CITY AND SUBURBAN.

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

Gen. Howard's Lecture.

On Tuesday evening Major General O. O. Howard delivered a lecture at the Academy of Music to this city to a large and appreciative audience. His subject was the South, and its present social and political condition, and it was treated in a kind and Christian spirit by one who is thoroughly conversant with it, he having been the chief of the Freedmen's Bureau ever since its organization.

The lecturer assumed that what is now properly known as the South are the States lately in rebellion. He divided their people into four classes. The first, those who, although active rebels during the war, now honestly accept the situation which their defeat imposed, and are laboring to bring the people back to true loyalty to the government, as the only means by which the peace and prosperity of the South can ever be secured. This class are indeed to deal justly and humanely by the emancipated negroes. The second class—and greatly more numerous than the first—made up of those who submit because they cannot help it, and who, although as hostile as ever to those who conquered them, (they will not admit that they were conquered,) are extremely anxious to get into power again, and rule the country which they could not ruin. As to the country which they could not ruin. As to their treatment of the negro, their "policy" is, since they cannot absolutely enslave him, to keep him as nearly in that subject condition as possible. The third class is composed of outlaws and ruffians, made up in a great part of the miserable land, made up in a great part of the miserable lans, made up in a great part of the miserable wreckage of the shattered armies of the rebellion. Those last are the active persecutors of the blacks, and the murderers of loyalists, both white and black. These were the men who did the work at Memphis and New Orleans, urged on, countenanced and shielded by the second class. The fourth class embraces all true loyalists, both white and colored—more numerous, when both are counted, than both the others, but weak and defenceless because the white element is, as a whole, neither wealthy nor influential.

The first and the last of these classes would unite and co-operate in any measures that would pacify the country and restore the Union in good faith; but unfortunately the power is yet in the hands of those whose hatred towards the government and the people of the North, and still more towards the loyalists of the South, is as intense and bitter as ever. The General was emphatic in the declaration of the opinion that nothing but the strong arm of power can, for the present, rule that section of our country, and protect its loyal people from outrage and oppression.

Criminal Court.

Yesterday morning at nine o'clock the Criminal Court met, as usual, with Judges Sterrett, Mellon and Brown on the bench.

Besides disposing of the Lawrenceville homicide case, the following business was transacted:

Robert Willis, a defaulting witness, was brought into court on a process. Robert had been subpœnaed as a witness in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John Brown, indicted for selling liquor on sunday. John was unwilling to appear, and when the officer attempted to read the subpœna to him he coolly left him alone. When brought into Court yesterday morning he excused his conduct by stating that he "didn't know the rules." He was committed to jail so that he will be in readiness to appear at trial.

Samuel Reed was arraigned on an indictment charging him with stealing a horse from Mr. Wm. Peebles, residing on the Perrysville road, some seven or eight miles from the city. Reed was arrested about the middle o'clock on the morning of June 21st last, in Allegheny city. He was riding the stolen animal down Federal street, and attracted the attention of Captain Bowden, of the night police, who took him in custody. Reed at first said his name was Smith, but afterwards gave his true name and acknowledged that he had taken the horse from a pasture field near Perrysville and bought it of guilty, but recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court.

R. Morrison made a motion for the release, on bail, of Michael Sullivan, whose arrest for a most aggravated outrage we noticed some days since. Morrison urged that the amount be made as light as possible, as it appeared on the hearing that the offence was not of such an aggravated character as would seem from the published information. The Court remarked that the only knowledge they possessed of the affair was the information given in the information, and that good bail in the sum of $2,000 would be required. The defendant consented to this, and $2,000, and defendant is still in confinement.

The case of Albert Carter, charged with insulting a chambermaid, was next taken up. Some time ago Carter was arrested and committed to jail for cutting the telegraph wires at Bedford, on the Steubenville railroad. It soon became apparent that the prisoner was hopelessly insane. When placed in the cell he tore his entire clothing off, and though he has been several times supplied with garments, he persists in tearing them to shreds. His condition yesterday made it impossible to bring him into Court. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was given into the keeping of the Directors of the Poor. The Chaplain of the jail has received a letter from the brother of Carter at Camden, N. J., saying that her son had strayed away from home, and that his friends were in search. Telegrams were sent to Camden yesterday, and flags were hoisted half-mast throughout the city in respect for his memory

A Repentant Benedict.

