THE LATE RIOT.

Further from the Seat of War—More Trouble Anticipated—A Large Police Force Armed and Sent to O'NEILL'S. Twenty-Four Coal Miners in the Lock-Up. Yesterday about noon a dispatch was received at the Mayor's office to the effect that another attack by the rioters, on O'NEILL'S party, was anticipated. It appears the funeral of Joseph Belger, the Frenchman who was shot and killed by Hart, took place yesterday. The remains of Belger were interred in a graveyard near Birmingham, and the funeral was very attended by nearly all the works along the Monongahela. Many of these people came from points near O'NEILL'S, and marched in procession past the latter, carrying a flag. When near O'NEILL'S some of the party were heard to make threats. Many persons residing in that vicinity became greatly alarmed, and hence the application for a protecting force of police. At three P. M. a force of thirty men, armed with revolvers, started for the place of the late riot, via the Connellsville Railroad. A gentleman who accompanied them attended the funeral, and returned at a late hour. He reported that he left O'NEILL'S at eight o'clock. At that time all was quiet. On his way back to the city, however, on informant learned that a large party of rioters were on their way up the river, returning from the funeral. They were traveling on foot, and were reaching O'NEILL'S works about twelve o'clock. As these men were generally intoxicated, it was thought that a collision with the police was highly probable. This party of rioters could have gone up on the Brownsville packet, which started from here at five o'clock in the afternoon, but it is not known if the O'NEILL'S party was on board. The Captain declined to take the miners on board, as it was feared they would commit some act of violence. In this city, during the afternoon, the police arrested six coal miners, who had attended the funeral under the name of the rioters. Their names are Chris Stokes, Wm. Carter, Thos. Rose, James Anderson, James Conroy and James Kelly. They are employed at Blackburn's works, on the Monongahela, next above O'NEILL'S, and evidently belonged to the party which last night attacked the latter. On the morning of the riot, Blackburn visited the prisoners in the lock-up last evening. They told him they had no objection to their being taken to the city, but that they did not think there was any harm in their doing so. These men were arrested in a drinking saloon near the river, where Stokes was charged with the shooting of Belger was a deliberate murder. This remark was followed by a threat. At a late hour, about eighteen miners were arrested at the "Old House at Home," corner Grant and Ross streets. They had attended the funeral of Belger, and got drunk, and were expressing themselves freely with regard to the riot and its fatal consequences, generally winding up with threats against the police for arresting the prisoners who will have a hearing.

Criminal Court—Judges Sterritt and Mellon. In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Williams, indicted for receiving stolen goods, the property of R. & J. Watson, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The case of Griffin and Vose, who were brought to this county from Lowell, Mass., on a requisition from the Governor, to answer an indictment of conspiracy to defraud, was fixed for trial this morning, but was postponed at the request of counsel until the 14th instant. The prisoners are charged with having obtained, by fraudulent representations, negotiable notes amounting to $2,000 from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, and with passing the same as a valid receipt for the same. The case of the Commonwealth vs. Hart, charged with the murder of Joseph Belger, was fixed for trial this morning, but was postponed at the request of counsel until the 14th instant. The case of the Commonwealth vs. Stokes, charged with the murder of Joseph Belger, was fixed for trial this morning, but was postponed at the request of counsel until the 14th instant.

THE PINE RUN HOMICIDE CASE. William Hart was brought informally before the Court, for a hearing in the homicide case growing out of the riot of February, and stealing therefrom a lot of boots, shoes and other merchandise, were then brought into Court and placed in the dock for sentence, except Birdsell, who was provided with a chair near the other prisoners. Judge Mellon, in sentencing Birdsell, said he appeared to be the chief of the gang, and that there was not much use in addressing any words of advice to him. He had committed the crime, and he had no right to be excused. He would attend it, and he must take the consequences of his act. He then sentenced Birdsell to be imprisoned in the Penitentiary for four years, and on the second count for larceny—to be imprisoned for one year and six months.

THE EAST LIBERTY BURGLARY. The prisoners convicted of burglary and larceny, in entering the store of Mrs. Stewart, between Lawrenceville and East Liberty, on the night of the 26th of February, and stealing therefrom a lot of boots, shoes and other merchandise, were then brought into Court and placed in the dock for sentence, except Birdsell, who was provided with a chair near the other prisoners. Judge Mellon, in sentencing Birdsell, said he appeared to be the chief of the gang, and that there was not much use in addressing any words of advice to him. THE GREENSBURG BURGLARY. The prisoners convicted of burglary and larceny, in entering the store of Reuben Shrum, Esq., on Pittsburgh street, in this place, was broken open on Saturday night last, and a number of articles carried off. The entrance was effected by breaking the hinges of one of the window shutters next the alley, when the window was hoisted and access gained into the warehouse in the rear of the store room. From there, by the use of a screw driver, the lock on the partition door was removed, and they had an entrance to the store room. Among the articles missed is about ten dollars from the drawer in small change, a full web of black and white furled cassimere, of about forty yards, a full web of about fifty yards of bleached muslin, a box of four blades knives, two pairs of white knit woolen drawers, and two shirts of the same material, about three pounds of Y. H. tea, a lot of cut and dry tobacco, about five pounds of fine candles, a lot of common cigars, a box of canned peaches, a cake of cheese, and a couple of pounds of Goshen cheese. No doubt many other articles were taken that have not yet been missed by Mr. Shrum.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

