NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Horrible Affair in Titusville.

The Titusville Herald of Saturday has the following: Yesterday morning the usual quiet of our city was disturbed and our community painfully startled by a rumor that a man named John Hickey, living on South Perry street, had murdered his wife. Our reporter started for the scene of the murder and found a woman, apparently twenty-five years of age, lying dead on a filthy bed in the house of a Mrs. McNevin, on Perry street, one door south of the mill-race. The front part of her head was much bruised and her hands lacerated from the effects of a severe struggle. There was a stick of stove-wood, weighing about four pounds, lying on the floor, with several clots of blood on it, and it was evident from the marks on the woman's head that this stick was the instrument with which she was slain.

The deceased was the wife of John Hickey. She is said to have been an habitual drunkard, and was intoxicated on the evening before her death. The husband has been in the employ of Mr. D. C. Clark, as a laborer, since July, 1865, and is represented by those who know him as an intelligent and inoffensive man except when under the influence of liquor. He was heard to say on the evening of the murder that he would give her (his wife) a black eye, and he would see if that would keep her off the streets.

On Tuesday he was at work near the depot, and took several drinks at Lahey's saloon on Mechanic street. He went home about six o'clock, but soon after entered Lahey's saloon where he had two glasses of whisky and one glass of cider. Here he remained until ten o'clock, when the company separated and he started for home. During the night one of the inmates of the house said that she heard Hickey say, "Annie what makes you make such a——beast of yourself?" Nothing more was heard from him until about six o'clock yesterday morning, when he knocked at the window of one Lahey, and told him he had killed his wife, and wanted to know what he should do. He was told that since his wife was dead, the best thing for him was to give himself up. He then went to the store of Mr. D. C. Clark, and said that his wife was dead, and he had killed her, and was going to give himself up.

He immediately went to the house of Policeman Doherty, on Monroe street, and stated that he had killed his wife and that he wished to give himself up. Officer Doherty accompanied him to the lock up, where he still remains.

An inquest was held on the body of the deceased by Justice Strouse, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The prisoner was committed in full to await the action of the grand jury.

Fearful Railroad Accident.

The Pithole Record furnishes particulars of the fearful accident which occurred on the Warren and Franklin Railroad on Wednesday evening, caused by the breaking of a rail. The engine, tender and baggage car, all passed over the broken rail in safety, but the first passenger car was tilted from the track and cast down an embankment of about thirty feet, the coupling connecting it and the second passenger car breaking, and the latter remaining upon the track. In coming down the embankment the car made a complete somersault and landed right side up at the bottom. The passengers were some or less bruised, and some eight or ten out of the twenty-five or thirty occupying the car were quite seriously injured, some, it is thought, fatally—though no one was killed outright.

A Mr. Horton, of Huron, Ustinawaters county New York, was quite badly burned by coming in contact with the stove of the wrecked car; his clothing being burned off from him in many places, and his breast, head and other parts of his body being badly injured by burns and bruises. Mr. Howe, of West Hickory, was burned still worse than Mr. Horton, and had one of his arms crushed. He was taken on to Oil City. These are the only names of those injured we have been able to obtain. We understand that there were several badly injured in the second car, which remained on the track. The manner in which the accident occurred was no more singular than that passengers escaped without loss of life.

How Articles Left in the Cars are Recovered.

It is astonishing with what care all the minutiæ incident to the superintendency of a great railroad is conducted. We have a case in point as an illustration. On Thursday, a gentleman who reached Harrisburg at four o'clock, discovered, after he left the cars, that he had forgotten his cane, a valuable article. When the loss was first ascertained the train had been an hour on the route to Pittsburgh. Mr. S. Black, Superintendent of the Middle Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was informed of the loss. He telegraphed the fact to the conductor of the train on which the cane was left, and at eight o'clock a. m., the missing article was returned to the depot by the agent of the train which arrives there from the West at that hour. This simple fact illustrates the vastness and the perfection of the system by which our great railroads are conducted. There is no escaping the vigilance and prudence of that system; as far as human wisdom can make it, it is perfect.

Explosion of a Vulcanizer in Lancaster, Pa.

In Lancaster city, on Wednesday, one of Wheeting's vulcanizers, which had been placed in a stove, and in which some article used in the manufacture of artificial teeth was being prepared, in the office of Dr. W. C. Swentzel, on the southwest corner of North queen street and Centre Square, exploded, throwing the stove to pieces, and scattering the fragments of iron, &c., around the room. several pieces of iron struck the ceiling, and made deep indentations in it. The Doctor and his brother, Dr. E. W. Swentzel, were in the room at the time, and escaped injury. The temperature of the vulcanizer was only 310 degrees, which is considerably below its capacity. Had not a vessel of water been close at hand when the accident occurred, the building would have taken fire. The report of the explosion was heard at a considerable distance and smoke issued in dense volumes from the windows of the building.