An individual named Andrew Geddings came to the office of Alderman Taylor, yesterday, and stated in as intelligible a manner as his limited knowledge of Webster would permit, and in as audible a voice as the continual flow of his tears would allow, that he had come to make information against a man named Jasper McCord, for forcing his wife to desert him. It appears Geddings is in the habit of getting in that convivial way some people call drunk, and while in this condition he is invariably beats his better-half. On Monday he had an attack of his abnormal disease, and as a matter, of course, his helpmeet came in for her share of the fun.

While he was being administered to her McCord came in and rescued her from the grasp of her husband, and told here to go to his home, where she could remain in safety as long as she wished to stay. She accepted the kind invitation immediately, and since that time has refused to return to the domicile of her repentant spouse. The consequence has been that the latter has suffered from a neglect of his household affairs, and longs for an opportunity to be avenged through the law on McCord for his conduct in bringing such a state of affairs about. When the magistrate had made all the necessary preparations for drawing up information against McCord for assault and battery, Geddings refused to be sworn, and after staring blankly for a few minutes into vacancy, hastily left the office without any explanation of his strange course having been given. All the parties reside in the borough of Lawrenceville, where the affair took place.

Sudden Death—Another Case of Asiatic Cholera.

Coroner Clawson was summoned yesterday, to hold an inquest on the body of a man who died suddenly, a little before daylight, in Bon. Trimbles Hotel, on Penn street, in the Fourth ward. From the evidence elicited at the inquest, we glean the following facts in relation to the melancholy affair: The deceased was named W. Wm. Spencer, and came here a few weeks since from Meadville, Crawford county, where his wife and family now reside, and engaged with Mr. Trimble to drive a pair of horses. On Tuesday afternoon he took his team to the Oakland Race course, where he remained until evening. Returning to the Hotel, he complained of being ill to the bar-keeper, who advised him to go to bed after a time he did so, but scarce had he retired when his moans attracted the attention of Mr. Trimble, who hastened at once to his bedside, and found him writhing in agony, his limbs being cramped, and his mouth dry. Everything that could be done to alleviate his sufferings was applied at once, but despite it all, he continued to grow worse until half past four o'clock yesterday morning, when he died.

Dr. George L. McCook, examined the corpse, and pronounced it a malignant case of Asiatic Cholera. The body was interred in Hillside Cemetery, at the expense of Mr. Trimble.

Another Case of Cholera.

A man named McCoy, employed as a deck hand on one of the steamers now lying at the Monongahela wharf, died of Asiatic cholera yesterday morning at five o'clock at the Mercy Hospital in the Eighth ward. When the unfortunate man was attacked on Tuesday evening with the first symptoms of the disease one of the officers of the boat on which he was employed made application at several of the city hospitals for permission to take him there that he might have all the aid and attendance that the critical condition demanded. But the necessary permission withheld until 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when it was too late, and he died. To which was no sooner known that the doors of the institution were thrown open, and the distressed strangers in his last extremity received and tenderly cared for until the end gave him rest. Such magnanimity will meet its reward.

Fall Dissolute Clothing.

At the popular and fashionable merchant tailoring establishment of W. H. McGee, No. 18 St. Clair street, a large and beautifully assorted stock of seasonable fabrics for men's wear, has just been received. For houses of this character enjoy a high reputation as this, as the business is conducted in such a manner as to render satisfaction to all customers. One thing deserves to be observed, that no garment leaves the establishment of the proprietor not, spoken of fashionable, the cutting and for turning out clothing, Mr. McGee has well made articles of clothing, and embraces all but recently been imported, and embraces all the late patterns and styles, while the prices are most reasonable and astonishing. See advertisement in another column.

Afraid of Him.—Adam Becker appeared before Alderman Lynch yesterday and entered complaint against Michael Andrews for surety of the peace. The defendant alleges that Andrews has, on more than one occasion, threatened to do him serious bodily injury, and fearing that he would carry his threats into execution, he desires that he be held under bail for a future good conduct, which was accordingly done, and the defendant discharged.

Mr. James Whissler, of Mount Washington, Allegheny county, Pa., says: "I have used Perkins' Cerro-Gordo and Sarsaparilla Ointment, and the first application removed all pain and anguish. It has completely cured me of the fearful sores caused by those pests of the city, Bed Bugs. Druggists have no other like it. Sold by all druggists. Depot No. 44 St Clair street, Pittsburgh. Sold by S. T. Fuggists.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.—Be sure that the various preparations of Wistar Balsam of Wild Cherry, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Balsam, have the name of the article blown in the bottle. Take no other. The Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is not an opium preparation. Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Balsam will cure any cough.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

Message of Governor Humphries, of Mississippi.

