Many years ago, we frequently conversed with the first white man born on the Western Reserve, in Ohio. the days of railroads. His experiences antewhich connects the waters of the Hudson ed the manner in which his father recount ed to him the tedious emigration from Connecticut to Ohio. Reaching the Hudson with a small company, they embarked in a sloop, the organ of President Johnson, in an intiobtained passage on a boat, which was tion in New Hampshire, it said: forced up the current of the Mohawk, by men working with long poles. Toward the head of that river, at a very early day, s rude connection had been made with the waters falling into Lake Ontario. Following this route, the little company reached the Lake. There they pitched their tent, and fell to work constructing a small boat.
When it was finished, their scanty goods were put on board, and they toils crept along the coast up to the mouth of the Lewiston. Here a portage had to be made around the rapids and the falls. It was a capital out of that supposed proof of the and boat to near Black Rock. At last this point was attained, and the party again embedded and boat to near Black Rock. Municipal Elections.—William Rev. around the rapids and the fulls. It was a those Conservatives who attempted to make barked, and, hugging the shore, finally reached the mouth of the Cuyahoga.

Next came the work of building log houses, 'They had axes with which to cut the logs, but no horses or cattle with which to draw them. House building, with only such scant accessories, was a hardship; but finally it was accomplished. Then followed the labor of clearing narrow fields and imme getting in, as best it could be done, some crops. At length other settlers arrived from Connecticut by land, bringing a few cattle and horses with them. By exchange A Nominer Resected.—The confirma

Herein is one of the grand secrets of individual competence and opulence and of national increase and power.

An Accommodating Party.—The democratic party is a very accommodating one, so far as accommodating liself to circumstances is concerned. All through the war, it distinguished itself in Pennsylvania by its hostility to the soldier; but as soon as the war, was over it put up two soldiers as candidates on the State ticket to catch the soldiers' vote! So long as the constitutional amendment abolishing Slavery was in doubt they composed it and demonrance in a property is a proposed it and demonrance in an appear in the house, into which all the house, into which all the house, into which a place in the house, into which all the house, into which all the house in the house, into which all the house, into which all the house, into which all the house in the house, into which all the house in the house, into which all the house, into which all the house in the house, into which all the house in the house, into which the house in the house, into which here in the house, into when the house in the house, into which here in the house, into which here in the house, into when the house in the house in the house in the house in

In Connecticut for four cars past, they have contested the State as the ultra proslavery, anti-war party; this year they put up a candidate for Governor who voted for the anti-slavery constitutional amendment and for the Abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia, whom they themselves burnt in effigy for these very votes:
