NEIGHBORHOOD GLEANINGS.

The subject of the pollution of the waters of the Schuylkill, by the refuse of manufacturing establishments along its banks, is exciting much interest in Philadelphia—and the facts are noted by the Press in its discussion of the subject:

"Within a few weeks the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania decided in a case, in which the Germantown Water Company was one of the parties, 'that no man has a right to use or apply water flowing through his lands so as to foul the same, or render it corrupt or unhealthy, and unfit to be used by the land owner on the stream below him for domestic purposes;' and Justice Read announced the generality of the law to be that 'every man has the right to have the water flowing in a flow of water in its own land without diminution or alteration in quantity or quality. The use of it must be such as not to be injurious to the other proprietors."

The Sunday Leader proposes the division of Pennsylvania into two States. The Harrisburg Telegraph moves to accomplish it by dividing the Allegheny River and leveling the Alleghny Mountains.

Both Houses of the West Virginia Legislature adjourned at a late hour Thursday night, having completed their constitutional term of forty-five days.

The earnings of the Oil Creek Railroad for the last year amount to one million and a half dollars, or equal to $6,000 per mile.

Supreme Court.

In the Supreme Court at Philadelphia, on Saturday, Chief Justice Woodward, and Justices Thompson, Strong, Read and Agnew.—The City of Pittsburgh, Plaintiff in Error vs. The First National Bank of Pittsburgh, Defendant in Error. Error to D. C. of Allegheny county.

This case was before Court for reargument. In the Court below, the "case stated" presented the following state of affairs: By an act of Assembly of January, 1857, the Select and Common Councils of Pittsburgh were authorized to levy and collect an annual business tax upon all banks and banking institutions doing business in said city. By an ordinance of the Councils of Pittsburgh, in 1858, a tax was assessed upon the average quantity of business of all banks and banking institutions established and doing business in said city, and the tax so assessed upon the First National Bank was $1,625.65.

The question presented is whether the said bank is chargeable with the tax imposed upon its average business for the year last.

The District Court entered judgment for the defendant, and the City of Pittsburgh took a writ of error.

The defendants in error contend that the tax is a burden imposed, or attempted to be imposed, by the State of Pennsylvania, upon the legitimate exercise of franchises granted by the United States Government for national purposes.

The plaintiffs in error urge that Congress has no power to prohibit the States from levying a tax such as is here imposed.

The cause was argued, and held under advisement.

Committed.

On Thursday evening last, Lawrence Saunders, residing on Point alley, became drunk, and he turned his family out of doors, after which he proceeded to demolish his furniture. Officers Smith and Mosely were summoned to arrest Saunders, but on entering the house found that some of his acquaintances had gathered in. An attempt was made to intimidate the officers, but they prevented any overt act by promptly producing their revolvers and Saunders was escorted to the lock-up in safety. An information was lodged this morning before Alderman Saunders by officer Mosely, for disorderly conduct, and on authority he committed Lawrence to jail, in default of thirty dollars with which to pay his fine, he was committed to jail.

The Gipsies in Another Role.

On Saturday, Mrs. Emma Denton appeared before Alderman Donaldson and sued out a writ against James Costello and John Bernard (gipsies) for aggravated assault and battery. The lady alleges that while she was attempting to enter one of the citizens' passenger Railway cars, at the corner of Clair and Penn streets, the parties named above, who were also riding in a wagon, purposely drove their vehicle against her, knocking her down and injuring her rather severely. They gave bail in $500 each, for a hearing. The parties reside on the Manchester road, opposite Allegheny, where they have been living quite an time as the citizens of three little cities.

Another Scolding Match.—Arrest.

Another scolding match to perfect a wedding march has been added to the long list of the District Court of this city. From the known character of the parties at issue, an exciting race may be expected.
