The Pittsburgh Gazette

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1867.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HENRY WARREN WILLIAMS,
Of Allegheny County.

FOR STATE:

RUSSELL ERRETT, of Robinson Tp.

FOR ASSEMBLY:

GEORGE WILSON, Oakland.
WILLIAM R. FORD, City.
ALEXANDER MILLER, McKeesport.
AUGUSTUS BECKERT, Reserve Tp.
GEORGE R. RIDDLE, Allegheny.
DAVID L. SMITH, Allegheny.

PROTHONOTARY:

JACOB H. WALTER, City.

TREASURER:

Maj. J. P. BARRETT, Liberty Tp.

COMMISSIONER:

A. PILLOW, Tarentum.

CORONER:

WILLIAM GLASGOW, City.

POOR DIRECTOR:

R. H. DAVIS, Sewickley.

JURY COMMISSIONER:

CHARLES PORE, Manchester.

ONLY TWO WEEKS remain in which work can be done to augment the splendor of the Republican triumph. Let every Republican stir up his fellow, that they may rejoice together.

THE Democratic victory of one Congressman in California, and the Republican gain of one Representative in Nebraska, will leave the House with 147 Republicans to 46 Democrats.

LET every Union man remember that Friday next, September 27th, will be the last day upon which he can be assessed. The election will take place on Tuesday, October 8th, and the law requires every voter to be assessed ten days before that time.

THE late accounts from Europe go to show that the crops there are below the average. In consequence, prices have gone up in all the continental markets. In the United States the crops are not what were expected. Upon threshing, the average number of bushels to the acre proves to be quite low.

THE allegation is made that Mr. AUGUSTUS BECKERT was placed on the Assembly ticket simply because he is a German or of German extraction. Not a particle of evidence has been, or can be, adduced to sustain this disparagement. He was nominated because the Convention deemed him to be a suitable man for the place.

ALL VOTERS should bear in mind that during the last year, the first of Gov. GEARY'S term, the State debt has been reduced one million seven hundred and ninety-four thousand six hundred and forty-four Dollars and fifty cents ($1,794,644.50!) Further remember that since the State has been under Republican rule, embracing the period and great cost of the war, the State debt has been reduced nearly or quite ten millions of dollars.

Also remember, that while the State was in the hands of the Copperheads, the State debt was each year steadily increased, until it run up to over forty millions of dollars. These are facts which cannot be controverted.

WHAT danger confronts the Republicans of Pennsylvania in the current canvass, comes from counties in which they have large majorities. There being no President, Governor or members of Congress to elect, the feeling is naturally engendered among Republicans, in such counties, that it is not needful to bring out their full strength. This is true, so far as the local candidates are concerned. But to act upon this idea, so far as relates to the candidate for Supreme Judge, will be fatal. Hence, the admonition with which we reiterate our entreaties for efficient organization in such counties as Allegheny, Lancaster, Philadelphia, and Bradford. The full Republican vote must be got out in these counties or we shall be defeated on the general result. That will never do. Republicans, you are forewarned. Be you, also, forearmed.

AT this time last year the democrats were full in the faith that they would defeat Gen. GRANT and elect Mr. CLYMER. This expectation was based on the calculations of Mr. WALLACE, Chairman of their State Committee, who stated he had caused every ward, borough and township to be closely canvassed and could not be mistaken. The result proved how little his canvassing was worth.

This year the democrats profess the same confidence, predicated on assurances from the same source. The prophet in whom they trust is a false one.

It seems probable that the aggregate vote will be lighter than it was last year. Neither party will bring out all its members. The rolling ball will divide about equally between them.

The tenor of advices from all parts of the State indicates a triumphant election of Mr. WILLIAMS by a handsome majority. The larger that majority shall be, the more beneficent will the award of the ballot-box prove.

DERELICT HOSPITAL.

