PITTSBURGH:

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 26, 1861.

A GLANCE ALL ROUND.

Nobly has Allegheny county responded to the call of the government in this terrible crisis. Not far from two thousand of her brave young citizens, from all parties and all the walks of life, have already gone forth to fight our battles, and more are preparing to go. Two thousand more, perhaps three, are organising as a home guard, and as a reserve in case of emergency. As it has been in this county, and in these cities, so it is throughout this State, and throughout all the States. It is the most wonderful revolution in the history of the world. In less than two weeks the most peaceable country in the world—we are speaking of the free States—has been changed into one vast military camp. Yet there is no rage; very little passion; not a semblance of fear; nothing, in short, but a calm and stern determination to uphold the best government the world ever saw, and to crush the giant treason that is arrayed against it.

Having done their part, the people who remain at home are quietly returning to their usual avocations; and we whose part it is to talk with them through the press, may pause, climb a little higher into our watch-tower, and take a glance at the whole field.

We look Southward, and see a people not very numerous, not wealthy, but intensely earnest and fierce, advancing upon us, resolved to destroy the Government from which they have torn themselves, or perish in the attempt. Their madness, the utter groundlessness of their rage, their barbarous violence, their mad devotion to the only god of their idolatry—Slavery—their frantic wrath, like that of the Babylonian tyrant on the plain of Dura, because we will not unite in the worship of their great idol, is calculated to excite astonishment rather than apprehension. Yet they are dangerous madmen, and it will require a strong hand to deal with them.

Further North, where we imagined, until lately, that the disease had not made fatal progress among the people, we see it spreading with fearful rapidity.

In Eastern Virginia all the people who dare speak or act are now our bitter enemies; and with extreme reluctance we are constrained to put those of Maryland into the same category. We still hope that patriotism has the mastery over slavery in Western Virginia, and we are not yet inclined to give up Kentucky and Missouri. Arkansas is gone, and Tennessee, from its locality, can hardly escape being carried into the vortex of Secession.

The great issue is joined. We of the North did not make it; we tried to avoid it; but it is joined, and we must accept it. Either Slavery, or the Union must go down. The men of the South have taken their choice, and we must take ours. We proposed to let them alone—to forbid Congress, by a constitutional amendment, to meddle with slavery where it existed. But that would not satisfy them. Nothing short of making slavery the paramount interest in the nation, and the master principle in the government, would satisfy even the most moderate of them. South Carolina and the six other seceded States would listen to no terms. They demanded war or unconditional submission; and now they have war; and thus this distracting question, which has kept the country in a turmoil since 1832, is reduced to a very simple form—we must conquer them, or they will conquer us. Either Liberty or Slavery must be driven to the wall.

When we withdraw the gaze from the seething South, and fix it upon the mighty North, we see twenty millions of free people animated as it were by one soul—calm, resolute and determined. A month ago they were all engaged in the quiet pursuits of peace. Martial music was a strange sound, a soldier a rare sight; but now it were hardly extravagant to say that they are all soldiers. The transition is what the wildest imagination could not have anticipated—what no created influence could have brought about, and in view of it we can only exclaim, "What hath God wrought!" It is grand, sublime, awful; yet it is cheering and hopeful; and the feeling of all thinking people in view of it is, that it is the harbinger of a better peace, a brighter future, and a more rapid and glorious advancement of our beloved country. "Our beloved country!" Oh! that need to be a mere phrase, a pretty form of speech; but now it is a deep-felt sentiment, overmastering parental, conjugal and fraternal affection, the love of money, and indeed of everything save the love of God.

A Voice from Missouri.

We have just been shown a letter from a prominent citizen in the western part of Missouri, to a relative in this State, dated the 18th of April, from which we are permitted to make an extract, that indicates the strong undercurrent in that State, which will ultimately triumph, although for awhile it may be suppressed by the secession mob. We have no doubt the feeling evidenced by this letter pervades all the border slave States. The reports of unanimity for secession are from rabid secessionists. The Union men are menaced with personal injury and compelled to be silent. But when they find that the Federal Government is rousing itself for the emergency, and will protect them, they will take a bold stand for the Union.

"The war news is perfectly exciting our citizens. Hitherto the secessionists have been in the minority, but now they are taking everything by storm. They have intimidated all Union men by threatening them with every indignity, and laying their plan to make every one commit himself. * * I feel myself in a very dangerous condition, but I intend to stand as long as I can. I had no intention, when I came here, of being a slavery propagandist. I expected Missouri soon to be a free State, and this is the expectation of over one hundred thousand voters of this State. This result I believe will now be brought about by a civil war. We have the elements of a social and political volcano in our very midst, and I know not how soon it may burst forth in terrible fury.

"If Missouri should secede (which I have no doubt she will do) you may imagine the predicament we will be in, surrounded on three sides by free states, and Kansas just at our door ready to pounce upon us with all the fury of an enraged lion, thirsting for our blood, that she may be avenged for the wrongs she long suffered as a territory. * * There are hundreds of families that will leave, and thousands who will leave or fight for the Union. There are a number of us who are now in secret conclave every night in my office; but we shall have to quit it. We don't know who may soon be ordered to leave the state. From what I have seen of the secessionists, I have been made to hate slavery with as utter hatred, and privately many of this community feel the same."

