was locked when they retired. The other rooms on the same floor were occupied by borders, but the doors were secured by bolts on the inside, and the thieves failed to gain access. None of the boardere were aware of the robbery until Sunday morning. The money stolen was the savings of several years, and its loss will fall heavily upon Mr. Johnston. Another Highway Robbery.

Highway robberies have become alarmingly frequent in our city within the past month, and unless some very stringent measures are adopted to prevent their occurrence and secure the safety of the citizens, it will soon be unsafe for a man to pass through many portions of the city alone. There appears to be a regularly organized band of dastardly cut-throat robbers infecting the city, who commit their depredations with impunity. Inoffensive men are knocked down and robbed of whatever of value they chance to have about them while passing from work to their homes at all hours of the night, yet the po-lice are unable to obtain any information as to who the murderous villians are. No less than three men were robbed in this way one day last week, two of which have way one day last week, two or winen mave already been reported in the city papers. The third was James Moore, engineer on the city papers from the tow boat Alps, who was passing from the boat up First street to his residence on friday night about eight o'clock, and when near "Chancery Lane" he was assaulted near "Chancery Lane" he was assaulted by three men who came up behind him. One of them dealt him a blow with a slungshot above the right eye, which stunned him, but did not knock him down. He turned round facing the villians, when he received another blow more effective than the had been drinking during that day, and remembered nothing about the affair. Judge Mellon ordered him to the matter of punishment would be consciented another blow more effective than received another blow more effective than the former, as it rendered him insensible. He lay there for some thime, but finally recovered, when he discovered that his pocketbook containing five dollars, a silver watch and his hat had been taken. He has not the slightest idea who the villians were, as he had not time to see their faces before he received the blow which deprived him of consciousness for the time. What can done to prevent these murderous at-

Boots and Shoes at Bargains. Several days ago we noticed the fact that a special private sale of well made and desirable boots, shoes, gaiters and slippers, of all the latest styles and fashions, had been commenced at the auction salesrooms of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth street, and to-day we announce its continuance until the entire stock is sold. It is hardly necessary to state that the goods are good and that the original cost of production has not been regarded in the prices at which offered, as this house is proverbial for reasonableness in this as well as other leading special-time. We advise our readers to call in ties. We advise our readers to call in, look at the stock and determine themselves the superior advantages afforded for cheap bargains. Dealers who buy to sell again, as well as retail purchasers, can rely on gotting decidedly more than the worth of their money invested in boots, shoes and gaiters at this establishment.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Melion. The following business was transacted vesterday:

Benjamin Saunders and H. W. Edwards, both colored, and aged about thirteen years, were placed on trial for the larceny of money from the money drawer in the store of W. H. & J. T. McConnell, in East Liberty. It appeared from the evidence that of W. H. & J. T. McConneil, in East Liberty. It appeared from the evidence that the boys visited the store on the 12th of last month. Saunders came in first and asked to be shown some probleton, and while he month. Saunders came in first and asked to be shown some neckties, and while he was engaged in examining the ties Edwards came in and passed back to the rear of the store. About half an hour after they left the proprietors discovered that some fifty dollars had been taken from the money drawer. The next morning one of the profifty dollars had been taken from the money drawer. The next morning one of the proprietors saw Edwards on the street, and the latter endeavored to get out of the way. He pursued and captured him. He found a pocket book in one of his boots containing twenty-two dollars in money. Edwards stated that he had given a portion of the twenty-fwo dollars in money. Edwards stated that he had given a portion of the money to Saunders. The latter was subsequently arrested, and over twenty dollars were found in his possession. The jury found a verdict ofguilty, and the boys were committed to the House of Refuge.

