HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS.

Seventh Anniversary, of the Pittsburgh seventh Anniversary, of the Pittsburgh seventh for the Friendless —Interesting Proceedings — Secretary E. 1 and Treasurer's Reports.

The Seventh Anniversary of the Pitts burgh and Allegheny Home for the Friendless was celebrated yesterday in the Union Baptist Church, Grant street, near Sixth. The meeting was one of unusual interest, madiwas attended by a large number of the leading ladies of the city. The children of the Home, some forty sweet little girls. from two to ten years of age, and as many bright, intelligent looking boys of the same age, were neatly dressed and seated in the alcove usually occupied by the minister, and gave additional interest to the coca-

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. M'Millan, after which the children of the "Home" sung in a pleasing manner "Beautiful River." terian Church, Chairman, and J. B.

Annie M'Alier, a beautiful and intelligent little girl of twelve years, then delivered an address of thanks to the Managers in a most admirable manner, at the close of which she was almost bewildered by the shower of boquets of beautiful flowers thrown upon the stage. Rey. Mr. Millian then read the following reports of the Secretary and Treasurer, which were received and adopted:

which were received and adopted:

It gives us pleasure to meet with our friends on this ariversary occasion, and present to them our seventh annual report.

We have unmistakeable evidence that this We have unmistakeable evidence that this institution has friends, and that there is an increasing interest in its prosperity. Several other charitable institutions have been organized in our midst during the past year, and all looking to a generous public for support, yet this Home for the Friendless has not been forgotten; By the liberality of its contributors, our expenses have been met, and something left in the treasury, with which to commence the new year. Many of these friends have been contributors since the beginning of been contributors since the beginning of bir operations, and we hope they will not "grow weary in well doing," for we cannot promise to cease our calls upon them. Money is indispensable to feed the hungry and clothe the naked, therefore we cannot afford to lose a single name from our list of annual subscribers, or allow the smallest contribution to be withheld from our treasfry. Every such dimunition deprives us from aiding some suffering one, that has no other home, but this "Home of the Friendless." We have been so successful thus we do not intend to despond. Our patrons now expect our annual visits, and cheerfully and generously respond to these calls.

We trust all will receive a blessing for thus remembering the poor.
"Would'st thou be rich, give unto the "Would'st thou be rich, give unto the poor; thou shat have thine own with insury; for the secret hand of Providence prospereth the charitable always."

We are more convinced of the necessity and usefulness of this Home, as year after year passes on, and could we give the experience of the Reception Committee; for even a few days, there would be no argument needed to prove this, all would be willing to aid us, and bid us God speed in this work. We are willing to labor, but we desire the sympathy and co-operation this work. We are willing to labor, but we desire the sympathy and co-operation of this Christian community. We would like every Christian man and woman, to feel that they have an interest in this "Home for the friendless." It is not sectarian, but ready to receive under its care all that are proper objects of its charity. Since its opening in May, 1861, we have had about five hundred and forty-four children under our care and instruction and ninety-six adults, temporarily shel tered. Some of the former have been provided with homes, and many restored to parents or friends. The past year we have received 41 children and 14 adults; present terminated its sufferings.

For the past two years we have had over forty soldiers' children placed under our care by the State Superintendent, for whom we receive $105 each annually. In these children we feel a special interest-their lathers having given their lives that great national blessings, might be con-tinued to us, and should we not feel desirous of benefitting their children? We will give a few cases of interest of another class of children. Very soon after our inclass of children. Very soon after our institution was opened we received a bright eyed little boy about eighteen months old (that any one might love,) but his mother was unable to have a comfortable home for him. He was bound to us, and became a great favorite in the house. Many applications were made for Charlle, but were rever the vert willing to let him go. He was a good, obedient child, and never gave any trouble to those that had the care of him. After some years his mother found a new home in the West, was comfortably settled, but her happiness was had the care of him. After some years mother found a new home in the West, was comfortably settled, but her happiness was not complete without her child. More than a year ago she applied to the reception committee for him, and after a careful investigation as to the kind of home he would have, we allowed her to have him—we hope a life of usefulness is before him. One of the managers was talking with him one and asked him what he wished to be managers was talking with him one was talking with him one managers was talking with him one was gation as to the kind of home he would have, we allowed her to have him—we hope a life of usefulness is before him. One of the managers was talking with him one day, and asked him what he wished to be when he grew to be a man? Mentioning several vocations and receiving a negative answer to all of them, she said, what then, "Charlie" would you like to be? A wiming the was his really. We could not help *Charile" would you like to be? A minis-ter, was his reply. We could not help hoping that this desire might continue with him where he has gone, and that the truths taught him in childhood "may be as good seed sown in good ground," bringing forth fruit after many days. Christien friends will you not follow this little boy with your prayers, believing that God will hear and Another case Another case of interest was that of J.

