Police Items.

LARCENY OF BAILEY.

William Sullivan yesterday made information before Alderman Taylor, against Detrich Formhals, charging him with larceny by bailee. It appears that the prosecutor rented a house from the defendant, and gave him a watch as collateral security for the payment of the rent. After having paid the same he demanded his watch, but the defendant refused to return it. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

ANOTHER WATCH CASE.

Michael Phelan, during last summer, boarded in Peter Hagen's hotel, at that time kept by John Hager. Michael alleges that he was the owner of two silver watches, one of which, Hagen borrowed from him, promising to take care of it and return it when called upon to do so. Subsequently Hagen sold this watch, lent out in the hoicl, and when Phelan called upon him for the watch, refused to give it up, or rather said he would not have it with him at that time, and requested him to call again, since when he has avoided the prosecutor. Phelan yesterday made information against him before Alderman McMasters, charging him with larceny by bailee, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

COME AT LAST.

We have several times spoken of the condition of Diamond street, between Smithfield and Grant, which, during the summer, has been blockaded with waggons, carts, and divers other class of vehicles, and wondered why some steps were not taken to have them removed. We find this has been attended to at last. Yesterday, J. P. Wilson made information before Alderman McMasters against John Pinto, Earnest Hager and Jacob Myers, who, it appears, have been using the street as a waggon yard, charging them with keeping and maintaining a common nuisance. They were arrested, and held to bail for their appearance at Court.

CAPIAS ISSUED.

Caroline Bastman was arrested yesterday on a capias issuing out of the Court of Common Pleas, on a charge of slander, and committed to jail in default of the required security.

TOO MANY TENANTS.

John Cannally a few weeks since rented a room on High street, from John C. Clements, stating at the time that he wanted it to sleep in, that he had no family and dared to accept the room alone. The key was delivered to him on the above conditions and Cannally took possession, but soon after Rosie, it was accompanied, as Mr. Clement alleges, by a woman he called his wife, two other females and a boy. Words arose, and he kept a regular brothel in the room ever since. Mr. Clements yesterday made information against Rosie, Cannally and the room under false and fraudulent representations, and Alderman McMasters, before whom the information was made, committed Cannally to jail for trial.

ABANDONMENT.

Mary Keuty yesterday made information before Alderman McMasters, against her husband, Martin Keuty, charging him with abandonment. She alleges that he left her in July last, and since then he has refused to contribute to her support. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

CHEAP COAL.

In the times of high prices, and cold weather, the cost of coal to "run an establishment" is not an item, and any method of purchasing it at reduced rates would meet with general favor. As the following method, adopted by Henry Peterson, appears to be a cheap one, we will give it for the benefit of those who may like to try it. He is alleged by Manus McFadden, who it appears is a coal vendor, that Henry Peterson hailed him on the street with a load of coal and asked him to put it in his cellar, which he agreed to do for a certain sum of money to be paid as soon as the coal was put in. He accordingly unloaded the coal, Peterson standing by while it was done, and when he had shoveled it all was in the cellar ordered him to leave the premises, saying he did not intend to pay him a cent for it, and refusing to let him take it out again. Manus did not like the speculation, and appealed to the law. Alderman McMasters, before whom he made complaint, issued a warrant for the arrest of Peterson, on a charge of obtaining coal under false pretence.

NARROW ESCAPE.

An accident occurred yesterday on Federal street, Allegheny, by which a lady, whose name we did not learn, narrowly escaped serious injury. A Manchester car in which the lady was a passenger was coming down the heavy grade on Federal street, between Water street and the railroad crossing, and the conductor, to prevent the car from crowding the horses got out, and holding a broom in front of one of the wheels. The lady observing the movement, thought some unseen danger was pending, and rushing to the platform jumped off just at a moment when a wagon was passing. She fell to the ground in front of the wagon, the fore wheels of which passed over her legs, after which she caught hold of some part of the wagon and was dragged a considerable distance. Her limbs were badly bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. She was taken into a house near at hand, where she received medical attendance, and in a short time was able to be removed to her home.

Maintaining a Nuisance.—This charge has been brought against Street Commissioner Flinn and Messrs. Beckenbaugh and Myers, carriage makers and blacksmiths in Diamond alley, before Alderman McMasters, by J. F. Wilson. The nuisance is alleged to consist in obstructing the alley with wagons and allowing rubbish to accumulate. The accused was held to answer.