The Grand Jury visited this famous institution on Saturday. At the request of the Attorney we accompanied the party and shared with them the elegant hospitalities and the characteristic courtesies of Dr. TAYLOR and his assistant, Dr. GAYSON. Since we last visited the Asylum the west wing has been erected, and while not yet ready for occupation that it is expected to be completed in November. The east wing remains with only the excavations and foundations walled done. Work on this wing must await an appropriation by the Legislature before its progress further. The entire length of the triple line of the whole building when completed will be 750 feet, or measuring the angles, the face of the edifice will be 1,000 feet. Of this, the center building, with its two primary wings, in all 365 feet, is all that is finished and occupied. Into this are crowded 300 patients. When the new wing shall be ready, in November, the accommodations will still be wholly inadequate for the curative treatment of so many patients, as there will then be but 196 sleeping rooms. When we reflect that the annual increase of patients is about forty, the imperative necessity of prompt and liberal Legislative aid, sufficient to complete the original design, will be seen and felt. The delegation, from this county particularly, should visit Dixmont before January, and inform themselves, as they may easily do in a single day, of their whole duty as representatives in this behalf.

The Asylum is a model of neatness. Every square inch of floor, stairs, walls and ceilings is as clean as soap and water can make it. A large building is being erected beyond the main edifice, on the west side, to be used as boiler house, laundry, &c. The smaller one, found to be insufficient and misplaced, will be removed. Two immense boilers, each six feet in diameter, with ten flues, are in the basement story of this new building. They will eventually supply the hot air and hot water for the finished Hospital. From thence, also, will be operated the ventilating apparatus, designed to furnish all the rooms in the vast structure with currents of fresh air.

We will not attempt further description of this noble institution, destined to be at the same time a monument to the pious zeal and benevolence of the eminent lady whose name it bears and to the enlightened charity and forecast of the people of Western Pennsylvania, and of the Legislature of the Commonwealth.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

BEYOND THE MISSISSIPPI. By Albert D. Richardson. Hartford: American Publishing Company.

The author is an old and well-known Newspaper man, and added to his fame by a volume entitled, "Field, Dungeon and Escape," in which he narrated many of his adventures with the army. After the war, he made a journey across the Continent, and his observations and reflections are embodied in this book. It gives a lively picture of western manners and customs, abounds in anecdotes, characteristic and droll stories, which show perhaps better, and certainly more than many formal essays, what sort of men they are who are laying the foundations of an empire between the Great River and the Pacific coast. It contains more than two hundred illustrations, from photographs and original sketches of the prairies, deserts, mountains, rivers, mines, cities, Indians, trappers, pioneers, and great natural curiosities.

MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT. By Charles Dickens. Illustrated. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. Pittsburgh: Davis, Clarke & Co.

This is the second volume of the new duodecimo edition of Dickens, which has the advantage of large type, which all readers who have reached middle life will appreciate.

BLEAK HOUSE. By Charles Dickens. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. Pittsburgh: Davis & Clarke & Co.

Another addition to the illustrated edition.

THE POETICAL WORKS OF JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER. Complete edition. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. Pittsburgh: Davis, Clarke & Co.

For a period quite beyond the memory of most people now living, Mr. WHITTIER has sung and been admired. Not belonging to pegs of the highest class, he has nevertheless made for himself a place in English literature not likely to be unfaced. Always pure in sentiment, chaste in expression, and animated by a genuine and overflowing goodness, instinct with the highest aspirations of the age, he has won his garland and will wear it perpetually.

THE DAUGHTER OF AN EMPEROR. An Historical Novel. By L. Muhlbach, author of "Marie Antoinette," "Joseph II. and his Court," "Frederick the Great and his Family," etc., etc. Translated from the German by Nathanial Greene. Complete in one volume, with 12 illustrations. New York: D. Appleton and Company, 443 and 445 Broadway. Pittsburgh: Davis, Clarke & Co., 75 Wood street.

