But it now appears the Finance Committee of the Senate are in clined to report favorably on the proposi We therefore recur to the matter. The details of the National-Banking sys tem are defective. Undue advantages are concoded to bankers both against the gov. vernment and the people. During the carlier stages of the war, and, in fact, all through it, capitalists were in condition to dictate terms to the government. They availed themselves of all the power of their osition, and in no instance more complete ly than in mljusting the provisions of the Free Banking Law. Indued, using lan guage in a definite and proper sense, that system can be called a Banking System only by courtesy. It is rather a system to enable capitalists to obtain double rates of interest on their money without either the risks or the labor of legitimate Banking. But this is not the point we desire to press The government has committed itself to the Policy of contracting the amount of paper Currency afloat, with a view to grad lly work back to a Specie Basis. This is a Policy dictated by sound statesmanship. Important beneficial results have already been developed by it. Persisted in, it will,
