MR. DIXON ON THE ISSUE.

In the Senate, on Tuesday, Mr. Dixon, of Connecticut, made a formal and authoritative explanation and defense of the President's Policy. He was calm, temperate, and serene. He said that he was not a Senator, but he was a citizen, and he felt that it was his duty to speak in behalf of the President's Policy.

He said that the President's Policy was a policy of peace, and that it was a policy of peace which would bring about a permanent and lasting peace between the North and the South.

THE EFFORT.

There is no royal road to success, and no royal road to glory. It is only by the most arduous and unceasing effort that any man can attain to the highest honors of his country.
