

The Pittsburgh Gazette

THE ENCHANTRESS. A SPRING-TIME LYRICO FOR MABEL. BY T. P. ALDRICH. It is only in legend and fable...

TABLE TALK. —Alabama has forty postmistresses. —In Washington—Lucille Western. —Ole Bull gave a concert in Plymouth Church.

—The water in Lake Michigan is five inches lower than it has been before for 30 years, at least the Detroit papers say so. The Chicago papers can't tell...

—The Nashville Press and Times of Saturday last contains an account of an outrage committed by the Kuklux-klan on an Irish citizen of Waverly, Tenn., whose only offense was that as a Union man he had been dreadfully persecuted during the war...

—A man in Iowa had so severe an attack of inflammatory rheumatism last week that he took off his leg, per se. —"Marriages in prospect" is the heading of a daily item in the Chicago Post...

—Mrs. Burdell Eodes Cunningham is not dead, but is largely interested in mining, and has gone from San Francisco to Loretto.

the recovery of Robinson, who had stolen his wife. Larceny was what he accused him of. —If people would, when building houses, remember that a pretty house costs no more to build than an ugly one...

—The Trenton (Tenn.) Gazette complains of having "too many gentlemen in that State, and too few working men." It is not impossible to have plenty of working-men and none but gentlemen in the North...

—A government school for the instruction of persons in the science of telegraphy has been established in Pesth, Hungary. The wires have been so rapidly extended there since the wise rule of Premier Von Buesz began...

—A little boy in Tennessee, about a week ago, found notes and papers worth $40,000 concealed in the stump of a tree. They are supposed to have been the property of a Mr. Daniel Ball, whose mysterious disappearance about that amount of his property has suggested foul play.

—The Michigan Central Railroad has just had a new dining car placed on its day express. Furnished with marble tables, mirrors, soft cushions and an excellent cuisine, it is bound to work a revolution in the travelers' eating question.

—A Mr. Sweeney was riding in a hack on the beach at Galveston, a week ago Sunday, when he met another hack containing some young women of his acquaintance. He joined them, and when the ride was over the driver asked him for pay.

—The Nashville Press and Times of Saturday last contains an account of an outrage committed by the Kuklux-klan on an Irish citizen of Waverly, Tenn., whose only offense was that as a Union man he had been dreadfully persecuted during the war...
