

EDITORIAL BRIEVES.

Yesterday we had the pleasure of receiving a visit from James E. Patton, Esq., the noted author, and a statistical contributor to American literature of no ordinary ability.

Jefferson City, Mo., advised pictures of a terrible state of affairs in that neighborhood. The place has taken full possession of the rebel and communitarian troops.

Two cadets at West Point previous to their election, received commissions in the United States Army, which they failed to present. On Monday they presented them to the President, but Secretary Seward ordered that payment be deferred, and they returned to the appropriation from which they were drawn.

A DEPARTING man named Digns has just been captured at Paris, France. He was in the Confederate army, but was afterwards adopted the life of a robber and guerilla. He has, during his short career, committed a number of horrible murders and outrages.

THE BUREAU of the United States Army, in the contest between Curtin and Cameron for the Senatorship, will become so sharp as to make it necessary to get both sides to Judge Andrew's court. The Supreme Court would become an available arena.

CONGRESS, fortunately for the country, is not disposed to aid the President in his attempt to remove the Secretary of War. France being his troops are not called home as rapidly as was expected.

JOHN A. MILLER, a very young man, was arrested on Thursday last at Philadelphia, on a charge of arson and a charge of forgery. SICKARD DIXON, of Connecticut, has returned to his allegiance to the Republican party, and announced his intention to oppose both the President and his policy.

A DEMONSTRATION of the Philadelphia, Jeffersonville and Madison Railroad Company required three thousand dollars in round money.

AN ILLINOIS regiment of colored soldiers has contributed $1000 to the Lincoln Monument Association.