S.—, a delicate babe, giving evidence of being sadly neglected. The mother was very urgent that we should take him, that she might get a place in a family that was waiting for her and would not take her with a child. He was received more than with a child. He was received more than two years ago, and has grown to be a healthy and pretty child. The mother never came to see him after he was placed in the Home, and we know not whether she is living or dead. A short time since a lady wished to adopt a little boy, (she had daughters, but no sons). she visited the Home and selected Johnny, and in a short time returned with a nicely prepared wardine returned with a nicely prepared ward robe and took him for fier son. She has since visited the Home with the child, and there seems to be a strong titachment between them. We helieve he has found a good home. We might give many cases of interest, and some where fifter has been great sorrow causing the children to be placed in the Home. But they would make toologgaareport. Enough that he was placed in the Home. But they would make toologgaareport. The average attendance is about seventy, and the teacher is happy to report a growing interest in these exercises. These are varied, that they may not weary of a stereotyped form. Recently, a theme has been given to them, and an enpropriate of a stereotyped form. Recently, a theme has been given to them, and an appropriate verse selected which they commit to memory. We have also been visited frequently by ministers and laymen which is a special gratification to the children. We would here return our thanks to the many would here return our thanks to the many kind friends who have worked for these children, many ladies have kindly sewed for them. The Ladies' Sewing Society of the Central Presbyterian Church of Allegheny kindly made and donated a sacque for each of the girls. Ladies of the Baptist Church: of: Washington; 'Ps.; also made some garments. Besides these evidences of interest, four little girls held a fair at Manchester and gave the proceeds ($72) to our treasury. We cannot specify by name all who have thus aided us. We have received provision, clothing, coal and various other articles for all of which the oners will please receive our thanks. There doners will please receive our thanks. There is reason for gratification for the excellent health which the children have enjoyed throughout the year, with the exception of some visitations of the measels. Forty-five were prostrated with this desease at the same time, but by the blessing of our Heavenly Father, attending the efforts of our kind physicians, they got through this much more favorably than could have been expected. We also cheerfully notice the kindness of the matron and all others in the house for their areful nursing of those little sick ones. Our children are always kindly remem bered on holiday occasions, having all the good things of the season sent to them at each return of Thanksgiving and Christ-

We are much indebted to Mr. Miller, of Allegheny, for a donation of benches and desks, which has added much to the com-

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CON-VENTION. Pourih Thhuai Convention of Bunday School Teachers.

THIRD DAY-MORNING SESSION. The Convention assembled vesterday morning at the usual hour, and the first half hour was spent in devotional exercises. These exercises were directed specially towards the spiritual results of Sabbath School teaching. The greater portion of the time of the session was occupied in the discussion of was then sung, after which Rev. Scovel two important subjects, viz: "The Wants of Country, Schools," and "How to Bring in Neglected Children Everywhere.

These subjects were discussed freely and largely. The speeches, of delegates were limited to five minutes each, and some twenty speakers addressed the Convention on each subject.

The following resolutions were offered by .Rev. T. J. Cyllier, and adopted:

Resolved, That there be appointed by this Convention a committee of three for every county in the Stato reported as having no Sunday School Teachers' Association, whose duty it shall be to call together the Superinduty it shall be to call together the Superin-tendents and teachers of all denominations at such time and place as they deem proper, for the purpose of forming organizations in their counties.

Resolved, That said Committee forward a list of the officers of their County Associa-tions to the Secretary of the State Association as soon as they are organized.

Resolved, That the State Secretary be inof the State and County Associations in the State and County Associations in the Sunday School Times when the list is completed. structed to publish the names of the officers

In accordance with the spirit of the reso-lutions a committee of five was appointed to nominate members of the county comto nominate members of the county committees mentioned. The committee consisted of Revs. Geo. A. Peltz, Chairman of the Convention, T. J. Collier, S. F. Scovel, W. T. Wylie and Alfred Taylor, State Secretary.

The Convention re-assembled at half-past two o'clock and was called to order by the Chairman. The exercises were opened by singing the hymn on page 40 of the "Golden Promise," commencing

The Chairman stated that the report of the Committee of Arrangements had been received, in which they recommended a number of exercises, the first of which would be a short address by Chaplain Lit-tle. The Chaplain being introduced, enter-tained the Convention with a recital of his army experiences, after which he sung the ld familiar hymn "I'm going Home. "

Bringing his famous "music box" into requisition. Continuing his remarks, he elucidated by means of charts and maps his cidated by means of charts and maps his manner of conveying instruction to the children of the Sunday School, occasioning considerable merriment by his felicitous hits and presenting many profitable and interesting suggestions. He closed, singing the sort the song, "Jesus by the Sea."

On motion, the order of exercises was changed, so as to allow Dr. Bittenger to make a few remarks. Mr. Bittenger commented on the plan of object teaching, as it had been presented by the Chaplain in his address. He said it was the most natural as well as the most impressive manner of instructing the young, and had the sauction of the "Great Teacher" himself, who continually made use of the objects around him and the scenes of every day life to inculcate and enforce the truths which he ut-

The chairman, Rev. Mr. Peltz, made a short address on the subject of "Adult Classes," in which he took the ground that the most essential point in this matter was to have competent, reliable, live teachers. The way he secured these in his school was by looking over the roll of his church membership and selecting from it those whom he knew from personal acquaintunce to be competent, and then, by calling attention to their duty in the matter, securing their services, and thus he never had any difficulty, having always as many teachers as

Not a Murder. In the GAZETTE of yesterday we stated that a murder had been committed at Cookstown, Fayette county, which we are pleased to learn was a mistake. The information was derived from a reliable source, our informant having seen a telegram to the District Attorney of that county from a resident of Cookstown, stating in substance what we published. It appears, however, that there was no murder committed, yet the circumstances were of such a nature as to justify the sending of the dispatch. The facts as obtained from a witdispatch: The facts as obtained from a witness to the affray are as follows: Mullin and several others were in a bar-room drinking, when a dispute arose between he and Lamb. Mullin became boisterous and was ejected from the house into the street, and a few moments aftewards Lamb and another of the party, both of whom were very drunk; became noisy inside, and were also shoved out, when Mullin, it ap-pears, knocked them both down with a etary.
