MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1866.

NEW YORK.

Everything indicates that the Union Republicans will carry this great State by a sweeping majority, and very probably increase their delegation in Congress. The nomination of Mayor HOFFMAN, of the city, for Governor, made under the chilling influence of the news from Maine, was a plain indication that the Democracy were inclined to kick their new partners, the Johnson Republicans, out of the concern, and run the machine themselves. The result in Maine, where much was hoped for, showed them that their new associates were rather a drag upon them than otherwise, and hence they dropped DIX and took HOFFMAN, although they have not the smallest chance or even expectation of electing him.

HOFFMAN is a democrat of the FERNANDO WOOD school, and of course a warm supporter of the President's policy; but the sanguinary fruits of that policy, as seen in the New Orleans massacre, and the consummate folly and indiscretion of its author, as displayed in his late electioneering tour, have played the mischief with all who have adopted that policy as a plank in their platform. Even the democracy which sympathized with treason and rebellion, and opposed the war, can hardly stand that.

BEARING FALSE WITNESS.

The President, in his speech at Terre Haute, said

"The great object in suppressing the rebellion was to restore peace and to uphold the doctrine that no States have a right to secede, they all being States of this Union, and now that the rebellion in the South is suppressed, there is a cry at the other end of the line that the Union is dissolved and shall not be reunited."

By his stereotype phrase, "the other end of the line," he means all those who oppose his "policy" and support that of Congress. Not to put too fine a point upon it, the speaker uttered a falsehood when he said there was "a cry" from these men that "the Union is dissolved, and shall not be re-united." Neither in their declarations nor by their acts have Congress, or the men who support Congress, said anything of the kind, as all well-informed men know. Congress has set the door wide open for the return of the rebellious States, and every one of them may be in by the first Monday in December if they choose, on terms as just and generous, as kind and lenient as it is possible to offer with safety

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETINGS.

An appointment of the State Committee to address meetings will be held as follows:

Sept. 17th, Pithole City
" 21st, Clarion,
" 22d, Corry and Access
" 25th, Pittsburgh, and Indiana
" 26th, Butler and West Mid. Rose
" 27th, Mount Pleasant, West Moreland county.
" 28th, Washington,
" 29th, Greenville
Oct. 1st, Franklin
" 2d, Kittanning
" 4th, Mercer

Eminent speakers have been promised for all these meetings. Three or more Gen. Geary will speak at Corry, Pittsburgh, Mount Pleasant and West Middlesex, and these three are the only meetings he will be able to attend in the western part of the State during the period covered by the appointments.

The Republican majority of the last Legislature repealed the tax on real estate. This repeal was made at the suggestion of the present Republican State Treasurer. It is well enough to have the voters remember these facts.

In the Republican Convention of Carbon County, Pa., resolutions were introduced favorable to a new nomination for Governor, in order to displace Mr. Fahnestock on the ticket, but it was overwhelmingly voted down.

In the Johnstown accident 22 persons had each one leg broken; 4 both legs broken; 14 each a collar bone or arm; 2 each a leg and an arm; 1 both a thigh and shoulder; 2 had noses broken.

The Convention of the Johnson party of Union county met at Lewisburg, on Monday of last week, and nominated Andrew H. Dill, Esq., for Congress.

The National Republican Committee have made a collection of the President's tour speeches, and contemplate publishing them as a campaign document.

The organization of the "Grand Army of the Republic" in Illinois now numbers 80,000, all officers and men who served in the army during the war.

MAJOR GENERAL W. W. ORME, one of our ablest Illinois officers in the late army, died at his home at Bloomington, Thursday, of consumption.

HON. MATT. CARPENTER, of Wisconsin, has challenged Senator Doolittle to a joint discussion of political questions, but the Senator declines

The Iowa State Fair will open at Burlington to-morrow, and continue through the week. The prospect is flattering

The Hon. John P. Vincent has been nominated for additional Law Judge at Erie.

Anniversary of Mexican Independence—Flood in the Sandwich Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 15.—Jose A. Godoy, Mexican Consul, has issued an invitation to all patriotic Mexican residents to participate to-day in celebrating the fifty-sixth anniversary of Mexican Independence.

Sandwich Island dates to August 25th are received. The river at Hilo rose thirty feet perpendicular August 8th, sweeping away piers of solid masonry twenty-five feet high, which was just ready for the arches of the new bridge.

Arrived barks Jeannie, Pierre, Russell, Marseilles; bark D. Currey, Honolulu, bringing 2,500 packages sugar, 300 barrels molasses. The whale ship Roman, Hamlin, reported off Columbia river September 2d, with 1,050 barrels of oil and 1,200 pounds of bones.

Cleveland Soldiers and Sailors' Convention.

CLEVELAND, (O.,) Sept. 15.—The preparations for the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention are tolerably complete. The tent, with a capacity to hold 50,000 persons, is ready in Monument Square. The arrivals up to the present time are heavy, but to-night and to-morrow will largely increase them. General Steadman and the Committee of Arrangements will arrive to-night and the programme will probably be settled at the meeting this evening. Governor Brandlette, of Kentucky, and Generals Wool, McCook and Custar are already here. The indications point to General Wool as temporary and General Steadman as permanent chairman. Beyond this but little is yet indicated of the course of the Convention. It is the general impression that but little speech-making will be done.

The weather to-day is cool, but threatening rain this evening.

The Second Cable—Dispatch from Cyrus W. Field.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The following dispatch has been received from Cyrus W. Field:

Port au Basque, Sept. 15.—The Medway completed coaling at midnight on Tuesday, and left in company with the Terrible at daylight on Wednesday morning. We arrived at St. Pierre early on Thursday morning, but were prevented from entering the harbor by thick weather until next day. We have found a suitable landing place for our cable from Placentia to St. Pierre. We arrived here at three o'clock, and shall proceed to lay the cable across the Gulf of St. Lawrence as soon as the weather will permit. It has been blowing a gale all day, preventing us from landing before. We arrived off this place early this morning.

