OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, Monday, May 4, 1868. More than one-third of the gold interest due May the first has already been paid out, with scarcely any effect on the market; the closing quotations on Saturday were 139%, and at the opening of business this morning quotations remained the some; towards noon the market was firm at 13914, and closed with some activity at 139%. The amount of bonds held abroad was generally estimated as being between three and four hundred millions, but the few coupons coming in of the old Five Twenties is a good proof that at least twothirds of the 1862 bonds, and about onehalf of 1865, old issue, are held by foreign capitalists. To make up the payments or rather remittances for this interest nearly all the shipments of coin have been required during the last fortnight, the quotations for bonds being too high for investment. Taking all these facts into consideration, there is a probability that gold will advance later in the season, when the effect of the present payment has died away. On the other hand, it should not be less than seventy-five per cent. from the largest amount.

Governments were rather weak there is no inquiry for any other kind than the Consols, which were selling at 1/2 per cent. below those of 1867, and therefore,

CRUDE The market continues excited, and prices are advancing. Holders of spot oil are asking 12c, but there were no transactions of which we could hear. We can report 1,000 bbls for June and July, seller's option, at 12c; a "line" of 3,000 bbls for May, June and July, at 12c; 1,000 bbls
May, June and July, seller's option, at 12c;

5,000 bbls, buyer's option, for all 1868, prices withheld—probably 15c, as holders were sking that flower were asking that figure.

REFINED—The bonded oil market is REFINED—The bonded oil market is equally as excited as crude, and prices have still further advanced We are advised of the following transactions: A wine" of 1,500 bbls, Philadelphia delivery, for June, July and August, first half each month, at 30½c; 1,500 bbls May, June and July at 30c; 2,000 bbls for May at 30c; 500 bbls last half July at 30½c; 1,000 bbls for May at 30c; 1,000 last half of June and July at 30c. All the year, buyer's option, we still quote nominally at 33c. Offers were made for each month during the year at 31c, but there were no sellers at that price. Dispatches from Oil City during the afternoon report the price of oil on the creek at $2 per barrel. Sales of oil were made at $4,25 on broad gauge cars, and same dealers were asking $4,50.) For oil delivered on Allegheny Valley Railroad cars higher figures were being asked.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS. OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,

MONDAY, May 4, 1868. Since our last we have no material change change to notice in our markets, Trade to-day was fair. The demand for Flour and Provisions continue large, and at current quotations holders exhibit much firmness. Groceries were in fair request. The weather is fine for out-door transactions, and the country people are busily engaged in farming operations. In a trip up som thirty miles on the Connellsville Railroad since Saturday last, we observed Corn and Potato planting going on finely. On the line of that road the gardens are in a forward state of cultivation, and the friut trees are blooming as well as we have seen them for years, and we heard of no complaint of any of the buds being injured as yet, by frost. There is some Wheat left in this part of the country, but it is not large, and farmers will not part with a bushel intil they see how the coming crops will turn out. That cannot be told as yet, for some time, and the Wheat required to supply our mills has to be brough! from the western markets, where there is more of a surplus than here, but mostly held on there also by farmers until they see further into the future crops. It is not likely that there will be any drop whatever in Wheat or Flour in this market for some time, and indeed, prices may advance at no distant day. Corn is coming in more freely to meet the late advance. We quote current rates as follows: are blooming as well as we have seen them