Perhaps no publications of a similar character, these times, have obtained such a wide circulation and popularity as the Mühlach Historical Novels, issuing from the press of the Appletons. The purity of style, faithful delineation of character, and admirable weaving of historical facts, that pervade this series, have tended to give them a hearty welcome by the reading public. This work is worthy of the enviable reputation this author has attained. It glows with interest throughout, and the excellent illustrations only serve to increase the interest of the reader. The beautiful open faced type and white paper also render it attractive in appearance and pleasant to read. Those who have purchased the former works of this author need no words to urge them to get this volume, and those who have not enjoyed the pleasure of reading any of the series will do well to get "The Daughter of an Emperor."

UNDER TWO FLAGS. A Novel. By "Ouida," author of "Idalia," "Strathmore," "Chandos," "Granville de Vigne," "Cecil Castlemaine's Gage," etc., etc. Philadelphia: T. B. Peterson. 12 mo. Pp. 632. Pittsburgh: Henry Miner.

The writings of this author are well known, and have been favorably received by those fond of such racy, rollicking reading. This Story, graphically describes scenes in Algeria, and was originally written for a military periodical. It has been heartily commended by military men, and is now issued in its present form for their benefit, and the general public. The volume is full of sketchy incidents of military life, which renders it quite interesting to all classes of readers, and the abandon style of the author is of the most captivating sort. This enterprising publishing house have brought out the book in fine style.

WAY NOT. A book for every woman. Is it? A book for every man. A companion to "Why Not?" By Dr. Storer. SAYINGS IF THE DORCAS MEET. Women's Rights. By Rev. John Todd, D. D. Boston: Tilton and Shepard. Pittsburgh: Henry Miner.

These publications are very appropriately called "Tracts for the People," on delicate subjects delicately treated. "Why Not?" is the Prize Essay to which the American Medical Association awarded the gold medal, and is issued by order of that body for general circulation. Dr. Storer stands high in the medical profession, and is Vice President of the American Medical Association. The work treats of criminal abortion, which has become so alarmingly common. The subject is discussed in an unexceptionable tone and singularly free from pedantry. The evidence adduced is unanswerable. Tract number 2, "Is it I?" was written by request of many physicians and lady patients. It treats of somethings relating to the causation and prevention of various forms of uterine disease. Among the topics discussed are: Marriage as a Sanitary Measure; the Rights of the Husband; are these rights absolute, or reciprocal, with duties; should there instinct, or reason be the rule. Rev. Dr. Todd, of Pittsfield, Mass., the celebrated author, furnished the third and fourth of the series. The third "Sermons in the Doves' Nest," is divided into two parts. 1. Fashionable murder; 2. The cloud with a dark lining. The fourth "Woman's Rights," discusses the equality of the sexes; woman's sphere; what her "rights" are; dress, voting, wages, insanity of the country, and woman education. These works deserve, and, doubtless, will have a large circulation.

HARPER'S SELECT NOVELS. New York: Harper & Brothers. Publishers. For sale by Henry Miner, Fifth street, Pittsburgh.

The two last publications of this series "Called to an Account," and "Caste," Nos. 296 and 297, are novels of the higher order, and maintain the excellent character of this extensive series. This class of reading now-a-days finds ready sale, and is quite popular with the masses. These numbers are written in fine style, both as it regards to plot and language, and are not to be compared with the lower grade of "yellow cover" publications.

POLITICAL SPICE.

—"Coming events cast their shadows before" says the Democrats. Wonder if the present shadow isn't a little too dark for them.

—The new military governor of the Carolinas can be and will be a most useful to the great Union cause as was General Sickles.

—Five cent national currency is counterfeited in Charleston, S. C. Just like the rebs; they are always at some small business together.

—The Detroit Post speaks of McClellan as having been "at one time a candidate for the Presidency in the States of Kentucky, New Jersey, and Delaware."

—The New York 7th Regiment has set a "noble example," says the Post of that city. New York city, and in fact the whole country will ever remember the services of that body during the war.

—The Canadians are finding that their plan of having several days for an election works badly, as it encourages bribery and all kinds of tampering with voters. They are anxious to adopt the American system of having but a single day's poll.

