

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

PUBLISHED DAILY, BY FRANKLIN, REED & CO., Proprietors. OFFICE: BAZETTE BUILDING, NOS. 84 AND 86 FIFTH ST.

FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1868. THE WEEKLY GAZETTE, issued on Wednesdays and Saturdays, is the best and cheapest family newspaper in Pennsylvania.

WE PRINT on the inside pages of this morning's GAZETTE: Second page: Poetry, Epigrams, &c. Third page: Central Lists, Stock Market, Financial Matters in New York, Markets by Telegraph, River News, Steamboats and Railroads, Sixth page: Finance and Trade, Home Produce and Petroleum Markets, Seventh page: Miscellaneous Reading Matter, Amusements, &c.

GOLD SOLD in New York yesterday at 189 1/2. Mr. G. W. K. MIXON has withdrawn from the contest for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 21st district.

AGATE, the correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, writing from Chicago, mentions the fact, as unusual, that no liquor was dealt out at the headquarters of the Indiana delegation.

The trial of JEFFERSON DAVIS is announced to commence next Wednesday, June 3d, at Richmond. But little public interest anticipates this event, since the opinion is universal that the purpose of obtaining, with the official sanction of the Chief Justice and of Mr. JOHNSON'S District Attorney, a clear record of acquittal for the Confederate Chief.

The Commercial despatches that the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company have made overtures of sale to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. We suspect this denial is only a play upon words.

THE PRIMARY MEETINGS. The Union Republican voters of Allegheny county are reminded that their primary meetings for the election of delegates to the Congressional and county Conventions, are summoned for Saturday, the 30th.

We urge upon every Republican voter to make it his special business to go to the voting place and express his own individual preference in the choice of delegates.

What all experienced men inferred from facts apparent on the surface of this case, has been effectually demonstrated by the report of the Managers of Impeachment detailing the results evolved in the course of legal investigation.

Several members of Congress endeavored to persuade Mr. Stanton not to vacate the War Office, but he maintained it was the proper course for him to take.

THE BRIBERY INVESTIGATION.

It is safe to assume that no man in the United States, who had watched carefully for any considerable period, the process by which lobbies manipulate legislative assemblies, and the outward indications of success in such enterprises, had any doubt, the day after the first vote was taken in the Senate upon the Articles of Impeachment, as to the nature of the influences brought to bear on the minds of several of the Republican members of that body.

See how the case stood! The Republican Senators by whose votes the President was acquitted, had previously, and with deliberation, under their official oaths, put themselves on record, to precisely the opposite effect.

At the opening of the current session of Congress, when the House of Representatives, after listening to the reports on Impeachment submitted by different sections of the Judiciary Committee, dismissed that whole business, the country acquiesced.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

When the House was preparing Articles of Impeachment, the false Senators did not dissuade them. They knew, as well as they knew anything, that Impeachment was the just and necessary corollary from the record they had helped to make in the Senate.

A GOOD TIME COMING.

When a veteran politician like Mr. THURLOW WEEB, whose long and ripe experience in public affairs guarantees his thorough understanding of what he is about, finds it expedient to present specific and responsible charges of corruption against a Senator by name, the public may be assured that business is seriously meant.

Mr. WEEB has delivered his fire with great skill and direction, at the critical moment. Simultaneously with the adoption by the Senate of a resolution appointing a committee of investigation, his card appeared at New York.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

Had the policy of the Democratic party been successful, the genius of impartial history would have written on the tombstone of the present generation an epitaph of indelible, unfading and endless disgrace.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Address: From the State Central Committee—An Appeal to All Good Citizens. PHILADELPHIA, May 27, 1868. To the Voters of Pennsylvania:

The National Convention of the Republican party, with a unanimity and enthusiasm unprecedented, has nominated candidates for President and Vice President and announced the principles upon which they appeal to the people for support.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Address: From the State Central Committee—An Appeal to All Good Citizens. PHILADELPHIA, May 27, 1868. To the Voters of Pennsylvania:

The National Convention of the Republican party, with a unanimity and enthusiasm unprecedented, has nominated candidates for President and Vice President and announced the principles upon which they appeal to the people for support.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

No matter who the candidates in opposition may be, they must represent an organization that was faithful to the country in the hour of its direst peril and false to liberty and the rights of man.

WANTED—SITUATIONS.

WANTED—SITUATIONS. A Boy 12 years of age, who will do what is told, and is not afraid of work, wants a situation in an office or some place as a errand boy. Address FRANK GAZETTE OFFICE, care of Box W.

WANTED—HELP. WANTED—A BOOK-BINDER. A person who can do ordinary binding, such as pamphlets, etc., and heavy binding, books, etc., at the lowest price, and will be furnished by the binder. Address E. A. & Co., Lock Box 317, Pittsburgh, Pa.

WANTED—SERVANTS—Male and Female, for all kinds of work. Inquire at 171 ALLEGHENY OFFICE, No. 3 St. Clair St.

WANTED—AGENTS. WANTED—AGENTS—GRANT'S LIFE OF A. A. NEW and standard work by Gen. A. T. BULLOCK, the popular Historian. Apply to E. A. & Co., 60 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

WANTED—HOUSE. WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.

WANTED—HOUSE—A House of 6 or 8 rooms, on a good lot, with a good garden, and a good view of the city. Address 60 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA.