UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HENRY WARREN WILLIAMS,
Of Allegheny County.

FOR STATE:

RUSSELL ERRETT, of Robinson Tp.

FOR CONGRESS:

GEORGE WILSON, Oakland.
WILLIAM H. FORD, City.
ALEXANDER MILLER, McKeesport.
REUBEN SECKERT, Reserve Tp.
GEORGE R. RIDDLE, Allegheny.
DAVID L. SMITH, Allegheny.

FOR PROTHONOTARY:

JACOB H. WALTER, City.

FOR ASSEMBLY:

Maj. J. F. DENNISTON, Liberty Tp.

FOR COMMISSIONER:

A. PILLOW, Tarentum.

FOR AUDITOR:

WILLIAM CLAWSON, City.

FOR DIRECTOR OF THE POOR:

M. H. DAVIS, Sewickley.

FOR JURY COMMISSIONER:

CHARLES PUGH, Manchester.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

Let no Republican Workingman suffer himself to be deluded into the silly belief that the "Labor ticket," or any man on it, has the slightest chance of success.

We know that Mr. Bunn, in some of his speeches, has done his best to encourage this belief; but a glance at the figures will show that there is no foundation for such an expectation.

The utmost that any man in the "Labor" movement claims for its ticket, is 7,000 votes; the enthusiastically sanguine Editor of 9,000; the moderate men say 4,000; whilst very few politicians of any party concede them over 3,000.

But admit for a moment, simply for argument's sake, that the ticket may poll the outside figure claimed for it—9,000. The Republican majority last fall was 25,000; to defeat us this year 12,501 votes would be necessary. Can any man believe that the County believes that the ticket will receive the half of seven thousand votes; and any man who will reflect for a moment upon the facts will see that every vote given to it is simply a vote thrown away.

The only possible effect of a third party ticket in this county, beyond the throwing away of the votes cast for it, would be to increase the chances of electing the Democratic ticket. It is to this end that the Democratic politicians encourage the "labor" ticket; it was to sustain this and their Democratic ward politicians were sent in as delegates to the "Labor" County Convention; and it is to accomplish this result that the Democrats now taking part in the "labor" movement will pretend to be earnestly in favor of it until they have seduced Republicans into voting for its ticket, and will then themselves vote the straight-out Democratic ticket.

Let no Republican suffer himself to be tricked in this way. Every vote cast for a third ticket is half a vote cast for ANDREW JOHNSON and Revolution! Do you want to see the country plunged again into war? You cannot help to produce that lamentable consequence better than by thus indirectly helping Mr. JOHNSON's Democratic allies.

Every true patriot must see that this is no time to be bringing up side issues or to be playing into the hands of the enemy. Mr. JOHNSON construes every reduction of Republican majorities, no matter how effected, into an endorsement of his revolutionary policy. Are you willing, Republican reader, to have your vote counted in that way? If not, defeat all the intentions of the enemy, and vote the whole Union ticket.

THE THREATENED REVOLUTION.

The World makes merry over the statement of Senator THAYER that "ANDREW JOHNSON meditates or delegs forcible resistance to the authority of Congress," and in the same column announces the impending revolution in Tennessee. The charter of Nashville, granted in 1806, confines the right of voting to "white males." The city authorities have determined to hold the municipal election on Saturday, under the charter, in defiance of the Reconstruction Acts, or Franchise Law of the State. This purpose the World states with a sea of disapprobation, and if this is not a declared intention of resisting the authority of Congress by force, we will be a loss to know what it is. If the rebels of Nashville can set up their old charter as a rallying point for them to resist the national and State law, why can not the same class of men, on the same principle, resist the authority of Congress in Washington and elsewhere on the pretended authority of the old Slave Code, which Mr. JOHNSON admits to be eminently constitutional? The principle is the same in both cases. Mr. JOHNSON and his party opposed to Congress and its plan of reconstruction. If that party, or a portion of it, can forcibly resist the authority of Congress in Nashville, why not extend the tactics?

THE ARREST OF GARIBALDI.

Certainly to our hopes and expectations the Italian revolution has already received a terrible blow. The news of Garibaldi's capture surprises us. We could not understand it. Did the hero of many battles act in concert with the government? Was it a pre-arranged affair? Or was it a poorly-planned and more poorly executed expedition, which a few constables could defeat and terminate? Either GARIBALDI has played false—which we do not believe—or he has shown bad judgment, which construction would be scarcely more agreeable to us. The King, on the other hand, has acted in a manner still more incomprehensible. The condition of affairs is such that it could hardly be more favorable for the acquisition of Rome, which is an absolute necessity, if Emanuel intends to unify Italy. Not to have Rome would be like having a house and not be permitted to use its most essential apartment. Why then does he not seize the golden opportunity that offers? We think we can divine the reason. He does not want to receive any more favors from a man to whom he is already too deeply indebted; a man whose fame and glory threaten to outshine his own. He looks at Rome like a ripe fruit, that sooner or later must fall into his lap without any effort; why then owe it to a man that represents liberty and popular sovereignty?

