DO YOU WANT WHISKERS? DO YOU WANT A MUSTACHE? DO YOU WANT A MUSTACHE? BELLINGHAM'S CELEBRATED STIMULATING ONGUENT, For the Whiskers and Hair.

The subscribers take pleasure in announcing to the Citizens of the United States, that they have obtained the Agency for, and are now enabled to offer to the American public, the above justly celebrated and world renowned article.

THE STIMULATING ONGUENT is prepared by Dr. C. F. BELLINGHAM, an eminent physician of London, and is warranted to bring out a thick set of WHISKERS OR A MUSTACHE in from three to six weeks. This article is the only one of the kind used by the French, and in London and Paris it is in universal use.

It is a beautiful, economical, odoriless, yet stimulating compound, acting as if by magic upon the roots, causing a beautiful growth of luxuriant hair. If applied to the scalp, it will cure nervousness, and cause to spring up in place of the bald spots a fine growth of new hair. Applied according to directions, it will force out or keep hair dark, and restore grey hair to its original color, leaving it soft, smooth and flexible. The "Onguent" is an independent article in every gentleman's toilet, and after one week's use they would not for any consideration be without it.

The subscribers are the only Agents for the article in the United States, to whom all orders must be addressed.

Price One Dollar a box—for sale by all Druggists and Dealers or a box of the "Onguent," (warranted to have the desired effect,) will be sent to any who desire it, by mail (closed), securely packed, on receipt of price and postage, $1 25. Apply to or address

Pittsburgh Gazette, PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY BY S. RIDDLE & CO., FIFTH STREET, ABOVE SMITHFIELD. PITTSBURGH: SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 4.

HIGHLY INTERESTING NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, May 1, 1861.

The Policy of the Administration.

The fact is at last demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt, that the policy of the Administration, now and henceforth, is WAR. To this conclusion Mr. Lincoln has urged his Cabinet for ten days past. Messrs. Chase, Blair, and Cameron entered heart and soul into the plan, and but for the wavering of Messrs. Seward and Welles on this point the Cabinet would have been a unit. Mr. Welles has received such letters, petitions, and appeals from his own State as have assured his conversion to an anti-peace doctrine, and finally Mr. Seward has added his undoubting assent to the necessity of such a course.

Senator Wilson, with Judge Hoar, of Massachusetts, called upon Mr. Lincoln and each member of the Cabinet to day, and urged upon them the imperative demand of the country, that active and positive aggressive measures be adopted. Twice they saw Mr. Lincoln, whose whole nature seems bent upon reasserting the dignity and unity of this great nation before the eyes of the world.

The country may rest assured that the course of the Administration has been, is, and will be onward and upward. The standard will suffer no degradation while in its hands. Nothing, in the end, will have been lost, and all good men will agree in commendation upon the action of our leaders. The Navy Yard at Norfolk will be retaken and rebuilt, and that speedily.

The Officers in Command of the Troops.

Secretary Cameron exhibits a marked degree of shrewdness in the selection of men. He placed Gen. Butler at Annapolis to hold that section of country, and open communications. That having been accomplished, he recalls that officer, giving his position to Col. Hamilton, of New York, and detailing Gen. Butler to a very important Southern movement. Gen. Butler seems to be the man for the advanced posts of duty, and will, within ten days, add laurels gathered from sterner service, to those already gained in peaceable successes.

Gen. Patterson will very shortly move hitherward with a large body of troops, and his line of march will be through Baltimore.

The Power of the North.

Now that the Government has strength in its hands, the glorious uprising of the people has struck terror even into the mob, and Maryland shakes herself free from the disgraceful hands of rowdyism, and returns to loyalty. This affair at Baltimore has borne good fruit, after all. The sharp, short fight of April 19 was needed. No one here knew, no one here imagined, what was in the hearts of Northern people. The universal roar, whose echoes swept even to beleagured Washington, showed traitors what they must expect, showed the country on what a mighty fund of patriotism it could draw, and warned the rulers that the people had a potent voice. And, now, made more courageous than before by this great expression of the North and the North-west, the Government is to move forward, and to move with dignity and power.

Royal Occupation for a Judge.

Col. McCunn, your New York City Judge, is acting as master of transportation at Annapolis. Owing to his energetic labor, the road to the Junction is entirely in order. He superintends loading and unloading of cars, starting trains, and detailing men; besides running over the road four times daily as conductor. At present he can transport 5,000 troops daily.

Lieut. Maury's Treason.

It seems that Lieut. Maury will not be allowed to resign, but that his leaving as he did will be considered an actual desertion of a post of duty. On the day of his desertion he was with the Secretary of the Navy up to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and said nothing of his intentions. He went home, packed up his furniture, and vamosed. The Observatory is now under the charge of Lieut. Gillis, an excellent officer, thus whom a more loyal, efficient, and worthy servant of the Government does not exist. The mass of unfinished work left by Lieut. Maury at the Observatory is enormous, but under the capable management and untiring energy of Lieut. Gillis, it is fast being chased away.

Evidence of Lieut. Maury's treachery are daily apparent. The meanest of them yet discovered is, that he removed buoys from Kettle Bottom Shoals, leaving the Administration to find it out as best they could.

The Meanness of Jeff Davis.

Jeff. Davis continues in the most dishonorable manner to attempt to seduce Federal officers from duty. Last week he sent a General's commission to the Confederate army to a gentleman holding a Captain's rank in the U. S. army, and whose experience in the Ordnance Bureau would render him most valuable to the South. The commission was accompanied by a strong personal letter. Both were returned.

Patriotic Ladies.

Mr. Brace, the philanthropist, is here. Miss Powell, the Woman's Library Manager and head nurse for the department of Washington, is expected here to-morrow with a uniformed corps of nurses. There are many of these aspiring Nightingales here, and all of them sport freely the Union colors and the cockade.

May Day Weather.

This being May day, the weather, according to immemorial custom, is intolerable. Washington—never too clean—is as sandy as the Great Desert, and if there were camels here they would instinctively fling themselves down with their noses to the ground, for fear of suffocating. No birds have sung, and flowers have remained ungathered.

Serenade to the President.

At 5 o'clock, however, the wind subsided, and gay crowds flocked to the grounds of the White House, where the band of the Seventh Regiment played for two hours, to the delight of all. During the performance of the band the President appeared on the portico, and, in response to the cheers of the people, said a few words, adverting in an encouraging manner to national affairs.

Proclamation of the War Department.

It is now acknowledged here, even by those who at first objected to that course, that the action of the War Department in the eight days following the riot at Baltimore was judicious and necessary; to prepare the way for the intelligent prosecution of the policy now determined on. Taken by surprise, not ready with the overwhelming force properly equipped, wherewith to put a direct path to the rebellious west between, a circuitous route with certainty of arriving at the destination, and an abortive and murderous attempt at directness.—N. Y. Tribune.

Arms for the Rebels.

It is well known to numerous parties in this city, that some two or three months since, a contract was made with the Consul-General of Belgium, at New Orleans, by the seceding States, for a supply of arms of the most approved pattern. These arms were to be manufactured at Liege, at one of the most celebrated establishments in Europe. The contract was for a million dollars' worth. It is now very nearly, if not quite time for these weapons to be received at the Southern ports. Hence the greater necessity for their immediate and thorough blockade.

To disarm an enemy is to place him wholly in our power. The Southern States can arm only in Europe and in the North. We must not, hereafter, suffer them to get a single weapon from either quarter. The gun that did the work at Sumter was a rifled cannon imported from England. In three months more, if we are not on the alert, the rebels will have hundreds of them. Will not our Government immediately look after this matter, and not let a still greater catastrophe than Fort Sumter be enacted through its own negligence.—N. Y. Times.

A MARYLAND BALTIMORE OFFICIAL.—It is truly refreshing in these times to find any body in Baltimore standing up in such a firm, patriotic and noble attitude for right and justice, as the telegraph informs us Judge Bond has done in the Criminal Court of that city. His charge to the Grand Jury deals with the late events in the spirit of one who has resolved to ferret out and expose secret conspirators, to arrest and punish the traitors, and to secure to the National Government that respect which is its due. All honor to Judge Bond. He is by long odds the bravest Baltimorean we have met with in many days. Let the Union exiles take heart. Their homes shall again be their own.—Philadelphia North American.

IT IS STATED that a number of aristocratic Southern secession families, imitating the example of fugitive slaves, have recently emigrated to Canada and located themselves in Quebec and Montreal, from which cities they will probably send despatches designed to produce erroneous impressions in regard to the sentiments of our Northern neighbors, and to injure the National cause as much as possible. This game has already been commenced on a small scale, and future canards from that quarter may be looked for as a matter of course.

CAPT. OAKES, one of the officers of the United States Army, in Texas, has arrived at Washington, after traversing the Southern States. He says that the greatest military activity prevails throughout the South. Troops are gathering at all the principal points. The men look well, drill well, and are enthusiastic for the rebel cause, and are insane with the lust of conquest, determined on taking Washington, and on whipping the North. Captain Oakes is of opinion that, man to man, they are superior to our volunteers, and that our only safety lies in wending against them an overwhelming force. We suspect that long residence in the South has led Capt. Oakes, who we believe is a Pennsylvanian, to underrate his own countrymen. Personally we believe that the men of both sections of the country are likely to make equally good soldiers. But numbers, wealth, and the command of naval resources will give the North an immense advantage in the contest.—N. Y. Tribune.

From Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, May 1.—The following petition is now in circulation in this city, and will be extensively signed:

"TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AT WASHINGTON.—The undersigned, citizens of Baltimore, respectfully represent, that in our opinion the United States troops or military forces and stores ought to pass through Baltimore without further hindrance or molestation and that, as loyal citizens, we will use our best efforts to prevent any obstruction."

A memorial to the Legislature is also in circulation, asking that the bridges be rebuilt, and all the lines of communication be reopened to free and unobstructed travel.

The Police Commissioners have removed the restrictions on the exportation of breadstuffs, provisions, etc.

The Sun now assures it readers that no one will meddle with the Stars and Stripes, henceforth, in the Monumental city. The Sun also says that for Maryland to secede would be suicidal; that it is to be hoped that the government will not insist upon Maryland's furnishing a contingent of troops to make war upon the South, but that the troops from the North have a right to march through the State to the federal capital. Is not the Sun, a secession organ ten days ago, improved and improving. It even talks of those who attacked the Massachusetts troops as a violent mob.

FROM VIRGINIA.

One of a company, whose special duty it is to find out what is transpiring outside of the District, on Tuesday afternoon made a visit to Arlington, and subsequently to Arlington Heights. He says the people of Alexandria are in a terrible state of excitement. They profess to have about 8,000 men there armed, but all he could see were the guards parading on the wharves, and a few pickets outside the town, with an occasional horseman in the streets. He discovered beyond the Heights of Arlington several pieces of artillery, guarded by mounted pickets, which undoubtedly were intended to plant on these heights, which overlook Washington, but Gov. Letcher's proclamation, staying the movement of the troops in Virginia, has probably put a stop to these proceedings.

I am certain, from personal observation, that there are twenty-two guns light artillery, 18 and 24 pounders, back of Arlington Heights.

It is not known how long they will retain their position, or whether they will take position on the Heights.

This I have from personal observation, and am sure it is true.—[Cor. of N. Y. Times.

No Evasion.

A curious illustration of the facility with which the most absurd rumors will gain currency in War street is afforded by the belief which prevailed on Tuesday in certain circles in that part of the city, according to which peace is soon to be made between the Rebels and the United States. Now the only terms of peace, which would not provoke a revolution in all the loyal States, would be the unconditional submission of the traitors, the abandonment of the Montgomery Government, the surrender of the stolen Federal property, and the return of all the Seceding States to obedience to the laws. We have no doubt this will be done at last; but not until the main question has been debated in one or two considerable battles. Until they are beaten in war the Seceders will never abandon their great conspiracy; and the sooner and the more decidedly they are beaten, the better for all concerned. On the other hand, the People of the North and West are resolved that the business shall now be disposed of forever; that Rebellion shall be crushed, and the integrity of the Republic maintained. As matters now stand, it would be no dangerous to attempt to put off on them any half-way settlement as it would be impossible for
