If any man supposes a result more favorable to the general interests of the Commentural to the general interests of the Commenture and Midland portions thereof, can be obtained by going on in the tread-mill of the old political parties for one or more years longer, we beg to say we widely differ with him in opinion. As we judge, it is useless for newspapers to get into a frenzy, and print bitter, sharp or eloqueat distribes. No good will some of a sentinued expenditure of iak, and genius, and emotions and mill superseed by another, proceeding from the loyal citis the mental to the proceeding from the loyal citis for results and emotions.