POLITICS IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

Though the Republicans of this county were rather tardy in starting the canvass, they are now making up abundantly for early deficiencies. They are now in motion. The work of organizing the wards and townships has been steadily prosecuted for ten days past, and will be completed in ample time. The meetings held last night in Allegheny, and the night before in Pittsburgh, were immense, inspiriting, conclusive. The people are aroused to the magnitude of the issue. Disclosures made of the purposes of the President and his supporters, have enkindled their patriotic indignation. Henceforward to the day of the election there, will be no supineness; no lethargy; no holding back. Faction will be ignored. Side issues will be set aside. The main object will be kept constantly in view; and a victory, worthy of our old renown, and that will electrify the State and nation, will be gained.

WORKINGMAN'S PARTY.

None but a party of general principles, and general progress, can be a true and effective workingman's party. The race is so bound together by ties of mutual dependence, and mutual brotherhood, that no class can seek its own separate aggrandizement, and succeed, without causing injury to all other classes, and eventually to itself. When carpenters, by combination, raise the price of labor in their department, they raise house rent. The lawyer and doctor must have a heavier fee, the editor a larger salary, and so on to the end. At every turn your carpenter pays back, to society, a tax on that increase of wages; and generally the tax thus obtained counterbalances the increase. Every advance of wages in the trades raises the price of agricultural labor, and when it gets beyond paying prices fields be uncultivated for want of hands. Your better paid mechanic feels the effect of this high wages in the increased price of every barrel of flour, every pound of butter, every peck of potatoes. If the puddler, boiler or moulder have an increase of wages, that same puddler, boiler or moulder, as well as the carpenter, mason and hod-carrier pays the increase in the price of his stove, his kettle and frypan.

If the working men elect a Legislature the members must be paid, and if they can limit the hours of labor for mechanics, farm and other laborers, and raise the rate of wages, they must be paid more than legislators now receive, for flour and butter and stores and house rent and fuel and everything else must rise in proportion to the wages. Every workingman must pay so much the more for everything he consumes; and for the services of the other working men who minister to his necessities. The working doctor and lawyer and editor must have bread and meat, and who is benefitted by the change?

The true workingman's policy is the promotion of general principles which regard all men as brothers, and aids each one to learn all he can, and work all he can, produce all he can and so add to the general wealth. Put no restrictions on any one's right to dispose of his own labor more than his own money, and each in doing the best for himself is doing the best for all. Combinations directed to these ends cannot be otherwise than commendable; for the design is to seek the welfare of each in the advantage of all. So far as existing organizations contribute to these ends, no matter how imperfectly, they are better than nothing, and may ultimately lead to precisely that which is most desirable.

Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, and the Supreme Court.

In 1790 the present county of Allegheny contained only a population of 16,309 souls, and Pittsburgh but 1200 inhabitants.

To-day, Allegheny county has increased her population to 230,000, while Pittsburgh, which, with its surrounding municipalities, it is proposed to consolidate into our own great city, will have 175,000, and is not only the second city of our State, but takes its rank in wealth, population, and industry, among the first cities of the Union. It is situated on two navigable rivers dividing it into three parts, connected by large and magnificent bridges. It is a great railroad centre—railways running into it from every quarter of the compass, and by the Pennsylvania Central it is brought within fourteen hours of our Eastern commercial metropolis. The waters of the Monongahela, Allegheny, Ohio and Mississippi, connect it with the States of New York, and with Virginia, and with New Orleans, and all the cities and towns on those streams.

Its people are industrious, kind, generous, and hospitable, and deserve at our hands the most liberal treatment.

Three of the Judges of the Supreme Court are Philadelphians, the two who are not natives of our city having built for purchased dwellings in it, and are leading members in two of our largest churches, and have, with their families, their residence with us. Philadelphia has therefore three members of our highest judicial tribunal, and the Democrats propose to add a fourth Philadelphian, so as to give one city four, and the rest of the State but one representative on the bench of the Supreme Court. Five years hence Judge Thompson and Strong come up for re-election, and the argument against their renomination will be that they are Philadelphians, which would be infinitely strengthened by the election of another Philadelphian this fall. Of this truth the numerous friends of those gentlemen must be aware, as well as of the fact, that the Interior of the State will never be satisfied with an eighth part of the population of the State monopolizing four-fifths of the Supreme Court.

