It has been evident for a month past that such a revision of the import duties as was demanded alike by the manufacturing, agr culural and commercial interests of the ntry, and as would at the same time and Ital fortity the public credit, could not be obtained. As soon as the discussion was an proached in carnest the Missouri Republit casi which had powerfully advocated the establishment of diversified manufacture in St. Louis as the only direct way to permanual and great prosperity, was overpowered by party discipline, and joined ozo smash" stily in the cry that such a tariff as would čork. make the introduction and support of man-'black reland. utactures possible, on a broad scale, would be necessarily unequal and tyrannical; that it was far better to jog on in the old way, raising grain and meat, and sending those commodities to Europe in exchange for anufactured goods, and balancing the de-June 19th. ticit by a steady export of gold and nation al and corporate bonds. It did not say this in plain terms; but this was the inevitable logic of its inculcations. The Chicago Tribune, which is the most vehement an perpetual scold of all American journalswhich so delights in startling antithesis that it constantly rushes from one extreme another, regardless of all sense of consistency-dismounted the hobby of Protection which it rode all last winter, unlearned the argument of its editor, embodied in a flaming speech at the formation of the Protective League, in February-if we remember aright-and became more flippant and