Mr. Seward's Letter to Gov. Hicks.

Gov. Hicks addressed a dictatorial letter to the President about the passage of troops through Maryland. Mr. Seward's reply will be found in another column, and a very extraordinary epistle it is. Very pretty, very diplomatic, and redolent of rose water and red tape where the smell of gunpowder would have been in better taste. Mr. Seward ought to be at the Court of St. James, and a man fit for stormy times in the place he occupies.

No Marching Around Baltimore.

We have received the following letter from one of the popular leaders of the Democratic party in this city:

"You are right. Keep it before the people: No marching around Baltimore. For the present let our battle cry be, 'Through Baltimore at every hazard!' I pray you to say to the Government that the people demand the right of way to the Capital, and will have it.

"I am ready. If there be an occasion for it, to be one of an army over whose dead bodies our living soldiers may march in triumph to Washington. I mean what I say. I hate lord thirty-seven years, and I care not to survive my country." THROUGH BALTIMORE AT ALL HAZARDS."

This is the sentiment of the people. There should be no marching around Baltimore. There should be no stopping of the mails and no cutting of the telegraph wires by the ruffians, murderers, and traitors of that misguided city.—N. Y. Tribune.

LATEST BY MAIL.

The Baltimore American of Wednesday states that the entire railroad from Annapolis to Washington is in the possession of the government, and guarded, and that 800 men can be transported at every trip. Troops are pouring into the capital rapidly. A collision with the Maryland guerrilla troops was expected.

Several hundred barrels of pork and other provisions were seized at Baltimore on Tuesday by the police, supposed to belong to the government. The greater part were sent by the Baltimore authorities to Charleston and Savannah.

There is a rumor about that Lieutenant Sleeman, when he forbade the erection of any more batteries opposite Fort Pickens, backed the order by a fire from his batteries which killed three hundred confederate troops. The news is said to have been conveyed in a private dispatch to Memphis.

The people of Baltimore have a memorial out for a signature praying the Legislature to send Commissioners to Washington and Montgomery, "to seek to procure a peaceful adjustment of the present difficulties." A copy is on the counter of the office of the American. Had they kept their hands free from treason, their deputation might have been entitled to "distinguished consideration" at Washington.

How to End the War.

South Carolina has shown a great deal of pluck in her efforts to prepare for war. She has sent to Europe, according to report, and bought rifled cannon. The North are at least her equal in will and courage. We have one thousand fold her money and means to buy in Europe the best munitions of war. The notion that brings into the field the most destructive artillery and rifles will win the day. Witness the campaign of Louis Napoleon in Italy.

The Minie rifles of the French saved the English army at Inkermann.

Now, it is absolutely in the power of the North to overwhelm and crush the South in the field at once and forever. Let the Great Northern States send agents and ships to Europe, to buy at any cost 500 rifled cannon, and 200,000 Minie rifles, and the hour of bitter discomfiture of the South in battle, is at hand, and thousands of our brave sons are saved from death.

This may be reduced almost to a matter of infallible calculation.

But it should be accompanied by another act, which commends itself to the merchants of New York and Boston as a matter of preservation and common sense, as well as the most enlightened patriotism.

We cannot wait to build a Navy, in order to make the President's blockade complete and effectual. Yet it must be perfect, or we lose millions afloat upon the seas, as well as enable the Rebels to protract this wicked and cruel war.

Let the merchants of New York and Boston then, vie with each other in buying in Europe a fleet of strong and swift small war steamers, and hermetically seal the Southern coast.

The certain result of these two measures will be to drive the Rebels from the battle field, and starve and reduce them speedily to reason. It will save thousands of Northern lives; millions of Northern money, and effect a speedy peace.—[N. Y. Times.

Concentration of Troops at Cairo, Illinois.

We learn, says the Cincinnati "Commercial," that a gentleman just arrived from near Cairo, Illinois, passed at seven o'clock P. M., Monday evening, sixty miles north of Cairo, a monster train, containing the Chicago Light Guard, eight hundred strong, and the Chicago Light Artillery with thirteen brass field pieces and one hundred and fifty Artillerymen.

They had several tons of provisions aboard, and would reach Cairo Monday evening to rendezvous.

They reported that Monday night and Tuesday, more would follow, and that by Tuesday evening there would be in Cairo a well appointed army of from one to three thousand men.

It is understood that they will stop all steamboats, and none carrying provisions or munitions of war, will be permitted to go below.

No notice of their progress was allowed to precede them. The regular trains were kept back, and no news as to the cause of the movement could be ascertained.

The Central Railroad had an artillery guard at Big Muddy Bridge at Carbondale.

All the railroads in Illinois offer to carry troops and war material free.

The Indians troops are said to be under orders to move, and no doubt is entertained but they are going to Cairo, where it is understood an army of at least fifteen thousand men is to be immediately concentrated.

