The Joint Committee of the General Assemblies of the Old and New School have completed their labors and adjourned. The result of their deliberations is not definitely known, as its action is to be reported first to the respective Assemblies before being made public. From different sources we learn that advanced steps were taken on the basis of union, over the previous overtures, and, which are more likely to harmonize the two branches, than the former plan. The vote, too, on the basis of re-union was taken standing and was unanimous. The scene, when the final action was taken, was impressive and thrilling. Thanks were tendered by Dr. Stearns for the blessed and harmonious result, and then, hand in hand forming an unbroken circle around the Chairman, Rev. Dr. Beatty, the members sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." In this circular chain the members of the two Schools made alternate links in almost every instance, and the whole expressed the perfect oneness of heart which all felt. It is represented that there were many and difficult questions solved, requiring a thorough canvass, of which the most important were the doctrinal basis, the publication agencies, the mixed churches and Theological Seminaries. But it is believed all these questions were satisfactorily

Drs. Cotton Smith, Dyer and Canfield, and others, were appointed to make the necessary arrangements for a public meeting, and to prepare a protest for adoption thereat. A resolution of sympathy with the Rev. Mr. Tyng, in view of his public reprimand, was passed. The discussion at the meeting though spirited and at times excited, was kept in proper bounds. Some urged immediate withdrawal, and the organization of an Episcopal Church worthy bath. Next Thursday evening, the 26th, of the name. As the matteris to come before the General Convention, and as the feeling hitherto has been to remain in the Church, and endeavor to reform it, we do not share in the fears of some that a schism is likely to occur at present. Rev. Dr. Ridgely counseled that systematic efforts should be adopted, and the constituency educated to demand the abrogation of the canon by the General Convention. One or two of the speakers PHILOSOPHY OF MARannounced their determination "to accept the first invitation to preach in a Methodistmeeting-house, if all the High Churchmen and Bishops in the land should remonstrate." The meeting of the General Convention will be looked for with interest.

The National Baptist thinks the object of a dictionary is not to indicate the opinions, theological, or political, or philosophical, of the author, but the exact definitions of words according to the rules governing them. It assumes that Dr. Worcester is unbiased in his opinions, and yet his definitions of baptized, and its cognates, might have been written by a Baptist, while those NOTICE TO THE HOLDERS of Dr. Webster plainly show that he was not a Baptist.

The Universe (Catholic) admits that, at this moment, and for many years past, the Irish Catholic sick poor of Philadelphia have been, in the majority of instances, taken care of by Protestant benevolence. It says this is a great honor to Protestant liberality, but a disgrace to Catholic pride.

Rev. Morgan Dix, D. D., of the Episcopal Church, in a recent discussion, affirmed that the Episcopal Church did not require THE FOLLOWING LOANS the reordination of a priest coming from the Catholic Church, but that ministers coming from the Presbyterians and Congregationalists are always re-ordained without any exception.

The Independent says the richest congre gation in New York, except that of Trinity Church, is one of Jews, who are building an elegant synagogue on Fifth avenue. The next in point of wealth is that of St. Bartholomew, which numbers William B. Astor and Com. Vanderbilt among its pew-

The spirit of union is of a broader type in California than is seen in the older States generally. It would seem from the intelligence from the Pacific coast, that the Congregational, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian churches of Stockton, Cal., united in union services. Quite a number of conversions are reported. Many members of the Episcopal Church are interested workers in the meeting and give their hearty support. Elder Knapp, the noted Baptist revivalist is now laboring at San Francisco, "to help the cause of Christ and the Close Communion Baptists in that city," while at · Stockton he did not work with other denominations.

According to circulars issued by the American Unitarian Association, the sum of $107,000 was contributed in 1865, to aid in the circulation of its publications. In 1866 but $65,000. But in 1867, though nearly at the close of the financial year, only $25,-000 had been contributed. It is alleged that this falling off results from what is termed the "double policy" of the Board, compelling the Association to "that of facing two ways at once," owing to the blending of turned at the time Licenses are taken out, or pay non-evangelical and evangelical members of the Board. One of the churches states that they cannot consistently contribute to the funds, "until the Association is strongly, arowedly, evangelically, unequivocally, and and had such ministers as President Mahan and President Blanchard for pastors. The Independent refers to its trials, and what it has accomplished in radical and reformatory matters, and thinks its future promising.

Just as a young man, the son of Rev. G. W. Woodruff, of New York, a Methodist minister, was breathing his last, a faithful Catholic girl, who had been in the family since he was 11 years old, and who waited upon him during all his sickness, offered the touching and carnest prayer, "Lord Jesus, for his patient suffering during these long months, let him into Heaven." Her kind heart, says Zion's Herald, had been so impressed with his enduring patience that, following the teachings of her Church, she confidently urged it before God as a reason for his salvation. He died in triumphant faith in Christ.