Dry Goods and Notions at Wholesale and Where to Purchase to Advantage. Messrs, Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co., the proprietors of the well known, old established and popular wholesale dry goods house, No. 115 Wood street, have long presented very superior attractions in the way of advantageous prices, large and excellent selection and variety of stock, and have succeeded in building up a trade fully equal to that of any leading mercantile house engaged in that line of business. They but recently received a very large invoice of general dry goods, trimmings and noof general dry goods, trimmings and notions, which embraces everything that is suitable to the seasons of spring and summer. These goods were purchased for cash during the temporary panic which lately swept over the Eastern cities, and can be disposed of to the patrons of this house at much cheaper prices than those which now rule in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. This may appear strange to which now rule in New York, Dosson and Philadelphia. This may appear strange to those not thoroughly posted on the irregularities and consequent depression in larities and consequent depression in prices, which marked the early opening of prices, which marked the early opening of the importers and manufacturers' spring trade, but to experienced buyers presents no anomaly or perplexing problem. Those merchants, and they were few in number, who were fortunate enough to make their purchases during the conservatism in business, secured immense advantages which cannot possibly be again obtained th outsiness, secured immense advantages which cannot possibly be again obtained during the present season. After the markets strengthened, the losses sustained in kets strengthened, the losses sustained in sacrificing goods to meet pressing obligations, made imperative by a disordered condition of affairs, had to be made good by largely advanced prices, and late buyers were the sufferers. Messrs. Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co, propose to shape their advantages with their patrons, and as we have remarked, are now selling goods lower than they can be purchased in the teastern markets. The home dealers will readily discover wherein they will be benefitted by conferring to this representative firm a full cover wherein they will be benefitted by conforring to this representative firm a full share of patronage, as they can buy cheaper and save the incidental expenses and freight incurred by bestowing orders or making purchasing visits to the East, and will obtain as admirabte a choice and selection. Any of our readers visiting the city to lay in their fresh supplies, or who are replenishing their stoks by order, should keep in view this old and high standing business house, and become satisfied business house, and become satisfied through buying experience that it is larged by to their interest to confine their patro-

The Lock-Up Last Night. Although the number of guests at the "tombs" last night was not so large as on some former occasions, some of the cases were of more than usual interest. There were but seven of the cells occupied at twelve o'clock. No. 1 was empty. No. 2 was occupied by these representations at the Eagle, where it appears he was commodated at the Eagle was occupied by some poor unfortunate wretch, who had been picked up out of the gutter on Fifth street in a beastly state of intoxication, about ten o'clock, and was still insensible from the effects of the accuracy at 10 had been drinking. No. 3 cursed stuff he had been drinking. No. 3 cursed stuff he had been drinking. No. 3 contained a respectable looking man from Peebles township, apparently about forty-five years of age, and quite intelligent. On being asked for what he was arrested, he said that he was a farmer, owned a small farm in Peebles township, and had come to the city yesterday morning with marketing. After disposing of his produce he met a friend who insisted upon his drinking with him. They went together to a saloon and took several drinks, at ter which his recollection was very indistinct, until about eleven o'clock, when he awoke from a heavy sleep and found his recollection heavy when he awoke from a heavy sleep and found himself caged. He said it was the first time he ever "played checkers with his nose," and he guesse would be the last. Nos. 4 and 5 each would be the last. Nos. 4 and 5 each contained a victim, who had been brought in beastly drunk but a few moments before twelve. No. 6 was tenanted by a lively, honest-faced Scotchman, who had been unhonest-faced Scotchman, who had been unfortunate either in the size or number of drinks taken during the day. It, was the first time he had ever been caged, and if he keeps his promise he will not soon be caught again. Some poor, miserable specimen of humanity, who had been pieked up as a vagrant, occupied No. 7, and a welldressed, genteel looking young man, who it appears was arrested on suspicion of having had a hand in some of the recent robberies, tenanted No. 8. The only grounds of suspicion, we learn, is the fact that he has been loafing about the city for several months with no visible means of support.
The victims will all be brought before the Mayor this morning.

Larceny by Ballee.—Mary Kelly made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters, charging Edward Kelly with larceny by ballee. Mrs. Kelly is the widow of George Kelly, who was a slate roofer. Since his death Mrs. K. has carried on the businessim compaction with her brother-in. business in connection with her brother-in law, the defendant. Some time since a con tract was made between the Kelleys and tract was made between the Kelleys and the proprietors of the Banner Cotton Mills for a job of reofing, which amounted to $335,50. The work was done and Edward collected the money, and refuses to give Mrs. K. her share. A warrant was issued for his arrest. for his arrest.