PHILADELPHIA, October 17.—A dispatch dated Washington, October 17, says: The text of Governor Humphries' message to the Mississippi Legislature, which met on the 15th, has been received. He says there is nothing for congratulation in the political horizon except the removal of the negro troops from the State. That small cloud of fanaticism that rose in the east, at first no larger than a man's hand, spread with such irresistable fury, overthrowing all constitutional barriers and destroying the rights and property of a portion of the States of the Union, still overshadows our land with portentious blackness. Our Senators and Representatives in Congress have yet suffered their seats. The Radical Congress has enacted laws and proposed amendments to the Constitution, which, if adopted, will destroy the rights of the States and of the people, and construct out the ruins of the government in the Federal hand. Against these threatening powers of the Union, the President has interposed the executive veto, which the power of the Government, and thus drawn on his devoted head all the fury and vengeance. The element of the struggle between the President and Congress alone can reveal.

In regard to the Amendment to the Constitution, the Governor says: "This Amendment adopted by Congress and proposed for adoption to the States of the Union in palpable violation of the rights of more than one-fourth of the States, is a gross insulting outrage, and denial of the equal rights of so many of our worthiest citizens who have shed their blood and glory upon our section and our race, both in the forum and in the field, such a gross usurpation of the rights of the States, and such a centralization of power in the Federal Government, that I presume no one reading of it will candly reflection by you."

In discussing the condition of the negro he says: Public justice both race demands the admission of negro testimony in all cases brought before the Civil and Criminal Courts. Now that the negro has shown a bounding and friendly disposition toward the white race, and a desire to unite in the pursuits of industrious labor, justice and honor demand of us full protection to his person and property, equal and personal. His arms are not essential to his protection of property of his happiness, and society should be guarded by requiring him to procure a license to carry them, a privilege he can always secure where his character for good conduct and honesty is known."

Resignation of Secretary Stanton—The Bank Forgery—The Executive Manslaughter.

NEW YORK, October 17.—The Times' Washington special says: I am candled to say, upon high authority, that Secretary Stanton has in writing requested the President to relieve him of his position as Secretary of War, and that Mr. Stanton's letter of resignation is the latest of the United States, in place of Mr. Hale. Lieut. Gen. Sherman will be requested to assume the duties of the War Department as Acting Secretary of War.

The Tribune's Washington special says: The officers of the Bank of the Metropolis called upon your correspondent this evening and stated that they regarded the forgery but been committed on the bank. No such person as McCloskey is known to any of the officers. No New York politician has obtained $2,000 or any thing from the bank, and they have had no dealings with New York politicians. The statement that connection with the Memphis Bank are perfectly satisfactory, and the above rumors are inventions.

The Engineer corps have been busy to-day surveying the land on Fourteenth street, for the erection of a new White House. It is understood that President Johnson favors this location. The plan calls only for one story in height, and will be a fine residence, fronting on a beautiful park. The cost will be several thousand acres, worthy of the capitol of this nation.

Great Fire in New York—Loss Over $500,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A fire broke out last night, about 11 o'clock, in the ship chandlery warehouse of J. C. Baxter & Son, 303 West street, which spread rapidly to the adjoining warehouse, No. 307, and communicated with a large storage store at Nos. 308 and 310 Washington street, in which was stored a large quantity of cotton and other merchandise. The houses adjoining the chandlery store and No. 307 were occupied by poor families, nearly twenty-five of whom were temporarily lodged. The exact amount of the loss cannot be readily ascertained, but the damage will in all probability amount to $500,000. The Coroner was over John O. Ferris, John Smith, Silas Crowell, all liquor dealers, and George Cregan, storage.

Hurricane in the West Indies—Immense Loss of Damage Done.

NEW YORK, October 17.—The late terrific hurricane was felt in the vicinity of the Bahamas with the most disastrous effect, the wind being more violent than during any previous gale, wrecking many vessels, blowing down houses, and doing immense damage. Large quantities of wrecked materials floated ashore and several dead bodies rested on the beach. Many of the islands had not been heard from, but it is supposed that when full accounts come in loss of property will be great.

The Funeral of John Van Buren.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The funeral of John Van Buren will take place on Friday, commencing at ten A.M. Flags on the forts were displayed yesterday, and flags were hoisted half-mast throughout the city in respect for his memory