—The coming election in Massachusetts is to turn on local issues, and on none other.—Boston Post.

It is wise to remember this. For if the Republican candidates are elected by a reduced majority, the Post will claim a "national" victory.—Hartford Press.

—The Harrisburg Patriot and Union "pitches into" the ex-rebel General Longstreet now that he has turned Radical. While he was in command of a traitor army he had the full sympathy and support of the Patriot and Union, but now that he has repented of his fearful error that journal denounces him.

—Mr. Johnson said the other day that he wanted us to live in peace as the dead soldiers are doing at Antietam. The "great Johnson party" has been living in peace like a dead man for some time past, and the great Democratic party, if we do our duty, will soon follow its example.

—In McDowell vs. Gray, 6 Casey, 211 (1857), Woodward, J., in delivering the opinion of the Supreme Court, says: "The learned judge [Hon. Henry W. Williams] expounded the statute correctly, and furnished the conclusions so well, that we can do no better than affirm his judgment for the reasons he rendered for enforcing it."

RUSSELL ERRETT.

The Brownsville Clipper, one of the very best of our country exchanges, pays a handsome tribute to Mr. RUSSELL ERRETT. There is not only fact, but philosophy, in what it states. Read it:

"We have known Russell Errett intimately for the last twenty years. Our acquaintance with him commenced in Washington, Pa., where he published an able and spirited anti-slavery paper, called "The Patriot." This WAS a period when, to be an anti slavery man, more especially an anti-slavery editor, was to give up all expectation of political office, abandon all hope of money making, and to stem a current of opposition sufficiently strong and overwhelming to have appalled and silenced any moral or political adventurer who was not conscious that his action was based upon the great principles of eternal truth and justice, and had the nerve and determination to "hit it out on that line." Russell Errett was that man, and from the policy he then maintained and advanced, with hardly the semblance of a party organization to support him, without even the prospect of a party of any thing like formidable dimensions, based upon those principles, during the period of an ordinary life time, or more than a single individual out of a thousand in sympathy with him, the whole country over, he has never perverted the width of a single hair. But we are not writing Mr. Errett's biography. We only say briefly and generally, that in whatever position he has been placed, whether as editor of a paper, clerk of the Pennsylvania Senate, or Paymaster in the United States army, he has ever maintained his early imbibed principles as a politician, and his unbending integrity as an honest man. As he never received office for the sake of pecuniary gain, at the sacrifice of moral or political principles, so he refused to continue in office, when such continuance was made contingent upon his ceasing to condemn what he conceived to be errors on the part of those who possessed the power to remove him.

"Here is an instance in which is exhibited a signal triumph of firmness and patriotism over interest and office. Having served the Government in the capacity of Paymaster during the entire war, without the least taint upon his honor and honesty, or the slightest complaint from any quarter, of the manner in which he discharged the delicate and responsible duties of his office, he was still retained in that capacity after the war was over, until the alternative was presented him, either to espouse Johnson or give up his office. He chose the latter, and this new proof of his honesty and disregard of pecuniary interest when it comes in conflict with long cherished and conscientiously entertained principles and opinions, attracted the special attention of his party, who, as proof of their appreciation of the sacrifice he had made for principle, placed him in nomination for the State Senate. Now let him be elected."

—In the triangular race for commercial superiority between Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati, it is noticed that Cincinnati is gradually falling behind. Her journals admit this, and assign as the cause the want of railroad connections which are being made in the West. It is stated that the tendency is towards a consolidation of the great east and west railroad lines north of the Potomac and Ohio, into two immense combinations; one line including the New York Central and the Erie, the Harlem and the Hudson River Railroads, extending on one hand to Lake Erie, and on Michigan to Chicago, and connecting the great routes West, North and South. The other line, led by the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, extends from central Ohio, through Indiana and Illinois, and connects for the same Western trade. By both these lines Cincinnati is practically excluded, and that trade is taken by both through St. Louis and Chicago.