The Democratic Executive Committee met yesterday, but failed to come to a conclusion as to whether or not the "unterrified" should call a convention to nominate candidates for city officers. They will meet again on Friday.

The Criminal Court (December term) commences on Monday next. Magistrates should bear in mind that an early return of informations in their charge will greatly expedite business.

The Ladies' Executive Committee of the Soldiers' Monument Association will hold a meeting at Mrs. John Watts' residence, 270 Penn street, this afternoon at two o'clock.

Got Back.—J. H. Miller, Esq., of the Advocate returned yesterday from his wedding tour to the east and west.

—A lady in Rhinebeck was recently reading to her child—a boy of seven years of age—a story of a little fellow whose father was taken ill and died; whereupon the youngster set himself diligently to work to assist in supporting his mother. When she had finished the story, the following dialogue ensued:

Mother—Now, my little man, if ya was to die would'nt you work to help your mother?

Boy—(Not relishing the idea of work.) Why me, what for? Ain't we got a good house to live in?

Mother—Yes, my child; but we can't eat the house you know.

Boy—Well, ain't we got flour, and sugar, and other things, in the store room?

Mother—Certainly we have, my dear, but they will not last long, and what then?

Boy—Well, ma, ain't there enough to last until you can get another husband?

—The deaths of Judge Bunker and A. F. Ritchie have been announced as having taken place recently.

GEORGIA.

Macon and Augusta Railroad—The Conservative Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, November 26.—Trains on the Macon and Augusta Railroad commenced running to Milledgeville to-day.

The Conservative Convention at Macon promises to be fairly attended. Meetings have been held in various parts of the State and delegates appointed. It is believed the Convention will issue an address, urging the people not to take part in the election for the ratification of the Reconstruction Constitution, hoping by this means to defeat it.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Convention Defeated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, November 26.—The impression is almost universal here that owing to the lack of the requisite majority of registered voters, the Convention will be defeated in South Carolina. Six-ty-two thousand votes are required to secure the Convention, and only twenty-five thousand persons are known to have voted in twenty districts out of thirty in the State.

Fire at Kansas City, Mo.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov.—The Pacific Hotel, corner of Fourth and Delaware streets, and a row of two story frame buildings, were burned last night. Very little furniture in the house was saved. All the guests escaped, but many lost their baggage. An old man named Weatherby, from Crown Point, Indiana, while attempting to descend from the third story by a water pipe, fell and broke his legs and otherwise injured himself. The hotel was owned by Robt. L. Hall, and valued at $10,000. The furniture belonged to Mr. Noland. Not insured. Total loss about fifty thousand; one-third insured.

—When the Emperor of China was the following paragraph, which demonstrates what is known only to bankers themselves, was published: "Some of the Emperor's treasures are made out of the Government, but when the latter is pressed to him as a legitimate consequence of his successfully marketing the loans of the Government in the times of our national peril:

I am informed that one time, when the first lady was starving, Mrs. Cooke, of Cooke & Co. was out of pocket to the amount of half a million sterling, and that Mr. Jay and other expenses connected with the loan, while they could be charged for the outlays; and if the bonds had then failed to sell, Mr. Cooke would be forced by the Government, this amount would have been a total loss to him. Mr. Cooke would have had no legal for reimbursement on the part of Mr. Cooke, but the Government, on his Government commission for the realization of a fortune, has generously received by the resemblance; there is an apple-green silk dress, embroidered with silk and gold thread so as to produce the effect of velvet and lace; some splendid guipure de Cluny over silk; and specimens of embroidery in colored straw and other materials, some of it evidently after Japanese models.

—Some people of Scholarie, N. Y., have discovered what they believe to be the entrance to a great subterranean cavern, about half a mile from the Schoharie House, on the farm of Mr. Seymour Clark. It is believed to form a passage under the West Mountains. The entrance, at the head of a ravine, is of arched rock, from which hang various stalactite formations; but it has as yet been explored only about one hundred and fifty feet, on account of a depth of four feet of water, reaching nearly to the top of the arch. The water will be drawn off by an excavation, when the cave can be easily explored. Howe's Cave, in the same town, on the Albany and the Susquehanna Railroad, is well known, and has all the wonders, splendors, and horrors usual to such long subterranean passages. It has an abundance of stalactite and stalagmitite formations. In some places you crawl on hands and knees, in others you are dazzled by the richness of the light from thousands of glittering angles in the sides and roofs; in others you pass in a boat over dark waters; and again you walk along slippery ledges, where it seems as if a false step would precipitate you.