Railroad Collision.

The Stroudsburg Jeffersonian says: On Monday last, about midday, there was a terrible smash up on the railroad near Bell's Bridge, by the colliding of the freight train going south with a coal train north. The locomotives of both trains were badly smashed, and cars, freight, &c., were piled together in the greatest confusion. The mail train going north was detained several hours by the collision. The collision was caused by the criminal conduct of the engineer of the coal train, who started from Water Gap, without orders from his conductor, and when he knew the time he was running on was time belonging to the freight train. Fortunately, there were no lives lost, nor was any one injured. There should be a law to correct such reckless culpability and recklessness by the severest punishment.

Arrest of an Embezzler.

The Shamokin Herald of the 13th inst. says: On Tuesday evening, John T. L. Harper, who for more than a year has been kook-keeper for Mr. John B. Douty, was arrested on a charge of embezzling money to the amount of over $1,000. Some two weeks ago Harper left town with his wife to visit Philadelphia, where both he and she came from. The second day after he and she came from. The second day after his arrival there he was missing, and was not heard from until Tuesday, when he arrived here in the evening train. He had been hearing here in the evening train. He had been hearing here Esq. Caldwell, and was committed to jail, whither he was escorted by constable Smith, on Wednesday morning. He failed that he can explain matters, although he failed to do so at the hearing, and it is thought that under this belief he came on.

After the Battle.

An official report of the battle of Gettysburg, states that 27,574 guns were picked up on the field after the engagement, 24,000 of which were loaded. Of this number one half had two loads each, containing unfired, one ball after had three loads, and the remaining six after had three loads, and the remaining six thousand contained ten loads a piece. Many of the guns had from two to six bullets over one charge; in others the powder was placed above the ball, one gun had six cartridges with the paper unburn. In one Springfield rifle, twenty three separate charges were found, while one smooth-bore musket contained twenty-two bullets and sixty buckshot rammed in promiscuously.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

FROM MEXICO.

SEIZURE OF SPECIE BY THE FRENCH.

Maximilian Supposed to Have Returned to the Capital.

THE CAMPBELL-SHERMAN MISSION.

A Good Understanding Arrived at with Juarez.

NEW YORK, December 24.—News to the 20th, from Vera Cruz, says: The French seized two hundred thousand dollars on the Imperial treasure. The steamer Eugenie had sailed with $500,000, of which $400,000 belonged to the French Government, and the rest to citizens.

One thousand French troops had sailed for France.

Correspondence from Vera Cruz is to the 14th, and Orizaba to the 12th. A French steamer had arrived at Vera Cruz with two hundred troops and a quantity of gun powder. A special courier to General Castelnau also arrived.

The Custom-house at Vera Cruz was seized by the French on the 9th, and when Maximilian's agent presented an order for fifty thousand dollars, it was not received.

The Confederate Jacob Thompson was at Vera Cruz.

Maximillian left Orizaba on the 12th for the Capital. Miramon fled to avoid arrest. Marquese had failed in his efforts to raise money for the Emperor. The war between the Emperor and Bazaine had become open and avowed.

The Times New Orleans special of yesterday says: "While the mission of Sherman and Campbell to Mexico has not achieved all that was expected, it has by no means proved a failure. They did not land at Vera Cruz for the reason that they did not want to hold any intercourse with the Imperial authorities, but proceeded to Tampico and Matamoras, where they met the representatives of the Juarez Government, and they all know what we mean to do. All the United States want to see is a strong united Government there.

A definite and joint plan of action will be determined on between the United States and the Republic of Mexico immediately after the withdrawal of the French, which takes place before the 1st of March.

"Juarez will then transfer his seat of Government to a point where he is not at liberty to issue edicts at present." That point, said Sherman, as a military man, I consider well chosen; their entire plans have been laid before me, and I consider them upon the whole judicious and prudent." Then, in the event of any argument of imperial power, remaining the United States troops will be marched over the Rio Grande to support Juarez. Minister Campbell will return to Mexico, and resume official relations with the Republic. General Sherman said we are now in possession of all of the Juarez Government.

Destructive Fire.

CINCINNATI, December 24.—A fire in Ripley, Ohio, on Saturday, destroyed the dry goods store of George Hill and Co., and the grocery of Reynold & Co. The banking house of J. Reynold & Co. was also burned. Loss, $4,000; insured for $2,000. Several adjoining buildings were damaged.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24.—Baugher's extensive lager beer brewery on Thompson street, was almost totally destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $100,000; partly insured. Five thousand barrels of malt, two thousand pounds of hops and about two thousand barrels of beer were destroyed.