The raising of the steamer Metropolis, recently sunk in New York harbor was accomplished by the use of compressed air in barges. The apparatus consists of large bags of rubber cloth encased in a network of ropes. About twenty of these bags were attached, in an unin flated condition, to the hull of the vessel, which was readily done by a diver stationed in a suit of submarine armor. When the bags are attached a rubber hose connects them with an air pump driven by a donkey engine on board an attendant vessel; air is thus supplied to the buoys; and, as they are inflated, the air becomes compressed, and the sunken vessel is elevated.

—The cause of the "Black Death," a mysterious disease that recently afflicted the people of Ireland, it is said, has been discovered. A good many deaths have been dying of a form of blood disease, known as carbuncular fever; and in two or three instances the flesh of the cattle has been eaten by other animals. The eruption and the symptoms are said to have been precisely like those observable in the human victims of "Black Death;" and it is therefore supposed that the latter disease may be traced to engendered by the eating of meat from animals in a state of carbuncular fever.

WEAR AND TEAR.

When the constitution is weak and the system deprived of the wear and tear of brain-as life, which makes such inroads disease upon the body and mind, we use some vehicle and strength ening tonic to restore it, to resist disease with renewed vigor. Such an one we have upon the testimony of a thousand witnesses, is

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,

Which is a genial and purely vegetable stimulant, be timely administered, the organization will resist and soothe the voice of opinion as a conservator of nature can indeed do in this season of the year which disorders the nerves of the bowels.

There is an active and permanent vitality in this remedy, which will move the organs to healthy action and the tired constitution. It is the only tonic of which the debilitated will apply in perfect purity. Its basis is the essential principle of sound rye, which is admitted by analytical chemists to be the most harmless of stimulants, and this field is refined from crudities which by age to it, and comes from the manufacturer. Its other ingredients are compounded of various roots and herbs and contain not one harmful element in all their composition.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might attack on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, particular to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I had it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sound ear and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless. He has left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully,

DR. KEYSER'S consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, first floor, south side.

THREE NEW MUSIC BOOKS.

ROBIN REDBREAST, Songs, with Words and Music, just published the following important new books:

NEW PEERLESS CHURCH HARMONIA. A new collection of Church Music, by LOWELL MASON and WILLIAM B. BRADBURY. Containing an unusually large sum out of a variety of new Music, many of it original with Lowell Mason and William B. Bradbury, and the rest selected from the most popular productions of the most eminent composers of sacred music, both of this country and Europe. It is carefully progressive throughout; points in full, as far as practicable those in all other books which the best teachers are accustomed to find most useful in their experience, and the whole is so arranged that the previous work prepares the pupil for that which follows, and thus facilitates the hand; teaches the true meaning of the Musical characters and signs, and how to read music understandingly. The Elementary Department is unusually full and complete, and all the instructions and exercises are clear and easily understood. Price $1.50 per copy.

NEW PEERLESS GLEE BOOK. A new collection of Glees, Quartets, Trios, Duets, and Songs, by LOWELL MASON and WILLIAM B. BRADBURY. Containing an unusually large sum out of a variety of new Music, many of it original with Lowell Mason and William B. Bradbury, and the rest selected from the most popular productions of the most eminent composers of Glees, Quartets, Trios, Duets, and Songs, both of this country and Europe. UNIVERSAL

WASHING COMPOUND.

We are now prepared to manufacture this valuable article in large quantities, and have no doubt we shall be able to supply the trade.

HOUSEKEEPERS,

PLEASE TRY IT.

With it you can save almost one-half the labor usually required in the washboard, both in time and labor.

It will not injure the most delicate fabric, but on the contrary will remove from woolen goods all dirt and grease, leaving them soft and fleecy.

Washing Fluids, &c. It is warranted to do so.

NO LIME,

or other injurious article. For sale by grocers generally throughout the country.

Manufactured by the Proprietors, No. 59 FOURTH STREET.