A Princely Present. Mesers. Reine man, Meyran, & Siedle have on exhibition in one of their beautiful show windows of their new and magnificent house, No. 42
Fifth street, a princely gift in the way of a massive gold cross and chain, and a heavy massive gold cross and chain, and a heavy gold ring, set with a large precious stone, all to be presented by his friends to the zealous and accomplished Father Mullen, of Allegheny city, recently appointed by the Pope as Bishop of Eric. The exquisite workmaship of these articles bears new evidence to the high character sustained by this well known lewelry house.

this well known jewelry house. Election of Vestrymen.—The congregation of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday held a meeting and unanimously elected the following vestrymen to serve the ensuing year Josiah King, James M. Cooper, Thomas M. Howe, H. L. Mason, H. G. Hale, Stephen Jaryis, W. P. Marshall, Thomas S. Blair, John H. Shoenberger, Calvin Adams, W. T. Robb, H. L. Ringwalt, Hon. Wilson McCandless, Major S. R. Ross.

Larceny of a Coat.—David Aiken yesterday made information before the Mayor charging Grace Lee alias Bill Lummux, with the larceny of a coat. It appears that the defendant, who is a colored boy, walked into Mr. Aiken's office on Liberty street and took the coat, which was hanging on a hook. He was arrested with the coat in his possession, and after a hearing committed to jail for trial.

Improvements -- The Proper Course Adopted. The old saying that "Time levels all things," is about to be verified in some of art and science of medicine. our city improvements. In the Gazette of Friday we referred to the proposed change of grade on Clymer street, so as to run the water from Penn street to the river, and suggested that the proper method of accomplishing that object would be to raise the grade of Penn street, where it had been lowered some four years since, to a proper heighth, instead of lowering Mulbery alley, which is situated between Penn and the river, at a grade of thirteen inches higher river, at a grade or thirteen inches higher than the former. It now appears that our views regarding the matter were correct, as the Water Committee visited the locality referred to on Saturday, relative to extendreferred to on Saturday, relative to extending the water main to Lawrenceville, and decided to raise the grade on Penn street from Clymer to Taylor streets four feet and eight inches before laying the pipe. It is the intention to lay a twenty inch water main on Penn from Clymer street to St. Mary's avenue, which will connect with the twelve inch main on Liberty and an eight inch pipe on Smallman street, from the twelve inch main on Liberty and an eight inch pipe on Smallman street, from which small pipes will be extended on several of the principal streets in Lawrenceville. This will probably interfere with some few property holders on Penn street, as the distance the grade will have to be raised comprises two squares on to be raised comprises two squares, on which several fine buildings have been erected since the street was cut down, but the committee take a very common sense view of the matter, as they say the view of the matter, as they say the grade will have to be raised eventually and the sconer it is done the less property will be injured by it. The matter will be brought before Council to-day, as a special meeting has been called by the Water Committee for that purpose.

Death of Mrs. Stockton. Another of the few remaining links which connect the present with the early history of these cities has passed away. Mrs. Esther Stockton, relect of the late Rev. Joseph Stockton, died yesterday morning at her residence on Stockton avenue, ing at her residence on Stockton avenue, having just entered upon her eighty-seventh year. This good old lady, until within a week of her death, had enjoyed a long life almost without a day's sickness, retaining in much vigor her senses of sight, hearing and memory. Her last sickness proceeded from a cold contracted in nursing a sick son, her maternal solicitude proceeded from a cold contracted in nursing a sick son, her maternal solicitude prompting her to exertions and exposure unsuited to the natural infirmities of her advanced years. For her the impending change had no terrors; her gentle and pious life was the preparation for a peaceful and life was the preparation for a peaceful and submissive death; with her the transition submissive death: with her the transition is from a world of sorrow and gloom, to a paradise of endless joy. Among her survivors there is no one around whom so many pleasant and grateful memories cluster; no one more loved or venerated; not her many descendants and their connections alone, but all her cotemporaries, and especially all the older citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and of the country around, will mourn the death of this aged matron as of one whose life of purity and innocence had won their affections, and innocence had won their affections, and will extend their heart-felt sympathies to the stricken and bereaved members of her amily.

