

THE ELECTIONS. The election held yesterday in New York, so far as we have learned, presents a very interesting picture. The returns received up to our hour of going to press are meagre and unsatisfactory, and on them can be based no calculation as to the probable result. The city of New York has increased its Democratic majority over its Republican majority, as the returns from the city of New York show. The city of New York has increased its Democratic majority over its Republican majority, as the returns from the city of New York show.

WASHINGTON. (By Telegrams to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 5, 1867. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. It is thought the health of Secretary Welles has somewhat improved. It has been reported that he has recovered from his illness, and is now able to attend to his duties. THE SENATE. The Senate has today passed the bill for the relief of the Freedmen's Bureau. The bill provides for the extension of the Bureau's operations for one year, and also for the appointment of new commissioners. THE PRESIDENT. President Grant has today received a report from the Secretary of War, in which it is stated that the military operations in the South are progressing favorably. The President is pleased with the progress made, and expects that the war will soon be brought to a successful conclusion.

THE THERMOMETER. The thermometer at the observatory today stands at 45 degrees Fahrenheit. The weather is clear and pleasant. THE CITY. The city of Pittsburgh is today in a state of quietude. The streets are well kept, and the public buildings are in good repair. THE MARKETS. The markets today are quiet. The price of wheat is steady, and the price of cotton is also steady. The price of sugar is also steady, and the price of coffee is also steady. THE NEWS. The news today is quiet. There are no important events to report. THE SPORTS. The sports today are quiet. There are no important events to report. THE SOCIETY. The society today is quiet. There are no important events to report.

THE COURTS. THE SUPREME COURT. The Supreme Court today heard the case of the State of New York vs. the City of New York. The case concerns the right of the city to collect taxes. The court is expected to render its decision tomorrow. THE DISTRICT COURT. The District Court today heard the case of the State of New York vs. the City of New York. The case concerns the right of the city to collect taxes. The court is expected to render its decision tomorrow. THE COUNTY COURT. The County Court today heard the case of the State of New York vs. the City of New York. The case concerns the right of the city to collect taxes. The court is expected to render its decision tomorrow.

THE SALE OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The sale of the Pennsylvania Railroad today took place at the City of New York. The railroad was sold to the City of New York for the sum of $100,000,000. The sale was a success, and the City of New York is now the owner of the railroad. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. The Pennsylvania Railroad today is in a state of quietude. The trains are running on time, and the passengers are satisfied.

WHEELER & WILSON. Sewing Machines. H. SMITH, Merchant Tailor. J. K. WILSON, Merchant Tailor. H. SMITH, Merchant Tailor. J. K. WILSON, Merchant Tailor. H. SMITH, Merchant Tailor. J. K. WILSON, Merchant Tailor.