Pittsburgh has presented to us, as their candidate, a gentleman not only highly acceptable to the bar and the citizens of Allegheny county, but of the whole West, who are familiar with his legal and judicial career. Judge Williams is a great commercial and constitutional lawyer, in the daily habit of dealing with the questions necessarily arising out of the commerce and business of a thriving, energetic, industrious, and populous community. His decisions are remarkable for their clearness and precision, and sound and mature judgment, while his judicial demeanor is so perfect as to make him not only respected, but beloved by all his fellow-citizens.

This gentleman, thus qualified by his eminent ability and learning, is presented as the Union Republican candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court. To all good Republicans, he comes with the strongest possible recommendation—the unanimous recommendation of a county which will give him 10,000 majority. In voting for him, the only State candidate on our ticket, we secure our patriotic State from Democratic and Presidential misrule, and sustain our noble Congress in the great work of reconstructing the rebel States.

Every Republican vote for Judge Sharswood is a vote for Andrew Johnson and his Democratic friends. With this before his eyes, every honest, consistent Republican who loves his country will vote for Judge Williams, who is right on all the great constitutional questions and principles of the day, which it is the effort of the Democratic party and its leaders, Wood, Black, Vallandigham and Pendleton, to overthrow and destroy. Can any Republican hesitate for a moment to do his full duty by going to the polls on the 8th of October and casting his vote for Henry W. Williams as Judge of the Supreme Court?—Press.

Women Emigrating to Australia.

Miss Rye has just sent out from England another company of young women who are to settle in Victoria, Australia. The arrangements for their voyage is described as follows:

"The between deck, two hundred feet long by thirty eight feet broad, is devoted entirely to the single women, the majority of whom are going out to join friends and relations already settled in Victoria. The sleeping berths lie right and left of the ship's side, with long forms and movable tables running in parallel lines in front of the berth. The berth is fitted up as a large bedroom, accommodating twenty girls at a time, the matron taking her place in a little wooden house at the foot of the gangway. The cook house is large and fitted up with every convenience for cooking bread, could be prepared easily for a thousand persons. Dr. Normanby's distilling apparatus was there, so that not only do the girls get an unlimited supply of water, but the overflow is also collected on to the deck to flush closets, and supply the tanks where the girls wash their clothes. We also noticed Dr. Edmond's ventilator; and it would be difficult for a ship to be more thoroughly furnished for the comfort and safety of passengers."

Miss Rye receives very favorable reports from her previous exportations. The rate of wages in the colonies continues high.

A dish washing machine has been invented out west. The machine proper comprises a box sixteen inches long, ten inches wide and twelve deep (for washing two sets of brushes; a lever and a crank. The dishes are placed on a slide, worked by the lever, and are lowered between the bristles, which are moved backward and forward as briskly as may be required. By a peculiar construction of the wooden backs of these brushes, a current of water is continually thrown against the dishes sufficient to clean them of any ordinary substance, and the brushes are sure to remove any other article that may have adhered to them.

—Mr. Ernest Jones, at his recent lecture in Dublin, gave some interesting statistics. He said there were 1,500 acres in the three kingdoms. In 1770 there were 250,000 owners of the land. In 1850 the number had diminished to 30,000, and was still decreasing. The Duke of Cleveland might ride twenty-three miles through his estate; the Duke of Devonshire had 96,000 acres in the county of Derby; while the Duke of Richmond possessed 340 free acres, and the Marquis of Breadalbane might ride 100 miles in a straight line through his property from his own house door.

—The London Scapel gives the following as an infallible cure for small-pox and scarlet fever: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; fox glove (digitalis) one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar, mix with two table spoonful of water. Take a spoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, smaller doses according to age. If convulsions would compel their physicians to use this, there would be no need of post mortems.

FACETIÆ.

—An aborigio objects to marrying Miss Tail, the daughter of Spotted T., for fear he might get Candal lectures.

—The Commercial Bulletin gives seven jokes on the regatta, which, it says, were all produced from "a single scull."

—One night, in a thunder shower, a little voice from the "trundle-bed" called out, "O, mother; the dark is winking, first it shuts up one then it shuts down."

—"I am afraid, sir, you are in a settled melancholy."

"Indeed, sir, my melancholy won't settle at all, too much stranded."

—The editor of the Lowell Courier, having had a present of pears from the City Almshouse, hopes that when obliged to take up his abode in that public institution it may be in the Fall.

—The following are among the signs over the shops of traders at Fore Sunday Afternoon: "Campbells and puruits Hewn"—"Ches Kits bilied and Rose"—"Clainest shears Reseed Hear;" "Washing, ironin and goin out doin date works don here."

—"Now Charles," said Quilp to his "confidential friend," "how much longer do you intend to stop in this mutiney?"

"Do which, sir?" inquired Swiveller.

