or the entrance of Charleston harbor, would prevent their entrance, and very likely insure their capture If captured every pirate of them would be quite certain to get his neck stretched.

If the rebel privateers capture any of our ships, it will be within the coming week or two, by cruisers that get out of port before the commander of our vessels can reach the stations to which they will doubtless be ordered. The steamer which is now most exposed, and would be the most tempting object of attack, is the Champion, of the California line, having on board $860,000 in gold. The Sonora, the steamer on the Pacific side, whose mails and passengers the Champion takes at Aspinwall, sailed from San Francisco on the 1st, and the Champion would reach this port, if not interrupted, about next Tuesday. For the greater part, therefore, of the ensuing five days, she will be exposed to piratical attacks, and a United States ship of war should be immediately sent to meet and convoy her. Of other steamers exposed, the principal are the Daniel Webster, which left this port on the 16th for Havana and New Orleans; the Quaker City, which left Havana on the 15th, and the Star of the West, which left Havana on the 16th. We trust that the Government will take measures to protect these vessels. We have named escape, we hope that arrangements will have been completed for maintaining a strict and rigorous blockade of the southern ports, and preventing the sallying out or the return of privateers. If they can't get back, they are in a worse case than if they couldn't get out.—[N. Y. World.

Patent Arms.

It is well understood that Colt and others, holding patents from the United States, have for a long time past been supplying the South with arms of the most effective kind. As those men are protected in their manufacture of arms by letters patent granted by the United States, it is the duty of Congress at once to REVOKE THEIR PATENTS, and make the manufacture of patent arms free to all. Among the first acts of the next Congress should be the revocation of the patents of all who have supplied rebels with arms. There are men in Hartford and New Haven who would learn a useful lesson by such discipline as that. Let us have a free right for all to make the best arms!—[N. Y. Tribune.

New York all Right.

Those who have supposed that New York City would show a divided front for the Union may have their doubts removed by learning that the Common Council yesterday unanimously passed patriotic resolutions, and voted that their Clerk, who has volunteered, and any other of their officials who might do the same, should have their salaries continued to them while absent. After adjournment, the members joined in singing the "Star-Spangled Banner," and gave nine cheers for the Union, nine for Anderson, and nine for Fort Sumter.—[N. Y. Trib.

THE Custom-House at New York refuses to grant clearances for ports in the Seceded States. That's right. All facilities for getting supplies from the North should be promptly cut off from the rebels.

JOHN C. FRECKINRIDGE is trying to drag Kentucky out of the Union. If she could be dragged out by the cold-blooded demagogue, she is not fit to be in.

CAIRO will probably be made the base of operations on the Mississippi river.

CANDLES SOLD BY ACTUAL WEIGHT.

☞ It is well known that many Star Candles that are really seven to the pound, are branded and sold as "sixes." There is a fraud and loss and abuse in this practice to both retailers and consumers, even if the Candles are bought at a reduction of two cents per lb. from the price of the regular article. Thus:

A box of "Five" SHORT WEIGHT CANDLES 1840 Candles, and is sold for 40 lbs. at say 18 cents.....$7 20

A box of Seven candles containing the same number of Candles, same size is said for 34 lbs. ACTUAL WEIGHT at 16 cents.....5 44

Difference in favor of buying by weight.....$1 76

And this difference becomes greater as the price advances. It is obvious that the retailer can get no more for his 40 Candles in one case than in the other, consequently on every hundred boxes of "short weight" he sells, he loses FORTY DOLLARS.

STATE INSPECTOR OF DOMESTIC DISTILLED SPIRITS,
FOR THE COUNTY OF ALLEGHENY:
JOHN SMITLEY.

Office, No. 12, corner Diamond Alley and Diamond.

☞ Orders left with Joseph Rees, 12 Diamond street, will be promptly attended to.

The attention of the trade is respectfully called to the following sections of the law, in regard to Inspections. From Purdon's Digest.

Section 12, page 254.—If any person shall export or sale for exportation, from the Port of Philadelphia, any distilled or fermented liquors, liable to inspection as aforesaid, before the same shall have been inspected and marked according to law, such person shall forfeit and pay ten dollars for every barrel, and twenty dollars for every double barrel and hogshead or other cask or vessel containing such liquor so exported or taken, to be recovered by the inspector aforesaid, for the city and county of Philadelphia, for the use of the Poor of said city and county.

Section 14, page 255.—All liquors sold by inspection at the Port of Philadelphia, shall be inspected and gauged by the inspectors of domestic distilled spirits, appointed as aforesaid.

Section 23, page 255.—Any person who shall hereafter act as inspector or deputy inspector of domestic distilled spirits, in the city or county of Philadelphia, not being legally authorized for that purpose, shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay the sum of twenty dollars, one half for the use of the Commonwealth and the other half for the use of any person suing for the same, and shall, likewise, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by fine or imprisonment at the discretion of the court having jurisdiction of the offence.

Section 56, page 246.—Every person who shall counterfeit, forge or fraudulently impress on any article liable to inspection, or upon any cask or vessel containing such articles, the brand mark or other mark of any inspector, or shall fraudulently deface or erase any such mark, or shall fraudulently impress the brand mark or other mark of any inspector, upon any such article or vessel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars.

A further Supplement, relative to the inspection of liquors approved the 31st day of April, 1855.

That all domestic distilled spirits for sale at the port of Philadelphia, whether for exportation or otherwise, shall be inspected by the duly appointed inspectors of domestic distilled spirits, or their deputies, in the manner now provided by law; and it shall not be lawful to sell or expose for sale any such liquors not so inspected, under the penalties set forth in the 18th section of the Act of the 10th of April, 1854.

An Act authorizing the Governor to appoint an Inspector of Domestic Distilled Liquors for the county of Allegheny:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Governor is hereby authorized to appoint an Inspector of Domestic Distilled Liquors for the county of Allegheny, whose duties and compensation shall be the same as the duties of the Inspector of domestic distilled liquors for the city and county of Philadelphia.

The undersigned Inspector, being obligated by heavy bonds, and bound under severe penalties for the faithful performance of his duties, intends most respectfully but firmly to enforce the above sections and all other laws appertaining to the inspection of domestic liquors.

JOHN SMITLEY.

TESTIMONY!

From the Rev. Father Stanislaus Parsyngkay:—I have been troubled with heart disease for a length of time, and am consulting Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER. He operated on my ear successfully as to restore my hearing entirely. I feel so much relieved in my general health, that I do not hesitate to say that I consider him a skilful, scientific physician, as well as an acknowledgment of the Doctor's great learning
