M. to perform that duty, G. W. Gillespie, James Richardson, Wil-liam Shore, James Sharp and William Lo-gan were appointed tipstaves. The following cases were fixed for trial at Williamsport: United States vs. Thirty-site when the following testimony was adduced:

Jacob Lushell sworn—On Friday after-noof int Bout four o'clock, John Hughes was purphing a barge at my landing. My son and myself were planting potatoes near by, and Hughes called to us that a drowned hum we floating in the water form barrels of whisky, claimed by Jessie B. Rank et al. United States vs. Distillery of Rank et al. United States vs. Distillery of Barber & Henderson. United States vs. Barber, Rank & Henderson. The following were fixed for trial at Erie in July: United States vs. Forty-three bar-rels of whisky et al., owned by Ira G. Hatch. United States vs. 192 barrels of oil et alia cormed by M. P. Parsons & Co. by, and Hughes called to us that a drowned man was floating in the water, and we came down. The body landed by the barges. We got a pole and pulled him ashore; got a line and tied him up. Came across to Sewickley depot, and wrote to the Mayor to send the Coroner down. The Coroner came on Saturday morning. The body was not moved or turned over, or anything taken from it until the Coroner came. No pocket-book was found upon came. No pocket-book was found upon him. All that was found was those things reported. (He then enumerated the artis mentioned yesterday and a gold ring found on a finger of deceased; witness iden-tified the articles mentioned.)

Dr. A. C. Murdock, sworn-Made a post mortem examination of the head of the de-ceased and found no injuries to the skull. The wound in the fiesh were probably made by contact with hard substances in the water. Found no injuries on the head or body that would have caused death, or that indicated that death was caused by anything else than drowning. The marks, were probably made after death and after decomposition had commenced. Had they been made before death they would not have caused death.

have caused death. Xavier Walz, sworn—Saw Mr. Freyvegle on the evening of January 21, at about six o'clock, in my house. He came in compa-ny with Casper Lutey, a milkman. Casper left the house in about ten minutes. Frevmorning at ten o'clock. sat about three-quarters of an hour, vogle when he came to the bar and sald he "had better go home." I said "I had better go better go home." I said "I had better go with you. For the first time in my life. I did. I went out with him and he wathed first rate. He was pretty drunk, but he only took a half a glass of beer in my house. Watched him walk away towards home. Did not see Lutey again that night. Never saw Freyvogle afterwards. Never saw him as drunk before, and he walked all right that time. Did not see anybody all right that time. Did not see anybody afterwards who had seen him. Frederick Schaum, sworn.—Had a slight acquaintance with Mr. Freyvogle. On the 21st of January he came to our house, the Livo Oak Hotel, No. 62 Fourth street, late in the afternoon, and staid until supper time. He was with Casper Lutey, and they went out together. I gathered from what they said that Lutey owed Freyvogle some money. They drank some in my house, but I saw no effects on Freyvogle. He walked all right. Did not notice anything peculiar about him. He did not seem to be drunk. They left a little before six. Did not see Freyvogle afterwards at all. Did not see Lutey again that night. Afterward he told me that he had left Freyvogle at Waltz's. He wanted to go home with him but he would not let him. Lutey said he staid at Ben. Trimble's that night.

Nathan Bernhurdt, sworn-Wasaconaint ed with deceased. Saw him last at the Live Oak Hotel, on the night mentioned, He was with Lutey. Lutey said he owed Freyvogle some money, and borrowed five or six dollars, which he paid Mr. F. Mr. Freyvogle then called for the drinks, which were furnished. Did not see whether Freyvogle put the money in a pocket-book or not. Did not notice anything pe-culiar about Freyvogle except that he was intoxicated. Never saw him so before. Pittsburgh Church Guild-What it has Accomplished, &c.-Report of the Educa-tional Committee of the Pittsburgh Church Guild. The last regular report of this Committee was presented last November, just after the formation of the classes, for session of 1867-'68. This report will give the result of that session, just now closed.

It was decided by the Committee that the sessions should be six months in length, commencing October 1st, but owing to delay in preparing the new rooms the classes last winter did not begin until November 1st. From that time until April 1st, how ever, they have continued without cessaever, they have continued without cessa-tion. The following classes were formed for evaluation of the services of the service rens or winksy et al., owned by Ira G. Hatch. United States vs. 192 barrels of oil et alia, owned by M. R. Parsons & Co. In the bankruptcy branch a petition was filed by Bently, Burton & Coš, et al., of New York, against Messrs. Bryan & Mo-Givern, of Erie, asking that they be ad-judged, bankrupts. The petitioners aver that the respondents are indebted to them; in the sum of $1,726 50, for goods sold and delivered, and that said respondents have committed acts of bankruptcy in confess-ing judgments to different parties doing business in Erie, with a view of giving them preference over other creditors; and further that they suffered their property to be taken on legal process with the same intent. A rule to show cause why the pe-tition should not be granted was allowed, and made returnable on the 19th instant. Petitlons for final discharge were filed by Reuben Fugley, of Northumberland (coun-ty, Ephraim J. Hall, of Union county, and Jasper Slaymaker, of Juniata county. sued in each class was modified by the age and advancement of the pupils, and by the character of the study taught. In some classes the text book was closely followed; classes the text book was closely followed; in others, the instruction was communi-cated orally. "Davies'School Arithmetic," "Davies' Bourdon," "Warren's Descriptive Geometry," Wells' National Philosophy," and "Cutter's Anatomy and Physiology" were the text books used. The number of pupils who have entered their narce in the class books is two hun-dred and fifty (200); a far greater number than the Committee had dired to hope for. Of these one hundred and fix-three re-