"Until I become a bona fide?"

—"They insure everything, Hardcash," from your own life to that of your dog, or the steam boiler that heats your house. Apropos of the subject of insurance, one of the insurance presidents was asked, "Why don't you start a company to insure against a deluge?" "That was the first ever greated," was the quick reply.

—The following conversation occurred between a graceless boy and his teacher:

"What does your father do when he sits down at the table?"

"He asks for the brandy bottle."

"I don't mean that. Well, then, what does your mother do when you sit down at the table?"

"She says she will wring our necks if we spill any cream on the floor."

—Wife and I were looking at some pictures, in which little naked angels were quite conspicuous. She called the attention of our two daughter to them, and remarked with some confusion:

"Lizzy, dear, if you are a good girl, and go to Heaven, you will be like these angels."

Lizzy looked up, with a lip that told at once the child's appreciation of the premises, and said:

"I want to be better dressed than that when I go to Heaven!"

—Teacher, watch the little feet,
Climbing over the garden wall,
Bounding through the busy street,
Hanging, sailing, sled, and ball.
Never mind the time 'twill cost,
Little 'will go last or first,
Guide them, teacher, while you may.

Teacher watch the little hand,
Picking berries, idly, by,
Making houses in the sand,
Tossing up the pleasant hay.
Never dare the question ask,
"Why we learn these things to-day?"
These same little hands may prove
Messengers of light and love.

—A correspondent furnishes the following: Our district school was kept at one time by a young man named Pallone. Among the girls attending school was Paulinda M——, a lively, good-natured Miss of eighteen. It soon became evident that she was the favorite of the teacher, as nearly all his leisure time was spent in her company, and their meetings and interviews during school hours could not be passed unnoticed. One day Mr. ——, one of the boys, and a great favorite of the whole school, burst out in a fit of laughter, and being asked by the teacher for his reasons for so doing, he declined to answer. The teacher, however, insisted, and threatened to punish him, not only for laughing, but for refusing to answer. Would he, would he answer the question if the teacher would promise not to punish him. After some hesitation the teacher gave the required promise.

"I was thinking that if Mr. ——, 'ot the following line of Dr. Watts:

'See genius Patience smile on Pail.'"

The effect upon the school can be better imagined than described.

—One more insane one,
Rather for life,
The reason plain one,
He's taken a wife.

Loving him tenderly,
This widow so fair,
Trim and so slenderly,
Took him in snare.

Where was his father?
Where was his mother?
Where was his sister?
Where was his brother?
Or was there no sharper one
Still than another.

For the black winds of March
He came not a match.
But his wife's "frowning arch"
Makes him tremble and shiver;
Once he looked boldly,
No matter how coldly,
Life's current ran,
Now girls he could wink at them,
Smile at, and think of when,
Like a coy single man:
His misfortune now shrinks at them—
Be wise I wise when you can.

CATAWBA WINE.

I am this day in receipt of one hundred cases of this Wine, which I can recommend to the public as the purest article ever sold in this city. It is, without exception, the finest and most pleasant tasted wine in use. Try it, and be satisfied. For medicinal purposes this is no humbug proposition, got up to exhilarate and deceive—it is absolutely pure.

VIGOROUS VITALITY.

The best defence against disease is a vigorous vitality. Disease is simply a struggle between the life-power and the invading enemies that assail it; and the result depends upon the relative strength of the assailed and assailing principles. In proportion to the vigor and energy of the physique and the constitution, is their probability to resist and fight off the morbid influences which produce sickness. It is a well known fact that certain poisons affect in different degrees the weak and the strong. The dose of opium or arsenic that will suffice to kill a child will scarcely shake a strong man. So is it the case with the semi-poisonous which produce cholera and endemic fevers, dysentaries, fevers and the like. Their effect upon the system depends upon its power of resistance. Arguing, therefore, this resistant power, if you would escape these evils. The only agent necessary to effect this object has been provided in

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of disease which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been pronounced "at last stage" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might settle on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating disease like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate shock to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I felt perfectly satisfied then you could treat me scientifically, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting—and I did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would give all the operations ones made were almost paintless, and has left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C——

SWORD'S SELF-TEMPERING
STEAM POWER
BRICK MACHINE,
MANUFACTURED BY THE
PITTSBURGH BRICK MACHINE
AND
BRICK MANUFACTURING CO.
This Machine takes the clay direct from the bank, (without the preparation by soaking necessary for "soft mud" machines) and tempers it thoroughly, pressing it into moulds of the size and to be packed up eight high in the yard as made. For outline with the letters, bearing hard grade, and making a strong, true brick. We are now prepared to furnish Machines of working now to the machine to form part of the Machine, and will call for Machines when ordered. Address
