RECONSTRUCTION OF BRITISH AMERICA.

For some time past the British Provinces have been agitated about the reconstruction of their governments. A cause of expense rather than a source of profit to the mother country, the British Parliament has been endeavoring to find a way for themselves, so to speak, and pay the cost of their own keeping. Intimations have been thrown out that if the Provinces would accept independent status, they would be able to manage their own affairs. No willingness has been evinced to accept the offer. The connection with England is profitable to the Colonies, and hence they are in no haste to dissolve it.

THE LETTER TO GEN. GEARY ON THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

Editors Gazette:—As one of your readers I wonder why you did not publish the letter signed by many of our citizens, proposing certain interrogatories to General Geary, on the very important question of Railroad Legislation. You gave your reasons for not publishing it, and you are altogether justifiable in withholding such an important document from your readers on the grounds you name, to my mind somewhat doubtful. It is not my intention to discuss the question. In this letter you will perhaps be surprised that the letter was not sent to the Gazette for publication, when you are informed that the letter in question emanated from a gentleman who has the credit of having written the "Omniscient." Besides, this name is a well known one, and it is not surprising that others for a meeting to sustain President Johnson, and his name appeared as one of the Vice-Presidents of said meeting. Of course the "Gazette" would be ruled out of such company. Still, think you ought to have published the letter and General Geary's answer in full.

PREACHING VS. PRACTICE.

A day or two ago we chronicled the President's circular directing the Heads of Departments to discriminate in their appointments in favor of soldiers and sailors who have served honorably. The following commentary on it is furnished:

John Gibson, the late Postmaster at Chillicothe, Missouri, was appointed by Mr. Lincoln because he entered the army after he was forty-five years of age, and with his hair gone, served through it. The rebels burned his house and utterly destroyed all his property, leaving him a beggar. He has been lately removed by the express direction of President Johnson, as the object of Frank Blair, and Wm. Noell, of Missouri, without the knowledge of Mr. Ben. Lyon, the member from Chillicothe district, and against the reconstituted all of the Union men of the county, and in his place the most objectionable Copperhead in all that region, was appointed. It was distinctly understood, that such removal should go every far to break down radicalism in that region. It is believed that the removal was instigated upon by the President against the wishes of Postmaster General Denton.

A Washington special to a western journal is kindly after this fashion: "It is reported on the streets of St. Louis that the husband of Mrs. Cobb, who holds a position in the Treasury Department, has been removed in accordance with the President's circular, and a soldier appointed in his place. The rumor lacks confirmation."

A Washington special to the Chicago Tribune says: "After the government following the vote on the passage of the Civil Rights bill in the House, a man named Sawyer, of Pittsburgh, appeared on the floor, and walking up to Judge Kizziah's desk, he turned round and said to the judge, 'Put your hat in the judge's face, whereupon Mr. Kizziah made a lunge at him, when a member spring between them, and the Capitol police arrested the speaker. He, with other Pittsburgh men, are here for the purpose of securing aid in a project to establish a Johnson paper in that city.'"

The younger son of the great Patrick Henry, died in Floyd county, Virginia, in a night's sleep, controlled and directed by an inscrutable Providence, swept over the nation. Vain is the endeavor to go back and restore all the old forms, which will be unsuccessful, but will entail fresh calamities.

National Northern men do not ask the Southern people to resign their own rights and humiliate, nor do they expect them to a humiliation, to renounce all their old ideas. But certain facts exist. The Union has not been dissolved. The fact of all persons who claim to exercise the rights of citizenship is due to the National Government. Slavery has been abolished. New relations have been established between the whites and the blacks in the Southern States. Free, social and economic systems have been called into being. The welfare of the Southern people, equally with the welfare of the inhabitants of other sections of the country, require that these altered conditions be recognized and conformed to. This is all the radicals in Congress and out demand. When ever throughout the South proper feeling shall be evinced, the conservatives will have no need to plead with the radicals for a liberal policy. No man more anxious to heal the wounds of the war than they, they object to a desecrating feeling, with the old disease liable to break out again with additional aggravations.

GENERAL NEWS.

Proposed by the State authorities of Pennsylvania to procure a full history of the services rendered by Pennsylvania regiments in the war to crush the slaveholders' rebellion, and an interesting portion of that history, it has been suggested by Governor Curtin that the State Librarian collect photographs of best officers of such regiments to be deposited in the State Library, in such a form as to be easily referred to and examined. In accordance with this proposition, the State Librarian now requests all such officers to send well exposed and carefully mounted photographs, and to send them to the State Librarian, at Harrisburg, Pa., where they will be deposited in the State Library, in such a form as to be easily referred to and examined. WILLIAM B. ASTOR is projecting the erection of an immense hotel in New York City, on the square bounded by Forty-third street, Broadway and Seventh Avenue. The location has a very up-to-date sound, but, though nearly four miles from the City Hall, the hotel when completed, will not be so much ahead of the times as the Fifth Avenue Hotel when Anson K. Knight was the proprietor. Then the people who thought themselves well laughed at the idea of putting stores on the ground, and the ground was sold for a very low price. Now, Astor, who by no means is a bad man in such matters, goes miles or so higher up Broadway, and carries on.

One of the New Hampshire railroad changes of twenty cents, which is based upon all fares paid in the city, a check is given for that amount. After the government following the vote on the passage of the Civil Rights bill in the House, a man named Sawyer, of Pittsburgh, appeared on the floor, and walking up to Judge Kizziah's desk, he turned round and said to the judge, 'Put your hat in the judge's face, whereupon Mr. Kizziah made a lunge at him, when a member spring between them, and the Capitol police arrested the speaker.