Nine Dwellings Burned in Duquesne Borough—Loss Over $18,000. A very destructive fire occurred about one o'clock yesterday morning in the Eighth Ward, Allegheny (Duquesne Borough), by which nine dwelling houses were destroyed. The property destroyed was situated on Main street, running back to Pine, whereon is located the Western Pennsylvania Railroad track. The fire was discovered at about one o'clock, as already stated, and is supposed to have originated in the bake oven attached to the residence of Mr. Charles Zeicher. The oven had been used on Tuesday evening, and at dark the hot coals and ashes were taken out and left remaining near the house, in a very careless manner. To this act of carelessness may be attributed a disaster involving the loss of thousands of dollars, falling principally upon poor widows, who are ill prepared for such calamitous events. A visit to the scene of the conflagration enables us to present the following facts with regard thereto: The principal loser by the fire is Mr. A. Holstein, proprietor of the Union Tannery, whose bark house containing about six hundred cords of tan bark, worth about $7,000, was totally destroyed, together with its contents. There was also insured by the same company, amounting to $3,000, in the Ben Franklin Company of Allegheny. Adjoining the bark house was an old frame building also belonging to Mr. Holstein, which was stored with old barrels. This was also destroyed. Loss not above $200.

Near the tannery, fronting on Main street, stood a small one story frame dwelling house, which was recently built for Mrs. Saunders, a widow lady, and into which she had removed her effects on Tuesday. Her little home is now in ashes, together with a large portion of her furniture. Loss $1,100; no insurance. Adjoining Mrs. Saunders' house on Main street, was a large two story frame, occupied by Charles Zeicher, which was also destroyed; also, a portion of the furniture. Loss $1,500. Partially insured in the German Insurance Company. The two story frame dwelling of Mrs. Graw, a widow, situated on Main street, was entirely destroyed. Loss not ascertained. In the rear of Mrs. Graw's was a new two story frame, unoccupied, which was also destroyed. A carpenter named Wilhelm was burned.

Also, a one story frame on Carpenter's alley, owned and occupied by Mrs. Bailey, widow. Loss $1,000; no insurance. Next door to the above was a one story frame occupied by Frederick Carpenter, which was completely destroyed. Still another widow lady, named Rebecca Willis, occupying a two story frame near what last mentioned, lost her home and nearly all her furniture. A two-story frame house on Main street, occupied by Mr. Miller, was partially destroyed. The loss will amount to about $2,000. Insured in a German company. The dwelling of David Bowen, a two-story frame, situated on the corner of Main and total loss, together with most of the furniture. In the rear of the widow Gray's house was a two-story frame occupied by a family named Barclay, which was burned, and the family saved but a small portion of their effects. The loss is estimated at eighteen thousand dollars. The buildings were all frame, owned principally by the occupants, and were nearly all partially insured in German companies. The Allegheny fire companies were early on the ground, and did good service.

The Teachers' Institute—Tuesday's Proceedings. In our report of the proceedings of the afternoon session of the Teachers' Institute, on Tuesday, we stated that the proceedings were disagreeful. From that statement we have nothing to retract. The proceedings were disagreeful in the extreme, and no honest minded person who heard them could call them anything else. Such conduct as took place there might have been tolerated in a boisterous political meeting, but it is decidedly unbecoming in a convention of school teachers. Neither party are without blame, nor did we consider it necessary to mention the name of either. It is due to Mr. McMurray, who has been accused of furnishing the information on which the report was made, to state that he had nothing to do with it. Our reporter was present and witnessed the proceeding. The conduct on the occasion was unbecomingly disagreeful. If such conduct is to be the rule in Teachers' Institutes, we would not hold an annual convention at all. We contemplated giving a full report of the proceedings, but doubtless many of those who participated in the same, would have preferred to see their conduct, consequently we refrain, hoping that we may never witness such proceedings again in a Teachers' Institute.

Burglary in Greensburg. It appears from the following, which we clip from the Greensburg Democrat, that they have been visited by professional burglars: The dry goods and grocery store of Reuben Shrum, Esq., on Pittsburgh street, in this place, was broken open on Saturday night last, and a number of articles carried off. The entrance was effected by breaking the hinges of one of the window shutters next the alley, when the window was hoisted and access gained into the warehouse in the rear of the store room. No doubt many other articles were taken that have not yet been missed by Mr. Shrum.