Between eight and nine o'clock of the night mentioned I was going through Pipetown. and on passing the Birmingham bridge I heard a man hallo in a suppressed voice. Listened, and heard it drain. heard it again. Heard it three times. The calls were like groans—long drawn out. Then I thought I heard a splash in the water, but an not sure. Did not go down for I was alone and was afraid. The sound appeared to be on the shore and came from near a flat boat up the river. Did not see anybody. Could not tell whether there was any struggle pr not; went by there the next morning, but saw only tracks in the now: There was no ice putside the barge. Told the affair to some parties the next day before I heard that Freyvogle was missing.

Henry A. Freyvogle, sworn-Two men named Hay and Willard came to me pretending to be detectives, and offered to bring Freyvogle to me if they were paid $500; afterwards said they would,bring him the money when they brought him. They went away and came back in about a week, and stated that a dispatch had been receiv-ed which left them in doubt. They went away again and in about ten days came back, and stated that they knew he was alive; he do by their agents had talked with him. They demanded of me an article of arrouble to the them 5300 if they have be agreeinent to pay them $500 if they would bring him alive. The article was made out and given to them. They said they would want about thirty days to bring him. They also wanted me to have a warrant issued for his arrest, as he might not want to come home. Since then I have never seen them. They stated that they had business rela-tions with Allen Pinkerton, and had opened a private detective office here. At this point the jury adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock this morning at the same place.

There are being 20 years and 4 months. There are 102 under 21 years of age; 62 between 20 and 30; 5 between 30 and 40, and 2 between 40 and 50; 121 are parsuing one study only; 37 have two' studies; 7 have three; 5 have four, and three have five. The committee desire to testify to the universal good order and respectful deportment of the universal good order and respectful deportment of the pupils at all times, as well as the evident desire to profit by the instructions feceived.

The success of the educational department shown by the statistics, seems proof positive that a wide, and, ast yet, unoccupied field of philanthrophic labor is open to the Guild. The last session has witnessed the young, the middle aged, and, I might almost add, the old men, flocking to our doors, after a day of toil to obtain instruction in those branches, which from their occupation or particular circumstances, they may conider the most important.

These persons studying in our class These persons studying in our class rooms and reading our papers and periodi-cals, will be placed under moral and re-ligions influences, tending to develop their higher and noble nature, making them better and more intelligent workmen, citiens and christians. Respectfully submitted.

We are informed that a fine Dispensary has been opened under the auspices of this society, and the first floor of the Guild building, 265 Penn street, is used for that purpose. The Reading Room, on the set

d floor, is free to all, and has been well patronized during the past year. Good Templars Officers Installed. At a regular meeting of Arsenal Lodge No. 291, I. O. of G. T., held at their hall in Lawrenceville, on Friday evening, May 1st, the following officers were installed to serve

A Runaway.—A runaway horse attached to a bread wagon, owned by Patrick Clark, 66 Seventh attact, was brought to a very sudden stand vesterday morning just as he had got, rightly under, way for a fine run. The horse was being driven up. Tiberty street, and when opposite the St. James Ho-tel he took fright at a locomotive, and start ed up the street at a lively pace. He did not proceed far, however, until the boy who was driving succeeded in turning him, but it appeared could not get him checked. He then came down the street about the same rate of speed he had going up it, until he ar-rived at the starting point when, in endeav-oring to pass a team, the wagon struck a tamp post. The harness being strong he was brought to a halt. The wagon was slightly damaged.

"Poor Married Mau." If there is one man in this great city more miserable than all others, that man must be David Watkins. We know nothing of David's character, but from undis putable facts, we might say "self-evident" facts, he is a mild, easy, good-natured crea-ture (?), who would not harm anybody, or anybody's dog. David is in trouble, and it appears that his wife is the cause thereof. He came before Alderman Thomas yesterday, stated his grievances, and made in-formation against his wife, Ellen, for surety of the peace. He alleges that Ellen threat-ened to take his life, burn his property and to do various other evil things. A warrant was issued for Mrs. Watkins. Trimmings, and Where to Buy Them.