Spread the Truth!

Some medical men insist that it is unlawful to advertise a remedy, however valuable it may be; queer reasoning this. It is like saying that an article won in the world needs should be put in a corner—but mankind would like something to be well diffused—that the means of protecting and restoring health would be a close monopoly and not accessible to all. The argument is bad. It is worse than that it is unknown suppose HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—an absolute specific for dyspepsia, biliousness and nervous disability—had never been known beyond the repertoire of the family, what would have been the consequence? Instead of curing and invigorating millions, the good effects of the preparation would have been confined to a comparatively few. There is the highest authority for saying that right should not be hid under a bushel, that whatever is excellent should be placed as a cynosure, where all men can take cognizance of it. It is upon this principle that the BITTERS have been advertised and continue to be advertised in every newspaper of any prominence in the western hemisphere, and that the spontaneous testimonials in its favor have been translated into all written languages. Thousands enjoy perfect health today as a result of purchasing on faith of what was said in the newspapers had not spread the truth with regard to this unequaled invigorant and corrective in health and sickness, suffering people from this publicity. To that any argument against it? If the public health has been promoted, if lives have been saved, if the feeble have been strengthened and the sick restored, great is the good accomplished, and who so mean as to grudge to certions thus directed the fair reward?

Hostetter's Bitters

The Presidential Party in Washington.

HARRISBURG, September 15—9 A. M.—The Presidential party have just left here, the multitude cheering the President, Grant and Farragut. The President bowing his thanks.

YORK, PA., September 15.—10 A. M.—Thousands of enthusiastic people gather in the streets and vociferously cheered the Presidential party. The accumulations were greatest about the Washington House, where they were warmly welcomed to the place, by Judge Fisher, in behalf of the authorities and people of York. The President responded, and thoroughout the delivery of his remarks was enthusiastically cheered.

BALTIMORE, September 15—2 P. M.—Immense crowds of excited people were collected here to greet the President, General Grant, and Admiral Farragut. Governor Swann, met the President at the station, and delivered an address, in which he informed him that the City councils of Baltimore, had refused to cooperate with the Mayor in paying proper respect to the Chief Magistrate of the nation, nevertheless the President would find a spontaneous uprising of the people to greet him.

The President replied briefly, expressing his heartfelt thanks for the kind and cordial welcome that had been extended to him by the Governor as the representative of the people of Maryland, not only to him as the Chief Magistrate of the country, but, as a citizen of the United States. The address of the Governor and the reply of the President were warmly applauded. The guests were then escorted to the Eutaw House where they were entertained at a banquet. Governor Swann made a speech, proposing the health of the President, which was received with great cheering. The President briefly returned thanks.

WASHINGTON, September 15.—The train left Baltimore for Washington at half-past five o'clock, and the President was loudly cheered by the thousands upon thousands of persons at the station. The reception in Baltimore was indeed cordial and enthusiastic. The train left in the early afternoon train for Washington, and therefore was not present at the banquet.

WASHINGTON, 7:30 P. M.—A large crowd met the President at the station and greeted him with repeated cheers. He was invited to the front of the City Hall, where Mayor Wallach welcomed him in a brief address, to which the President replied by tendering his thanks. The procession of military companies and civic societies escorted the President to the executive mansion.

The President in alighting from his carriage, spoke as follows

Fellow Citizens:—For this demonstration you tender me upon my return home to assume the discharge of my official duties, you will please accept my heartfelt thanks. Such a welcome from the people who have been the daily eye-witnesses of the manner in which I have discharged my duties, is truly gratifying. All I can promise you for the future is that there will be a continuance of my conduct in the past. I have tried to discharge my official duties in compliance with the Constitution and the principles which I deemed to be right, and will add that the sentiment which you exhibit tonight is not peculiar to yourselves, but that it pervades the country wherever I have been. My own opinion is that the expression which has gone abroad to the country with regard to sustaining a government of constitutional law is unmistakable and not to be misunderstood, and I believe the day is not distant when the judgment of the American people will be made manifest that true liberty and law must be restored; that peace and prosperity and harmony must again prevail through the United States.

I believe I can safely testify that the great portion of your fellow citizens that I have visited, and I have seen millions of them since I left you, with accord with you in sustaining the principles of free government in compliance with the constitution of the country.

Permit me in returning this evening to again tender you, a people whom I have known long, in whose midst I have served in various official capacities, and now serve in that of Chief Magistrate, my heartfelt thanks for the cordial welcome, which will be remembered by me as long as there is a pulsation in my heart.

Sale of Government Wharves—Cholera at Norfolk—Fenian Rait.

FORTRESS MONROE, Sept. 14.—Two large Government wharves at Newport News were sold at auction this morning for $15,000 to the Newport News & Richmond Railroad Company. They originally cost the Government $50,000.

Two cases of cholera were reported at Norfolk by the Board of Health of that city yesterday evening. Several cases reported the day before were recovering.

The Irish population of Portsmouth and the surrounding country—Fenian sympathizers—gave a ball recently at the Ocean House. The ball room was decorated with the green and sign of Ireland and America, a great enthusiasm for the Fenian cause manifested.

The entire estimated cost of the Hampton & Newport News Railroad, to be put in running order, is said to be $1,075,000.

Michigan State Fair.

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—The preparations for opening the State Fair at Adrian are almost complete and are very perfect. Already two hundred and fifty entries have been made, among which are some of the finest horses and cattle in the northwest. It is announced that Dexter and Patchin are to trot at the fair. Correspondence of the Secretary indicates that the attendance will be greater than that of last year.