Larceny. Yesterday morning John Bayless, a brakeman on a coal train on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, was arrested on a charge of stealing coal from the trains on that road. Last night while a train was standing on Pike street, Bayless it is alleged, threw a considerable quantity of coal to the sidewalk from one of the cars owned by Messrs. Klor, Foster & Co., where it was discovered by the porter, Mr. John Foster, one of the members of the firm, preferred a charge of larceny against Bayless before Alderman Taylor, and the accused was arrested forthwith. Bayless stated that he had given the coal to a "poor woman" who had been importuning him, but could not remember her name or place of residence. He was committed for a further hearing.

Fire in East Birmingham. About five o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the steam room attached to the packing house property on the ground to existing house, on Railroad street, East Birmingham. The fire was discovered before it had gained much headway, and was extinguished with slight loss.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Third Day—Morning Session. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Prayer by Rev. Hill, of Meadville. Music furnished by a class of beautiful young ladies from Prof. McClymonds' school, of East Birmingham. Lecture by Rev. John S. Spear, Subject: "The School Master." He spoke of the bad effects of employing poorly qualified teachers, frequently making impressions which require time and effort of parents or good teachers to erase. The teacher should be well qualified for the position he occupies—argued in favor of recent improvements in modes of teaching. In addition to knowledge acquired, the teacher should be, as Paul says, "apt to teach, capable of governing," and the best inducement to a teacher is one that can govern himself. The true teacher tries to make his or her pupils feel that what they do, is only for their pupils' good. A great object of a good teacher is to acquire a knowledge of human nature. Different cases in the school room require a different treatment as do the different cases that occur in a physician's practice. The teacher should be eminently moral—a bright gem in society. A man who possesses a fine intellect and lacks in morality is a great calamity—lacking in that which is essential to command respect. An able lecture by Rev. Robert McMillan, subject: "The Mind Still Principle of All Right Teaching." Every teacher, he said, should be familiar with all they attempt to teach. It is similar that they could make a plain statement of anything that would come up in their minds, and then be put together, when all the parts were understood. The teacher must have the power of illustrating, and of leading in order to a great end. The children must be guided, and this may be done by being very well acquainted with every thing that is to be taught. A teacher should always study anew every lesson, in order to give the pupils that which comes from the running stream, and not from the stagnant pool. The speaker commenced by saying that in looking over the list of names, he was reminded of a group of sponges which grow in the Mediterranean, being filled every time the waves go over them, and then letting it all go again as soon as the waves are past. He alluded to his own mind, and thought that it is not very much needed, squeezing. The speaker then proceeded in a very happy and interesting manner, and was adjourned till two o'clock.

HOMEOPATHIC HOSPITAL.

The Hospital has fully sustained its average of patients during the past month, including in its admission one with fracture of both bones of the leg, one with a broken collar bone, and one whose leg it was found necessary to amputate, all whom are doing well and rapidly convalescing. The report of the Dispensary physician shows a large increase. While the number of prescriptions issued during February was two hundred and forty-six, in March there were three hundred and forty-six applications for treatment, many cases requiring the services of the Dispensary. The Dispensary is open for the treatment of the poor, free of charge, from 11 to 12 o'clock every day, except Saturday, at the Hospital, on Second street, above Smithfield.

THE TACK BILL KILLED IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

We have been shown a telegram from a prominent member of the House saying: "HARRISBURG, April 1, 1868. 'We killed the Tack bill this morning.' As this case is now certain to be finally tried by the Court in Philadelphia, on Tuesday, April 14th, 1868, it will gratify our readers to know it will be fairly and finally disposed of."

A Colored Genius.—Charles B. Ramsey, a young colored man, dark as the oak of spades, has been delighting Allegheny audiences with readings from Shakespeare. He is a marvel in his way, knowing by heart every line of the great author, including his sonnets. It is hard to conceive how the memory can retain so much as is stored in the remarkable African head of Ramsey. He reads with decided power and feeling, and his color white, would prove a formidable rival to many of the star tragedians who now strut the stage.

Reduction.—Sarah Andrews, aged fifteen years, made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday, charging Saml B. McCain with seduction. The prosecutrix alleges that the defendant seduced her and married her, and that by inducing her to believe that the vows he had made would be fully fulfilled he accomplished her ruin. She also alleges that the offence was committed in November, 1867, and that she was in her fifteenth year. The accused was arrested and after a hearing, was held to trial in the sum of two thousand dollars.

A Family Quarrel.—Yesterday Timothy Harrington and his wife made separate information before Alderman Taylor, charging Matthew Donovan with assault and battery. Donovan is a brother of Mrs. H., and it is alleged he beats and abuses her and during last month when she was sick, he was arrested and held for court.

CITY ITEMS.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Reports from Fort Laramie say that the Cheyennes and Northern Arapahoes will be fully represented at the Indian Council. The Sioux are not in yet, but are expected to arrive by the seventh, when the Commission will probably reach Laramie. Passengers by the Santa Fe coach, which reached Laramie City, Kansas, on the 26th ult., report that on the Wednesday previous the Indians robbed a train camped on the Arkansas river, twenty-five miles below Fort Dodge, of twenty-five mules, and the next day robbed another train of six mules and all its provisions. The Indians committing these depredations are said to be the Cheyennes.
