The motion was made on a petition filed by C. B. Seely in behalf of his minor children, which set forth that the ground was be-ley, but that the respondents, E. C. Neg-ley, Peter Seyler, and Andrew Swaitzer, have been taking the sand and other build-ing material from the blace. T. M. Mar-shall, Esq., appeared for the complainant, and W. B. Negley, Esq., for respondents. A preliminary injunction was granted by the Court, and the complainants required to give bonds in $1,000 as security.

A Sneak Thief.

A sneak thief who says his name is William Brown, and parports to come from Philadelphia, undertook to practice his avocation vesterday morning, at his boarding house. Brown boarded at Mr. O'Rourke's No. 9 Wood street, and yesterday morning one of the boarders came info the room rather unexpectedly, and discovered Brown in the act of breaking open covered Brown in the act of breaking open a carpet sack which belonged to another boarder. When spoken to about it he said he had some clothes in the sack which he wished to send to the wash woman. He was informed that he could not remove anything from that sack until the owner returned, when he gave up, that project and turned his attention in another direc-tion. an apology from Tosa and the Mikado's Government, also money indemnity. Satis-faction was given as demanded. On March the 12th, the American Minis-ter left for Yokohamo, taking with him Italian and Prussian Ministers and suits in the United States steamer. Monocacy, in-tending to protect foreign interests there, the Mikado having been informed that that large bodies of trooms were marching that large bodies of troops were marching

On March 18th the American Minister went to Yeddo, remaining one week, con-ferring with the Tycoon's officers, and then returned to Yokohomo: He was the last and only Minister at Yeddo.

The Mikado's troops were marching to-wards Teddo and straggled largely into wards Yeddo and straggled largely into Yokohomo, apparently uncontrolled. Dis-turbances occurring, the people became alarmed. The Ministers conferred with the Governors of Yokohomo, resulting in post-ing the American, Prussian, French and British soldiers (marines) at the entrances of the settlement, prohibiting the entrances of armed Japanese without legation or government passports. This insured se-curity.