—Through caverns measureless to man, Down to a sunless sea.

The cave was discovered in 1840 by Lester Howe. In 1845, he bought an acre of land covering the entrance, and in 1845 he and his brother, Elmon Howe, bought about seven acres, covering another entrance, which had been excavated. There has been a litigation for the ownership of the entrances, but it has lately been amicably settled by the brothers leading to the entrance to Elmon of five thousand dollars for his interest in the property.

A Snubbed Snob.

A curious story is told in Sir J. Eardley Wilmot's "Memoirs of Mr. Thomas Ashton Smith." Mr. Ashton Smith was a mighty hunter, and was also a very clever man besides being a hunter, but he had fifty thousand a year, and was very headstrong and overbearing, and would have his own way much upon his own importance. Such a question of the following shows that, in his mind at least, hospitality had degenerated into an hotel transaction. He was at dinner the guest of the Duke of Rutland at Belvoir Castle. On one occasion he was not satisfied with the breakfast prepared for him, and complained to the footman that waited upon him that he did not think he had the attention given to him to which he was entitled.

The Duke's steward received the rebuke in silence, but on the following morning, when the sportsman came down to breakfast, he was surprised to see all the footman in the castle enter the room in their state liveries, and take their stations round the table. The man to whom the guest's complaint had been reported, feeling satisfied that every attention had been paid to Mr. Smith, for whom he always entertained a strong respect, took this effectual mode of reproving his testy humour. Another time he complained of the scarcity of muffins, upon which the servants received orders, when next the guests sat scambled at the breakfast table, to pour in upon him a perpetual stream of muffins. Each footman accordingly presented to the bewildered squire an unceasing succession of hot plates, the chorus being, "Muffins, Mr. Smith!"

A Storm at the Senate.

How the rain did patter down outside, to-be sure not coming down in slant, intermittent bursts, wind driven, but falling steadily straight down from heaven to earth, as if bent on fulfilling its mission, and soaking the ground as quickly and thoroughly as possible. It washed every one of the broad leaves on the sombre dust-whitened trees, so that they shone polished, making them "re-assume the forms of their earlier" leafhood. It washed the faces of the houses, too, but they did not like it—they looked very gloomy and sulky under the operation. As for the sea she had a coy fit, and had put on her very thickest veil, so that it was impossible to get a glimpse of her features through it, even when you stood quite close to her. Splash, splash, splash went a few people, umbrellaed and clogged, along the sloppy pavement. The chickens puffed out their feathers as much as ever they could, turned up their coat-collars as it were, and stood morose and shivering in acrobatic attitudes, supporting themselves on one leg, under such shelter as they could obtain. The ducks, on the contrary, thought it good sport, and found even more delicious tit-bits than usual in the gutter. What a deplorable thing a wet day at the seaside is, to be sure.—Not Wisely but Too Well.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, November 26, 1867.

Gold opened dull and weak at 138¾, declined to 138¼, advanced to 138⅝, and closed quiet at 138¾@138⅞. The large amount on the market and in bank while currency is scarce and call loans command 7@8 per cent. and a commission, together with the finances of the market for our bonds in Europe, are the main causes of the depression in the premium. The regular operators are completely non-plussed by the sudden decline of yesterday and to-day; but the foreign bankers seem to have fully comprehended the situation and have bought up all the gold they could get from 138¾ down to 138⅛, have unloaded twice and are again prepared to purchase all that is offered at lower rates, and are pressing their sixty day bills on the market to get currency to pay for gold.

Bonds are dull though slightly improving; the Five Twenties of 1865, May and November, are somewhat lower, though quoted at about the same as last week below those of 1862. Should Congress not pass any measure touching the payment of principal and interest of Five Twenties of all issues, then we may expect a further decline of 1 per cent. bonds advance within a fraction to the 1 per cent. But, as regards a material advance of the United States bonds in Europe, people should not feel too sanguine that there are good investments to be had is Europe that will pay equally as well as American securities; for instance, the Prussian 5 per cent. metalliques. Five per cent. bonds are quoted at 46¾; and 6 per cents of same issue, free of taxes, are 47¾; those of 4½ per cent. are worth 44¾; interest payable in gold. These rates seem to us as these securities can be bought as shares in a bank, that capitalists will not invest in foreign loans, unless payable in Europe under guarantee.

The stock market commenced an upward movement to-day, and stocks are firm, but the rise began too soon, and it can not be of any magnitude. Friday afternoon will likely see a decline again, and certainly the first week after stocks will touch lower prices than they have touched for the last month.

