-Apropos of the new custom of carrying a satchel slung over the shoulder, the New York Commercial Advertiser says that the first man to adopt the custom of carrying a satchel thus is reported to have been an eminent editor, seedy as to garb, and meagre in mein. One evening as he stood, sad and solitary, near the door of a railway car, an amiable agriculturist, with kind in-tent, plucked from his overflowing bag one or more of the magazines and journs forcing a bill into his hand, turned quickly away and left the car, with the remark "Never mind the change, my good man

Col. Badeau says of Grant: "When he has nothing to say, he says nothing. In private he fills no interstices of conversation by remarks upon the weather, or in-quiries after the babies of his visitor. In public he can make no speeches simply of form or compliment; and since the world cared to hear his opinions on affairs, his official position has never allowed him to speak, freely. But in public or private, when he has anything to utter, by tongue or pen, he says it with extreme rapidity and clearness, in terse, marrowy, idiomatic English. Even then he clothes his words in no flowers of rhetoric, but presents them in the plainest, homeliest words. He is the most undramatic of men. Scott was nick-named, by his enemits, Filss and Feathers. Grant has less fuss and fewer feathers than any other public man of his day. He believes, with the Chinese proverb, that that which is, is. He accepts things just as he finds them, not troubling himself about the 'eternal verities,' but doing promptly, thoroughly and subordinately the duty which lies right before him, however prosaic and

A DISPATCH from Homosy reports that FUR-SALE-REAL ESTATE the Russians in Central Asia have defeated the Bokharians in a pitched battle, in which the Khan of Bokhara was killed, and that the victorious Russians subsequently captured the capital, Bokhara, by storm.

Bokhara is the residence of the Khan, and ontains his palace, upwards of three hundred mosques and colleges, fourteen cara-vansaries for the accommodation of travelers, and several bazaars of great extent.

Russia has at last succeeded in securing a firm foothold in Central Asia. She lias been pushing her columns into the heart of this country for two years, with a pertinacity which not even the Southern sun or bar-barian hordes could overcome. England's dream of owning. Mahommedan. Asia will now break. All slong her possessions to the northward she will find the mountain passes lined with Russian artillery. Bok-hara, the scene of the last battle, is the cap-ital city of the district of that name, and is virtually the centre of Mohammedan religion, arts and trade.

VALLANDIGHAM, through the Dayton Ledger, administers a sharp rebuke to those Democratic rewspapers which are opening the canvass by assaults, upon the capacity and military services of Gen. Grant. He speaks of this as "the weakest and most foolish thing that the Democratic press or Democratic orators can do." The strength of the Democracy in the canvass, he thinks. lies in the fact that the country wants a statesman, rather than a soldier, for President. If they overlooked this considera-tion, and try to run any soldier against Grant, they will throw away their chances of success. That is true. The fact is they have no chances if they don't run a soldier, and they throw them away if they do. This is rather a difficult dilemma.

VINNIE REAM, the Congressional artist, alleges that Mr. Julian, member from Indiana, threatened her some weeks ago that if she did not use her influence with Ross to vote for conviction, she would be turned out of the capitol. Mr. Julian pronounced the statement, on the floor of the House, to be a wilful falsehood. There is a bitter feeling towards her in the House, and if the rumors about her conduct, which have been circulated for more than a year, are partially true, she should have been turned out long ago. A MAIL train on the Erle Railway ran into an oil train, at full speed, on Sunday morning, the switch not having been reversed in time. The oil tanks were bursted, and several thousand gallans of oil ran into the Delaware river. Two young men were riding on the platform of the postal car, one of whom was instantly killed by being beheaded and having his legs crushed off, and the other was fatally injured. The postal car was fairly telescoped into the tender of the engine by the force of the concussion.

THE Richmond Dispatch thinks the chance of harmonizing the two wings of the Democratic party is almost hopeless. It says the War Democrats would vote for Gen. Grant rather than for Pendleton; and the Copperheads or Peace Democrats would rather that Grant should be elected than Hancock. The States which have instructed for Mr. Pendleton are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Oregon, California and Kentucky, and he is understood to be the first choice of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maryland and Tennessee.

WHEN the Congregational Association of narrow to admit of the passage of a man's Michigan received the news that Grant and body. But Professor Waterhouse Hawkins Colfax had been nominated, the regular ex-Jonah was swallowed by the whale. The doxology of the church was sung amid the COAL!! COAL!!