A New York Merchant Manufacturing Shoe

Blacking. Several weeks since, a man calling himself J. G. Oliver, came to the city and put up at the Eagle Hotel, representing, as the proprietor of that establishment alleges, that he was a New York wholesale dry pears he remained several weeks, at the end of which time Mr. Robert Steel, the proprietor of the Eagle Hotel, thought it time that his board bill, which amounted to $45 should be paid. The New York merchant was not propared to settle the bill at that time, but promised to do so the next day. The next day came, but the New York merchant did not. The landlord was not to be cheated out of the amount of his bill in that manner, however, and instituted search for his delinquent boarder. He was tracked to a "sky parlor" at the corner of Virgin Alley and Liberty street, where he was engaged in the manufacture of shoe blacking. Mr. Steel made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Olivers. e remained several weeks, at the Steel made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Oliver with obtaining board under falso pretence. Taken to Lancaster.-Officer Fisher, of Taken to Lancaster.—Officer Fisher, of Lancaster, Pa., arrived in this city yesterday morning, in search of W. P. Wensel, who it appears is charged with seduction. Fisher made his business known at the Mayor's office, when the warrant for Wensel's arrest was placed in the hands of officer Irwin, who succeeded in capturing him about ten o'clock a. m. on the corner of soon ten o'clock a. m. on the corner of St. Clair and Penn streets. Accommodating.—The night train on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad will leave the depot at eleven o'clock, instead of half-past ten as heretofore, in order to accommodate the state of the sta commodate persons residing along the line of the road who desire to attend the Opera House during Edwin Forest's engagement. The accommodating spirit is characteristic of the officers of the Connellsville Railroad Company, and it will doubtless be fully appreciated by those whom it is intended to benefit.

Yesterday was a beautiful day, and the streets were thronged with ladies out shopping, most of whom found their way to the dry goods store of Bates & Bell, where there has just been opened a fresh invoice of general housekeeping goods, dress goods of all varieties and styles, cloaks, sacques and general dry goods. The firm are selling at what may be correctly called popular prices, and are drawing a full share of patronage.

Carpets. Now as the season for putting down new carpets is at hand, if may be redown new carpets as manu, is may be accepted as a timely suggestion on our part to advise housekeepers, to call in at the mamouth auction house salesrooms of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, and examine the fine assortment of ingrain, super-ingrain, rag, hemp and stair carpets, which are offered at private sale at very cheap.

Taken to the House of Refuge.—Henry Edwards and Ben. Sanders, colored boys, who were recently convicted of robbing a till in a dry goods store in Lawrenceville, were taken to the House of Refuge yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Stubbs, in compliance with the sentence of the Court.

Every Disease has its Remedy. Upon this broad fact is founded the whole That every disease has its curable stage under proper treatment, there can be no doubt. That they have their incurable stage, under any treatment, may be equally true. The curable period is during the early part of the disease, of course. The incurable being the advanced condition—the last

To know the precise nature, extent and To know the precise nature, extent and locality of the disease is of the first importance in the treatment of any case.

This is precisely the reason given by Dr. Oldshue, of Pittsburgh, for bringing into requisition the Microscope, Test-tube, Urinometer, and all the Chemical apparatus for the scientific examination of the urine in all chronic and complicated cases.

The long afflicted have not been slow to appreciate these scientific aids, and the consequence is, his office is one continued appreciate these scientific aids, and the consequence is, his office is one continued throng of patients from all parts of the country, seeking the advantages of this skill in diagnosis.

A knowledge of the appropriate remedy, however, is quite important, as without the remedy no advantage would be gained by knowing the disease.

Every disease has its remedy. This is verified in the fact that different medicines nd their action upon different parts of the human system.

As each particular disease spends its principal baneful action upon a certain organ or tissue of the body according to its peculiar nature, so each particular remedy spends its medicinal action upon a certain organ or tissue according to its medicinal Having qualities.

Having a knowledge of the true nature of the case, as also of the appropriate remedy, the next matter of importance is its proper preparation and application.

This should be carefully attended to, and as far as practicable all medicines should be examined by the physician, before being put into the hands of the patient or nurse.

This is done in the office of Dr. Oldshue before mentioned. offers mentioned.

All his medicines are compounded and his prescriptions filled by his own special direction, and under his own supervision. No medicines are passed from his prescriptions but through his hands.

This great care and caution in prescriptions, together with the very scientific mode of his examinations has no doubt to his great success in contributed much to his great success in practice.

Hundreds of apparently the very worst cases, including all kinds of chronic affections, female diseases, weaknesses, &c., have found permanent relief at his hands and at very moderate cost.
