GEN. HANCOCK is ordered to report at Washington immediately. It is understood that he is to be placed in command of the new Atlantic Military Division.

How profound the obedient reverence in which the Judiciary is held by the Democracy! And how consistently they manifest their respect for the crime!

NEW HAMPSHIRE politicians of both parties, before the election, canvassed the State and published their estimates of the vote to be given, and the Republicans were within fifty of their own actual vote, while they put the Democracy about five hundred too high.

CONNECTICUT holds her State election on the 6th of April. The vote will be close, and its result doubtful. The State vibrates from one party to the other in alternate years.

IN THE PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION OF 1860, Mr. MORROW B. LOWMY, of Erie, acting in behalf of the supporters of Mr. SIMON CAMERON, offered a resolution for the appointment of a Committee, consisting of three members, to frame an Electoral ticket, to nominate the entire delegation from the Commonwealth to the National Convention at Chicago, and binding the delegation so appointed to cast an unanimous vote for Mr. CAMERON as the candidate for the Presidency.

When the delegation met at Chicago the effect of this resolution was brought under consideration. Mr. ANDREW H. REEDER, from the Eleventh district, insisted that the delegation was under obligations to go in a solid body for Mr. CAMERON.

popularity of that gentleman with the Republican masses. His chief supporters in this body were members of the Convention of 1860. Yet they brought forward, and carried through, a resolution empowering the Chairman of the delegation in the National Convention to cast the whole number of votes for Mr. CURTIN for the Vice Presidency.

Mr. THOMAS M. MARSHALL signalled himself in the State Convention of 1860 by resisting the resolution of instructions when pressed upon that body. He earned equal honor by resisting it in the late Convention.

AN UNPROFITABLE PUNCTILIO. Secretary SEWARD contends that our objection to the exercise by England of her right, under the state of facts then existing, to concede the privileges of belligerency to the Confederate States, is one that we cannot abandon without prejudice to our national honor.

Had we maintained this outbreak to be only an insurrection, every prisoner captured, of whatever rank, would have been liable to summary trial, before court martial, and punishment as a traitor taken in arms.

Why then waste words in bootless controversy upon a technical point which serves only to embarrass that adjustment of every material matter in dispute, which is to-day awaiting our acceptance?

CONNECTIONS of the world that, had England forsaken that recognition and held entirely aloof from the exercise of her sovereign right, our own government would have found itself able to quell the rebellion, singly and legally as a rebellion, without yielding its claim to the higher category of a regular belligerent.

THE question is, simply and properly, only one of law, not of feeling. If the first be against us, it is our duty and our interest to yield it, and we can comfort our wounded pride by remembering that we have, by that concession of the international principle, a most effective means of gratifying the outraged sentiment in future retaliation.

The satisfactory settlement of the present affair with England is practically within our reach. We urge its immediate implementation, as a matter only inferior in importance to reconstruction and impeachment.

Without this, she would not entertain our reclamations for an instant. This is all we need ask; it is all we can hope to sustain. Why should not Congress, then, recognize and control the situation, by quickening the hesitating diplomacy of our Fabian Secretary, into an early and wise decision, improving the ripe opportunity in the true interests, present and remote, of the United States as a first-rate power, and of exactly that "national honor" for which he is so needlessly solicitous?

WALL STREET experiences its monthly excitement again. It is now convulsed by a stock-jobbing conflict between the two railways Titans, Vanderbilt and Drew. The prize they fight for is the control of the Erie Railway, and no contest of such magnitude has ever before been known in the annals of even that arena of gladiatorial finance.

Mr. JOHNSON made very grave charges against General BELL, then commanding the Army of the Ohio, and finally succeeded in procuring his removal from that command. A commission subsequently met at Nashville, to investigate these charges and it was found that they were very difficult to prove.

THE HUMORS from Tennessee, of anticipated danger to the public peace, are undoubtedly exaggerated by the increasing audacity of a secret rebel organization in that State, spreading perhaps into Kentucky, and styling itself the "Kuk-Lux-Klan."

AN EPISCOPAL REPRIMAND. In accordance with the judgment of the ecclesiastical court, Rev. S. H. TYSON, Jr., was publicly reprimanded by Bishop Potter, on Saturday last, at the Church of the Ascension, in New York. Mr. TYSON's offense consisted in having held services in the edifice and according to the forms of another Christian denomination, which he was more easily convicted, since he freely avowed and defended his act.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mlle Zee commenced the second week of her engagement at the Opera House last night. The audience, though not so large as we expected, was quite respectable.

Josh Billings' phlegm. It's strange a man's phlegm should be so kind and low when he gets beat. Axl or us complain of the shortness of life, yet we will waste more time than we know.
