The O'Connor-Tack case which attracts so much attention in business circles in this aity came up for trial in Philadelphia, on Tuesday. We purpose publishing a full report of the proceedings as furnished us by the sworn reporter of the Philadelphia Court of Quarter Sessions. Here is the first day's proceedings: The trial of Augustus H. Fack, Theodore E. Tack, Frank Tack, Emil Schalk, and John Grierson, charged with conspiracy.

The trial of Augustus H. Iack, Theodore E. Tack, Frank Tack; Emil Schalk, and John Grierson, charged with conspiracy, having been fixed for yesterday, a jury was called.

alled. The following are the counsel in the cause: R. P. White, Esq., General C. H. T. Collis, Thomas Marshall, Esq., of Pitts-burgh, John O'Byrne, Esq., and District Attorney Mann for the Commonwealth. The following appear for the defense: Henry S. Hagert, Esq., J. V. McDonough, Esq., General F. H. Collier, and M. Swartz-welder, Esq., of Pittsburgh; Dennis W. O'Brien, Esq., and Lewis C. Cassidy, Esq. The case was opened by Mr. White, but as we purpose to give the evidence rather as we purpose to give the evidence rather fully, we omit the speech. The names of the witnesses for the Commonwealth-130 in number-were called. mbracing merchants, clergymen, physicians. brokers, &c.

cians, brokers, &c, Several telegraph operators appeared with Theodore Cuyler, Esq., counsel for the telegraph companies, and submitted the telegraphic dispatches which passed be-tween the Tack Brothers and others, as they were commanded to do by the process of the Court. Judge Brewster directed that the counsel from Pittsburgh, who appeared in the case, be sworn, and the usual oath was administered to each of the gentlemen. The Court then took a recess, and re-assembled at three o'clock. The following witnesses for the Commonwealth were examined :