Closing New York quotations, received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

A Sandusky correspondent of the New York Herald furnishes that paper a lengthy sketch of the life and services of Jay Cooke, the great American banker, from which we give the following paragraph, which demonstrates what is known only to bankers themselves, that Mr. Cooke's fortune was made not out of the Government, but from the business conferred upon him as a legitimate consequence of his successfully marketing the loans of the Government in the times of our national peril:

I am informed that one time, when the first lady was starving, Mrs. Cooke, of Cooke & Co. was out of pocket to the amount of half a million sterling, and that Mr. Jay and other expenses connected with the loan, while they could be charged for the outlays; and if the bonds had then failed to sell, Mr. Cooke would be forced by the Government, this amount would have been a total loss to him. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, November 26, 1867.

There is really but little that is new or important to be said about the general markets. As yet there is no improvement to note in the general tone of business, though the fact that the indications for an early resumption of navigation are more favorable, causes a more hopeful feeling, and we are in hopes that the rain which set in yesterday will continue long enough to fill our rivers to a boating. Nearly all our large manufacturing establishments are suffering, more or less, directly or indirectly, for want of river transportation, and more especially is this true of the coal trade.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged; we continue to quote Red Winter at $2,50, and White do at $2,60@2,65. Barley is firm and tending upward; sale of 1000 bushels prime Spring at $1,45. Oats firm, and with a light supply and limited receipts, prices are tending upward; sale of 1 car at 61c—small sales in store at 70@72c. Corn is quiet and unchanged at 85@90c for new, and $1,16@1,20 for old. Rye $1,80@1,85.

FLOUR—There is no improvement to note in the Flour market, either as regards demand or prices, and we continue to quote at $10@10,50 for Spring Wheat, $11,50@12 for Winter Wheat, and $14@15 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is quoted at $5,50@5,75 per barrel, and Buckwheat at $3@3,50 per cwt.

POTATOES—Onattempt very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand, prices are nearly maintained—90c per bush, on track, and 85@90, in store. New Jersey Sweets $5 per bbl.

APPLES—Continue dull, and notwithstanding the supply is very large, prices are unchanged; regular sales in store at $2,50@3,50 per barrel.

BUTTER—Prime to choice fresh Roll Butter is in steady demand, and we can report regular sales at 45@50c. Common packed is dull.

EGGS—Steady, and with a limited supply, is a shade firmer; we now quote fresh packed at 31@32c.

DRIED FRUIT—Is quiet and unchanged at $2@3,50 for Apples, and 12@14c for Peaches.

BEANS—Continue dull and in good supply; occasional small sales in store at $3,50 per bushel for prime White.

HOMINY—Is quoted at $7,50 per bbl.

HAY—Is selling from country wagons at $18@22 per ton, as to quality.

LARD—Is dull; sales of country at 12@13½c, in kegs, and city at 13½@13½c, in tierces.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, November 26, 1867.

CRUDE—The crude market was unusually active to-day, the reported sales being larger than during any preceding day for a week, and reaching over twelve thousand barrels in the aggregate. This was owing to concessions made by producers, and more buyers appear, with the early completion of the Allegheny Railroad, the more favorable indications for an early bulk rifle, and an improvement in the eastern markets, leading to the belief, we thought it best to sell, as the future does not look very promising at present. The sales were as follows: 1000 bbls upon the spot, to be delivered; 2000 to be delivered between the 1st of March and the 30th of April, seller's option, at 7½c; 93 bbls spot, at 8½c, bids returned; 2000 for April and May, seller's option, at 7½c; 2000 for May and June, seller's option, at 8c; 1000 for all 1867, same option, at 8½; and 1 bbl bills on spot, at 6c, bids returned. We heard of no offer to buy for all 1868, buyer's option at 11c.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil is quiet, with a little doll but unchanged. Sale of 400 bbls for November delivery, at 28½c; 50 bbl at 27½c, and 860 prime light straw to white for November, at 24½. There is but little oil coming across, as our refiners will not, as a general thing, sell at the prices possible by holding a few days or weeks, they may realize better prices.

The following are the shipments:

PITTSBURGH AND PHILADELPHIA DEPOTS.

Hutchinson Oil Co., 60 bbls ref. to L. Wilcox, Philadelphia.

Clark & Schaw & Co., 85 do do to E. Schaik, Philadelphia.