The Old Bay State Forever.

Massachusetts, the Old Bay State, has given to the war now waged against the Union the first blood and the first martyrs. How the prophetic and eloquent words of her immortal Webster uttered in reply to Hayne, January 20th, 1830, now speaks to all her sons!

"There she is. Behold her and judge for yourselves. There is her history; the world knows it by heart. The past at least is secure. There is Boston, and Concord, and Lexington, and Bunker Hill; and there they will remain forever. The bones of her sons, falling in the great struggle for Independence now lie mingled with the soil of every State from New England to Georgia; and there they will lie forever. And, sir, where American Liberty raised its first voice, and where its youth was nurtured and sustained, there it still lives in the strength of its manhood, and full of its original spirit.

"If discord and DISUNION shall wound it—if party strife and blind ambition shall hawk at and tear it—if folly and madness, if unfaithfulness and unnecessary restraint shall succeed in separating it from the Union by which alone its existence is made sure—it will stand in the end by the side of that cradle in which its infancy was rocked; it will stretch out its arm with whatever of vigor it may still retain over the friends who gather round it; and it will fall at last, if fall it must, amidst the proudest monument of its own glory, and on the very spot of its origin."

Military Despotism in Savannah.

Among the passengers of the Florida which arrived at this port yesterday, were four young men who secreted themselves on the vessel, and in this way escaped. One of them states that every northern man capable of bearing arms is pressed into the rebel army, under penalty of $100 fine and imprisonment in the common jail.

Just before leaving he received notice to appear for duty, and in order to escape on the Florida was compelled to abandon all his property. There is a complete military despotism in that city.

He also reports that a privateer vessel was fitting out in the port of Savannah.

Many northern citizens were desirous of escaping, but were unable to do so for the lack of means, and many had been compelled to take service in the army or starve. Rumors were current that Fort Pickens was to be attacked immediately, and the people had, apparently, no doubt of the ability of the Southern Confederacy to whip the United States in the approaching war.

The news of the great popular uprising in the North had not been received when the Florida left, or if received, had not been generally known.

The Three Bars.

The southern papers are particular to have it understood by all the world that three strips of cloth which they call the flag of the Confederacy are not stripes, but BARS. Let us make them emblematic, not of heraldic superstitions, but of stern realities adapted to the exigency of the moment.

The red "bar" represents the military power of the United States holding all the most important forts along the seacoast of the Confederates and surrounding them on the land frontier by a cordon of fire.

The white is the "bar" of iron interconnexe, controlling every possible avenue into the Confederacy, barring every mail, every telegraph, every railroad and every highway, every steamboat and every ship and ferry, and leaving the rebels to eat their own cotton and tobacco, and clothe themselves with the rags of their negroes.

The blue "bar" is naval, of course, and shuts up every traitorous seaport, so that none shall go in or come out, and hangs at the yard-arm every pirate that venturess, to raise the abhorred flag on the high seas.

Hurrah for the "three bars!"—[N. Y. Post.

The London "Daily News," after examining the statistics of our country in relation to the condition of the two races, ventures the speculation "that the southern group of States will become mulatto in population and proprietorship," at no distant day.

TESTIMONY!

From the Rev. Father Stanislaus Parisymsky.—I have been troubled with Deafness for a length of time, and am consulting Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER. He operated on my Ears so successfully as to restore my hearing entirely. I think it, therefore, my duty to those afflicted with defective hearing, as well as, as acknowledgment of the Doctor's great skill and talent, to make my case publicly known, and to strongly recommend all sufferers to avail themselves of of this rare opportunity.

STANISLAUS PARISYMSKY, Pastor.
MONASTERY, Birmingham, April 11th, 1861.

This is to certify that I have suffered for some time from Deafness, and that I have been greatly benefited by the skillful treatment of Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER.

ALOYSIUS GRECO, Pastor.

Testimonials from Home Sources!

From John McCloskey, Esq.,
(Of the Firm of M'Closky, Cowgers & Co.)
POST PRINT, Allegheny co.,
April 8th, 1861.

To Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER, 155 Third st. Pittsburgh:

I am happy to inform you that my little daughter, who has been quite deaf for four years, has, under your skillful treatment, entirely recovered. I feel satisfied that her hearing would never have been restored by natural causes, but to your ability alone is she indebted for it, and I would most earnestly recommend all afflicted with Deafness to consult you at once.

Respectfully yours. JOHN M'CLOSKEY.

ALLEGHENY, April 5th, 1861.

Dr. VON MOSCHZISKER—Dear Sir: It is but justice that my gratitude for the relief experienced from your skillful treatment should have expression. For some time past my hearing had been so bad that I despaired of ever regaining it, though the advice of several physicians was strictly followed. I am therefore truly grateful to you, and very happy to say that the operation performed by you has resulted in the perfect restoration of my hearing.

Gratefully yours, ROBERT HUNTER.

We are personally acquainted with Mr. Hunter, and have perfect confidence in his statement. He is under our supervision, in the employ of C. & P. R. R. Co.

PHILIP CORLETT,
JOHN HOVEY.
